SPEAKERS EJECTED

Blood Spilt in Several Free Fights at Newton Abbot.

AT A BRITISH BYE-ELECTION

"Refreshingly Candid" Criticism of Hon. George E. Foster—British Found Him Out Before Goldwin Smith Warned Them That He Was Not a Representative Man—Colonies and Treaty-Making Powers.

London, Jan. 4.—(C.A.P.)—Workingmen stormed the platform at Newton Abbot, Mid Devon, where an election contest is proceeding, and ejected the tariff reform speakers, Sir John Cockburn and Barlow Cumberland, who appeared in the place of Hon. Mr. Turner of British Columbia. Blood was spilt and there were free fights, many women fainting.

J. Tritton, president of the Bankers' Institute, says protection means restriction. Standing at the centre of the world's trade, with his hand on the pulse of the trade of the world, he dreaded the suggestion to close ports.

The Leader calls The Montreal Herald's references to Hon. G. E. Foster refreshingly candid, and says no possible payment could be an adequate return for the dumping of 4,600 words of Fosterian eloquence on the public. It thanks Prof. Goldwin Smith for warning us that these speakers are not representative of Canada, and says they found that out before his letter arrived.

Pethick Laurence, in The Contemporary Review, urges instead of the preference giving colonial loans and enterprises the same footing as British and taxing incomes derived from foreign sources sixpence a pound additional.

Dean Norwich, preaching in the cathedral last night, said that for wide world influence Chamberlain's mission had no parallel since the days Europe trembled at Napoleon's march. If the policy had been announced in France, anarchy and

The Express says Australia's call to Chamberlain disposes of the idea that Australia does not desire preferential treatment. It says Chamberlain's motto is: "Let others talk; I act."

The Post says in most explicit terms the Prime Minister and his colleagues of the Commonwealth speak of Australia as one of the intending partners of Chamberlain's scheme.

The News says interest in the correspondence lies in the new development of Imperial electioneering. We have already had the experience of Canadian orators and Australians are likely to come when the colony understands what Chamberlain means. It says Premier Deakin, hard pressed, is eager to obtain Chamberlain's aid.

The London Spectator does not believe that Canada or any other colony has a real desire to control her own foreign relations, nor that colonial statesmen would seriously propose, as a measure of practical politics, to make a colony an independent unit as far as concerned its relations with other powers. It concludes: "We do not believe that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has any desire to bring about this state of things."

THE WORLD OF LABOR.

Some Industries Resume, While Others Have Strikes Because of Reductions.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 4.—President T. J. Shaffer announced Saturday that nearly 3,000 idle sheet workers would return to work by the middle of this week, owing to the resumption of many mills.

Five thousand additional men will be placed at work at McKeesport all 6 o'clock in the plants of the National Tube Co. The men, it is thought, will gladly return to work at the reduced wages.

At Glassport the American Axe and Tool Company's plant was placed in operation Saturday.

The Amalgamated Association of Iron, Tin and Steel Workers announced Saturday that a strike had been ordered in the plant of the Canonsburg Steel and Tin Plate Company, which will affect about 200 men.

Another strike was ordered in the Glassport Hoop Mills of the Pittsburg Steel Company.

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 4.—One thousand workmen of the American Car and Foundry Company went on a strike Saturday because the company made a reduction of 10 per cent. in wages.

Wants Longer Hours Resumed.

Ottawa, Jan. 4.—A year ago the E. B. Eddy Co., in compliance with a demand of the Papermakers' Union, rearranged the schedule of hours so as to eliminate Sunday labor and give shorter hours all around. Evidently the result has not been satisfactory to the company as it has served notice of a revision to the old order of affairs.

Another Barcelona Strike.

Barcelona, Jan. 4.—A general strike of all persons employed by the shipping interests has been declared, as a result of which trade and commerce are paralyzed.

Sawmill Resumes.

Port Arthur, Jan. 4.—The Pigeon River Lumber Company's large saw mill resumed operations again Saturday, after a shut-down of two months because of lack of logs, thus giving employment to 250 mill hands.

FINGER POST OF PROGRESS.

The commercial centre of the Dominion seems to be shifting westward. In earlier days, Quebec held that distinction. Next, Montreal has held the place for a long time, disputing that position with Toronto. Now the centre is shifting, and Winnipeg looks like becoming the hub. Winnipeg has been selected as the next place for holding the Dominion Exposition. This is a tribute, not only to Winnipeg's present importance, but the greatness of the country which contributes to her commercial and civil importance. We are a country of wide areas, and also a broad spirit of nationality. While we naturally shrink from being put behind in the national race by the stalwart west, we all rejoice in its prosperity. Our joy has this element of selfishness in it, that the greater the west becomes the larger will be the area of commercial and industrial demand for the products of the far east. The selection of Winnipeg as the next site of the Dominion Exposition will do much to make known the boundless possibilities of our western heritage.

HOME WEDDING AT ROCKDALE.

Marriage of Mr. Thos. Henderson, Marmora, to Miss Edith Yeomans of Rockdale.

The wedding of Miss Edith Yeomans of Rockdale, to Mr. Thomas Henderson of Marmora, was celebrated by Rev. Mr. Howell of Marmora at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Yeomans, Rockdale.

The house was very prettily decorated for the occasion, and about 150 invited guests were present.

The bridesmaid was Miss Maggie McCurdy of Peterborough, while the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Lionel Yeomans. After the ceremony a delightful wedding dejeuner was served. The presents were numerous and costly. Mr. and Mrs. Yeomans will reside at Marmora.

IMPROMPTU AFFAIR A GREAT SUCCESS.

Tea and Entertainment at St. Paul's Mission on New Years Eve.

The Sunday School Treat of St. Paul's Mission, which was held on New Year's Eve was a distinct success in every way. There were about 60 children present to whom tea was served from 5 to 6 o'clock. THE HEAVENS FOR JANUARY 1904.

No Unusual Astronomical Phenomena Looked for During the First Month of This Year.

Prof Malcomb McNeill in the last issue of the American Inventor, says:

The year 1904 will not be marked by any very unusual astronomical phenomena which can now be predicted. The stars will follow their accustomed annual courses, and the constellations seen on January evenings will be the same as those at like times of the year a century ago or a century hence. Some new star may burst in great brilliancy, but such an occurrence can not be foretold. Several of the known periodic coments are due to pass perihelion during the year, but not one of them is very bright. With a very few exceptions all of the periodic comets are faint. Practically only one of them, Halley's, is what would be called a brilliant comet, and it is not due until about the close of the present decade.

There will be only two eclipses, the minimum number, and both will be of the sun. One of these is annular, and therefore of no great astronomical interest. The other is a total solar of long duration, but the line of totality scarcely touches any known land and there is therefore a scarcity of good observing stations.

The planets will follow their accustomed courses, and all except Mars will be in good position for evening observation at some time during the year. Mars will be in the part of its orbit farthest away from us, and will not be very bright at any time. To the half thousand or so of known asteroids probably a score or two of new ones will be added. Very few of them are of any great astronomical interest. One with an exceptional orbit like Eros is worth finding; but most of them merely add to the labour of astronomers without affording any hope of new knowledge.

Going more into detail, the constellations visible on January evenings are the same as in other Januaries. Auriga is in the zenith about 9 p.m., Ursa Major is high up in the north-east and Cassiopeia in the north-west; Perseus, Andromeda, and Pegasus are also in the north-west, the last low down near the horizon. The zodiacal constellations visible counting from west to east are Pisces, Aries, Taurus, Gemini, Cancer, and Leo. The last is rising in the east and Gemini is coming to the meridian. South of the zodiacal constellations we find the great group of Orion and the two dogs, Canis Minor in the south-east, Canis Major low down near the south point, and Orion coming to the meridian halfway between zenith and horizon. Cetus is low down in the south-west.

Phases of the moon, eastern time: Full moon, January 3, 12.47 a.m.; last quarter, Jan. 9, 4.16 p.m.; new moon, Jan. 17, 10.47 a.m.; first quarter, Jan. 25, 9.41 p.m.

The earth is in perihelion, Jan. 2, 11 p.m. eastern time.

The planets are all, roughly speaking, with the exception of Neptune, in the same quarter of the heavens as the sun, and all except Venus and Uranus are in the evening sky.

Mercury is at its greatest east elongation at 1 a.m., January 1. On this date it sets a little more than an hour and a half after sunset, and therefore will be an easy object to see in the western twilight soon after sunset. It will, however, be visible for only a few days, not more than a week, as it comes to inferior conjunction with the sun on the morning of January 17. This interval of only 16 days between greatest east elongation and inferior conjunction is much shorter than the average. In April and May the corresponding interval will be 31 days, and in August and September 27 days. There will be another short one in December, 17 days. The cause of the short interval is this: Mercury during January is moving among the stars at a more than average rate, as it is in the part of its orbit nearest the sun, passing perihelion on the afternoon of Jan. 10. After conjunction, the planet is a morning star and moves rapidly away from the sun. It may be seen in the early morning twilight during the last few days of the month.

Venus rises three and a half hours before sunrise on January 1, and the interval is about one hour less at the end of the month. Both planet and sun are moving eastward among the stars, the planet a little faster, so their apparent distance apart grows smaller. On the morning of January 11 Venus passes about seven degrees north of the first magnitude star Antares, Alpha Scorpii, and on January 28 it is less than two degrees north of Uranus.

As stated before this will be a poor year for observations of Mars, although it is still to be seen as an evening star for some time after the beginning of the year, but much less bright than it was at opposition. It sets about three hours after sunset on January 1, and about two hours and a half after on January 31. This diminution is due to the fact that the sun sets later at the end of the month than at the beginning. Mars sets at practically the same clock time throughout the month, even a little later at the end of the month than at the beginning, 7.35 p.m. on January 1st, and 7.38 on January 31 by local mean time.

Jupiter is also an evening star, and remains in a comparatively good position for observation until March. It sets at 10.18 p.m. on Jan. 1, and at about 9.48 on January 31. It is in the constellation Pisces and moves five degrees eastward and two degrees northward during the month.

Saturn is also an evening star, but after the first few days of the month it is too near the sun to be seen without a telescope. It sets at a little before 7 on January 1, and has almost reached the sun by Jan. 31. It will be in conjunction on Feb. 1st.

Uranus is a morning star rising about an hour before sunrise on Jan. 1. This is too short an interval to allow so faint an object to be seen. By the end of the month it rises two hours earlier than at the beginning but it will not be easy to recognise as there are few bright stars near by by which to identify the planet.

Neptune passed opposition with the sun at the end of December, and is above the horizon practically the entire month during January, but it is too faint to be seen without a telescope. It is in the constellation Gemini.

PUBLIC HEALTH OF THE PROVINCE.

Diphtheria Still Prevalent—Tuberculosis Falls Off.

The prevalence of diphtheria in Ontario abated but slightly during the month of November, as shown by the returns to the Provincial Department of Medical Health. In November, there were 64 deaths out of 476 cases in 73 municipalities. In October there were 66 deaths out of 541 cases in 69 municipalities. In November, 1902, there were 45 deaths. The death roll in October last was the largest in five years and in November second largest. The deaths from tuberculosis numbered 127 against 169 in October last and 147 in November, 1902.

The total of deaths in November from all causes was 2,089 in a population of 2,319,000 or 9.4 per cent. of the whole population. The death rate was 12.15 per thousand. Last year for the same month the death rate was 12.18 per thousand, and in October last it was 12.8 per thousand. Smallpox returns were received from four municipalities, showing five cases and no deaths. During October there were seven cases and no deaths in seven municipalities. Scarlet fever was reported from 41 municipalities, with 276 cases and 9 deaths, against 255 municipalities with 232 cases and 9 deaths in October last and 61 deaths in November, 1902. Measles was reported in five municipalities, with 5 deaths against 6 municipalities and 1 death in October last and 3 deaths in November, 1902. Whooping cough was reported from 13 municipalities, with 14 deaths, against 19 municipalities and 17 deaths in October last and 7 deaths in November, 1902. Typhoid was reported in 24 municipalities, with 109 cases and 20 deaths, against 52 municipalities, with 178 cases and 43 deaths in October last and 64 deaths in November, 1902.

CORDOVA MINES SOON TO RE-OPEN.

Americans Said to be Interested in the Works—Will Begin Next Week.

Some weeks ago the closing down of the Belmont gold mines at Cordova was reported in these columns, and later a despatch from the Examiner's correspondent stated that the village was being slowly deserted. Both of these statements were true. However, to-day the Examiner learned from a reliable source that the mines would, it was believed, in the village, begin operations again some time next week. For a short time after the suspension of work it is true that the miners started to leave the village, but on assurances that the closing was only temporary and not a permanent one as reported, this emigration ceased, and a number who had left the village returned. It is further learned that a quantity of the stock of the company which heretofore [illegible] exchanged English, has been purchased [illegible] The [illegible] statement that [illegible] was first [illegible] partially embar-

BENSFORT BRIEFS.

(From our own Correspondent.)

His many friends are pleased to see the familiar face of Mr. George Kerr, of Souris, Man., who accompanied by his two daughters, arrived on the 24th inst. Mr. Kerr intends spending a few weeks with his father, Mr. John Kerr, who is still in feeble health. George reports things booming in the Prairie Province.

Mr. Robinson Pacey is renewing acquaintances here this week.

Mr. Will Wood, of Toronto College of Pharmacy, spent Christmas under the parental roof.

Misses Annie and Maddie Kerr were also home for Christmas.

Mr. Arthur Fletcher and daughter, and Miss Hattie Fletcher are here from the North-west.

Mr. Walter Dawson intends returning to Albert College, Belleville, at the beginning of the term.

A meeting has been called and it is decided to organize a Literary Society in Bensfort this winter. A meeting for the election of officers has been called for the 9th of January, and all interested are expected to attend.

Rev. Jos. Kilgour, of Peterborough, occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church here last Sunday evening, and in spite of the inclemency of the weather a goodly number were out to hear a powerful discourse from the venerable gentleman.

MAKE PEACE WITH YOUR STOMACH.

You are Certain to Lose if you Attempt the Use of Force and Violence.

You cannot force your stomach to do work that it is unable and unwilling to do. It has been tried time and again with always the same result. The stomach is a good and faithful servant, but when pushed beyond the limit it rebels. Some stomachs will stand much more abuse than others, but every stomach has its limit; and when that limit is reached it is a very dangerous and unwise proceeding to attempt to attempt to force it into doing further work. The sensible and reasonable course is to employ, a substitute to carry on the work of digestion and give the stomach an opportunity to recuperate and regain its lost strength.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only perfect substitute to take up and carry on the work of tired, worn out stomachs. They are natural and easy in their work and cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. They contain all of the essential elements that make up the gastric juice and other digestive fluids and will digest any food that a strong, healthy stomach will, and do it in the same time and in the same way. They work independently of surrounding conditions, and the fact that the stomach is weak or diseased does not influence them at all in their useful and effective work. They will digest food just as well in a glass jar or bottle as they will in a stomach. You can see that for yourself by putting one of them into a jar with a square meal and some water to enable it to work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets by thus relieving the stomach of its work, enable that organ to rest and recuperate and regain its health and strength. The process is perfectly natural and plain. Nature will heal the stomach just as she heals a wound or a broken limb, if she is not interfered with and is permitted to do her work in her own way. All interference is prevented by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box, and if you are afflicted with Dyspepsia one box will make you feel fifty times better. You will forget you have a stomach and rejoice in the forgetfulness. No druggist would be so short sighted as to try to get along without Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for they are so popular and are so well known for the good they have done and the happiness they have caused that any druggist caught without them would lose the confidence of his customers, and be regarded as below the standard. His business would suffer as a result and his patrons would go to other stores and buy their other drugs there as well as their Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

OLD RESIDENT OF MONAGHAN DEAD.

Mr. Thos. Gray Died at Winchester, Ontario.

Mr. John Fowler received a telegram last night giving news of the death in Winchester, of Thomas Gray, who for nearly fifty years had been a resident of North Monaghan. Mr. Gray during his lifetime lived with Mr. Fowler, but went to Winchester on September 27th, to visit his nephew, and while there died. The deceased had been ill for about three years, but was not confined to his bed, and it was only recently that his sickness developed into seriousness.

The funeral is to be held this afternoon from the residence of his nephew, Mr. Jos. Fowler.

This intelligence will be received with regret here, as the deceased made many warm friends during his long residence in this county.

The special music by the choir was very capably and effectively rendered and the vocal solos were taken by the Misses Josephine Phelan, Lottie Kearney and Mrs. P. P. Young.

The high respect and esteem in which the Rev. Father Phelan is held was amply evidenced by the splendid donation he received from his congregation on Christmas Day.

We were favoured with a visit from Rev. Father Fitzpatrick of Enniamore, accompanied by Rev. Father Galvin, last Monday evening. Rev. Father Fitzpatrick entertained his choir with a few invited guests to a sumptuous dinner partaken of at the Carleton House.

REV. MR. ARMITAGE ON THE ACCEPTABLE YEAR.

Gives an Interesting Address at the Y. M. C. A. Gospel Service.

A large and deeply interested audience of men listened to the address of Rev. W. L. Armitage, in the Y.M.C.A. Hall yesterday when the latter gave an address which partook of a New Year's character as well as marking the close of Mr. Armitage's helpful association with the young men of the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Williamson presided and referred to the work of the departing Rector of All Saints and his interest in men. He thanked him on behalf of the Y.M.C.A. for his help in the work.

He then gave a very impressive address based on Isa. lxi "To proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord.

It previously referred to the year of Jubilee among the Jews and was shown to be acceptable to the Gospel age by the reference of Jesus in Luke iv. This is the acceptable year and the day of vengeance and men have now to make their choice between the two. The source of riches is seeking first the Kingdom of God.

The preacher then referred to the wasting of time. How have we used the powers that God has given to us? Men have certainly failed else they would have done more. The call came to all disciples to preach the Gospel to every creature.

In concluding Mr. Armitage referred feelingly to his stay in Peterborough and of the joy it had been to him to be of any service to the young men.

During the meeting the All Saints quartette sang "Crossing the Bar" adn "Where is my Wandering Boy To-night?" both selections being ably rendered and appropriately impressive.

MEMBERS OF CHOIR GIVE ENTERTAINMENT

For the Benefit of Bethel Methodist Church.

Some of the members of the George street choir went to Bethel Church on Tuesday night and gave a concert for the benefit of that church. There was a good attendance, and the programme rendered was one which the audience showed it appreciated. The Male Quartette of the choir, composed of Messrs. Thornton, Maguire, Turner and Smedley, rendered a number of selections, including "Sweet and Low," "In the Gloaming," and "Under Southern Skies," in the rendition of each of which they were encored, giving as recall numbers "The Story of a Tack," "Poor Willie," "All on Sunday Morning," and "Good Night." Miss Parnell delighted the audience with three well rendered solos. Mr. Smedley also sang a solo "True, Tried to Death."

Mrs. Mowat played the accompaniments in her usual efficient manner, and altogether the entertainment was a most enjoyable one. To vary the programme a number of phonograph selections were given, with which, as with the musical numbers, the audience showed its unmistakeable pleasure.

After the close of the concert, those who contributed to the programme were driven to Mr. Thos. Caldwell's, where a delightful hour was spent, and refreshments were served.

ALL SAINTS' TWO SUCCESSFUL YEARS

Second Anniversary of its Erection and Formation Celebrated Yesterday.

Eloquent Sermon by Ven. Archdeacon Allen, D. C. L.,—Coming Departure of the Present Rector.

The second anniversary of the erection of All Saints into a separate parish, was celebrated yesterday, by services in the church of an especially interesting character. The occasion was one of more than ordinary significance, because, while it was the celebration of the second anniversary, it was also, in a sense, a farewell to the rector, who, during the time he has had charge of the parish, has been the means of building up a strong and self sustaining congregation. Rev. Mr. Armitage, who has been identified so closely with the almost phenomenal success of All Saints' church, will preach his last sermon as Rector, next Sunday, and it has seemed very fitting that the anniversary services should be held at the closing of his relationship, and and the facts presented yesterday, showing the growth and continued prosperity of the church, are eloquent tributes to the zeal and faithfulness of the popular Rector.

The history of All Saints' church is familiar to nearly all who have been resident here for any length of time. On January 1st, 1902, the parish was formed, because it was felt that there was an increasing number of people in that portion of the town to whom a church in their midst would be welcome, and although it was with some misgivings on the part of a few that such a course was adopted, its wisdom has long since been amply demonstrated, and the parish then formed has gone on increasing in strength and usefulness, until now it is on a sound financial basis, and has become a centre from which Christian influences are radiating with increasing wideness.

The work commenced by lay workers and clergymen has been continued by the present Rector, Rev. W. L. Armitage, and now on the eve of his departure to accept a larger and more responsible rectorship, the parish is in good condition to continue its usefulness under the incoming rector.

The church yesterday was still beautiful with the Christmas decorations, and the services were appropriate and helpful. The Ven. Archdeacon Allen of Millbrook, preached the anniversary sermons, and the kindly words of advice from the venerable minister, were ones such as might be expected from one who has for so many years ministered to the people in things pertaining to God. He prefaced his morning sermon by expressing his pleasure at his participation in the anniversary services. He was glad that the parish had prospered under the present incumbent, and although he felt sad at his departure he would pray that his labours in his new parish might be as successful as they had been in All Saints. He felt a personal loss in Mr. Armitage's departure, because in the capacity of secretary of the Archdeaconry, he had proved himself an efficient officer, and his place would be hard to fill. The Archdeacon, speaking of his own experience, said that he had been for fifty-one years Rector of Cavan, a parish which, while it was older than the speaker, who was 82 years of age, had only had three Rectors, himself being the third. His predecessor, Rev. Mr. Armour, had been "promoted" to the Cavan parish from Peterborough, which was then but small.

The Archdeacon preached a very helpful sermon from the text, "And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the testimony of God. For I determined not to know anything among you save Jesus Christ and Him crucified. And I was with you in weakness and in fear and in much trembling. And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of men's wisdom, but in demonstration of the spirit and of power. That your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God." I Cor. ii, 1-5.

In these words, the speaker said, St. Paul gave his motive in preaching to the Christians at Corinth. His first aim was to preach Christ — Christ as the one who by His death on the cross, had become the world's Saviour, Christ as the teacher, and Christ as the ruler and king.

St. Paul one of the most fluent speakers of modern or olden days, did not depend on his words merely, and in fact was most anxious that the simplicity and power of the Gospel should be truthfully represented, and realized the fact that it was not by human eloquence that the message would be most effectively delivered. He trembled under the responsibilities of his commission. The great theme of Paul's teaching was "Christ and Him crucified." Christ was not only the teacher of truth but he himself was Truth.

Christ was not only a teacher, but he was a priest who offered sacrifice for the sins of the people. He is also a king, to rule the thoughts of his subjects. Christ must be not only our Saviour but also our teacher and our ruler. As St. Paul recognised the fact that whatever success attending his teaching was due to the simplicity and power of the Gospel which he taught, so must every preacher recognise the same fact. No revival has ever accomplished anything which has not been inspired by the simple Gospel. The reformation under Luther and the revival started by John Wesley, were both successful because of the trust these men had in God, and their faith in the power of His Gospel.

The second anniversary of All Saints' church was, he said, an occasion to glorify God. The present satisfactory condition of the church and its record of growth was due not only to the work of the Rector, but was in a large degree influenced by the consistent support given him by the laymen of the church. He counselled the members of the church to thank God for their success thus far and pray that the Rector in his new parish may meet with the success which has characterized his ministry at All Saints.

EVENING SERVICE.

At the evening service Ven. Archdeacon Allen, D.C.L., of Millbrook, preached while Rev. W. L. Armitage conducted the service. Prior to the sermon the Rector briefly addressed the congregation, stating that next Sunday he would preach his farewell sermons before severing his connection with All Saint's. He hoped that after he had gone, the congregation would achieve success to the highest issue and that the parish under its new leadership would continue to augment.

The preacher took for his text Hebrews 1st chapter, and 1st, 2nd and 3rd verses: "God, Who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in times past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by His Son, Whom He hath appointed Heir to all things, by Whom also He made the worlds; Who being the brightness of His glory and the express image of His person, and upholding all things by the word of His power, when He had by Himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high.

This beautiful Epistle to the Hebrews, said the preacher, is summarized by Dr. Drummond as an injunction to those who supported the church of God to "hold fast." That was the great object of the latter and there can be no doubt that it came from a pen inspired by the hand of God. It has been theorized that it was written by St. Paul, and the opinion has been entirely agreed with. But what matter the material authorship when we know that it was an inspiration from on high. We know by human instinct and experience that the Bible as a whole or in part is true and the author or the time the words were written are matters of minor detail. The object of this great letter was to prove to the adherents of the one and only true church that the Christian faith was better than all idolatrous or other creeds. The first verse states that the divers saying of the early prophets were fulfilled later by His Son. To Adam there was revealed that the Saviour would be a man. More than 2,000 years later Abraham was told that the Saviour would be one of his seed. Still later it was revealed that He would be of the line of Judah and that He should be a suffering Messiah and later still that He would come before the destruction of the second temple of Solomon. Still later prophets, 400 years before His advent, propounded the same truths. Thus God made known His will to the fathers of His word. How surely mankind has advanced in a knowledge of the state of this earth, of the illuminated heavens and other things truly wonderful. Have not all these been revealed by the grace of God? He guided the prow of that ship which conveyed Columbus, the discoverer of America. In the year 1837 when I crossed the Atlantic, that ocean had not been ploughed by a steamship. There has been progress on earth in every direction, and God in strange manners has made mean the discoverer of something hitherto unknown. The God of Scripture is also the God of nature, naturally we expect to find an analogy like this.

The great doctrine of the Incarnation teaches us that when the Shepherds went to Bethlehem and looked upon the face of Him they saw the brightness of God's glory and the image of His person.

1886 (19 years) 1904.

MESSRS. GOUGH BROS. take this opportunity to announce that they have arranged to close out their business interests in and to withdraw from Peterborough. The business has been disposed of to Messrs. Tully and Merrell and Mr. W. H. Meredith. The two former gentlemen have been with Gough Bros. for many years, and Mr. Meredith is very well and favorably known and his business as Merchant Tailor, and Clothier will be merged in the larger undertaking. In such worthy hands as joint owners the business will be continued.

In withdrawing from town Gough Bros. desire to thank most heartily so many friends and customers for generous patronage so freely bestowed. The firm have no other recollection, in leaving town, but that of much kindness, patient forbearance and encouragement from all. As the years rolled on the business increased and expanded and to-day is a prosperous going concern.

The firm desire to state that the reason of their withdrawal from Peterborough is that their large and increasing interests in Toronto require their undivided attention and will utilize their full resources. For the last year, under the able management of Tully and Merrell substantial gains have been made and the esteem of the buying public retained and strengthened, and it may be said that these gentlemen have fairly won their spurs.

Gough Bros. bespeak for their successors as generous a share of patronage and as hearty an approval as has been so unstintedly given in the past, feeling confident that nothing will be left undone that vigilance, experience, judgment and an earnest desire to afford satisfaction can suggest.

In furtherance of the object of withdrawing from Peterborough an important Sale will be put on at once, with the object of reducing the stock. This sale will last for six weeks, and will afford opportunity to people to buy an exceedingly satisfactory range of goods, including Clothing, Hats and Caps, Boots and Shoes, Furnishings, etc, at prices substantially reduced in order to facilitate the objects of the sale. Of this Sale further announcement will be made.

It may be noted that the store will be closed down on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 6th to 8th inst., in order to afford time to mark down the lines of goods to be offered.

Very respectfully,

R. P. GOUGH,
A. J. GOUGH,

GOUGH BROS.

What teaching may or may not be true we know the great ethics which Christ taught will be true and while there are any eyes to weep or hearts feel sorrow the religion of Christ will go on, and our safest hope is in Heaven.

The choir rendered an especially pleasing musical programme the selections in the morning service being Read's "Te Duem" Schilling's "Jubilate" and the anthem, "The Lord is in His Holy Temple" Mr. Edwards taking the solo. The anthem was repeated at the evening service.

"SUNSHINE".

Bright Little Rays From Peterborough Sons and Daughters.

The Sun Life Insurance Company issues a little monthly journal called "Sunshine," containing information of interest. The December number will be of especial interest in about 175 households, as it contains photographic reproductions of about that number of bright children, the sons and daughters of policy holders, who naturally have more interest in life insurance since their fathers can only benefit their posterity by getting permanently out of the way. Of course where pretty and bright children are grouped, there one will find Peterborough youngsters. Among those prettily representing Peterborough are the portraits of the following: Reginald and Wilfred Stratton, Rapsey Pringle, Jean Eastwood, John Halliday Crane, Max-[illegible] Kennedy, Ahnet Agnes Fitt, Hamilton Hill, Allen Campbell and Gordon Campbell, and Stanley Madill.

SATISFACTORY GROWTH OF CUSTOM RECEIPTS.

Six Months Ending Dec. 31st 1903, Show Increase of $16,801.58 Over Same Period Last Year.

The best indication possible of the growing trade of Peterborough is the fact that the customs receipts show a most satisfactory growth. For the last six months of 1903 the amount of duties collected at the office here was $109,284.19, as compared with $93,982.61 during the corresponding period in 1902, showing an increase for the six months, of $15,301.58. This increase is most gratifying, particularly in view of the fact that during the last half of 1902 large imports of machinery were made for manufacturing purposes. This year there has been comparatively little of this class of imports, consequently the record is all the more indicative of a growing continuance trade.

The returns for the month just closed show no diminution in the increase. For December, 1902, the amount collected was $15,991.60, and for December, 1903, $18,109.98, being an increase of $2,118.98.

Boxing and Wrestling Show.

Owing to the demand for seats for Wednesday night's show, the management have decided to reserve the first four rows at 75 cents and the next fourteen rows at 50 cents, so that parties unable to be there on time may have good seats reserved for them. Plan opens at Ormond & Walsh's drug store, Monday morning. Rush seats will be sold at 25 cents and 35 cents. Show begins at 8.15 sharp.

He felt a personal loss in Mr. Armitage's departure, because in the capacity of secretary of the Archdeaconry, he had proved himself an efficient officer, and his place would be hard to fill. The Archdeacon, speaking of his own experience, said that he had been for fifty-one years Rector of Cavan, a parish which, while it was older than the speaker, who was 82 years of age, had only had three Rectors, himself being the third. His predecessor, Rev. Mr. Armour, had been "promoted" to the Cavan parish from Peterborough, which was then but small.

The Archdeacon preached a very helpful sermon from the text, "And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the testimony of God. For I determined not to know anything among you save Jesus Christ and Him crucified. And I was with you in weakness and in fear and in much trembling. And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of men's wisdom, but in demonstration of the spirit and of power. That your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God." I Cor. ii, 1-5.

In these words, the speaker said, St. Paul gave his motive in preaching to the Christians at Corinth. His first aim was to preach Christ — Christ as the one who by His death on the cross, had become the world's Saviour, Christ as the teacher, and Christ as the ruler and king.

St. Paul one of the most fluent speakers of modern or olden days, did not depend on his words merely, and in fact was most anxious that the simplicity and power of the Gospel should be truthfully represented, and realized the fact that it was not by human eloquence that the message would be most effectively delivered. He trembled under the responsibilities of his commission. The great theme of Paul's teaching was "Christ and Him crucified." Christ was not only the teacher of truth but he himself was Truth.

Christ was not only a teacher, but he was a priest who offered sacrifice for the sins of the people. He is also a king, to rule the thoughts of his subjects. Christ must be not only our Saviour but also our teacher and our ruler. As St. Paul recognised the fact that whatever success attending his teaching was due to the simplicity and power of the Gospel which he taught, so must every preacher recognise the same fact. No revival has ever accomplished anything which has not been inspired by the simple Gospel. The reformation under Luther and the revival started by John Wesley, were both successful because of the trust these men had in God, and their faith in the power of His Gospel.

The second anniversary of All Saints' church was, he said, an occasion to glorify God. The present satisfactory condition of the church and its record of growth was due not only to the work of the Rector, but was in a large degree influenced by the consistent support given him by the laymen of the church. He counselled the members of the church to thank God for their success thus far and pray that the Rector in his new parish may meet with the success which has characterised his ministry at All Saints.

EVENING SERVICE.

At the evening service Ven. Archdeacon Allen, D.C.L., of Millbrook, preached while Rev. W. L. Armitage conducted the service. Prior to the sermon the Rector briefly addressed the congregation, stating that next Sunday he would preach his farewell sermons before severing his connection with All Saint's. He hoped that after he had gone, the congregation would achieve success to the highest issue and that the parish under its new leadership would continue to augment.

The preacher took for his text Hebrews 1st chapter, and 1st, 2nd and 3rd verses: "God, Who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in times past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by His Son, Whom He hath appointed Heir to all things, by Whom also He made the worlds; Who being the brightness of His glory and the express image of His person, and upholding all things by the word of His power, when He had by Himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high.

This beautiful Epistle to the Hebrews, said the preacher, is summarised by Dr. Drummond as an injunction to those who supported the church of God to "hold fast." That was the great object of the latter and there can be no doubt that it came from a pen inspired by the hand of God. It has been theorized that it was written by St. Paul, and the opinion has been strongly asserted. But what matter the material authorship when we know that it was an inspiration from on high. We know by human instinct and experience that the Bible as a whole or in part is true and the author or the time the words were written are matters of minor detail. The object of this great latter was to prove to the adherents of the one and only true church that the Christian faith was better than all idolatrous or other creeds. The first verse states that the divers saying of the early prophets were fulfilled later by His Son. To Adam there was revealed that the Saviour would be a man. More than 2,000 years later Abraham was told that the Saviour would be one of his seed. Still later it was revealed that He would be of the line of Judah and that He should be a suffering Messiah and later still that He would come before the destruction of the second temple of Solomon. Still later prophets, 400 years before His advent, propounded the same truths. Thus God made known His will to the fathers of His word. How surely mankind has advanced in a knowledge of the state of this earth, of the illuminated heavens and other things truly wonderful. Have not all these been revealed by the grace of God? He guided the prow of that ship which conveyed Columbus, the discoverer of America. In the year 1837 when I crossed the Atlantic, that ocean had not been ploughed by a steamship. There has been progress on earth in every direction, and God in strange manners has made mem the discoverer of something hitherto unknown. The God of Scripture is also the God of nature, naturally we expect to find an analogy like this.

The great doctrine of the Incarnation teaches us that when the Shepherds went to Bethlehem and looked upon the face of Him they saw the brightness of God's glory and the image of His person.

MESSRS. GOUGH BROS. take this opportunity to announce that they have arranged to close out their business interests in and to withdraw from Peterborough. The business has been disposed of to Messrs. Tully and Merrell and Mr. W. H. Meredith. The two former gentlemen have been with Gough Bros. for many years, and Mr. Meredith is very well and favorably known and his business as Merchant Tailor, and Clothier will be merged in the larger undertaking. In such worthy hands as joint owners the business will be continued.

In withdrawing from town Gough Bros. desire to thank most heartily so many friends and customers for generous patronage so freely bestowed. The firm have no other recollection, in leaving town, but that of much kindness, patient forbearance and encouragement from all. As the years rolled on the business increased and expanded and to-day is a prosperous going concern.

The firm desire to state that the reason of their withdrawal from Peterborough is that their large and increasing interests in Toronto require their undivided attention and will utilize their full resources. For the last year, under the able management of Tully and Merrell substantial gains have been made and the esteem of the buying public retained and strengthened, and it may be said that these gentlemen have fairly won their spurs.

Gough Bros. bespeak for their successors as generous a share of patronage and as hearty an approval as has been so unstintedly given in the past, feeling confident that nothing will be left undone that vigilance, experience, judgment and an earnest desire to afford satisfaction can suggest.

In furtherance of the object of withdrawing from Peterborough an important Sale will be put on at once, with the object of reducing the stock. This sale will last for six weeks, and will afford opportunity to people to buy an exceedingly satisfactory range of goods, including Clothing, Hats and Caps, Boots and Shoes, Furnishings, etc, at prices substantially reduced in order to facilitate the objects of the sale. Of this Sale further announcement will be made.

It may be noted that the store will be closed down on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 6th to 8th inst., in order to afford time to mark down the lines of goods to be offered.

Very respectfully,

R. P. GOUGH,
A. J. GOUGH,

GOUGH BROS.

What teaching may or may not be true we know the great ethics which Christ taught will be true and while there are any eyes to weep or hearts feel sorrow the religion of Christ will go on, and our safest hope is in Heaven.

The choir rendered an especially pleasing musical programme the selections in the morning service being Read's "Te Duem" Schilling's "Jubilate" and the anthem, "The Lord is in His Holy Temple" Mr. Edwards taking the solo. The anthem was repeated at the evening service.

"SUNSHINE".

Bright Little Rays From Peterborough Sons and Daughters.

The Sun Life Insurance Company issues a little monthly journal called "Sunshine," containing information of interest. The December number will be of especial interest in about 175 households, as it contains photographic reproductions of about that number of bright children, the sons and daughters of policy holders, who naturally have more interest in life insurance since their fathers can only benefit their posterity by getting permanently out of the way. Of course where pretty and bright children are grouped, there one will find Peterborough youngsters. Among those prettily representing Peterborough are the portraits of the following: Reginald and Wilfred Stratton, Rapsey Pringle, Jean Eastwood, John Halliday Crane, Maxwell Kennedy, Almet Agnes Hill, Jean Hamilton Hill, Alice Campbell and Gordon Campbell, and Stanley Madill.

SATISFACTORY GROWTH OF CUSTOM RECEIPTS.

Six Months Ending Dec. 31st 1903, Show Increase of $13,801.83 Over Same Period Last Year.

The best indication possible of the growing trade of Peterborough is the fact that the customs receipts show a most satisfactory growth. For the last six months of 1903 the amount of duties collected at the office here was $93,982.51 during the corresponding period in 1902, showing an increase for the six months, of $15,991.55. This increase is most gratifying, particularly in view of the fact that during the last half of 1902 large imports of machinery were made for manufacturing purposes. This year there has been comparatively little of this class of imports, consequently the record is all the more indicative of a growing continuance trade.

The returns for the month just closed show no diminution in the increase. For December, 1903, the amount collected was $15,991.55, and for December, 1902, $13,109.93, being an increase of $2,116.93.

Boxing and Wrestling Show.

Plan opens at Ormond & Walsh's drug store, Monday evening. Rush seats will be sold at 25 cents and 35 cents. Show begins at 8.15 sharp.

A CRISIS IMPENDING

Japanese Distrustful of Czar's Promises.

RUSSIA'S RESTFUL TALK

War Spirit of Japs Increased By Russia's Activity in Provisioning—If Russian Reply Is Unsatisfactory It Is Certain Japan Will Fight Immediately—St. Petersburg Regards Compromise Likely.

Tokio, Jan. 2.—The situation is growing extremely critical, and it is believed the chances for war are greater than ever before. Peace hinges on the character of Russia's response. If the Russian reply is unsatisfactory, it is almost certain that Japan will fight immediately. If Russia desires peace her position will be difficult to maintain, for the Japanese are distrustful of her promises. If Russia's response is delayed for a week it is expected that Japan will demand an immediate answer. The announcement that Russia is seeking naval stations in Corea, buying stores in America and buying coal in Japan has increased the war spirit of the Japanese nation. Influential newspapers are urging the Government to promptly despatch a fleet to guard the Corean coast and patrol the Corean channel. The Minister of War and Navy, their general advisory staffs and commanders, are conferring daily. Full plans for the campaign of the army and navy have been prepared, and the scheme of land and water transportation completed. The thoroughness of Japan's preparations is pronounced superior to that of Germany prior to the Franco-Prussian war. It is anticipated that Corea will be the scene of the earliest operations. The invasion of Chinese territory other than by Corea and across the Yalu River, it is thought, will depend on the nature and extent of the Chinese efforts to expel the Russians from Manchuria. Sase Ho will be the principal base of the navy, and the main point for the embarkation of troops. It has not yet been disclosed what place will be the principal army base, nor whether the Emperor and his war councillors will go to direct operations.

CONFLICT IS IMPENDING.

London's Daily Papers Consider the Eastern Situation With Alarm.

London, Jan. 2.—The Far Eastern situation is regarded as of the gloomiest. No further news has developed, but the fact that not a single telegram from Japan has been received by any London newspaper since Thursday night in itself creates alarm. The telegraph company is not aware of any delay in the transit of messages, and it therefore is supposed that the Japanese Government is stopping despatches.

The feeling of apprehension was reflected at Lloyd's yesterday, underwriters demanding additional premium to cover a war risk on all vessels, no matter of what nationality, proceeding east of Singapore.

The London morning papers print alarmist statements. The Daily Telegraph in leaded type says:

"Even in diplomatic circles hitherto sanguine of peace, there is a recognition that a rupture is all but inevitable. Neither Japan nor Russia will abate anything of their claims, and there is no disposition on either side to invite the mediation of friendly powers. It is believed that Japan will take decisive steps within the next few days unless a conciliatory message is despatched from St. Petersburg, a contingency which those best able to judge do not anticipate."

The Daily Mail deals similarly with the situation and says that it understands that Russia has reached a decision, which, when communicated to Japan, must precipitate hostilities. The sailing of the Nippon mail boat Inaba Maru, which was fixed for yesterday from England, has been postponed. Among the unconfirmed rumors in steamship circles is one that the Peninsula and Oriental Steamship Company has sold four of its liners through a French firm to Russia. The Daily Mail's Malta correspondent reports that five Russian torpedo-boat destroyers which are undergoing repairs there have suddenly been ordered to sea in an unfinished condition.

WAR FEARED BY LANSDOWNE.

So Informed a Foreign Ambassador—Lloyd's War Insurance Rates Increased.

London, Jan. 2.—Foreign Secretary Lansdown has informed one of the foreign ambassadors that he has practically given up all hopes of peace.

War insurance rates at Lloyd's Thursday were rather higher, although the situation in the far east so far as known here, is practically unchanged.

The warships which Japan purchased from Argentina have been rechristened Kasuga and Nissin. They will be completed the last of January and the fact that a declaration of war before that time would render them useless, it is thought will be likely to reconcile Japan to further delay.

The Daily Mail's correspondence at Pekin says that orders for field guns are being executed in Japan for the Chinese Government. The correspondent concludes by saying that viceroys have advised the Government against forming an alliance with Japan.

WARLIKE PROSPECTS.

Bennett Burleigh the London Telegraph Correspondent Scents Conflict.

New York, Jan. 2.—In a special cable from London yesterday The Herald has the following: Bennett Burleigh, wiring to The Daily Telegraph from Tokio, says: "Though New Year's Day is being celebrated with great festivities throughout Japan, the situation remains most serious, and has grown worse if that be possible. Japan has hurried forward the completion of several new torpedo boats and arranged to fit out certainly three of her best mercantile vessels as armed cruisers. The greatest activity and vigilance is being displayed by her navy.

"Since January last, Russia has been steadily increasing the number of her fighting ships in the Far East. At that time her total tonnage was under 90,000, but at the beginning of the New Year it will be 200,000 tons more. Of the ships under order of Japan, the total tonnage is about 170,000. Anxiety is expressed here as to how the Corean army will behave in the event of war. Owing to apprehensions lest the Corean troops, who are always mutinous, should plunder and outrage foreigners and local merchants, the Legations are asking for the protection of their own troops, and they also contemplate steps for taking away all ammunition from the Corean soldiers.

"One thousand Japanese troops, however, would suffice to deal with the whole strength of the Corean army."

There is nothing like Sunlight Soap for Household Utensils.

When you have to use hard water it is not an easy matter to wash household utensils. To do good washing you should have good soap and soft water (rain water). If you use hard water you must have good soap, and the best soap you can get is Sunlight Soap because it softens the hard water and makes a copious creamy lather. Use Sunlight Soap for all household purposes and the results will surprise you.

WAR MAY BE AVERTED.

Moscow Said to Be Heavily Interested in the East—St. Petersburg Regards Compromise Likely.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 2.—Advices from Moscow confirm previous reports that outside of military circles people there are not interested in the differences with Japan. Commercially, Moscow has much at stake in the Far East, but there is neither excitement nor enthusiasm. This is regarded here as extremely significant by those who remember the passionate fervor of all classes in the Empire, from the Czar to the peasant, before the Russo-Turkish war. A well-informed resident of Moscow has written to the Associated Press as follows: "It is not an exaggeration to say that war will be unpopular with the Russians."

In some circles at St. Petersburg the editorial in The Novoe Vremya, Dec. 30, saying: "We believe Japan will not place Russia in a position where to yield would appear to be a renunciation of the defence of her vital interests in the Far East," is regarded as an indication that the Government is feeling its way towards a compromise. It is pointed out that Russia will discuss the matter on the basis of the vital interests of both countries, only demanding that Japan shall not put Russia in a position where a concession would seem to be an abandonment of her vital interests, that she ceases to consider the matter from the viewpoint of the respective strength of the two countries, and that, therefore, a peaceful solution is still possible.

BERLIN BELIEVES RUSSIA.

Has Been Informed That Russia's Reply Is Not Provocative.

Berlin, Jan. 2.—The German Government has been informed that Russia's reply to Japan is not provocative and that it is sincerely intended to satisfy Japan. The ground[illegible] is fully recognized here, but Chancellor Von Buelow and the Foreign Office do not believe that war is within the probabilities, and this view, the Associated Press learns, has been communicated to the representatives of the powers in Berlin. Russia's reply, it is unofficially announced, was sent to Japan Thursday.

The Frankfurter Zeitung, which has been one of the most steadfast friends of the United States among the German press, expresses mild surprise that the East Asia policy of the United States has lately grown so passive. The interests involved there, the paper says, concern not merely the Philippines, but may have far-reaching effect on the United States itself.

It asks: "Can the United States afford to see one power acquire a predominant position in the far east which is utterly hostile to the open door?" What has become of Secretary of State Hays' treaty with China guaranteeing an open door? It has been whittled down to such a degree that it is scarcely mentioned nowadays.

"We can only conclude that the Washington authorities are not yet accustomed to the new role in the world's politics and vacillate between harsh and almost mastery seizure of opportunities and unstable backing and filling."

Norman, M.P., on War Crisis.

New York, June 2.—Henry Norman, M.P., author and political economist, who arrived Thursday on the Majestic, on his way to Canada to study preferential tariffs, said:

"I do not think war will result between Russia and Japan, although late reports seem to show a trend that way. Russia does not want to fight, yet her attitude is a cause of wonder.

"Her proposed occupancy of Corea in the face of knowledge that Japan would fight to the last man to keep any nation out of Corea, is rather an invitation to war. Moreover, it appears unnecessary, so far as I can see, as Russia has nothing to gain by occupying Corea. Still the inside policies of nations are hard to fathom.

"If Russia fights Japan it will be the hardest proposition she could tackle. The Japanese are well equipped and a nation of fighters.

"I don't believe Japan's navy has been over estimated. If I can believe English officers next to the United States and England no nation has her navy better kept up or more prepared.

"A war between Japan and Russia would, I believe, tend to involve other nations. It would be a most grave situation.

"The United States might be involved afterward, but it would be through trade relations in Manchuria."

CONFIDENCE OF RUSSIA.

Moscow Editors Profess the Utmost Confidence in Their Cause.

Moscow, Jan. 2.—The Government's order to publish nothing in regard to the movements of troops is patriotically observed by every Moscow paper. One editor said to the Associated Press correspondent. "I know exactly which division is going to the Far East, and I know the names of officers who have been requested not to stir out of Moscow in case of sudden marching orders."

Another editor impatient for war and confident of victory said: "The Russian army will prove as disastrous to the Japanese as did Mont Pelee to Martinique."

When asked to explain the utter indifference of the Muscovites, he replied: "That is due to loyalty. Wait till the Emperor issues a manifesto declaring war. The Russian sentiment will burst forth. But a manifesto is improbable in the immediate future, even if the Japanese occupy Corea."

Both editors expressed concern at the possibility of American intervention. One of them remarked: "The attitude of the United States has become equivocal. We do not like the despatch of American warships. Still, the Russians cannot believe that their old friends will give active assistance to Japan."

NO REPLY MADE BY RUSSIA.

Japanese Minister at St. Petersburg Says He Has No Knowledge of It.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 2.—The Foreign Office yesterday informed the correspondent of the Associated Press that nothing had been done in connection with a reply to Japan. The Japanese Minister here is unable to confirm or deny the advices received in Paris by Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Minister to Great Britain, that Russia had decided not to grant the Japanese proposals. He says an answer to these proposals has not yet been made. It is generally accepted in diplomatic circles [illegible] unlikely that an answer will soon be delivered, and attention is now mainly directed to the Japanese war preparations.

Smallpox in Mildmay.

Mildmay, Jan. 2.—A case of smallpox has made its appearance in the southwest portion of the township Mildmay is situated on the Harrisburg and Southampton branch of the G. T. The Board of Health is doing everything in its power to prevent the spread of the disease.

Cobwebs—cobwebs—grey on every side,
Halls for ships o' fancy, veils for some lost bride!
Cobwebs—cobwebs—dark on roof and wall,
Winding-sheets for Youth and Hope and dead Love's pall!

Cobwebs—cobwebs—ropes of dusty pearls,
Jewels on the white breasts of half-forgotten girls!
Cobwebs—cobwebs—glinting now like tears,
Now like chains upon the gates that guard us from the years!

Cobwebs—cobwebs—swung in every heart,
Tapestry the fairer for its lack of art!
Cobwebs—cobwebs—when the sun has set,
Span by memory's spiders in the moonlight of regret!

AN ESTIMATE OF DARWIN.

Famous Thinker Was a Sweet-Natured, Quiet Country Gentleman.

Sir Leslie Stephen, in the last instalment of his "Reminiscences" in The Atlantic Monthly, expresses a high opinion of Darwin, whom he knew personally. He says:

"I had the privilege of seeing something of Darwin in his later years. To me, and my opinion was not exceptional, he appeared to be simply the most lovable person whom I ever encountered. A little party of us used at one time to take long Sunday tramps in the neighborhood of London. Those were days to be marked with a white stone when Darwin received us at the famous house at Down. It is in the quiet region of chalk downs, which had been left untouched in the gaps of the network of railways; and still looked as rural as it had a century earlier. One could expect to meet the old smugglers whose paths from the coast to London were laid through the unfrequented district. There Darwin found an admirable retreat for contemplating flowers and bees and worms, and for slowly elaborating the thoughts which had revolutionized science. He was as free from pretensions as if his investigations had no more claims to respect than those of a commonplace pigeon-fancier. The simplicity of the man was evident in the delightful easy terms in which he lived with a family which was worthy of his affection. I could sympathize with the young German who burst into tears on leaving the house, touched by the contrast between the famous thinker and the sweet-natured, quiet country gentleman, so free from the pedantry which sometimes haunts the professor's chair."

Are You Inviting Pneumonia?

You Need Only to Neglect Coughs and Colds—The Great Safeguard is.

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

Like other people, you dread the thought of pneumonia, consumption, or any form of lung trouble.

Did you ever wait to think that if colds were not neglected there would be no consumption or pneumonia?

These ailments start with colds, and any cough or cold can be cured by the timely use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

"Oh, it will wear away," you say, and in the meantime the cold is fastening itself on your system, and gradually creeping down the bronchial tubes towards the lungs.

This word of warning may be of priceless value to you if you heed it.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has won the good will of many thousands because of its wonderful promptness in curing serious colds and lung troubles.

Mr. John Clark, coachman, Port Hope, Ont., states:—

"Last winter I was so bad with a cold that I could not speak above a whisper, and had great pains in the chest. At last I feared it would develop into consumption. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and one bottle cured my cold, which I believe would have proved very serious if I had not used this medicine."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is sold by all dealers at the advertised price, 25 cents a bottle, (family size three times as much,) 60 cents. Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every bottle. 1s

By FREDERIC S. ISHAM

Author of "Under the Rose."

The ally in his cause made some laughing response which the soldier did not hear. Himself unseen, Saint-Prosper bent his eyes upon the figure of the young girl, shadowy but obvious in the reflected light of the bright constellations. Even as he gazed her hand removed the mask, revealing the face he knew so well. In the silence below the fountain tinkled ever so loudly as she stood, half turned toward the garden, a silken head covering around her shoulders, the head outlined without adornment save the poppies in her hair.

Her presence recalled scenes of other days—the drive from the races when her eyes had beamed so softly beneath the starry luster. Did she remember? He dared not hope so; he did not. To him it brought also harsher memories, yet his mind was filled most with her beauty, which appeared to gloss over all else and hold him, a not impassive spectator, to the place where she was standing. She seemed again Juliet, the Juliet of inns and schoolhouse stages, the Juliet he had known before she had come to New Orleans, whose genius had transformed the barren stage into a garden of her own creation.

And yet something made her different. An indefinable new quality appeared to rest upon her. He felt his heart beating faster. He was glad he had come. For the moment he forgot his jealousy in watching her, as with new wealth of perfume the languid breeze stirred the tresses above her pallid, immovable features. But the expression of confidence with which the count was regarding her, although ostensibly devoting himself to her companion, renewed his inquietude.

Had she allowed herself to be drawn into a promised alliance with that titled roue? Involuntarily the soldier's face grew hard and stern. The count's tactics were so apparent—flattering attention to the elderly gentlewoman and a devoted but reserved bearing toward the young girl in which he would rely upon patience and perseverance for the consummation of his wishes. But certainly Constance did not exhibit marked preference for his society. On the contrary, she had hardly spoken to him since they had left the ballroom. Now, clasping the iron railing of the balcony, she leaned farther out. The flowers of the vine clambering up one of the supports swayed gently around her, and she started at the moist caress on her bare arm.

"It is cold here," she said, drawing back.

"Allow me—your wrap!" exclaimed the count, springing to her side with great solicitude.

But she adjusted the garment without his assistance.

"You must be careful of your health for the sake of your friends," accompanying the words with a significant glance.

"The count is right," interposed the elderly gentlewoman, "as he usually is," she added, laughing.

"Oh, madam," he said, bowing, "Miss Carew does not agree with you, I am sure," turning to the girl.

"I haven't given the matter any thought," she replied coldly. She shivered slightly, nervously, and looked around.

At that moment the lights were turned on in the garden—another surprise arranged by the Mistick Krewe—illuminating trees and shrubbery and casting a sudden glare upon the balcony.

"Bravo!" said the count. "It's like a fete champetre! And hear the mandolins! Tra-la-la-la-la! Why, what is it?"

She had given a sudden cry and stood staring toward the right at the back of the balcony. Within, the orchestra once more began to play, and, as the strains of music were wafted to them, a host of masqueraders started toward the ballroom. When the inflow of merrymakers had ceased, bewildered, trembling, she looked with blanched face toward the spot where the soldier had been standing, but he was gone.

At that moment the cathedral clock began to strike—twelve times it sounded, and at the last stroke the Mistick Krewe, one by one, began to disappear, vanishing as mysteriously as they had come. Pluto, Proserpine, the fates, fairies and harpies; Satan, Beelzebub, the dwellers in pandemonium, the aids to appetite, all took their quick departure, leaving the musicians and the guests of the evening, including the visiting military, to their own pleasures and devices. The first carnival had come to a close.

CHAPTER XXXV.

"ARE you the clerk?" A well modulated voice, a silvery crown of hair leaning over the counter of the St. Charles, blue eyes, lighted with unobtrusive inquiry.

The small, quiet looking man addressed glanced up. "No," he said. "I am the proprietor. This"—waving his hand to a resplendent appearing person—"is the clerk."

Whereupon the bediamonded individual indicated (about whom an entire chapter has been written by an observing English traveler) came forward leisurely. A Brummel in attire, an Aristarchus for taste! Since his period—or reign—there have been many imitators, but he was the first—indeed, created the office, and is deserving of a permanent place in American annals. "His formality just bordered on stiffness," wrote the interested Briton, as though he were studying some new example of the human species; "his conversation was elegant, but pointed, as he was gifted with a cultured economy of language. He accomplished by inflection what many people can only attain through volubility."

"Yes?" he interrogatively remarked, gazing down at the caller in the present instance.

"Is Colonel Saint-Prosper stopping here?"

"Yes."

"Send this card to his room."

"Yes?" doubtfully.

"Is there any reason why you should not?"

"There was a military banquet last night," interposed the quiet, little man. "Patriotism bubbled over until morning."

"Ah, yes," commented Culver, for it was he. "Fought their battles over again. Some of them in the hospital today. Well, well, they suffered in a glorious cause, toasting the president and the army and the flag and the girls they left behind them. I read the account of it in the papers this morning. Grand speech of the bishop; glorious response of Old Rough and Ready. You are right to protect sleeping heroes, but I'm afraid I must run the guard, as my business is urgent."

A few moments later the lawyer, breathing heavily, followed a colored lad down a crimson carpeted corridor, pausing before a door upon which his guide knocked vigorously and then vanished.

"Colonel Saint-Prosper?" said the lawyer, as he obeyed the voice within and entered the room, where a tall young man in civilian attire was engaged in packing a small trunk. "One moment, pray—let me catch my breath. That lad accomplished the ascent two steps at a time, and, I fear, the spectacle stimulated me to unusual expedition. We're apt to forget we are old and can't keep up with boys and monkeys!"

During this somewhat playful introduction the attorney was studying the occupant of the room with keen, bright gaze—a glance which, without being offensive, was sufficiently penetrating and comprehensive to convey a definite impression of the other's face and figure. The soldier returned the look of his visitor deliberately, but with no surprise.

"Won't you sit down?" he said.

Culver availed himself of the invitation. "I am not disturbing you? I have long known of you, although this is our first meeting."

"You have then the advantage of me," returned Saint-Prosper, "for I"—

"You never heard of me?" laughed the lawyer. "Exactly! We attorneys are always getting our fingers in every one's affairs. I am acquainted with you, as it were, from the cradle to the—present!"

"I am unexpectedly honored!" remarked the listener satirically.

"First, I knew you through the Marquis de Ligne."

Saint-Prosper started and regarded his visitor more closely.

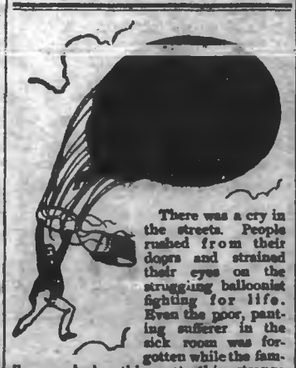
"I was the humble instrument of making a fortune for you. It was also my lot to draw up the papers depriving you of the same!" Culver laughed amiably. "'Oft expectation fails where most it promises.' Pardon my levity. There were two wills, the first in your favor, the last in his daughter's, I presume"—with a sudden sharp look—"you have no intention of contesting the final disposition? The paternity of the child is established beyond doubt."

Artful Culver was not by any means so sure in his own mind that if the other were disposed to make trouble the legal proofs of Constance's identity would be so easily forthcoming. Barnes was dead; her mother had passed away many years before; the child had been born in London—where?—the marquis' rationality just before his demise was a debatable question. In fact, since he had learned Saint-Prosper was in the city the attorney's mind had been soaring among a cloud of vague possibilities, and now, regarding his companion with a most kindly, ingratiating smile, he added:

"Besides, when the marquis took you as a child into his household there were, I understood, no legal papers drawn!"

"I don't see what your visit portends," said Saint-Prosper, "unless there is some other matter."

"Just so," returned Culver, his doubts vanishing. "There was a small matter—a slight commission. Miss Carew requested me to hand you this message." The visitor now detected a marked change in the soldier's imperturbable bearing as the latter took the envelope



There was a cry in the streets. People rushed from their doors and strained their eyes on the struggling balloonist fighting for life. Even the poor, panting sufferer in the sick room was forgotten while the family gazed breathless at this strange tragedy of the air. Then they went back to the sick room to tell of the terrible struggle for life they had just witnessed. It did not occur to them that under their very eyes a more terrible, more pathetic struggle was going on daily.

There can be nothing more pitiful than the struggle the consumptive makes against disease. The greatest help in this struggle is gained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures obstinate coughs, weak and bleeding lungs, emaciation, and other ailments which if [illegible] unskillfully treated find a fatal termination is consumption.

"In 1898 one of my daughters was suffering on account of a severe cough, hectic fever, wasting of flesh and other symptoms of diseased lungs," writes Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, of Barium Springs, Iredell Co., N. C. "I promptly gave her Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery with gratifying success, and she now enjoys [illegible] health. Feeling true, I hereby heartily endorse your medicines."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets assist the action of the "Discovery."

young lady saw you at the Mistick Krewe ball last night and, recognizing an old friend"—with a slight accent—"pressed me into her service. And now, having completed my errand, I will wish you good morning." And the lawyer briskly departed.

The young man's hand trembled as he tore open the envelope, but he surveyed the contents of the brief message with tolerable firmness:

Colonel Saint-Prosper—Will you kindly call this morning to see me?

WINSOME WOMANHOOD.

Some of the Notable Things to Be Found in This Book.

Margaret E. Sangster, who was the chief speaker at the recent Young Women's Christian Association National Convention in Toronto, writes Jean Blewitt in The Toronto News, is one of the best-known women of the continent. As a writer of prose and verse she takes her place amongst the eminent men and women of the day. "Girls," she said of late to an interviewer, "are deep in my regard. I love to help them with my counsel and advice and love to make the world brighter for them." She enjoys the full confidence of thousands of girls, and with this as an inspiration and long years of work and wisdom behind her, she is the woman who ought to speak at such a gathering as is going on at present. Mrs. Sangster has written many books, among them "Winsome Womanhood," a series of heart to heart talks with young girls and old girls. From cover to cover it reveals an insight into a girl's nature, an understanding of her moods, a sympathy with her failures and successes which makes it a thing of value. We often see the expression, "It is a volume which should be on every book-shelf." "Winsome Womanhood" should be on every girl's bookshelf, and in her hands when she has an hour for self-culture. Some brief quotations from this work will go to prove its value:

"The reserves of girlhood are an unfathomed sea. The two watchwords of her life are sympathy and freedom, and she needs both in equal measure. Never was there a greater mistake than to suppose that girlhood is a season of unalloyed pleasure. To many it is a time of quicksands and reefs, of romantic dreams which bring only disappointment, and of poignant pain to sensitive natures, which are wounded because misunderstood. The home daughter who is not discontented with her lot will not find time hanging heavily on her hands."

"A person may excite admiration, may move to envy, without possessing the open sesame which unlocks the hearts of others. Only sweet and true natures are endowed with the capacity for enduring friendship."

"Older people smile at the sentimentality of their young only when youth has waned in their own bosoms. Among the best gifts is sisterly magnetism, which grapples the youth to the hearthstone with bonds of steel."

"God means us to be happy. He has made the world radiant with stars by night, and sun by day."

cupied with the impression she is creating."

"Two young people of opposite creeds have a less profitable outfit for a domestic marriage than that of faith."

"Long engagements are to be avoided. Not to wait too long is the part of wisdom."

"More trouble and discouragement in home life are due to mismanagement of money than to any other cause."

"At fifty the woman of to-day, if her life has been ordinarily easy, and her health good, looks much as her predecessor a century ago did at thirty-five."

"The comeliness of middle-age is not like the wild rose flush of early youth, but it is less evanescent. As in autumn the flowers have a sturdier growth, and a more vivid coloring than in spring, so in life's maturity woman's beauty is pronounced and abiding."

"Youthfulness of feeling, as youthfulness of appearance, is retained by constant use of the intellect."

"The woman who lacks enthusiasm is a wet blanket on the cheer of others."

"Woman's part in the twentieth century will be what it has always been, notwithstanding her larger share in public enterprises. She must reign in the home, and the home, thank God, is forever the tent of repose, the refuge, the shelter, and the heart's haven of delight."

"CLINICS" IN TORONTO.

One of the Scientific Phrases That Sound Innocent.

The hospital doctors complain of a lack of "clinical material" in Toronto. This is one of the scientific phrases that sound innocent. Some of us have been "clinical material." We "bar" not to be so any more. Teachers are quite content to use pictures for illustrations. Some preachers get along very nicely with limelight views. Why cannot the doctors experiment with a few waxworks? Still, if a patient gets a free cot, it is, perhaps, his duty to aid medical science by becoming an object lesson in clinics. If so, he should also get reasonably decent treatment by the nurses. After all, that is a shade better than the dissecting room. It also illustrates quite as aptly the curious brotherhood of the race. A poor man compelled to take the public ward is subject to the same ailments as the man downstairs, who has a suite of rooms and a special nurse. The pauper whose cold remains go from the morgue to the second year in medicine has precisely the same nerves and muscles as the magnate who rides past the dissecting room in a two thousand dollar automobile.—Toronto News.

NOW IS THE TIME.

Take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil now. Not next week or next month, but now. You need it to put fat on your bones and strength in your body to stand the cold and trying weather of the next few months.

Nine-tenths of the population would be benefited by taking Scott's Emulsion regularly three times a day for a month or more every fall to fortify and strengthen the system against the cold and constant changes that occur through the winter. The benefit is particularly marked with young, delicate children. No food that they can take begins to compare with Scott's Emulsion.

Pure cod liver oil is scarce but if you get Scott's Emulsion you'll be sure to get only the purest and best oil.

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Juniors Lost Fast Game to Toronto Waverleys—Opening Game in Trent Valley League To-night.

HOCKEY.

Fresh from their victory over the Lindsay Collegiate Institute team, on Tuesday night, the Peterborough junior team Saturday night attempted to administer a like defeat to the Waverley's of Toronto, the team which for two years, has held the junior championship of Toronto. That they failed to attain to the object of their ambition is not in any way discreditable to the home team. This was but the second time the team had played this season and pitted against it was a team which had played together in previous years, and a team heavier and more experienced and that the visitors were held down to the comparatively small score ed 7—3 is a feat of which the juniors may well feel elated. The game was arranged in order that the team might gain experience before entering the scheduled O.H.A. games, and the showing made by the local seven is most encouraging to their supporters. They played hockey which would compare favourably with the game put up by some intermediate teams, and the two hundred or more spectators got good value for their money. The score at half time was 2—1 in favour of the visitors, Kennedy being credited with the goal secured by the locals, while Forbes scored both of those for the visitors. The Waverleys secured two in succession and just before the referee's bell rang Kennedy succeeded in locating the nets. The pace was a furious one, and both teams worked hard, neither gaining any material advantage. During the early stages play, however, was confined chiefly to the Peterborough territory. As the locals measured their opponents and became accustomed to their style of attack they gradually evened up, and had it not been for the greater weight of the visitors would, doubtless, have won out, or at least have held them down to a smaller score. No small degree of credit is due to VanEvery, who guarded the nets for the home team. He is a most promising player, and his work last night stamped him as one of the best goal keepers in the Junior O.H.A. He stopped scores of shots which looked like sure scores, and proved himself a most valuable man in his position.

Half a minute after play started in the second half, by a good combination play, the locals scored, Kennedy doing the trick, and evening the score, which stood 2—2. From this on the Waverleys worked hard, and put in five goals in succession, and although the home team made some good rushes, the visitors' defence was equal to all the onslaughts, and the rushes failed to accomplish the result desired.

With the score 7—2 ,and two minutes to play, Parker made the play of the game taking the puck from cover point and breaking through forward line and defence of the visitors, succeeded in scoring the final goal, the game ending 7—3.

The playing of Parker, captain of the home team, was undoubtedly the feature of the game, and if he continues to play the game, in the way he has started out the season, he will qualify for faster company. Moore, at point, also played a good defence game, breaking up a number of rushes and doing some effective body-checking.

The forward line players were working against heavier men, and were checked hard, they showed good speed and stick-handling, however, and should give a good account of themselves before the season ends.

The teams were:—

The first championship game of the season will be played to-night, when the Peterborough II team will cross sticks with Keene in the first game in the Trent Valley League series. The League is stronger in every way this season than in any previous year and the games in it should be most interesting. The game to-night will be the first that the Peterborough Trent Valley team has played this year, and as Capt. McPherson has succeeded in getting together a fast seven, there will no doubt be a good crowd out to see the game.

Keene is lying low, but those "in the know" say that there is a pretty lively bunch down in the little town and they may surprise the spectators to-night by the game they put up. The Peterboroughs will line up as follows:

Wasson, McPherson, McLean, Lee, Cameron, Graham, King. J. Anderson, Referee.

Mr. J. Anderson of Norwood, will referee the game.

The T.A.S. Team will go to Lakefield to-night to play the opening game in the Trent Valley League series. The team to represent the T.A.S. in the game will be as follows:

Goal McCoy.
Point Barbeau.
Cover point Crough.
Forwards Crowley, Parnell, Lynch, Meagher capt.; J. McCabe spare man.

The team with a number of supporters will drive to the village this evening.

For the game on Friday night between Keene and the T.A.S. 75 gallery tickets will be issued. These may be procured from the secretary of the T.A.S. club, Mr. D. J. Devine,

The T.A.S. team made an eleventh hour trip to Port Hope last Friday to play the Ontarios, who had arranged a game with a Toronto Bank League team, which at the last moment found it impossible to leave the city to fill the date.

A telephone message was received yesterday about noon asking if the T. A.S. team could go to Port Hope and take the place of the Toronto team. Mr. DeVine hurridly got a team together, and drove down to the lake town, arriving there early in the evening. The visitors put up a good game, considering the fact that they had driven thirty miles, but were defeated, the score being 6—2.

At half time the score stood 2—1 in favour of the T.A.S., but during the second half the home team rushed in 5 goals, while the visitors failed to score. The game was fast and clean, and the spectators were well pleased with the exhibition.

The winning team was the same as that which defeated the St. George's on Christmas night, except that Roach was not on last night's team.

The teams lined up as follows:—

T. A. S.	Port Hope.
Goal.
McCoy	Brown
Point.
McCabe	J McMillan
Cover Point.
Barbeau	G Brown
Forwards.
Lynch	McCallum
Crowley	Clemens
Parnell	W McMillan
Meagher (Capt.)	W Laurenceson

TUG-OF-WAR.

Replying to the challenge issued by the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company's team to the Quaker team, winners of the Sykes cup, Mr. Chas. Munden, captain of the Quaker team, requests the Examiner to state that when the challenge was issued the challenged team had already accepted one from the Cordage team to pull for the cup the contest to take place on January 6th. For this reason the challenge from the William Hamilton team cannot be accepted until after that contest. Should the Quaker team hold the cup the latter challenge will then be accepted.

For this reason, therefore, and not from a disinclination to meet the team, the challenge of the William Hamilton team cannot be accepted while that previously arranged is under consideration.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Farmer Burns arrived in town today and is in the pink of condition except for a sore elbow which he received in his match at Detroit on New Year's Eve. He is confident of winning, and his manager has some money along to say so.

Hockey Jones, of Hamilton, who is to meet Jack Morrison, of Lindsay, will be remembered by many as the fast fighter who boxed 15 rounds to a draw here, last winter with Collins. Mick refused to meet him again, claiming that he had to give Jones too much weight. Jack Morrison, who makes his first appearance here Wednesday night, is a well known boxer, both here and on the other side of the border, and has a good record, having fought draw fights with such men as Bobby Thompson, Andy Ward, etc. He has also secured decisions over Billy Smith, Mart Barnes, along with a 12 round bout with Andy Welsh, in Buffalo last April, when by his superior staying powers he forced Welsh's seconds to throw up the sponge.

MRS. Wm. PACEY DIED IN PASADENA CAL.

She Formerly Lived in Peterborough and is Well-known Here.

News has reached town of the death of Mary Scott Mitchell Pacey, wife of William Pacey, of Pasadena, Col. Mr. and Mrs. Pacey for a number of years, lived on Bonaccord street, town, and are well known here. They left about four years ago for Pasadena where they have since lived. The deceased was 62 years of age and succumbed to an attack of dysentry on December 24th. She had no family but her death will be deeply felt by her large circle of friends in town.

Reserve Force.

The healthy body has a certain amount of strength reserved in case of emergency, attack by disease or unusual physical exhaustion, without this power of resistance a person is an easy prey to every ill that comes along. By enriching the blood and creating new nerve cells, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food keeps the health at high water mark and fills the body with the vigor and vitality that overcomes and defies disease.

THE MANUAL SCHOOL VISITED BY FIRE.

Only a Small Affair However and was Quickly put out by the Brigade.

While the 200 scholars of the Manual school were wraped in their studies about 3.30 o'clock this afternoon the startling cry of "Fire" was raised and a rush was immediately made for the outside. The hall was densely packed with thick, choking smoke. The fire was discovered by Miss Hall, one of the teachers, who was going to dismiss her class. As she opened the door the smoke rushed in. With remarkable presence of mind Miss Hall immediately told her scholars to leave the building. This they did rushing out into the cold air without their hats or coats. The other classes also jumped up from their lesson books and left the building. The moment was one of extreme horror especially for the teachers in whose minds the awful Chicago horror was more than fresh. The fire brigade was called and soon arrived on the scene, and quickly put out the fire. It originated from one of the furnace pipes getting over-heated and igniting the wooden floor.

In connection with the world-wide Week of Prayer, union services in the Peterborough churches have been arranged for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week, as follows:—

Wednesday, Jan. 6th—In George Street and Mark street churches. Subject, "Missions to the Heathen and Mohammedans." Speakers, Rev. J. Bastow, M.A., and Rev. J. A. Wilson, B.A.

WEDDING BELLS.

An interesting wedding ceremony took place last Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mr. J. J. Hannah, Smith, when his eldest daughter, Edna, was married to Mr. Clarence W. Fitzgerald.

The bridal party entered the drawing room where the ceremony was performed, and which was very prettily decorated with flowers, to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Pearl Fitzgerald, sister of the groom. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. J. J. Planner, of Bridgenorth, in the presence of about 65 invited guests. The bride, who was attended by Miss Edna Fitzgerald, sister of the groom, was very prettily gowned in white organdie, tastfully trimmed; the bridesmaid wearing a similar costume, and carried pink roses, while the bride had white.

After the wedding ceremony the entire company sat down to an elaborate dejeuner, and after the evening had been pleasantly spent in a social manner, the bride and groom left for their new home on London street, Peterborough, amidst showers of rice and followed by good wishes of their numerous friends.

The bride received a large array of costly presents, testifying to her popularity.

Canada a British Poems.

The British press, and the papers of Portsmouth in particular, review sympathetically a book of poems by Mr. Johnston-Smith, who has taken up his residence at Southsea. The Portsmouth Daily Mail says:

The poems cover a wide field, introducing the reader, as the author tells us in his preface, to "growing poetical literature of Greater Britain. . . Many of its themes lie outside the beaten path of the poetry of the United Kingdom," touching such inspiring themes as "the sublimity of sunlit Niagara, the chaste and terrible beauty of the iceberg of the North Atlantic, the legends of maritime Canada and Newfoundland."

The selection grouped under the general title of "Canadian Maple Leaves" gives us an insight not only into some of the legendary lore of the Dominion—richer than some may imagine—but it also breathes the spirit of loyalty and love for the mother country which Canada's sons so nobly demonstrated in South Africa. Let us make one selection as a case in point:

Where bleeding feet our fathers plowed a furrow straight and deep,
Whereby they planted freedom's seed, and we our harvest reap,
If ever we forget the fates which nerved their hero-hands
'Twill be because we silent lie in earth, oh, Mother Lands!
God bless thee, merry England, and bonnie Scotland, too!—
God bless thee, verdant Erin, and Wales so brave and true!—
Gems deeply set in water, which shine on Glory's robe
And flash the light of Liberty around the rolling globe.
We'll rally round the Union Jack a Greater Britain's might,
Though all the world oppose in arms we'll stand for truth and right.
Wave oriflame of Glory over continents and seas!
Lead—lead the march of Freedom! 'mid the battle and the breeze.

CHAMBERLAIN AT HOME.

In Ordinary Life He Is Unlike What One Thinks of the Statesman—A Restful Man—Characteristics.

Mr. Harold Begbie describes in The Pall Mall Magazine Mr. Chamberlain as seen in ordinary circumstances, when chatting with his friends, when working in his garden, when at his own family table.

He tells us that Mr. Chamberlain is, probably contrary to general opinion, "one of the most restful men I have ever met. There is no flurry or haste or bustle in his manner. He is what our grandfathers would have called "a dry stick." His voice in conversation has a quizzical tone, his wit is dry, his manner is that of a shrewd and somewhat bored observer rather than that of an active participant. He leans back in his chair, sitting rather low, his hands folded, his eyes studying those about him with quiet, contemplative interest.

"He never appears eager to make a point in conversation; and one only becomes aware of the quickness and wakefulness of his mind by some shrewd remark which brings general conversation back to the point from which it first set out, or to some definite conclusion.

"He loves talk, likes to sit at his table while the family—a singularly clever family—discuss matters of moment or questions of only academic concern, listening to them with quiet interest, and now and then interjecting a remark which knits up the raveled threads of conflicting ideas.

"It is interesting to mark the manner of his correction of any particular idea of his children. 'Pardon me,' he says, quietly, 'but I think you must be wrong.'"

One may be allowed to say, the author goes on, without laying oneself open to one of Mr. Chamberlain's greatest objections to modern journalism, that the home life at Highbury is of the most pleasant and happy character.

Mrs. Chamberlain, to whom the Colonial Secretary owed no small measure of his social success in South Africa, is one of those gentle, sweet-voiced women who make their guests welcome without words and at home without fuss. She is the kind of woman who looks ever her best in an old garden, under a green tree.

The home life is simple and unaffected, dignified rather by the intellectual tone of the household rather than by any outward pomp of circumstance, and conversation—even table talk—never degenerated into the mean or the commonplace. One of Mr. Chamberlain's friends declares that the united and deeply affectionate household of Highbury has been the statesman's principal support throughout his stormful momentous life.

I am very certain that no one can form an adequate estimate of Mr. Chamberlain's character until they have seen him in the midst of his family.

Gladstone's Work Powers.

In The North American Review for December Mr. Goldwin Smith reviews Morley's Life of Gladstone. This is Mr. Smith's estimate of Gladstone, with whom he was very well acquainted: "This man was a wonderful being, physically and mentally, the mental part being well sustained by the physical. His form bespoke the nervous energy with which it was surcharged. His eye was extremely bright, though in the rest of the face there was no beauty or even refinement. His physical and mental force was such that he could speak for four or five hours at a stretch, and with vigor and freshness so sustained that George Venables, an extremely fastidious and not over-friendly critic, after hearing him for four hours, and on a financial subject, wished that he could go on for four hours more. His powers of work were enormous. He once called me to him to help in settling the details of a university bill. He told me that he had been up over the bill very late at night. We worked together from ten in the morning till six in the afternoon, saving an hour and a half which he spent at a Privy Council, leaving me with the bill. When we parted, he went down to the House, where he spoke at 1 o'clock the next morning. Besides his mountain of business, he was a voluminous writer on other than political subjects, and did a vast amount of miscellaneous reading. As a proof of his powers of acquisition, he gained so perfect a mastery of the Italian language as to be able to make a long speech in which Italian criticism could detect only two mistakes, and those merely uses of a poetical instead of the ordinary words."

Story of Sullivan's Mother.

Sir Francis Burnand, in the Diary of Punch, tells a good story of Sir Arthur Sullivan's mother. She was dining with the Duke of Edinburgh, when she startled him by saying, "Sir, your family name is Guelph?" "My dear mother!" began Arthur, remonstrating. "But it is, isn't it?" she persisted. "Certainly," replied the Duke, much amused; "What's the matter with it, Mrs. Sullivan?" "Oh, nothing," returned the excellent old lady, musingly, "only I don't understand why you don't call yourself by your proper name." "There's nothing to be ashamed of in the name of Guelph," the Duke said, gravely, and the old lady assured him that there was "nothing whatever as far as she knew."

Call Dick Orum.

At a certain petty sessions the other day a great amount of laughter was aroused during the hearing of one of the cases. One of the justices of the peace rather pompously exclaimed: "Let us have decorum in the court, please."

An official rushed at once to the door, calling out, "Richard Orum! Richard Orum!"

Needless to say, "decorum" was still wanting for a brief period in that court.—Tit-Bits.

OTTAWA POST OFFICE DESTROYED BY FIRE.

A Most Ornate Building, and cost One Hundred Thousand Dollars.

Loss Estimated at $40,000—Firemen Handicapped in Coping With the Blaze—Customs and Inland Revenue Offices Badly Damaged—Roof Story and Second Story Complete Prey of the Flames.

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—The city post-office, one of the most ornate public buildings in Canada, was practically destroyed by fire last night. Smoke was seen about 8 o'clock issuing from windows in the third, or roof, storey, in which are located the offices of the Railway Mail Service and the Ottawa River Works. The framework of the roof, as well as the floors, partitions and massive tower structures were all of wood, and in half an hour the entire flat was afire.

The night was bitterly cold and the fire brigade was also handicapped at the outset by difficulty in locating the seat of the conflagration so that it was not until the flames burst through the roof that the dozen hose streams from the fire engines and hydrants direct could be brought to bear upon the burning woodwork.

In an hour the roof was burned away and the second flat, occupied by the Inland Revenue and Customs, was soon after a prey to the flames. Their further progress was there stayed, however, and the ground floor, in which was the postoffice proper, was damaged solely by water, as were also the examining warehouse and other customs offices in the basement.

The postal staff, as soon as the fire broke out, all went to work to save the mails. These and the other moveable equipment of the postoffice were taken to the House of Commons, and from there the mail will be despatched, pending the completion of other arrangements of temporary quarters.

The building was of dressed free-stone in the Romanesque style of architecture, and cost when erected thirty years ago $100,000. Its roof storey, by reason of the great mass of woodwork of which it was composed was a veritable fire-trap once the flames gained a footing, no water supply could stay their progress.

The damage to the postoffice building is about $40,000. The Government carries no insurance on its public buildings.

RELEASED UNDER BONDS.

Men Charged With Manslaughter in Chicago Theatre Horror to Be Arraigned on January 11 Next.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Five chorus men, arrested on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the fire at the Iroquois Theatre, were released yesterday on bonds of $600 each. Eight chorus girls, kept under police surveillance at the Union Hotel since the fire, were released on bonds of $600 each. All will be arraigned before Justice Caverly Jan. 11; on a charge of manslaughter.

Coroner Traeger has received information that more than half of the stage hands were in a saloon near the stage door drinking beer when the fire was discovered. It has been learned that the smaller stage door opened in, not out, as the city ordinances require, and that it was torn from its hinges when the stampede of chorus girls occurred.

Paralyzed Business.

The closing down of Chicago theatres by order of Mayor Harrison has caused paralysis of business in many directions. Three thousand actors, stage hands and people who depend directly upon theatres for a living are idle, with no hope of employment for probably a fortnight.

Restaurants and hotels are complaining and street railway traffic has fallen off. The members of the "Bluebeard" theatrical company were permitted by the police to leave for New York, and were followed by the "Billionaire" company.

It is estimated that 15,000 persons will suffer from the Mayor's closing order, of whom 1,200 are actors, 350 ushers, 500 electricians and stage hands, 400 cab drivers, 200 waiters, 100 bill posters and 25 printers. The loss in receipts at the 35 theatres will total $18,000 per day.

$25,000 in Articles Unidentified.

Probably $25,000 worth of articles lost in the Iroquois Theatre fire are still unidentified.

Dozens of pieces of jewelry are frozen in the ice in the theatre, and officers were busy all day digging out watches, rings, hairpins and furs.

Money to help bury the unidentified dead and relieve any who may be suffering from the fire has commenced to pour in. For gallent and heroic conduct at the fire, Marshal Musham has restored to duty the six firemen who were under suspension for alleged insubordination.

Many Belated Funerals.

Many belated funerals of victims of the Iroquois Theatre fire took place yesterday. There was no appreciable cessation of business activity. The public schools, however, were closed as a tribute to 37 dead teachers, for whom memorial services were held.

Mayor Harrison has vetoed the plan proposed by some theatre managers to open their playhouses and admit patrons to the main floor only. His ruling followed a conference with a large number of managers.

Investigation Goes On.

The investigation to fix the responsibility for the cause of the Iroquois fire horror was taken up yesterday by Fire Inspector Monroe Fulkerson. Every employe of the theatre, on the stage and in the auditorium, are on the list summoned for examination. Sixty-five witnesses will be examined.

Fire traps in the shape of public halls will be the next assembly places to be shut by the authorities.

Died of Fright.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Solely from witnessing the horror in the Iroquois Theatre Miss Rita Wild, 22 years old, a teacher at the Feldenthal Public School, is dead. Her death brings the total of theatre fire fatalities up to 589. Miss Wild was burned slightly. The family physician said her injuries physically were trifling. She died of fright, caused, physicians say, by things she saw in the burning theatre.

THE FISCAL FIGHT.

Proposal For Raising Imperial Defence Fund—Warning to Devonshire—Canada Wants Reciprocity of Some Kind.

London, Jan. 5.—(C.A.P.)—T. B. MacAulay of Montreal, writes to The Times suggesting the imposition of a moderate Imperial duty by the United Kingdom and the colonies, to be kept distinct from local duties, which he believed should be imposed on imports and applied for the purposes of Imperial defence. He says that no colony would consent to have its manufacturing industries crippled by the adoption of free trade within the Empire. The Times dissents from his views on the first point on the ground that the scheme would not reduce in a preferential sense the colonial tariff against the motherland.

Warning to Devonshire.

London, Jan. 5.—(C.A.P.)—A Canadian, signing an article in The Times, says that agricultural Canada means to get reciprocity of some kind, but if instead she gets another and perhaps a last rebuff, the secession of Canada may follow. The writer warns the Duke of Devonshire that he is playing Lord North's game.

Would Assist Agriculture.

London, Jan. 5.—(C.A.P.)—Mr. Chamberlain, writing to General Harrison, Unionist candidate in Middovan, says the decline in British agriculture can be stopped by his proposals, and the cost of living not increased, while a moderate preference on corn would be endured, and especially on meat and dairy produce.

Labor Favors Free Trade.

London, Jan. 5.—(C.A.P.)—John Burns, M.P., under the auspices of the Free Trade Union who opens a vigorous campaign in London in a few days, says that Chamberlain will have no chance in Scotland and that labor is solid for free trade. In England the agricultural classes would be worse hit by Canadians than by foreign competitors.

Spells the Preference.

London, Jan. 5.—(C.A.P.)—The Chronicle, referring to the Ottawa Order-in-Council depriving England of the benefits of the preference on articles of German origin, says the decision absolutely knocks the bottom out of the Canadian preference.

What Barlow Cumberland Said.

London, Jan. 5.—(C.A.P.)—A deputation of Newton Abbot Radicals, after the break-up of the tariff reform meeting, called at Barlow Cumberland's hotel and expressed the hope that the demonstration would not be thought anti-colonial. Mr. Cumberland said that people in Canada behaving in such a manner as the disturbers of that meeting would be thought to have a bad case.

Clash With Balfour.

London, Jan. 5.—(C.A.P.)—Edgar Vincent, M. P., thinks that the object of the Tariff Reform League are inimical to the healthy development of commerce and are inconsistent with the policy of Mr. Balfour.

The Indian Cotton Market

London, Jan. 5.—(C.A.P.)—Sir John Gorst, speaking at Preston yesterday, at the request of the cotton manufacturers, said that Britain monopolized the Indian market, which took 40 per cent. of the cotton exports, because it was free from any interference with trade.

Restaurants' Protest.

London, Jan. 5.—(C.A.P.)—The coffee house keepers protest against the taxation of food, and say it would mean the wiping out of 4,500 of the 5,000 restaurants in London.

Ordered Back to Coats.

London, Jan. 5.—(C. A. P.)—The Marchioness of Donegal at the fancy dress ball at Brighton of the Dumb Friends' League, owing to rowdiness during the dancing of the lancers by the smart set, many of whom were members of aristocratic families, ordered the band to cease playing. The Marchioness was formerly miss Twining, of Halifax, N. S.

Australian Squadron to China.

London, Jan. 5.—(C.A.P.)—The Australian Cabinet is much concerned lest in the event of war the Australian squadron should be sent to Chinese waters. Commander Colquhoun of the Victorian naval forces goes to Japan as correspondent for The Times.

Promised Consideration.

Toronto, Jan. 5.—Hon. Clifford Sifton was waited on yesterday by a deputation of labor men to have the present system of the Government in regard to immigration discussed. The Minister received his callers very cordially, and after they had stated their mission assured them that he would give the matter his most serious consideration, and do all he could to please them.

Smash Up Near Cayuga.

Cayuga, Jan. 5.—About 6 o'clock yesterday morning an eastbound Wabash freight train ran into the rear end of another eastbound train which was standing on the Grand River bridge. They struck about 100 yards west of the bridge, smashing several cars, but fortunately no one was hurt seriously, the engineer receiving a slight injury to his leg while jumping.

INDIAN RIVER NEWS.

(From our own Correspondent.)

We were pleased to welcome into our midst on Jan. 4th, Miss Florence White as successor to Miss Clysdale, our former teacher who taught in No. 3 school for upwards of seven years. Miss White, who has been teaching at Birdsall comes well recommended and we feel sure that she is a proficient teacher.

At the regular school meeting held in the school house on Dec. 30th, Mr. Jas. T. Hall was appointed successor to Mr. Hugh Fife, as trustee. Mr. Hall is well known to the residents of Indian River and it is anticipated that his term in office will be very successful.

Rev. C. E. Baker, B.A., our former pastor, preached the anniversary sermon in the Baptist church on Sunday the 3rd of January. The building was tastefully decorated for the occasion and the sermon was much appreciated by a very large and attentive audience. Mr. Baker is at present located at Grimsby, Ont., where he returned on Wednesday.

As there was no election in Otonabee, the school opened on Monday, January 4th.

Miss Isobel Duff returned to Queen's University, Kingston, on Monday last.

Miss E. Beckett, who has been spending her holidays with her sister, Mrs. John Duff, returned on Monday to resume her duties at Minesing as assistant teacher.

Mr. Geo. Patterson left on Monday for Toronto, where he intends to take a course in the Business College. The best wishes of the community go with Mr. Patterson.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

Miss Annie Gill, of Rebina, North Dakota, is now at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James McLean. She arrived in time to spend New Years day here.....Mr. and Mrs. A. F. McLean, of Peterborough, spent New Years Day at the parental home; also Mr. L. W. McLean who has returned from visiting his sister, Mrs. Wm. Marsh.

We regret to hear that J. R. McLean while skating on the bay at Toronto, fell into the water, which might have proved fatal to him.

Dr. Dean and wife have returned from spending Christmas Day in Toronto.

Mr. C. McNeil, the late Reeve of Cavan, passed through the village to-day. The great question is the drainage of the Cavan Swamp, which Mr. McNeil is intending to have done if elected for 1904.

The pastor of the Methodist Church gave a practical discourse on the first Sabbath of the year 1904, from the words, "So teach us how to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto Wisdom." It was the coldest day of this winter. Very few were present to hear the sermon.

The Rev. Mr. Yule, of Springville, occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church here last Sunday.

VIRTUES OF THE "BLAZER."

Their Rough and Ready Way of Regulating Their Community.

A "Non-Blazer admirer of that historic organization, the "Cavan Blazers," writes an interesting account of the aristocratic "regulating" work carried on by the members in the 'fifties. On one occasion, says the correspondent, "they met the Rev. Mr. Armour (father of the late Chief Justice Armour), in 'the long swamp,' and demanded of him that he should kneel down and pray for them. At first the learned divine refused, but rather than remain over night he complied with their wishes and prayed as well for his own preservation as for their souls' salvation."

In those days they had to drive their grain to Port Hope for market. There was a toll gate on the road and although they would pay their tolls on going through and get a return ticket, they would on their return after dark race their teams through the gate so as to give the impression that they had not paid, just to tease the keeper and have him run after them, and in many cases they would lift him into the sleigh and give him a forced but free ride. When the time came that he needed a friend, he readily found it in them. He had been dismissed by the Toll-gate Company, and another was sent in his place. He removed to Port Hope, whence the other had come. The Blazers, without making known their identity, at once waited upon the incoming tenant with their sleighs and said that they had come to take him and his belongings back to Port Hope before any harm was done him, as they had heard that the 'Cavan Blazers" were coming to eject him and demolish his house. He at once complied with their request, and they landed him safely at his former home, and on their return trip brought back the former tenant, whom they reinstated to his great satisfaction. While they showed no disrespect to Roman Catholics, people of that persuasion gave the vicinity a wide berth, and were never known to settle there, with the exception of one, and when he thought of the fancied danger, he proposed leaving, but they would not allow him to do so, as they wanted to keep him for a curiosity. He remained on, and became a prosperous farmer, and appreciated their many acts of kindness which they showered upon him."

The Woman at the Window.

I used to see her quite often as I walked home from the office standing at the window of her neat little cottage, with the baby in her arms, watching for dad.

A nice, neat, little body of a woman she was, too. Always had her hair fixed and wore a white apron, and the baby was a fat rascal with round cheeks and a dimple.

One night, when I was a bit later than usual, I caught sight of dad. He wasn't much to look at, his clothes were homely, his hands soiled, and he smelled of the factory, but you should have seen that baby laugh and that mother smile when they caught sight of him, and he—well, he hadn't been walking slowly before, but he just about ran up the steps. Then the door opened and shut, and I could guess the rest.

One night, however, I missed her from the window, I didn't see the baby and I wondered. The next day the window was still vacant, and the next and the next, and I wondered still, until one day I saw a stylish rig at the door, and I surmised that a doctor owned it. I knew then somebody must be sick, and I hoped, whether it was the baby or the mother, that whoever it was would get well. So, for about another week and then—well, then I saw something that made me feel a bit choky about the throat, something white fluttering from the front door and the blinds were down. The baby was dead.

The little woman has taken to standing at the window again, but her arms look sadly empty. She is just as neat as ever, but the snowy apron matches closely the pallor of her sorrowful face as she waits and watches for dad. Love still rules the little cottage, but sorrow sits there, too, an unbidden guest.—H. D. C., in Toronto Star.

Son of Former Canadian Governor.

Mr. John Raynor Arthur, who recently died at Normandy Park, Guildford, England, at the age of 72 years, was the son of General Sir George Arthur, Governor of Upper Canada from 1838 to 1847, and was born in 1830. Mr. Arthur, who was educated at Haileybury, joined the Indian Civil Service in 1851. During the mutiny he was Assistant Commissioner in Sind under his brother-in-law, the late Sir Bartle Frere. He was also private secretary to Sir Bartle Frere, when Governor of Bombay. Subsequently he was for ten years collector and district magistrate of Satara. His early retirement in 1877 was due to a severe accident, which incapacitated him from further service in India. Mr. Arthur married, in 1865, the Hon. Aileen Spring Rice, sister of the present Lord Monteagle of Brandon.

Sweet Country Cousins.

A Toronto lady, writing to her cousins living in the country, whose home is lighted with acetylene gas, warned them of the danger of explosions from it. This is the reply received:

"Thanks, dear, for warnings of gas. We never know what danger we run, but if those geese should keep the lights away and open the windows, there would be no explosion if the thing leaks. But do you know what a terrible mine you are living over—coal gas, lighting gas, dynamite in hardware stores, electric lights all over the house, falling wires in the streets all the time, fire engines, runaway horses, trolley cars, trolley wires, thunder, lightning, and Eaton's?

MADE THEIR CHOICE

Municipal Elections of Ontario Cities, Towns and Villages.

ZERO WEATHER INTERFERED

Great Number of Bylaws Disposed of—Peterboro Will Run Its Own Railway System, But Ingersoll Will Still Light Up With Company Gas and Electric Light—Waterloo and Belleville Centre.

Toronto, Jan. 5.—Elections were held in the cities, towns, villages and municipalities of the Province yesterday, but the vote polled was not large, owing to the severity of the weather, and in many cases to the lack of interest caused by so many elections by acclamation to the chief executive positions. On the whole, the results are important in a great measure by reason of the number of bylaws passed upon by the electors.

Municipal ownership came well to the fore in the estimation of the people. Ingersoll frowned on the proposal to purchase the gas and the electric plants, but Waterloo and Belleville smiled, while Peterboro showed its intention of controlling its street railway system.

Local improvements and inducements to factories to establish plants met with approval. Brockville will spend $25,000 in improving its electric light plant. Stayner will borrow $10,000 for new sidewalks. St. Thomas will bonus the Marquette car shops; and so all along the line.

Woodstock voted to build a free library, while St. Mary's decided to accept a gift from Carnegie.

A Home Made Voting Machine.

One voting machine, a home made article, was tried with success at Colborne.

Below is a list of the bylaw votes:

Local option carried yesterday in the Town of Toronto Junction (population over 7,500). It was defeated in York Township (population about 11,000). It was also carried in the Township of Niagara, Lincoln County.

Goderich—The vote on the bylaws resulted as follows: C.P.R. bonus, for 452, against 19; National Cloak Co., for 472, against 22; school bylaw, for 162, against 249.

St. Mary's—Carnegie library bylaw was carried by 27 majority.

Harriston—The bylaw to aid rebuilding of the High School carried with little opposition. The bylaw to exempt the Dowling-Leighton Co. from taxes was defeated.

Stayner—The bylaw for the purpose of borrowing ten thousand dollars for new cement sidewalks was carried by 102 majority.

Kingsville—Bylaw granting loan to Gingsville Woollen Mills was carried by a vote of 216 to 19.

Collingwood—The good roads and the elevator bylaws carried by large majorities.

Brockville—The vote on a bylaw to raise $25,000 for improvements to the lighting plant of the town resulted in a majority of one hundred in favor of the bylaw. Another bylaw to amalgamate the light and water boards was defeated by 20 votes.

Walland—The Frost bylaw for the exemption from taxes was defeated.

Kingston—The bylaw to elect aldermen at large was defeated by a large majority.

Athens—The referendum vote taken at Athens on Monday for the location of a site for the Town Hall was carried in favor of the Green site by a majority of 31.

Defeats Lighting Bylaws.

Ingersoll—The bylaws for the purchase of the gas and electric light plants and a new Town Hall were all three defeated by large majorities.

Colborne—At the Colborne municipal election the new voting machine invented by G. M. Peebles of Colborne was tested and proven very satisfactory. The voter passed in, pressed the button opposite the name of the candidate and the machine registered the number of votes cast.

Holland Landing—Vote on county roads system resulted as follows: For 9, against 46.

Woodstock—The bylaw to establish a free library here was carried by 350 majority.

Chatham—Three bylaws were voted on, one to issue debentures to consolidate the city's floating debt of $50,000, one to make a loan of $30,000 to Wybrew of Birmingham, England, to erect a pork factory, and one to aid a radial electric railway by a loan of $50,000. All three was defeated.

Dundas—A bylaw was carried by a majority of 52 for the issue of debentures for appropriation of $14,000 for sidewalks.

Will Purchase Lighting Plants.

Waterloo—The $10,000 waterworks bylaw to increase the town's present plant carried. The plebiscite re the town's purchasing of the electric lighting and gas plants also record a good majority.

Belleville—The bylaw authorising the council to borrow $50,000 with which to purchase, repair and run the gas works as a municipal concern was carried, the vote being, for 858, against 237.

Oshawa—The citizens by a large majority voted in favor of pumping water from the lake instead of being supplied from Raglan Springs.

Peterboro—The Street Railway bylaw was voted on and carried by over 400 majority. The bylaw for the expenditure of $10,000 for the purchase of a gravel pit was also carried.

St. Thomas—Pere Marquette car shops bonus bylaw was carried by a large majority. The amount voted was $20,000.

Lindsay—The bylaw to grant $10,000 for waterworks extension was carried.

Perth—The bylaw for the purchase of the plant and equipment of the Perth Electric Light Company by the town was carried by a majority of 133 votes. The free library and reading plebiscite was defeated by nine votes.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This preparation is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for the cure of these diseases over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been given of its good works, of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured, of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous results. It is especially prized by mothers, because it contains nothing injurious and there is not the least danger it giving it even to babies. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by all druggists.

Pay For Cashel's Escape.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 5.—Three Northwest Mounted Police constables who were found guilty of neglect of duty in allowing Murderer Cashel to escape have been sentenced by Commissioner Perry at Calgary. Piper, who had control of the guard-room, was given a year; Phillips and Leslie were given six months. All sentences are at hard labor, and, besides, the two latter were dismissed from the force.

Charles Raymond Dead.

Guelph, Jan. 5.—The flag on the City Hall was at half-mast yesterday on account of the death of Charles Raymond, designer and perfector of the Raymond sewing machine. He died yesterday morning at 2 o'clock, at his residence, at the age of 78. He was twice married. The only surviving child by his first wife is Mrs. John Crewe.

Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure

Costs Nothing If It Fails.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer. For years I searched everywhere to find a specific for Rheumatism. For nearly 20 years I worked to this end. At last, in Germany, my search was rewarded. I found a costly chemical that did not disappoint me as other Rheumatic prescriptions had disappointed physicians everywhere.

I do not mean that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure can turn bony joints into flesh again. That is impossible. But it will drive from the blood the poison that causes pain and swelling, and then that is the end of Rheumatism. I know this so well that I will furnish for a full month my Rheumatic Cure on trial. I cannot cure all cases within a month. It would be unreasonable to expect that. But most cases will yield within 30 days. This trial treatment will convince you that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure is a power against Rheumatism—a potent force against disease that is irresistible.

My offer is made to convince you of my faith. My faith is but the outcome of experience—of actual knowledge. I know what it can do. And I know this so well that I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal card for my book on Rheumatism. I will then arrange with a druggist in your vicinity so that you can secure six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure to make the test. You may take it a full month on trial. If it succeeds the cost to you is $5.50. If it fails the loss is mine and mine alone. It will be left entirely to you. I mean that exactly. If you say the trial is not satisfactory I don't expect a penny from you.

Write me and I will send you the book. Try my remedy for a month, if it fails the loss is mine.

Address Dr. Shoop, Box 17-9, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases not chronic are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

ELECTION TRIAL DATES.

Will Go Over Until After Session of the Legislature—Six Respondents Refuse to Allow Trial.

Toronto, Jan. 5.—The Divisional Court yesterday arranged for May 2 as the date on which the date of trial of the various election protests will be fixed—the trial of the petitions against the return of the members of the Legislature for North York, North Norfolk, North Grey, North Perth, Centre Bruce and Sault Ste. Marie. All of the respondents refused to go on to trial during the sitting of the House, although Mr. James Baird, representing Hugh Clark, M.P.P. for Centre Bruce, said that his client would consent to a speedy trial if the other respondents would consent to do the same. Mr. Baird said that he would not consent to the delivery of the particulars, so that the respondents would not be in possession of the names of the witnesses against them, except for the period permitted by statute, fourteen days. In spite of the postponement of the trials, the papers served on witnesses will hold good when the cases are called.

"Is it important that the delivery of the particulars be delayed so long?" asked the Chancellor.

"Yes, it is important that the respondent should not be in possession of all the facts during the long adjournment."

Mr. R. A. Grant suggested the date of May 2.

Mr. Baird thought that every one might well be ready by April 1.

"That might be an appropriate day," observed the Chancellor.

Mr. Baird said that nearly $500 had been spent securing the attendance of witnesses, and asked that the notices already served should hold good at the time of trial. The court acquiesced.

PILES

Cured Quickly and Without Pain

There are pile remedies without number, but there is only one cure, and that is the Pyramid Pile Cure which is in the form of a suppository, and is applied directly to the seat of the trouble.

Any physician will tell you that for the proper treatment of Piles nothing can compare with a suppository, whereas the greater number of preparations that are offered to you for the treatment of this disease are lotions, salves and ointments. Why? Because they are not so expensive as a suppository, which is bound to contain more costly ingredients, and which require special machinery to make it; moreover, a suppository inserted up the rectum, comes in direct contact with the cause of the complaint and no other form of treatment does so.

Wallace Cookman, Halleston, P.Q., Canada, writes, "I have had two surgical operations for piles and they were not a success; after using only three boxes of Pyramid Pile Cure I feel as though I never had piles, and they have afflicted me for twenty-five years.

B. H. Palmer, Windsor, Calif., "After suffering from piles for 15 years and trying different salves and ointments in vain I was completely cured by the use of two fifty cent packages of Pyramid Pile Cure."

These and thousands of similar letters go to show that piles can be cured, are cured; cured to stay cured; cured so they won't come back; cured without cutting; cured without danger; cured without pain; cured without detention from work; cured without indelicate examinations; cured in privacy of home; cured by a self applied treatment; cured with very little expense; cured without the dread and publicity of waiting your turn at the surgeon's office; cured without a dangerous surgical operation, its period of enforced invalidism, tedious convalescence and heavy expense. You simply buy and apply a cheap and convenient remedy—it does the rest.

All druggist sell Pyramid Pile cure at fifty cents a package, and we urge all sufferers to write the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their little book on "The Causes and Cure of Piles," which is sent free for the asking.

There are people in every town and village of this country who have been cured of itching, bleeding and protruding piles by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Ask your friends about this great preparation, they can tell you of its great soothing, healing and antiseptic powers. More reputable people have endorsed Dr. Chase's Ointment than any preparation you can mention.

A recently formed rural squadron of Yeomanry were to be inspected by the general commanding the district, and the local inhabitants resolved to make the occasion one of general festivity and holiday-making.

"Bill," said one young urchin, "are you going to the Yeomanry review?"

"Anything to be picked up?" asked Bill, with an eye to the main chance.

"Lots of tuppences," said the other laconically.

"What for?" asked Bill.

"Why, for holdin' the horses' heads while the troopers draw their swords."—Pick-Me-Up.

CORDAGE PLANT A MODERN ONE.

Prominent Hemp Exporter Visits Peterborough and Inspects Cordage Works.

Mr. M. J. Smith, the New York representative of Messrs. O. Molina & Co., of Merida, Yucatan, the largest sisal hemp exporters in the world, spent Saturday in town. He came around by Peterborough on his way to Chicago, to see the Canadian Cordage Company's plant. He says while it is not the largest, it certainly is one of the most modern and best equipped cordage factories on the American continent, in which to economically and efficiently manufacture binder twine rope and lath yarn.

Mr. Smith was very much impressed with the cheap electric power the company enjoys. He says it gives the company an advantage over its competitors in Canada and the United States of thousands of dollars per year. The plant is equipped with all the modern labour saving conveniences from the time the raw material is received from the company's railway siding, at the doors of the warehouse, until it is again loaded on the cars in finished goods. The very fact that the company have such a low rate of premium on their fire insurance, is the best evidence that no detail is lacking in the construction of the plant. Its Sturtevant system of heating is the safest and most economical to operate and gives the best results of any that could be installed. Mr. Smith was very much impressed with the excellent factories that are located in Peterborough, and with the splendid opportunities the town can offer to any one who desires to enter upon the manufacturing business. The shipping facilities, having railways radiating in all directions, the invaluable waterway, and its many valuable waterpowers from which electric energy is being developed, and can be still more largely developed, offer facilities which few cities and towns on this continent possess.

GREATER PETERBORO'S MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

Some Detailed Figures of the Aldermanic Contest.

SCHOOL TRUSTEE FOR HALF A CENTURY.

Street Railway and Lighting Agreements Receive Emphatic Public Approval—Only one of Last Year's Aldermen Defeated.

The election of seven of the eight members of last year's Council who offered themselves for re-election, the Street Railway and Street Lighting Bylaws carried by a majority of 522, the Hilliard Estate $10,000 Bylaw carried by 215 majority of the property holders, and the election of Mr. Jas. Stevenson to the office of School Trustee in No. 3 Ward, are the concrete results of the municipal elections held yesterday.

No municipal election in recent years has created as much interest as that of 1904, and, as a result, an unusually large vote was polled.

Practically three representatives of the new Fifth Ward will be on the Council Board this year, viz: Messrs. Scott, Adams and Johnston.

The Street Railway agreement received even a more hearty endorsement than was expected.

The Street Lighting and Street Railway bylaws were supported by the large majority of 522, the total vote in favour being 1,202, while the adverse vote was 680. In only one polling sub-division was there a majority recorded against the bylaws. This was in No. 1, where there was a majority of 5 against. In this division there was a majority of 10 against the Hilliard bylaw. The detailed vote on the Street Lighting and Street Railway bylaw is as follows:

Div.	For.	Agst.	Majority. For.	Agst.
1	123	133	—	5
2	140	102	33	—
3	133	75	58	—
4	107	58	48	—
5	165	80	85	—
6	126	63	63	—
7	136	81	105	—
8	91	47	44	—
9	127	40	87	—
			527	5
			5

Total majority for 522

The council of 1904 will be constituted as follows:

Mayor — G. M. Roger, re-elected by acclamation.

Aldermen — R. F. McWilliams, 1,143; Henry Best, 1,000; Frank Adams, 940; J. Batten, 920; William Scott, 859; H. Rush, 848; W. J. Johnston, 780; R. Clinkscale, 726; J. Edgcumbe, 696; R. Hicks, 676; E. F. Mason, 673; M. A. Morrison, 672.

Seven of these were members of last year's council, the other five being new men. The only member of the 1903 council who offered himself for re-election, and who was not returned, was ex-Ald. Finnie, who polled 641 votes, and came next to Ald. Morrison. A noticeable feature, and one which augurs well for the harmonious blending of the entire municipality, is the fact that practically three candidates representing the fifth ward were elected. Ald. Scott and Adams reside there, and were members of last year's village council, while Ald. Johnston was for a number of years a resident of that portion of the town, and was a member of the council of Ashburnham. The fact that these three men were elected is evidence of the fact that the electors are anxious that the new ward shall be fairly dealt with, and in the matter of representation. It has a greater number of representatives, in proportion to its population, than the older portions of the town. No one will find fault with this, however, and the evident desire of electors is that the new ward shall be given equal rights with the other wards of the town.

The referendum vote on the Street Railway and Street Lighting Bylaws resulted in a majority of 522 in favour of their ratification. The endorsation of the council's action by such a large majority was hardly looked for, although it was generally believed that a majority would be given in favour of the Bylaws.

Ald. Rush's scheme to purchase the Hilliard farm was endorsed, and the Bylaw authorizing the raising of $10,000 with which to make the purchase, was sustained by a majority of 215.

The result of the vote for School Trustee in Ward No. 3, was the election of Mr. Jas. Stevenson. Mr. Stevenson enjoys the distinction of having been a member of the School Board, without a break, for fifty-three years. This year is the only occasion on which his election was opposed, and he was successful by a handsome majority. This is certainly a remarkable record—to be still a trustee, when children who were under his charge when he first held office, are now grandfathers and grandmothers.

Ald. Rush's plan to purchase the Hilliard farm received the hearty endorsement of the property holders, who only were eligible to vote on this question. There was a total majority of 215 in favour of the bylaw authorizing its purchase, which is an evidence that the ratepayers considered the plan a feasible and practicable one. A noticeable feature in connection with the plan is that when it was introduced in the Council it was adopted without a dissenting voice.

The vote by divisions on this bylaw was as follows:—

Div.	For.	Agst.	Majority. For.	Agst.
1	70	80	—	10

FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

In only one ward was there a contest for School Trustees. This was a three-cornered contest, resulting in the election of Mr. James Stevenson, by a majority of 49 over Dr. Boucher. The vote was as follows:—

	Div. 5	Div. 6	To'l.
Jas Stevenson	109	55	164
Dr. Boucher	60	55	115
W. G. Robinson	58	23	81

There were a number of surprising results in the election yesterday. One of these is, that while the Street Railway and Street Lighting Bylaws fathered by Ald. Morrison, were endorsed by a large majority, that Alderman polled the smallest vote of any candidate that was elected, while Ald. Best, who was the strongest opponent to the Street Lighting Bylaw, was elected, and polled the second highest vote. Ald. McWilliams, who supported the bylaw, was again returned at the head of the poll, having 143 votes more than the second man.

That more than usual interest was taken in the elections was evident from the crowds that came down town through the bitter cold to receive the returns, and the entire sidewalk and a great part of the street facing the Examiner office, where the returns were received, and bulletined, was filled with men watching for the results. The successful candidates were first announced by the Examiner bulletins.

The new members of the council are Messrs. Adams, Scott, Johnston, Hicks and Mason, the first two being members last year of the Ashburnham council, and come to their larger responsibilities with an extensive municipal experience. Ald. Johnston was also at one time a member of the village council, and should be well qualified to fill with acceptability the office of Alderman in Greater Peterborough.

Ald. Hicks and Ald. Mason are new men on the Board, and as both are enterprising and successful business men of wide interests, there is every reason to believe that they will prove efficient representatives of the people.

Perhaps in no previous municipal election has there been as great activity among the candidates, and every effort was made to get out the vote. All the livery rigs in town were in requisition, and in consequence an extremely large vote was polled, taking into consideration the very uncompromising condition of the weather.

It is to be hoped that the new council will work together harmoniously to advance the interests of the united municipality, and that the first year of the existence of Greater Peterborough will see the inauguration of a new era of prosperity.

"VERY SUCCESSFUL YEAR" SAYS MR. HILL.

Water Commissioners Show a Surplus of About $3,000.

An increase in Discounts of $1,512.86 in 1903 Over 1902—Report Will Appear in a few Days.

The annual report of the Water Commissioners will appear in the course of a few days. However, the following is a summary obtained by the Examiner from Mr. W. H. Hill. It will be seen that with the Commissioners, 1903 was a very successful year. The increase in the discounts from ten to 20 per cent., which took place at the beginning of last year, would, it was thought, result in the commissioners having to report a small deficit. It will therefore be somewhat of a pleasant surprise to learn that they have a surplus of about $3,000, half of which goes to the town. Only two years ago the town took over the control of the water works and during that short period about $15,000 has been paid up. In short, one fifteenth of the total cost of the works, $200,000, has been covered.

HOCKEY.

A CHALLENGE.

Whereas the sporting department of our back-door contemporary, the Review, has from time to time basely insulted the hockey players of the Examiner staff by slimy insinuations that the said Examiner hockey players are afraid to meet upon the hockey arena, the wobbly aggregation of the Review, dignified by the appellation of a hockey team, therefore:

The hockey septette of the Examiner hereby formally and specifically challenge the hockey seven of the Review to a game a l'outrance, the said game to be played at a time mutually to be agreed upon, or at an earlier date if, in the meantime the Review hockey seven, under the coaching of Prof. Deveroo, learn to stand alone on skates. Given at Peterborough, this 5th day of Jan., A.D., 1904.

The team which will play at Picton on Wednesday night will be the one that defeated Queen's last week and will be as follows:—Goal, Mercer; point, Howell; cover point, Cavanah; forwards, H. Armstrong, Whitcroft, Morgan, R. Armstrong.

The team will be accompanied by Messrs. C. G. Graham, W. E. Wasson and Wm. Bunton.

The Young Snow Flakes, champions of the north end, hereby challenge the boys of St. Andrew's Guild for a game of Hockey on Friday next in the Brock street rink, immediately after the T.A.S.—Keene match. Captain Geo. Gagnon.

The Port Hope Guid speaking of the game played there Friday night says: "The T.A.S. Trent Valley League team of Peterborough, were asked to come, and they did what probably no other team in the province would venture. In short time they gathered their seven men together and drove to town, and their kindness is very much appreciated by every person in Port Hope. This long, cold drive left them in rather poor shape for a game, but nevertheless they put up a strong fight and kept the home team hustling the most of the time."

An exciting game of hockey was played New Year's afternoon on Pike's Creek, fifth ward. The game was fast and exciting, and was witnessed by a large number of spectators.

The contending teams were the Northern Lights of the fifth ward and the West-Enders. The teams lined up as follows:

Northern Lights.	West-Enders.
Goal.
G. Evans	B Halpin
Point.
L Hogan	P Hartley
Cover Point.
J Revoy	R Loval
Forwards.
A Coughlin	G Rose
O Cox	J Mackmarun
D. Quinlan	L Cassidy
B Brotherson	T Mackmty

The game was won by the Northern Lights and the score was 2—1.

G. Rose played a whirl-wind game for the West-Enders, as likewise R. Loval and Mackmarun. Cox was in the game from star to finish; Quinlan and Coughlin played the star game for the Northern Lights, the latter player scored the first goal for the Lights, and he kept the West-Enders hopping like frogs on a rainy day, to keep their shins from in front of his explosive wrist shots. —Com.

Last night the T.A.S. team went to Lakefield to open the Trent Valley League series, and although the visiting team was victorious, the game ended anything but satisfactorily, the Lakefield team leaving the ice before the close of the game.

Both teams during the first half played fast hockey, and, although the score stood 4—2 in favour of the T. A.S., the home team was playing a good game, and the win was by no means easy for the T.A.S. After the rest at half time the teams came on the ice and the game resumed as fast as during the first half. In about ten minutes the T.A.S. scored, but Lakefield disputed the goal, and the team left the ice.

Mr. Deannard, who was goal umpire, declared that the puck went through a hole in the net, and a number of the Lakefield spectators also said that it was scored fairly. However, the members of the team were not satisfied and left the ice.

Referee Harry King allowed 15 minutes for the teams to resume play, and at the end of that period faced off the puck, and the T.A.S. scored while the Lakefield goal was undefended. The game was then given to the visitors, the score being 6—2.

The teams were:—

Lakefield.	T. A. S.
Goal.
Quigley	McCoy
Point.
Watson	Barbeau
Cover Point.
Moore	Orough
Forwards.
Simpson	Crowley
"Colonel" Ridpath	Lynch
McGinnis	Parnell
Kennalley	Meagher
Goal Umpire.
Bickle	Deannard
Time-keeper.
Montgomery	D. DeVine

Referee—Harry King.

The hockey match which was booked for last night did not materialize owing to the fact that the Keene team was crippled through serious sickness in the family of one of the players and another being unable to play that night. The cancelling of the game was a great disappointment to the sporting public. However, the skating rink was largely patronized. The Peterboroughs can claim the game if so disposed.

In the third and final game for the Stanley Cup, the Ottawa team won from the Winnipeg Rowing Club, the score being 2—0, thus giving them the undisputed title to the cup.

Mr. E. S. Clarry, secretary of the Trent Valley League, has received notice from the Lakefield team to the effect that they protest the game played there last night in which the T.A.S. team was declared winners. No grounds are given on which the protest is based.

After a period of very cold weather, the thermometer last night made an effort to establish a new record, and went down to 36 degrees below zero. This figure is lower than we usually get it around here, but has been exceeded on several occasions, but not more than once during six or seven years. The following are the dates of the coldest days, and the reading of the thermometer for a number of years: The coldest day last year was Jan. 19, 23 degrees below; Dec. 16, 1902, 16 below; Jan. 9, 1901, 19 below; Feb. 27, 1900, 29 below; Feb. 16, 1899, 13 below; Jan. 30, 1898, 23 below; Jan. 23, 1897 13 below. February 17, 1896, was the coldest day ever experienced in this locality that there is any official record of, the thermometer on the morning of that day touching 39 degrees below zero. This winter, however, so far can discount any recent winter for long continued and steady cold weather.

MR. H. A. PEARSON HIGHLY ESTEEMED.

Popular Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Sault St. Marie. Presented With Purse.

The following item taken from the Sault Ste. Marie, "News," will be read with interest by many in Peterborough to whom Mr. H. A. Pearson, the secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in that city is well known:—

"The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M. C. A. were "at home" to the members and friends of the Association yesterday afternoon at the Y.M.C.A. rooms. The parlours were tastefully decorated for the occasion and a thoroughly enjoyable time was spent by all present. The event was of a two-fold nature being not only a reception for members and friends but also a farewell to the general secretary, H. A. Pearson, who has been called to Collingwood to open an Association there. At the close of the reception Mr. Pearson was made the recipient of a purse of money as a token of esteem and appreciation in which he is held by the members and friends of the Association.

"The Association is doing a great work for the young men of the town, which will be carried on more aggressively than ever under the management of several committees formed for that purpose."

MESSRS. GOUGH BROS. take this opportunity to announce that they have arranged to close out their business interests in and to withdraw from Peterborough. The business has been disposed of to Messrs. Tully and Merrell and Mr. W. H. Meredith. The two former gentlemen have been with Gough Bros. for many years, and Mr. Meredith is very well and favorably known and his business as Merchant Tailor, and Clothier will be merged in the larger undertaking. In such worthy hands as joint owners the business will be continued.

In withdrawing from town Gough Bros. desire to thank most heartily so many friends and customers for generous patronage so freely bestowed. The firm have no other recollection, in leaving town, but that of much kindness, patient forbearance and encouragement from all. As the years rolled on the business increased and expanded and to-day is a prosperous going concern.

The firm desire to state that the reason of their withdrawal from Peterborough is that their large and increasing interests in Toronto require their undivided attention and will utilize their full resources. For the last year, under the able management of Tully and Merrell substantial gains have been made and the esteem of the buying public retained and strengthened, and it may be said that these gentlemen have fairly won their spurs.

Gough Bros. bespeak for their successors as generous a share of patronage and as hearty an approval as has been so unstintedly given in the past, feeling confident that nothing will be left undone that vigilance, experience, judgment and an earnest desire to afford satisfaction can suggest.

In furtherance of the object of withdrawing from Peterborough an important Sale will be put on at once, with the object of reducing the stock. This sale will last for six weeks, and will afford opportunity to people to buy an exceedingly satisfactory range of goods, including Clothing, Hats and Caps, Boots and Shoes, Furnishings, etc, at prices substantially reduced in order to facilitate the objects of the sale. Of this Sale further announcement will be made.

It may be noted that the store will be closed down on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 6th to 8th inst., in order to afford time to mark down the lines of goods to be offered.

Very respectfully,

R. P. GOUGH,
A. J. GOUGH,

FEARS ENTERTAINED FOR PETERBOROUGH LADY

Miss Maggie Hennessey not Been Heard From Since Great Fire

Although Telegrams and Letters Were Sent—Mr. Hennessey Left for Chicago To-day.

There is a sad possibility that a young lady whose home is in Peterborough may be among the victims of the great Chicago fire horror.

Miss Maggie Hennessey, daughter of Mr. Dan Hennessey, of Elizabeth street, fifth ward, went to Chicago about Christmas time to visit friends, and her family is very anxious about her. Miss Hennessey is a great admirer of opera music and it was thought quite probable that she might have attended the Iroquois Theatre on the fateful afternoon.

As soon as the news reached Peterborough of the fire, Mr. Hennessey telegraphed his daughter asking if she was safe. Not receiving a reply he again telegraphed, with no better results. He next telegraphed the office of the telegraph company where it was stated that the first two messages had been delivered. This can hardly be credited, however, as it is almost incredible that had the messages been delivered, Miss Hennessey, knowing the anxiety of her family which prompted them to wiring, would not have replied. A letter was sent later, and no reply being received to this, Mr. Hennessey left for Chicago this morning to find out if possible whether his fears were groundless or otherwise.

Needless to say everyone here hopes sincerely that his visit will give the information that his daughter is safe.

THOUGHT ARCHITECT

THE LATE HERBERT SPENCER AND HIS SYSTEM.

One Biographer Says Humanity Will Owe Him an Everlasting Debt of Gratitude — His Synthetic Philosophy — The Man and His Work—Model of the Expository Style of Literary Form.

"If the title of great is due to those rare souls who have scaled the heights of human thought, and from the Pisgah summit have pointed the way to intellectual horizons undiscoverable by ordinary mortals, upon the brow of Herbert Spencer must be placed the never-fading wreath of immortality." "Whatever the future has in store for philosophy, one prediction may confidently be made, that humanity will owe to Herbert Spencer an everlasting debt of gratitude. * * * Herbert Spencer may rest from his labors with the proud consciousness that with his own right hand he has carved his path from obscurity to a philosophic throne. He now stands among the sceptred immortals."

So wrote Hector Macpherson three years ago in his book, "Herbert Spencer, the Man and His Work," of the genius who died recently.

Transcends Newton's Discovery.

In the Westminster Review of last June E. B. McCormick pauses in the midst of an unbiased examination of Spencer's latest book to render this tribute to the majestic intellect of the author:

"Of successful generalization and thinker has furnished more numerous or memorable examples. Their crown and consumption, the epoch-making theory of evolution, with which Mr. Spencer's name will ever be connected, is perhaps the highest abstraction, the most signal and far-reaching formula to which the human intellect has attained, transcending even Newton's great discovery, which though not less revolutionary in its effects, and not less subversive of established conceptions, disclosed only a prevailing physical law, while Mr. Spencer's theory touches and illuminates every process of Nature, interpreting alike the growth of plants and the development of societies; the microscopic motions of the smallest infusoria, and the awful sweep and reel of unmeasured sidereal systems. Undoubtedly in years to come this will be looked upon as the most conspicuous feature and main achievement of the Victorian era, the more so as it marks the culminating point of a series of sensational advances in almost every department of knowledge. The genius of Mr. Spencer supplied the electric flash which precipitated, so to speak, the key thought and master abstraction which the time held in solution, and which rallied into one great family generalizations reached in every branch of sciences. Of the profound changes by which, as Mr. Kidd puts it, the very foundations of thought have in the last century been rebuilt, Mr. Spencer has been the foremost architect. His results, though gradually realized, are now so essential a part of modern conceptions that it is easy to forget how much confusion and perplexity they put an end to, and with what a sense of illumination and expanding vistas the mind, wandering in a labyrinth of un-co-ordinated knowledge, emerged for the first time upon an eminence from which the pattern became clear and the mazy lines fell away in ordered symmetry to an horizon bounded only by "that unscalable wall built with a ward at the prime.'"

His Synthetic Philosophy.

In August, 1896, Spencer completed his "Synthetic Philosophy," 36 years from the date of its commencement. This magnum opus differs from the works of all previous philosophers in two ways. First, it is confined to phenomena, not venturing beyond the bounds of the knowable; second, it embraces all phenomena. Narrower systems have dealt with this or that aspect of things—with morals, with society, with life. More purely speculative theories have groped after the transcendental. Descartes, Locke, Spinoza, Hume, Kant, Hegel, were all epoch-makers, but none of them found so wide a natural law as that which Spencer has proved in his ten volumes. The all-grasping generalization to which he reduces phenomena, organic and super-organic, is the law of evolution. With that law Darwin's name is almost exclusively connected, but Darwin's "natural selection" really only confirmed evolution. Of the development of the theory in Spencer's mind an account is given in Appleton's Popular Science Monthly of February, 1897, by Prof. Hudson, a former secretary of the philosopher's. Prof. Hudson draws his facts from a letter written to him on the subject by Spencer himself. This shows that the nucleus of his philosophic system, which made its first appearance in "Social Statics," was an induction reached in the course of biological studies while attending Prof. Owen's lectures on the vertebrate skeleton.

The Man.

Spencer's colossal work, which stands to-day as one of the great achievements of human intellect, is, in literary form, a model for all who wish to acquire an expository style. It is doubtful if ever before such a power of writing was joined with such a power of reasoning. His essay on "The Philosophy of Style" gives the principles of his art as a writer. When we consider that the five or six thousand pages of the "Synthetic Philosophy" are the work of a man in the feeblest health, who seldom could write two hours in one day, and who for long periods was too ill to work at all, we must be impressed with the possibilities that lie in the time and health that are granted to us. Spencer scorned honors, and though they were pressed upon him by many learned societies, and by universities, he steadily refused them. He remained Herbert Spencer to the last, without a single letter affixed to his name. It was only after repeated persuasions that, in 1896, he allowed a number of eminent men to do him the honor of having his portrait painted by Mr. Hubert Herkomer to celebrate the conclusion of his "Synthetic Philosophy." Among those who joined in that testimonial were Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour, now Prime Minister of Great Britain; Sir George Baden-Powell, Sir Walter Besant, Sir J. Crichton-Browne, Sir M. Grant-Duff, Earl of Dysart, Michael Foster, Sir George Grove, Frederic Harrison, Prof. Knight, Andrew Lang, W. E. H. Lecky, J. Norman Lockyer, John Morley, Sir William Priestley, Lord Rayleigh, Sir Henry Roscoe, Leslie Stephen, and Alfred Russell Wallace. Mr. Gladstone declined, in accordance with a rule of his, but he sent a letter bearing witness to the "signal abilities" and "manful and self-denying character" of Spencer.

In his younger days Spencer had a great admiration for George Eliot. His autobiography, which he left ready to be published after his death will be an interesting book.

Boils were so painful could not sleep at night.

APPEARED ON NECK, LEGS AND ARMS.

Burdock Blood Bitters

CURED THEM.

It is well-known to all that bad blood is the direct cause of all skin diseases and it is necessary for the blood to be cleansed before the eruptions will disappear. For this purpose there is nothing to equal Burdock Blood Bitters as the thousands of testimonials we have on hand will testify.

Mr. Willard Thompson, McNeill's Mills, P.E.I., writes us as follows: "I wish to state to you what Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. Some time ago my blood got out of order and many boils appeared on my neck, legs and arms. They were so painful that I could not sleep at night. After having tried many different remedies without any success, I finally decided, on the advice of a friend, to use Burdock Blood Bitters. Before I had quite used two bottles the boils had completely disappeared, and I wish to emphasize the fact that I think Burdock Blood Bitters the best blood purifier on the market to-day."

KITCHENER'S WOMAN FRIEND.

Only One of Them All Who Did Not Want to Marry Him.

A friend of Lord Kitchener who has just returned from India says the famous general is as much a woman hater as ever, in spite of the stories published in Europe and America that he was likely to marry soon.

"There is only one unmarried woman among all I have met who didn't try to marry me," said the general sarcastically to his friend. "That was Miss Minnie Tracey, the American singer."

Miss Tracey met General Kitchener several years ago, when he was stationed at Cairo, where she was singing grand opera. It was at the beginning of the mad feminine campaign for the noted man's heart, and he swore long and loudly against all womankind.

But he was much struck by Miss Tracey's unassuming, simple manners in society, no less than by her beautiful voice. When she declined to receive a casket of jewels certain young men of Cairo offered her, Lord Kitchener sought an introduction, and gave several dinners in her honor during the Cairo season. He was further pleased to discover she was not advertising the fact of his attentions, but took it in the spirit it was given, which did not incline to marriage.

In London last year, when Lord Kitchener was at home, Miss Tracey was giving a series of concerts there, and he went out of his way to be agreeable to her and tried to induce her to go to India on a concert tour.

She is a New York girl and belongs to the aristocratic Lorillard-Spencer family.

Her relatives made strenuous objections when she chose a musical career, and for that reason her chief triumphs have been won in Europe.

The King's Pet.

King Edward recently suffered a sad bereavement by the death of one of his greatest pets. This was "Jack," an Irish terrier, which had been His Majesty's companion for many years. As Prince of Wales, the King was rarely seen without Jack. At Sandringham the lively little fellow is said to have eaten, slept, walked and all but talked with his master. He accompanied all the Sandringham shooting parties, to the infinite disgust of the pheasants, and guests who did not happen to like small dogs.

As a matter of fact, Jack was not altogether popular outside the royal circle. He had certain exasperating habits which made more than one person long to shake him, although forbidden by etiquette to do so.

Jack early displayed a taste for chewing cloth, and a story of his puppy days was laughing-stock at Sandringham for some time. Among the guests there on one occasion was an Ambassador with whom Jack refused to make friends. After dinner one night, when much conversation was going on, somebody discovered that Jack was chewing away on the Ambassador's coat tail. The somebody was young and it seemed a joke, so he only told some other young people. Together they enjoyed the fun in silence.

Jack ground away at the cloth till the coat tail was detached, and with it he retreated under a near-by sofa. When the unconscious Ambassador got up, his plight was seen by everybody, but first of all by the tactful Prince, who covered his retreat from the room.

There was no reprimand or punishment for Jack, but the youthful persons who watched the fun, pleading that they "only wanted to see how far Jack would go," were not let off as easily, but were treated to a lecture on manners. The liveliest of the Princesses said, in telling the story soon after, "That is always the way! When Jack does something that positively demands punishment, father scolds one—or all—of us!"

British Peerage Mysteries.

The mysteries of the British peerage are many and deep. In the first place there are far more titles in existence than peers to carry them. Consequently there are several peers who are blessed with a multiplicity of titles. The Duke of Atholl has twenty-two titles; the Duke of Argyll, seventeen; the Duke of Hamilton, sixteen; the Marquis of Bute, fifteen; the Duke of Buccleuch, twelve; the Duke of Abercorn, twelve, and the Marquis of Lansdowne, twelve.

Often the eldest son of a peer carries his father's second title, though not only by courtesy, while sometimes the courtesy title of a peer's heir-apparent or grandson has no existence among his father's titles. At the present time nearly 100 peers whose sons might bear courteay titles are without sons to bear them.

Singularly enough, despite this plethora of titles there are many cases of multiplication of the same title. There are, for instance, five Lords Howard, five Lords Hamilton, four Lords Grey, four Lords Stewart or Stuart, three Lords Boyle, three Lords Bruce, three Lords Douglas, three Lords Hay, three Lords Herbert, three Lords Hill and three Lords Montague.

Mr. Carnegie's "Record."

The Westminster Gazette says: Mr. Carnegie has scored a "record," as he received the freedom of three Irish cities in three consecutive days. Few "aliens" have been made Irish free men. Mr. Gladstone was a freeman of Dublin, and in years later Sir Stuart Knill, Bart., Lord Mayor of London, inscribed his name on the same roll, in which the signature of General Grant appears. Mr. Carnegie has as his fellow-freemen in Ireland, Lord Roberts in Waterford, and Mr. Kruger in Limerick, but, owing to certain international difficulties, Mr. Kruger has not been able to sign the Freeman's roll of Garryowen.

Thief in a Church.

At Cologne recently a thief chased by the police took refuge in a church and, kneeling before the altar, claimed sanctuary after the mediæval fashion. The police arrested him all the same.

The Broken Down Nervous System.

Often Found in Persons Who are Apparently in Good Health—Extraordinary Effects of

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It is not always the pale and bloodless who suffer from nervous exhaustion, and when a person of apparent good health finds himself almost helpless he gets little sympathy from physician or friends and not infrequently his ills are attributed to the imagination.

A tendency to put off the duties of the day, indisposition for exertion or concentration of the mind, depressed spirits, wakefulness at night, indigestion, headache, feelings of fatigue, and lassitude, dizziness, specks before the eyes, noises in the ears and irregularities and derangements of the sexual organs are among the most common symptoms of nervous exhaustion and prostration.

Nervous diseases are slow in coming on and patience is necessary in their treatment. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is absolutely certain to be of benefit to anyone suffering from exhausted nerves, for it supplies the very elements of nature which go to create new nerve cells and instill new vigor and energy into the nervous system.

Mrs J. Hutcher, 224 Sherbrooke street, Peterborough, Ont., and whose husband is a moulder at the Hamilton foundry, states:—

"I had an attack of inflammatory rheumatism which left me in a very run-down state of health, and in fact my whole nervous system seemed exhausted and worn out. I could not sleep and at times the pains in my head were almost unbearable. As a result of these symptoms I was unable to attend to my housework, and felt miserable most of the time. On the advice of a friend I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and can say that it has proved of very great benefit to me. I am able to do my work now, and feel stronger and healthier than I have for years. I can truthfully state that this is due to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I consider a great health builder."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

GREATEST GEYSER.

Waimangu, World's Greatest, to Be Found in New Zealand.

The greatest geyser in the world is to be found in New Zealand. Waimangu is its name, and it far exceeds everything else of the kind in grandeur and in convulsive energy. When dormant, the geyser presents the appearance of a weird, sullen pit or lake about 200 feet across, surrounded and shut in by dark beetling cliffs; half-way down on one side hollowed out in deep water-filled concavities, from which from time to time numerous outbursts of steam and hot water startle the spectator. Judging by photographs and descriptions, the recent outbreak of the geyser, which resulted in the terrible death of four human beings, was an appalling exhibition of nature's wrath, such as happily seldom takes place on this earth. They were standing—two ladies and two gentlemen—upon the jagged summit of one of the encircling cliffs, looking down into the boiling caldron far beneath. Soon the rock beneath their feet begins to tremble as if in mortal dread of impending doom, the earth itself quivers and throbs in spasmodic pulsations; and the furiously agitated water in the crater beneath seethes and boils with ever-increasing ferment and tumult. And now suddenly, with the roar of a thousand thunders, the very lake itself is hurled upwards to the skies; terrific volumes of boiling mud, water, steam, and nearly red-hot rocks shot, now upwards, to a height variously estimated at from 800 to 1,500 feet, now diagonally sweeping the engirdling cliffs with a terrible cannonade, hurling great rocks a mile or more from the pit, and discharging overwhelming cataracts of boiling water which like a watery tornado sweep all before them. And though warned of their danger, delaying their flight in their anxiety to secure photographs of the scene, in a moment, with a crashing roar they are struck full by a discharge of Nature's artillery, gripped in the hug of the hot raging flood, and flung into the swirl of a seething deluge which is leaping down the mountain side, their mangled corpses being subsequently found far away from the terrible caldron.

MR. J. C. FROST

A Victim of Severe Headaches and Bilious Attacks.

Mr. John C. Frost, Toronto, Ont., a sufferer for fifteen years writes thus:—"I have been subject to severe headaches and bilious attacks for the past fifteen years. During that time time I have been doctoring, and have also tried different patent medicines, but nothing seemed to give me relief. Last winter, after suffering with neuralgia for about two months, I started to take Paine's Celery Compound, and before the first bottle was finished my neuralgia was completely cured. I have now taken six bottles, and am very pleased to inform you that my old complaints have also entirely disappeared, and I feel like a new person."

An Australian Woman Candidate.

Usually only cruel necessity would compel an unmarried lady to acknowledge herself over thirty in the face of a large public meeting. But Miss Vida Goldstein, the female candidate for the Commonwealth Senate in Victoria, did not shrink from the ordeal, for thirty is the minimum statutory age for an Australian Senator. In the opening speech of her campaign, delivered in Portland, her birthplace, she contradicted the report that she was only twenty-five, and boldly proclaimed herself thirty-two. Unless she has been misreported or misprinted, Miss Goldstein made a strange declaration on the burning question of the day: "Although I feel inclined to call myself a fiscal atheist, I am a protectionist." Miss Goldstein also objects to party Government as carried on in England and America, and, if elected, will do her best to arrest its development in Australia. She says it is synonymous with unthinking voters and dictation by party organizations, which she considers the "most serious menace this young democracy has to face." She describes herself as suffering all the proverbial disadvantages of the pioneer. She has to overcome the prejudice, "not only of mere men," but the many faint-hearted members of her own sex as well. Nevertheless, she is going to fight to a finish in the firm conviction that women should be in Parliament to protect women's interests, which at times come into conflict with men's.

Stories of Hunters.

One bold hunter is said to have been almost run over by a deer, whose horns tore his shirt, and although he had a repeater in his hands loaded with sixteen shells, he was so surprised at the appearance of the animal that he forgot to shoot. Another hunter became so excited that he fired off every shot in the magazine into the ground at his feet before he woke up to the fact that his deer was a mile away from him unhurt. Two other stumrods chased a deer two miles, one trying to hold it by the tail so that the other could shoot him.

By FREDERIC S. ISHAM

Author of "Under the Rose."

That was all; nothing more save the address and the date. How long he remained staring at it with mingled feelings he never knew, but finally with a start he looked at his watch, thoughtfully regarded the half filled trunk, donned his coat and left the room. Several fellow officers, the first of the sluggards to appear, spoke to him as he crossed the hall below, but what they said or what he replied he could not afterward remember. Some one detained him at the steps, a gentleman with a longing for juleps, but finally he found himself in a carriage, driving somewhere, presumably to the address given in the letter. How long the drive seemed! And yet when the carriage finally stopped and he had paid his fare he mentally determined it had been too short. The driver gazed in surprise after the gentleman who did not wait for his change, but, forbearing injudicious comment, gathered up the reins and drove to the nearest cafe.

"I wronged you!" she cried. "I wronged you!"

From the carriage the house was some distance, and yet it appeared very near the gate to the soldier, who dimly realized he was passing through a garden where were many flowering plants and where the air was unusually heavy with perfume. Many other details—the construction of the house, the size of the verandas—passed without attracting his notice. Soon, however, he was seated in a great room, an apartment of old fashioned height and breadth. He felt his heart beating fast. How long did he sit there? No inconsiderable period surely. He examined everything carefully without carrying a definite impression of anything to his mind. The large carved mirror, the quaint decoration of walls and friese, the soft colors of the rug that covered the floor, the hundred and one odd little things in the cabinet near the chair where he was seated, trifles in ivory, old silver and china; the pictures, a Vandyke, Claude and a few modern masters. After this interminable but confused scrutiny of inanimate things his heart beat faster still as a tall figure robed in white entered the room.

He rose. They regarded each other with mutual constraint. Her face had a bit of color, like the tinge of a rose leaf. Her eyes seemed agitated beneath the sweeping lashes, a sentiment in ill accord with the stateliness of her presence. She gave him her hand. He held it he knew not how long, probably for the conventional moment. They found themselves, each in a chair, at ease, yet not at ease, he studying her face furtively, yet eagerly, she turning in her fancy the first strong impression of how gaunt and haggard were his features, bearing the traces of recent illness.

"I am glad you came," she began, their eyes meeting once more.

He bowed. "Mr. Culver brought me your message."

"I heard that you—it was reported you were dead."

"I was wounded; that was all, and soon took to the field again."

The suspense that fell between them was oppressive.

"You should have let your friends know," she said at length.

He looked at her curiously, vivid memories of their last interview recurring to him. Indecisively she interlaced her fingers, and he, watching them, wondered why she had sent for him. Suddenly she rose, walked to the window and stood, looking out. He, sitting in the dim light, in a mass of uncertainty, was vaguely conscious of her figure outlined against the brightness without, of the waving, yellow flowers of the vines shading the broad veranda.

"It is long since we have met," he said awkwardly.

She did not answer. Had she heard? Yet he did not resent her silence. If he had ever felt anger for her it had all vanished now. He was only conscious of regarding her more attentively, as she still remained, gazing out into the sunlit garden.

"Much has happened since I saw you," he continued.

She turned, her eyes were moist; her hand trembled a little against her dress, but she held her head proudly, as she had always done, and it was the aspect of this weakness set against strength that appealed swiftly to him, softening his heart so that he longed to spring to her side.

"Yes, much!" she replied.

Was her voice tremulous, or [illegible] but the thrill of his own heart [illegible] made it seem so?

"You have been here long?" she asked, still holding back what was on her mind or blindly endeavoring to approach the subject.

"Only since yesterday."

"And you remain some time?"

"I am leaving today—for France."

At that a touch of color left her face, or was it that a darkening shadow fell upon the house and garden, momentarily chastening the outlook?

"For France?" she repeated.

Her lips quivered. Something seemed to still the beating of his heart.

"Constance—what is it?" he half whispered.

She stepped forward suddenly, her hands outstretched.

"I wronged you!" she cried. "I wronged you! I thought the disgrace was yours! Oh, do not speak!" she added passionately. "I have suffered for it—and now, would you mind—please—leaving me?"

"You thought the disgrace was mine!" he repeated slowly. "Not my"— He broke off abruptly. "And you suffered for it?" he said wonderingly. "Then you"— He arose quickly and approached her, a new expression transfiguring his bronzed and worn young face.

Swiftly he sought her glance. Her eyes gave irrefutable answer. Unresistingly she abandoned herself to his arms, and he felt her bosom rise and fall with conflicting emotions. Closely he held her in the surprise and surpassing pleasure of the moment; then, bending, he kissed her lips. A wave of color flooded her face, though her eyes still sought his. But even as he regarded her the clear, open look gradually changed, replaced by one of half perplexity, half reproach.

"That night you went away—why did you not defend yourself?" she asked finally.

"I never imagined any mistake. Besides, what had I to offer? Your future was bright, your name on every one's lips."

"Did you think you were responsible for your brother's sins?"

His dark features clouded.

"I suppose I had become accustomed to cold looks; in Africa, by some of my comrades who had an inkling of the story! No matter what I did, I was h[illegible] p[illegible]

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

THE GREAT OLD WORLD.

The cynics mock her,
The red storms rock her,
The earthquakes shock her,
But on she rolls!
Downcast, clothed,
For ruin plotted,
She still goes freighted
With human souls!

The great seas thunder
And rend asunder,
The white stars wonder
As Time grows gray!
But reaping, sowing,
Her way she's going
To meet, unknowing,
A judgment day.

But—joy go with her!
Nor slip his tether
When stormy weather
Makes grief and moan!
Tragedy—jest world—
Lost unto rest world
Still—still the best world
We ever have known.

The Scenery of Jamaica.

Here is an admirable pen-picture of Jamaican scenery, given by Miss R. Pullen-Burry in "Jamaica as It Is, 1903:"

"The coloring is superb. To an artistic mind, there is scarcely an hour in the day, when looking on to the hills, that a beautiful view is not to be obtained. Sometimes the mountain summits are veiled in white mists, but at sunset the colors are grand, and for that only are, to my mind, worth the journey to Jamaica. The foliage and the parasitical growth, the hanging festoons which drape from tree to tree, must be seen to be appreciated. Tropical vegetation is in all its glory here. Innumerable ferns and palm-trees wave in the air along the banks of the well-kept roads. Plantains and bananas rear their ragged leaves against the sky. Exquisitely green cedars (not those we know) are a beautiful feature of the landscape, with orange-trees bearing blossom and fruit simultaneously. Tamarinds and gums spring from rocky crags, shrubs and creepers everywhere; the latter intertwine themselves in the most wonderful way over tree parasites, back again to the road bank, then you trace them twenty yards or so further on, embracing gigantic stems. Not a single tree seems familiar. One feels as if one were always walking in a botanical garden; the wealth of flowering plants, of edible fruit and vegetables, strikes one wherever one goes. How refreshing and how nourishing are the articles of food which Nature, in an open-handed generosity, not to be found in less favored climes, scatters broadcast over these islands! If negroes have yams, bread-fruit, oranges, bananas, cocoanuts, growing at their back door without the trouble of cultivating them—for anything once stuck into the ground will grow—how can you expect them to work six days out of seven?"

THE CHURCHES.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

At St. Andrew's on Sunday services specially appropriate to New Year's Day were held. The pastor preached a very practical sermon in the morning on "Our Hope for 1904," and in the evening Mr. E. G. Guthrie, M. A., of Dunedin, New Zealand, gave a most thoughtful and forceful sermon, taking as his subject, Isa. xxi, 11, "Watchman, what of the night."

CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH.

The services in the Charlotte street church on Sunday were well attended, the pastor preaching both morning and evening. The musical service was as usual an enjoyable feature. The morning anthem was, "The God of Abraham Praise," while at the offertory Miss Belleghem sang "I shall know Him by the Wound Prints in His Hands."

The anthem for the evening was, "Sun of My Soul," solos being taken by Miss Belleghem and Mr. Mitchell. The offertory selection was a solo, "The Sweet Story of Old," sung by Mr. Walter Stocker.

PARK STREET BAPTIST.

Large gatherings on Sunday greeted the Rev. T. T. Shields, at the Park street Baptist church. The sermons were refreshing. Deep impressions were made at the evening service and there were many evidences of blessing. The question for discussion during the week will be "A man and his wife at home and abroad." Mr. Shields is a powerful preacher, and all should hear him.—Com.

RUSSIA IS REPORTED AS HAVING BACKED DOWN.

To Her Fiery Opponent—Makes Great Concessions.

St. Petersburg, January 5 — The situation in the Far East has become more hopeful. Russia is reported to have replied to the Japanese note. In this reply Russia makes great concessions to her fiery little rival, and hopes that her proposals will prove acceptable to Japan. This is probably due to a great extent to the attitude of Great Britain and France.

The flames had a good hold of the building before the arrival of the brigade. One of the firemen was killed and another one injured. A lady stenographer was also badly burned.

THE CANADIAN PRESS.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Gives His Impressions of Its Conduct and Influence at the French Journalists' Banquet.

At the recent banquet of French journalists in Canada, held at Montreal, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada, said:

"My first duty is to congratulate you upon this magnificent banquet, and to thank you for your kind invitation. In this banquet you have given a stimulus to your profession and a new evidence of the truth of that axiom which says that in union there is strength. Some years ago I was a journalist myself, but I know a better profession than that—the profession of law. Mr. Dansereau, I feel, will not appreciate such a declaration from my lips, but it is not in the power of all to be either a lawyer or a journalist. In the profession of law a practitioner is ever walking in the eyes of an opponent; the journalist is ever walking in the eyes of the public. There is no honest labor that is not dignified, and the journalist, believe me, is not less worthy than the lawyer.

"As Mr. Tarte says, the mason who does his work honestly is entitled to the highest appreciation. I always am of the opinion that a man who belongs to the legal profession and who does not qualify himself fully to gain pursue that vocation, is just as much to be condemned as would be the mason under similar circumstances. Not otherwise is it with the journalist. But it must be remembered that the journalist possesses a greater and a wider influence than any other member of society. Especially so is this in a country such as ours, possessing representative institutions. Our constitution's power is fittingly represented by the Parliament and the press.

"Aesop tells of that man who asked to provide the best thing in the world for a banquet, brought forth a tongue, and the appropriateness of the selection is not far to seek. Tongues can build reputations, diffuse happiness and create goodness. The next day, being asked to supply a second banquet, where the worst thing in the world should be represented, again there were tongues. And that also was true. Tongues can blast reputations; tongues are the mother of all difficulties, the organ of calumny. The press has not only one tongue, it has a thousand. The press can do good, but it can also work mischief.

"Happy is the journalist whose efforts are directed towards the best results. The London Times is possibly the highest exemplification of what a great journal may really do. The Times has both made and unmade Governments. Though I am not prepared to endorse all his opinions, Louis Veillot in France, exercised a very wide influence, and is worthy of emulation. Here in Canada we had Etienne Parent, who was the dean of French-Canadian journalists, after a service of twenty-five years. And what Parent was to the newspapers of Quebec that George Brown was to the newspapers of Ontario. I do not pause to mention living journalists.

"The best means to obtain success in journalism is to study the history of your country. Have always in view the welfare of the country, no matter what may be your political opinions.

"Be faithful to your convictions. Thus may journalism increase in influence, and every class in the community reap the benefit."

The Manner That Wins.

An Ottawa boy, who less than three years ago was carrying messages for a business office in Ottawa, is to-day filling an important position of trust in the First National Bank of one of the largest cities in the United States. He is an orphan, without relatives and without influence. Who in Ottawa he was sought for by other business houses. He was but a boy. What was the reason for his rapid advancement? Not influence, because, as stated, he had no influential relatives or friends. He had, and has, a disposition and manner that are the nucleus of a fortune. To meet him once was to remember him. A bright, smiling face, an accommodating manner, an apparent desire to do things pleasantly and to do them well, made him a favorite. He carried his message to Garcia, and carried it with a smile.

There are in Ottawa to-day, as in other cities, hundreds of young men who wonder why they do not get on, and blame everyone but themselves. They are filling positions in banks and in offices. They are gruff in answering the telephone, gruff in greeting or in failing to greet their employer's customers, alert in leaving their offices sharp on time, but not so alert in reaching them on time. They are not making themselves agreeable and indispensable, and the man who is not indispensable to his employer is not sought after by the other man.—Ottawa Free Press.

Buying M.P.'s

As an illustration of how the votes of M.P.'s in the British House of Commons were at one time openly bought, the evidence of Roberts, who had been Secretary to the Treasury and to Pelham, and which was divulged to the, world in 1767, is most forcible. Roberts, on the day when Parliament was prorogued, used to take up his stand in the Court of Requests, and as members passed in or out of the House, he used to squeeze banknotes, representing sums varying from £500 to £800, into their hands! The names of the recipients of these sums were entered into a book, which was preserved in the deepest secrecy, it being open only to the King and to Pelham. Another official, who had been seventeen years Treasurer of the Ordinance, testified to the Peace of 1763 having been carried by money. He secured above 120 votes with £80,000 set aside for that purpose, forty members receiving £1,000 and £500 each.

Russia Showing Quarter.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 6.—In reply to Japan, Russia made concessions, and hopes her proposals will prove acceptable to Japan.

The Foreign Office informed the Associated Press yesterday that instructions had been sent to Viceroy Alexieff on which the reply is based.

The letter was drawn up in a most conciliatory spirit. Some of Japanese proposals were accepted while others were made the subject of extended observations and met by counter-proposals.

There are strong hopes that by Thursday next, the Russian Christmas, the Czar may be able to announce that peace is assured.

A semi-official despatch to a news agency from Vladivostock, and private information from Mukden, say that owing to disturbances between the Coreans and the Japanese in Corea, the Russian Second Army Regiment, at its full strength, has been despatched to Corea in order to protect Russian interests.

Not Yet Received.

Tokio, Jan. 6.—The Russian reply to Japan has not yet been received. It is reported from Vladivostock that the Russian squadron there is preparing for action.

An extra edition of the official Gazette has been issued containing army and navy orders, prohibiting the publication of any reports of the movement of troops or War vessels from this time on.

To the Far East.

Bizerta, Jan. 6.—The Russian cruiser Dimitri Donskoi, accompanied by two torpedo boats, left here yesterday for Suda Bay.

Less Hopeful.

Paris, Jan. 6.—The general tone of the comment in official circles is slightly less hopeful. The most significant feature of the despatches from Tokio is the statement that Japan is hastening final preparations for a far more extensive despatch of troops to Corea than at first contemplated.

BROTHER JONATHAN.

Lands Troops in Seoul and Gets Its Far East Game.

Seoul, Corea, Jan. 6.—A detachment of 85 marines from the United States steamer Vicksburg, now lying at Chemulpo, arrived here yesterday, a guard for the American Legation. Another body of 70 marines will arrive to-morrow. The United States transport Zafiro is also at Chemulpo, where Russia, Japan and Great Britain have each one man-of-war. Quiet prevails, but the palace is heavily guarded by the Corean army. The movements of the Japanese troops and fleet are unknown here. The attitude of the Corean Government is unchanged. Solicitude is shown as to what will happen on the arrival of Japanese troops.

Paris, Jan. 6.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Paris edition of The New York Herald says he is authorized to state that Admiral Alexieff has been instructed not to allow any movements of his warships to be such as to encourage the construction that the United States is supporting Japan.

Schooner a Total Wreck.

Halifax, Jan. 6.—The American schooner S. P. Hitchcock was wrecked at Culloden Cove, Digby County, yesterday morning. The crew were saved after great peril from the seas and severe cold.

To Go Home.

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—Lady Ruby Elliot and Lord Melgund, accompanied by Capt. Bell, A.D.C., leave here on Monday for New York, where they will sail for England.

The days are lengthening somewhat.

CONFLICT CERTAIN IN THE FAR EAST.

Landing of Japanese Troops in Corea Threatened.

Russian Viceroy, Admiral Alexief, has Full Power to Act in the Case of Such Provocation—Japanese Government Forbids Press Messages Dealing With Military Preparations—U. S. Marines Land in Corea.

Paris, Jan. 6.—The Che Foo correspondent of the Paris edition of The New York Herald, cables as follows:

"Eight thousand Japanese troops are ready to land at Masampho and their landing will probably mean war.

"A regiment of Cossacks is expected at Port Arthur. Reserves are being moved from Blagoveyschhensk (the capital of the Amur Province in Eastern Siberia) to Tsitsihar (in Manchuria.)

"The position of the troops in Manchuria is being re-arranged, but their location is kept a secret."

Would Be a Crisis.

Paris, Jan. 6.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Paris edition of The New York Herald says that should the Japanese occupy Masampho it would result in bringing matters to a crisis. Admiral Alexieff (the Russian Viceroy in the Far East), having full power to act in the case of such provocation.

THE LONDON PRESS.

Approves Uncle Sam's Action in Landing Marines in Corea.

London, Jan. 6.—"Nobody will suspect the captain of a man-of-war of being a scheming alarmist," says The Standard editorially this morning. This sentence expresses the view taken by the press of Great Britain of the grave condition of things in the Far East, as revealed by the fact that the United States Government finds it necessary to send marines to Seoul for the protection of American interests. While it is still hoped that a peaceful issue may be found, this action of the United States is held to indicate that the view of the situation taken at Washington is that the crisis is drifting rapidly to the danger point. The action of the United States Government is generally approved.

The Morning Post says editorially: "The landing of American marines proves that the United States is not watching the Far Eastern embroglio without intelligent interest. We hope thay will be accompanied by British marines."

Outlook Very Warlike.

The Daily Telegraph's Tokio correspondent says: "The outlook is very warlike. The people are commenting on the absence of Baron de Rosen, the Russian Minister to Japan, from public functions for the last few days." Continuing, the correspondent intimates that preparations are being made "for the removal of the seat of Government and the headquarters of the army and navy at Hiroshima in the event of hostilities, as occurred during the war with China."

The Daily Mail's Tokio correspondent reports the suspension of the steamer service from Kobe to Corea, owing to the apprehension that hostilities will soon break out. The correspondent says that the rumor that Russia has landed troops at Mokpho proves to be incorrect.

Ordered Cruisers to Be Prepared For War.

The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Mail learns that Gen. Yuan Shi Kai, the Commander-in-Chief of the Chinese army and navy, has ordered the cruisers now in the Woo Sung River to be prepared for war.

The Che Foo correspondent of The Morning Post says that in the event of war Wei Hai Wei (British) will be abandoned as useless, as it is not fortified. The correspondent hears that great precautions are being taken by vessels entering Port Arthur, as it is feared that some attempt may be made to sink them, and so block the channel.

Russia Showing Quarter.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 6.—In her reply to Japan, Russia made great concessions, and hopes her proposals will prove acceptable to Japan.

The Foreign Office informed the Associated Press yesterday that instructions had been sent to Viceroy Alexieff on which the reply was based.

The letter was drawn up in the most conciliatory spirit. Some of the Japanese proposals were acceptable, while others were made the subject of extended observations and were met by counter-proposals.

There are strong hopes that on Thursday next, the Russian Christmas, the Czar may be able to announce that peace is assured.

A semi-official despatch to a news agency from Vladivostock, and private information from Mukden, state that owing to disturbances between the Coreans and the Japanese in Corea, the Russian Second Rifle Regiment, at its full strength, has been despatched to Corea in order to protect Russian interests.

Not Yet Received.

Tokio, Jan. 6.—The Russian reply to Japan has not yet been received. It is reported from Vladivostock that the Russian squadron there is preparing for action.

An extra edition of the official gazette has been issued containing army and navy orders, prohibiting the publication of any reports of the movement of troops or war vessels from this time on.

To the Far East.

Bizerta, Jan. 6.—The Russian cruiser Dimitri Donskoi, accompanied by two torpedo boats, left here yesterday for Suda Bay.

Less Hopeful.

Paris, Jan. 6.—The general tone of the comment in official circles is slightly less hopeful. The most significant feature of the despatches from Tokio is the statement that Japan is hastening final preparations for a far more extensive despatch of troops to Corea than at first contemplated.

BROTHER JONATHAN.

Lands Troops in Seoul and Gets Into the Far East Game.

Seoul, Corea, Jan. 6.—A detachment of 85 marines from the United States steamer Vicksburg, now laying at Chemulpo, arrived here yesterday, a guard for the American Legation. Another body of 70 marines will arrive to-morrow. The United States transport Zafiro is also at Chemulpo, where Russia, Japan and Great Britain have each one man-of-war. Quiet prevails here, but the palace is heavily guarded by the Corean army. The movements of the Japanese troops and fleet are unknown here. The attitude of the Corean Government is unchanged. Solicitude is shown as to what may happen on the arrival of Japanese troops.

Paris, Jan. 6.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Paris edition of The New York Herald says he is authorised to state that Admiral Evans has been instructed not to allow the movements of his warships to be such as to encourage the construction that the United States is supporting Japan.

Schooner a Total Wreck.

Halifax, Jan. 6.—The American schooner S. P. Hitchcock was wrecked at Culloden Cove, Digby County, yesterday morning. The crew were saved after great peril from the seas and severe cold.

TO WRECK G. T. R. TRAIN.

Rails Fastened to a Piece of Iron Found on G.T.R.

WWoodstock, Jan. 6.—A deliberate attempt was made to wreck a Grand Trunk passenger train about four miles west of Woodstock on Saturday last, and as a result of the incident the local authorities and those of the Grand Trunk will combine in an attempt to bring the supposed would-be train wreckers to justice. On the morning of last Saturday, some of the section men engaged on that division were running their hand car up from Eastwood, when they almost ran into an obstruction on the tracks. On investigation they found it to be a brick fastened by a piece of iron. The obstruction was sufficient to run an engine off the track and probably would have derailed the 11.15 express had it not been observed in time.

TO WRECK G. T. R. TRAIN.

Bolts Fastened to a Piece of Iron Found on G.T.R.

WWoodstock, Jan. 6.—A deliberate attempt was made to wreck a Grand Trunk passenger train about four miles west of Woodstock on Saturday last, and as a result of the incident the local authorities and those of the Grand Trunk will combine in an attempt to bring the supposed would-be train wreckers to justice. On the morning of last Saturday, some of the section men engaged on that division were running their hand car up from Eastwood, when they almost ran into an obstruction on the tracks. On investigation they found it to be a brick fastened by a piece of iron. The obstruction was sufficient to run an engine off the track and probably would have derailed the 11.15 express had it not been observed in time.

THE OLD FOLKS AT HOME

Are Never Without Peruna in the House for Catarrhal Diseases.

MR. AND MRS. J. O. ATKINSON, INDEPENDENCE, MO.

UNDER date of January 10, 1897, Dr. Hartman received the following letter:

"My wife had been suffering from a complication of diseases for the past 25 years.

"Her case had baffled the skill of some of the most noted physicians. One of her worst troubles was chronic constipation of several years' standing.

"She also was passing through that most critical period in the life of a woman—change of life. In June, 1895, I wrote to you about her case. You advised a course of Peruna and Manalin, which we at once commenced, and have to say it completely cured her. She firmly believes that she would have been dead only for these wonderful remedies.

"About the same time I wrote you about my own case of catarrh, which had been of 25 years' standing. At times I was almost past going. I commenced to use Peruna according to your instructions and continued its use for about a year, and it has completely cured me.

"Your remedies do all that you claim for them, and even more. Catarrh cannot exist where Peruna is taken according to directions. Success to you and your remedies."

John O. Atkinson.

In a letter dated January 1, 1900, Mr. Atkinson says, after five years' experience with Peruna:

"I will ever continue to speak a good word for Peruna. In my rounds as a traveling man I am a walking advertisement for Peruna and have induced many people during the past year to use Peruna with the most satisfactory results. I am still cured of catarrh."

John O. Atkinson,
Box 272, Independence, Mo.

When old age comes on, catarrhal diseases come also. Systemic catarrh is almost universal in old people.

This explains why Peruna has become so indispensable to old people. Peruna is their safe-guard. Peruna is the only remedy yet devised that meets these cases exactly.

Such cases cannot be treated locally; nothing but an effective systemic remedy could cure them. This is exactly what Peruna is.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

DR. PARKIN'S TOUR

Progress Made in the Rhodes Scholarship Plan.

A ZOLLVEREIN IMPOSSIBLE

Sir Edward Grey Says Colonies Are Opposed to It—Hon. Walter Long Says He Is a Fiscal Reformer—Lord Rosebery Grows Sarcastic—What Liverpool's Colonial Products Exhibition Means.

London, Jan. 6.—(C.A.P.)—Dr. Parkin, who recently returned from touring Australasia in behalf of the Rhodes Oxford scholarship scheme, speaking to the Canadian Associated Press last night, said New Zealand and Australia were enthusiastic for the idea, but were afraid the graduates would not return home. Dr. Parkin replied to them that a scattering of the best graduates is best for men like Prof. Rutherford, the New Zealander of McGill University, who became famous through his radium discovery. South Africa, Cecil Rhodes' own home, curiously thought the least about the scheme. Andrew Carnegie didn't believe that Americans cared for the idea, remarking: "Our young men want to make money."

Dr. Parkin visits Newfoundland, the West Indies and Barbadoes next May to complete his tour.

The labor party, he says, is a menace to Australia, whose only safety lies in a coalition of Deakin and Reid. Australians used to say Canada was slow, but are now eager to follow her.

Dr. Parkin said he admired Canadian pluck if she would carry out Premier Laurier's treaty-making scheme.

"A DISSOLVING VIEW."

Imperial Crisis Is Now the Interest of Tariff Commissioners.

London, Jan. 6.—(C.A.P.)—Lord Rosebery, speaking before the Scottish Liberal Club at Edinburgh, called the Government "a dissolving view." Quoting the Chamberlain-Deakin telegrams, he asked where were the proposals of Australia and New Zealand? The Imperial crisis was now dwindled down to the interests of certain gentlemen who kindly formed themselves into a tariff commission.

Is a Fiscal Reformer.

London, Jan. 6.—(C.A.P.)—Walter Long, M.P., speaking at Bristol, said he would stand at the next election distinctly as a fiscal reformer, and Unionist on a united, definite policy.

The Duke of Marlborough, speaking at the opening of the Colonial Products' Exhibition at Liverpool yesterday, said Liverpool had taken the first step in the direction of proving the value of Colonial Products Exhibition, which showed the Empire could be self-sustaining.

A Zollverein Impossible.

Sir Edward Grey, speaking at Carnarvon yesterday, said it was hopeless to talk of a zollverein within the Empire, as the colonies would not have it. Preferential tariffs might mean raising existing tariffs with the colonies. The tariff commission was not formed on scientific lines, but settled by political pressure. The policy of Chamberlain and Balfour was not free trade within the Empire, but protection at home.

The Australian Federation of Seamen passed a resolution declaring that any preference given British goods would be an acknowledgment of the protection afforded by the British navy and not in view of securing preferential treatment for colonial productions in the Motherland.

Wire Fence Frontier.

Washington, D.C., Jan. 6.—Representative Dixon of Montana, yesterday introduced a resolution directing the Secretary of Commerce and Labor to enquire into the cost and feasibility of the construction of a wire fence along the Canadian border from Lake of the Woods to Point Roberts. The purpose of the resolution is to keep out the Chinese, who steal across the Canadian border, and to prevent violation of the law against smuggling.

Recaptured After Hard Chase.

Fort Frances, Jan. 6.—Frederick Bates, who robbed and assaulted James Short, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. Bates made a determined effort to escape a few days before his trial. He opened his cell door with a knife, and burned a hole in the outer door large enough to thrust his hand through. He drew the bolt, made a rope of blankets, and lowered himself to the ground. He was recaptured after a 24 hours' chase.

Enormous Growth.

Ever since Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were first introduced to the public the sales have steadily increased, each year being larger than the year preceding. This is probably the best evidence of their remarkable efficiency, as a treatment for derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels. They are invaluable as a family medicine.

HORSE BOLTED INTO TRAIN.

John Anderson, a Westminster Farmer, Is in Gravely Serious Condition.

London, Jan. 6.—An accident of a serious nature occurred here yesterday morning at the Rectory street crossing of the Grand Trunk. John Anderson, a Westminster farmer, accompanied by his wife, was driving north, and on approaching the tracks the horse became frightened and bolted. Before the driver could gain control the horse plunged into the side of a passing freight. Horse, rig and occupants were all dragged several yards and thrown in a heap into a pit used as a cattle-guard. When picked up it was found that Mrs. Anderson escaped with only a severe shaking up, but Mr. Anderson was found to be in a very critical condition. He was removed to Victoria Hospital, where it was found that his skull was fractured, his brain slightly crushed and his face and head injured. The physicians consider the case gravely serious.

Killed By Comrade.

Ingersoll, Jan. 6.—Word was received in town that a young man by the name of Smith died at Avon as a result of a gunshot wound. Smith was a member of a party of hunters who were out rabbit shooting on New Year's Day. One of the party, it is said, was carrying his gun over his shoulder, when it was accidentally discharged. Smith was a short distance ahead and the charge lodged in his back. His death occurred about 4 o'clock Saturday morning.

Fall Caused Death.

Barrie, Jan. 6.—Alexander Brown, an Innisfil farmer, whose home is a mile from Allendale, died here suddenly Monday night, as a result, it is thought, of falling upon the sidewalk. After his fall he was carried into a hotel, where he died in a few minutes. Symptoms pointed to hemorrhage of the brain. He leaves a widow and two sons—J. A. Brown, principal of a public school in Parkdale, and Harvey Brown, mail clerk out of Toronto.

Mass Boys on Strike.

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—The sixty-nine boys who in turn serve mass at the Basilica are on strike for more pay. They get a cent for serving mass and they ask for 10 cents. A demand has also been made for 20 cents for each requiem mass. Monday one of the lads accepted a dollar to serve mass, and on coming out was cuffed and punched by his companions, who were lying in wait for him.

Able to Vote, Then Died.

Burlington, Jan. 6.—Joseph Allen, a widely known and highly respected resident of the village, died very suddenly about 6 o'clock Monday night. He had not been feeling well for some days, but was about and able to be out to vote on the municipal elections. Heart failure was the cause of death. He was 71 years of age.

Lost His Way in the Cold.

Kingston, Jan. 6.—Bombardier Drapeau of A Battery, lost his way Monday night and wandered about for hours seeking the barracks. He was found at 5 a.m. by John Treneer, Quebec, with both hands and feet so badly frozen that he is likely to lose them, or at least portions of them. He is now in the hospital.

Brother Stood True to Brother.

Calgary, Jan. 6.—In the trial of John Cashel, for aiding the escape of his brother, Ernest, under death sentence, the matron of the guard room testified that he had confided to her that if a new trial was not granted he would get Ernest out, and across the border, where he would be safe among friends.

Died in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 6.—Samuel Lount Soules, one of the last of the pioneers of the Province of Ontario, Canada, and an ex-member of the Legislature of that Province, is dead, at the residence of his daughter in this city. The body will be taken to Barrie, Ont., for interment.

To Remove the Surtax.

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—The fact that Herr Bop, the German Consul-General, was in town yesterday and had an interview with the Premier has led to the report that Germany has opened negotiations looking towards the removal of the Canadian surtax upon German imports.

It is a strange fact that sea fowls' eggs are almost conical in form, so that they will only roll in a circle. As many of them are laid on the bare edges of high rocks this provision of nature prevents them from rolling off.

There are now 2,000 hotels and pensions in Switzerland, employing something like 35,000 persons during the summer season. It is estimated that 330,000 people visit Switzerland in the season and spend about $20,000,000 there.

FATAL LONDON FIRE

Chief Roe Killed While on Duty at London the Less.

TWO OTHER FIREMEN KILLED

Collapse of a Wall Also Injured Four Others—Two Fatalities at Montreal—Child Burned to Death at Stockton—800 Toronto Children March Out Like Soldiers From Burning School.

London, Jan. 6.—Three firemen were killed by the collapse of a wall of the Stirling Bros. boot and shoe warehouse, which was totally destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning.

Chief Roe of the fire department, is among the killed. One man is still under a pile of debris.

Firemen Robinson and Robertson were also killed and Fireman Peckham is among the injured.

The fire started on the second floor of the warehouse and spread rapidly to the entire building and to Gorman Eckart's spice works.

The fire had completely gutted the warehouse and the aerial truck was put up at 2.10. The whole of the south wall facing on Yorke street fell outwards and carried the four men on ladders with it. Two on the truck and one standing on the sidewalk. The men were carried into the Dominion House, a hotel near the fire, where it was found two were dead. One man is under the debris yet.

COL. LIARDET KILLED.

Likewise Fireman Hutt in Fire at Mount Royal Club, Montreal.

Montreal, Jan. 6.—Fire yesterday destroyed the palatial Mount Royal Club. There were two fatalities. Fireman Hutt was killed by a falling stone cornice, and Col. Liardet, secretary of the club, received injuries from which he died in the hospital. Miss Oman, bookkeeper for the club, jumped and had her leg broken and sustained internal injuries. Firemen Ruddy, Plouffe and Mullen were slightly hurt, and James Wilkinson, a newspaper carrier, had his toes broken. Wilkinson, while delivering papers at 7 o'clock, found the lower portion of the club, at Sherbrooke and Stanley streets, in flames. He turned in an alarm.

Col. Liardet was evidently awakened and unable to dress himself smashed a window with a chair and plunged out headfirst, alighting three stories below on a low roof, from which he was taken by firemen. He was an ex-British army officer, and at one time commanded the 17th Foot Guards. He was 52 years of age. The fireman was standing in the main entrance when the stone fell, killing him instantly.

The club was a handsome structure and was formerly the home of the late Sir John Abbott. It has twice before been burned, once about a year ago, after which additions were made and it was fitted into the most luxurious club quarters in Canada. The membership is exclusive. The loss will be about $200,000, partially insured.

Child Left Alone Burned.

Sault Ste. Marie, Jan. 6.—In Stockton yesterday the three-year-old boy of Thos. McCartney was burned to death. The children were left in the house alone while their mother went to a neighbor's. On her return she found the child's clothing on fire. Death ensued shortly after.

ESCAPE OF 500 CHILDREN.

Fire Drill in a Toronto School Proves Their Salvation, and Not One Was Injured—All Out in 1m. 11s.

Toronto, Jan. 6.—An overheated furnace in the basement of Hamilton street school caused $15,000 damages to that building yesterday morning. When the firemen arrived, about 9.40, flames were already breaking through the registers and ventilators of the rooms on the middle floor. About 9.30 Miss Finch, in the southeast room, observed smoke pouring into the room and immediately sent a message to Principal Wallis, who sounded the fire-drill signal of three strokes on the gong. The familiar call was instantly obeyed, each scholar rushed to his place, the boys in charge of the big doors throwing them open and class by class, in perfect order, with the discipline of Waterloo and the "Drikenhead," over 500 children, infants from the kindergarten, boys and girls from the higher rooms, marched down the long stairs, through the wide halls, out into safety.

"God bless the fire drill," said one happy mother.

All the children were out in 1 minute 11 seconds. Those in the upper rooms lost their outer clothing, but the school board will make it good to them.

Inspector Hughes' Idea.

Inspector Hughes said the idea of a fire drill occurred to him after a fire in St. Louis 27 years ago, when many children were not burned but trampled to death.

"We train the children not to hurry or run, the object being to avoid panic, and to teach them that they can get out without danger. To-day was a practical test, and they came out in perfect order, though many of them knew there was a real fire. The drill is enforced twice a month, but at no fixed time. It is the influence of their character I think of and it is of vastly more consequence even than their education that they should be trained to take their part in an emergency."

Indian School Burned.

Winnipeg, Jan. 6.—The Industrial School at Fort Qu'Appelle, N.W.T., was totally destroyed by fire Monday. The buildings were old and the flames spread rapidly. Two hundred inmates got out safely, including several who were in the school hospital. Loss, $40,000.

Rescued Pet Dog.

Windsor, Jan. 6.—Mrs. William Boomer, an old lady, yesterday morning attempted to climb a ladder to the second flat of her burning home to rescue a small pet Scotch terrier. She was restrained and the rescue was effected by a young man, who, when he reached the ground, was arrested by a patrolman for theft, but later released.

Victim of Flames.

Arlington, Mass., Jan. 6.—Patrick Kelly was burned to death in a fire which destroyed a tenement house early yesterday. The other occupants were awakened just in time.

Aim to Destroy Evidence.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—Late yesterday afternoon the attorneys of the fire department caused the arrest of four employes of the Fuller Construction Company, David Jones, a masonry foreman, and Augus McKay, Otto Rausch and John Kingston, iron workers. It had been charged that Jones and his men broke the skylights on the theatre after the fire in order to destroy possible evidence. It developed after the arrest of Jones and his men that the skylights were blocked by scantlings and tied with wire to prevent their opening, and that neither of them had been opened since the theatre was built. Jones explained his actions by saying that he wanted to find out if the north wall was secure.

A Happy Combination.

No need to say a word about the virtues of Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus; they have long been universally recognized. It is not so well known, however, that combines these unequalled remedies in a scientifically prepared emulsion, so palatable and easy to digest that those who have hitherto found it difficult or impossible to take Cod Liver Oil and Iron find the difficulty entirely removed.

FERROL

We invite all those who are suffering from any form of Lung Trouble, Bronchitis, Chronic Coughs and Colds, after effects of La Grippe or other acute disease, to send at once for a free sample and literature to

MAKE PEACE WITH YOUR STOMACH.

You are Certain to Lose if you Attempt the Use of Force and Violence.

You cannot force your stomach to do work that it is unable and unwilling to do. It has been tried time and again with always the same result. The stomach is a good and faithful servant, but when pushed beyond the limit it rebels. Some stomachs will stand much more abuse than others, but every stomach has its limit; and when that limit is reached it is a very dangerous and unwise proceeding to attempt to attempt to force it into doing further work. The sensible and reasonable course is to employ a substitute to carry on the work of digestion and give the stomach an opportunity to recuperate and regain its lost strength.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only perfect substitute to take up and carry on the work of tired, worn out stomachs. They are natural and easy in their work and cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. They contain all of the essential elements that make up the gastric juice and other digestive fluids and will digest any food that a strong, healthy stomach will, and do it in the same time and in the same way. They work independently of surrounding conditions, and the fact that the stomach is weak or diseased does not influence them at all in their useful and effective work. They will digest food just as well in a glass jar or bottle as they will in a stomach. You can see that for yourself by putting one of them into a jar with a square meal and some water to enable it to work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets by thus relieving the stomach of its work, enable that organ to rest and recuperate and regain its health and strength. The process is perfectly natural and plain. Nature will heal the stomach just as she heals a wound or a broken limb, if she is not interfered with and is permitted to do her work in her own way. All interference is prevented by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box, and if you are afflicted with Dyspepsia one box will make you feel fifty times better. You will forget you have a stomach and rejoice in the forgetfulness. No druggist would be so short sighted as to try to get along without Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for they are so popular and are so well known for the good they have done and the happiness they have caused that any druggist caught without them would lose the confidence of his customers, and be regarded as below the standard. His business would suffer as a result and his patrons would go to other stores and buy their other drugs there as well as their Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Who Had His Wild Adventures.

The London Star says: There has just joined the Abyssinian army, with an important post at the headquarters of the Emperor at Addis Abeba, a young English officer whose wild adventures by flood and field have already marked him out as one whose career will be interesting to follow. Lieut. Ramsay-Fairfax is only 27, and he began life in the Royal Navy, but, as there was no sign of fighting in that branch, he left the sea when the war broke out in South Africa. As a Captain in the 30th Batt. of the Imperial Yeomanry he won some distinction during the war, and when all was over he was lost for the want of excitement. Going out to the Red Sea, he joined McMillan, the young American explorer, on the risky voyage down the Blue Nile, and he appears to have enjoyed the sport of the wreck of the party early in the journey. Having had a rest after this adventure, Lieut. Ramsay-Fairfax now goes to the Abyssinian capital to open out a new military career for himself, and no doubt a good deal will yet be heard of him.

Chatham Railway Bylaw Carried.

Chatham, Jan. 6.—It was erroneously reported Monday night that the bylaw of the city of Chatham to aid the Chatham, Wallaceburg and Lake Erie Railway had been defeated by the ratepayers. On the contrary, the bylaw was carried by a large majority, the vote standing 611 for and 290 against. The bylaw provides for a loan to the company of $50,000 for thirty years without interest. The company, which is incorporated under the Dominion Railway Act, will operate an electric railway extending northward from Chatham to Wallaceburg, and in the other direction to Rondeau on Lake Erie.

AGGRESSIONAL?

Lord of our far-flung battle line,
Theodore, the war god's favorite son,
Why dittest thou upon thy spinal
Arise, and hand Colombia one!
Hand her the bomb and bayonet,
Lest we forget—lest we forget—

Lest we forget how strong we are,
How terrible on land and sea;
Lest we forget that pulsant tar,
U. Dewey, or San Juan and thee,
Our Attila, be with us yet,
Lest we forget—lest we forget—

Far called, our heroes melt away,
Where's Hobson, Evans, Shafter, Schley?
Where are the winds of yesterday,
The rooftrack, or the campaign Ike?
But you are with us still, you bet—
Do something, Ted—we may forget,

Sweep like a scourge upon the foe!
Burst on him like a thunderclap!
Hook him a sober plexus blow!
Oh, wipe Colombia off the map!
Show us that we're the hottest yet,
Lest we forget—lest we forget.

SALISBURY'S FIRST ELECTION.

The Whole Proceeding Was Something of a Farce.

Lord Salisbury's first plunge into political life is described by his biographer, Frederick Douglas How, as happening under conditions such as have now been for many years impossible. There was no splash and no troubling of the waters when the young Lord Robert Cecil slipped into a Parliamentary career as member for the pocket-borough of Stamford in 1853.

The town at that time was represented by two members, both of whom were simply and absolutely the nominees of the Marquis of Exeter, the patron of the borough. When one of the existing members retired, it was not unnatural that the Marquis should appoint one of the same of Cecil to the vacant seat, and so it came about that the young Lord Robert, only twenty-three years of age, entered Parliament with some of the difficulties, expense or excitement of a contested election.

The whole proceeding was something of a farce. The electors had never heard of him until a letter from Lord Exeter's lawyer told them they were to change their representative, and informed them of the member selected for them. That was quickly followed by a personal visit from the candidate, when a so-called canvass was made.

The notices which invited his supporters to assist at this function were issued for both the Wednesday and Thursday morning of his visit, and were in the following form:

STAMFORD ELECTION.

The friends of Lord Robert G. Cecil are respectfully requested to meet

His Lordship at the George Hotel, St. Martin's, to-morrow morning, at ten o'clock, precisely, to accompany him on the canvass.

J. PHILLIPS, Chairman.

On the Thursday afternoon a handbill was issued by Lord Robert saying that the result of the canvass was most satisfactory, and earnestly requesting the attendance of his friends on the following Monday morning to accompany him to the hustings. Meantime he had put out an election address.

When he was elected he made a speech, and a local paper states that when he stepped forward he was "slightly cheered." He spoke well—that was conceded by those who heard him—but he does not seem to have given the people of Stamford, in those early days, any idea of the real power that lay beneath his quiet exterior. They did not expect to see their new member become, in a few years, one of the leading statesmen of Europe.

The Evidence You Value.

By word of mouth from friend to friend Dr. Chase's Ointment has received more unsolicited recommendation than probably any medicine you can mention. The fact that it is an absolute cure for piles has put it in a class all by itself as a preparation of inestimable value and people recommend it knowing that it is a certain cure.

Dr. McDougall was attached to Strange's staff during the last Riel rebellion, and led the column during much of the campaign. Dr. McDougall has been among the tribes of the Northwest since he was fifteen years of age. His father Rev. George McDougall, was a missionary before him. His influence with the Indian chiefs has been most remarkable, and he was instrumental in keeping them loyal to the British crown. He will preach Sunday evening in the George street church in aid of the Women's Missionary Society of the church.

MISS MAGGIE HENNESSEY NOT VICTIM OF GREAT FIRE

Fortunately She did not Attend the Iroquois Theatre on the Fatal Day.

Everybody will be glad to hear of the safety of Miss Maggie Hennessey for whose safety the gravest of fears were entertained as she was visiting her aunt, Mrs. Crowley, in Chicago, at the time of the fire at the Iroquois Theatre and as no reply had been received to two telegrams sent by her father, Mr. Dan Hennessey, fifth ward. Yesterday Mr. Hennessey received a wire from his daughter, stating that she was quite well and had not visited the theatre on the fatal afternoon. Mr. Hennessey did not leave for Chicago as reported by the Examiner yesterday.

THE S. A. BAND WILL VISIT ITS FRIENDS.

The New Instruments may Arrive at any Time.

Bandmaster Greene, of the Salvation Army Band, states that on account of the extremely cold weather of late, the Band has been unable to do its usual New Year's serenading. He hopes as soon as the weather becomes moderate to visit the friends of the band, and also expresses the hope that the usual success will be met with.

The new instruments are expected to arrive any day now. The Bandmaster received advice in December that they were being shipped on December 1st, and he expects that they will be here shortly.

CRIMINAL SLAUGHTER OF ONTARIO DEER.

Foreign Hunters Helping to Decimate our Deer Population.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Enclosed you will find clipping from Niagara Falls Newspaper. You will notice from the first article, four men killed eleven deer in two weeks eating three deer in camp (?) bring the other eight to Niagara Falls. In the next article speaks about the home-coming of a Gun Club, numbering nine men, who killed in two weeks' time, 22 deer, bringing 18 home to the falls. It seems to me this kind of sport should be contrary to the laws of Canada, if it is lawful for foreign people to enter Canada and slaughter game in this manner, and they sell it to meat markets and restaurants, it should be stopped by changing the laws this coming year, or next fall you will be over run by all the pot hunters in Buffalo and adjoining cities.

SID X.

This condition of things deserves immediate and earnest attention. If the law is to blame, then by all means have the law improved to meet the conditions. Our own people do enough towards the extermination of our deer without permitting foreigners to destroy our deer in the wholesale manner indicated by the above letter. But law alone will not suffice. There must be behind it an honest public sentiment in favour of preserving our game, there must be less of this selfish spirit, which for the sake of present profit, destroys the prospects of future sport for others. The term sportsman will not in his indifference to the pleasure of others or his own future pleasure desire to kill all the game possible one season and leave none for another.

WILLING WORKERS.

The Willing Workers Mission Band of St. Andrew's church held their annual meeting on Tuesday afternoon, when the following officers were elected:

Hon. Pres. — Mrs. Laing.
Pres.—Mabel Rae.
Sec. — E. Richardson.
Asst. Sec.—Olive Kyle.
Treas.—Hazel Stanger.
Organist—A. Hyde.

The Children's Aid.

Mr. Gliddon has kindly promised the services of his orchestra for the entertainment to be given for the benefit of the Children's Aid on the evening of Jan. 12th. It is to be hoped that so worthy a charity may be given the generous support of the public.

The plays to be produced are: "A Pair of Lunatics and a Naval Engagement." The caste for the two plays will be:

Mrs. Eardley Wilmot.
Miss Archer.
Miss Barlee.
Messrs. Hughes-Charles, Eardley-Wilmot, Delafosse, R. M. Hamilton and J. Laurance.

Illustrated Bible Study.

Pastor Steuermagel is giving a series of illustrated Bible studies in the Life of Christ, every Tuesday evening at Bethany Tabernacle. The four Gospels will be studies harmonically following the events in the life of our Lord in their chronogical order. The work will be illustrated with maps and charts and a special effort will be made to make the studies both interesting and helpful. The public generally is cordially invited. Bring your Bibles and note books.

ST. PETER'S CHOIR SHOW APPRECIATION.

Presented Miss K. Hurley with Diamond Ring and Address.

Miss Kate Hurley, who for some years has been organist and choir-leader of St. Peter's Cathedral, and who is leaving next week to spend some time visiting her brother, Rev. A. E. Hurley, Superior of St. Mary's Seminary, La Porte, Texas, was surprised at her home last night by the members of St. Peter's choir, to which organization she has been such an assistance, and made the recipient of a dimsond ring and a large bouquet of roses.

Miss M. Clancy on behalf of the members of the choir, presented the flowers, and Mr. Hanrahan gave Miss Hurley a diamond ring expressive of the good wishes of the choir. Miss Annie Simons read the following address, which was beautifully written:

To Miss K. Hurley, Organist of St. Peter's Cathedral Choir, Peterborough:

Dear Miss Hunter,—We, the members of the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral, desire to take this opportunity to extend to you our sincere thanks for the interest you have always taken in our welfare. No words of ours can fittingly express our gratitude to you for the great pains you have taken during the number of years in which you have held your position, in assisting in our work. You have freely given us the benefit of your experience and at all times manifested the deepest interest in our success.

We have found you a faithful and painstaking instructor, and you will ever be held dear in the memory of the members of the choir.

We would ask your acceptance of this slight token of our esteem and respect trusting that it may in some small measure prove a silent reminder of the pleasant hours we have spent together. In after years, when you recall

The day of pleasure spent,
And think of joyous hours and all
That's flown away so fast,
When some forgotten "air" you hear,
Brings back past scenes to thee
And gently claims your listening ear,
Keep one kind thought for "we".

The members of St. Peter's Cathedral Choir.

Miss Hurley who was completely taken by surprise, by the generous gift of the choir, made a fitting reply expressing her thanks for the remembrance. A very pleasant evening was spent at Miss Hurley's home, refreshments being served.

MR. KYLIE RETURNS THANKS TO THE ELECTORS.

Although I was not successful in the hot contest for Alderman for 1904, I desire to thank my friends and supporters for their efforts to secure my election. Your votes are all the more appreciated, seeing that they were entirely unsolicited and voluntarily bestowed. The fact that I made no canvas was no doubt the cause of my defeat. I am satisfied with the result, and am glad to see the fifth ward so well represented.

Yours truly,

GREAT PROGRESS OF WESTERN CANADA.

Interesting Letter From Mr. Bruce Anderson.

The Examiner is in receipt of a letter from Mr. Bruce Anderson, of Oxbow, Alberta, which follows:

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—A word from the West will let you know that there are still friends of the Examiner out in this great country of our.

I am glad to be able to report steady progress in the great North-west. Although some of us suffered rather severely from hail and frost, we are still able to report progress, and are always ready to recommend the West to the young man who wishes to make things go ahead.

Our merchants can all report an increase in each year's trade, and the magnificent stores that are being erected in our busy town of Oxbow speaks well both for the farming element as well as our business men.

As a farming district we have one here which is not going to take second place to many of the best districts of the West. One has only to drive through the country and see the beautiful barns and residences that are being erected to be convinced of the progress and prosperity of our section of the country. Where a few years ago were to be seen sod stables and granaries we find them now replaced in many places by more substantial, stone or frame, buildings. And it is not an uncommon thing to find a farmer working a whole section, 640 acres, of land.

Nearly all our wild lands are being bought up and brought under cultivation by the steady industry of our industrious settlers. And within the last three years the price of land has increased to from four to five times the value then placed upon it, and it is steadily climbing.

We watch for the Examiner.

Yours truly,
BRUCE ANDERSON.

Oxbow, Dec. 29th, 1903.

A CHRISTMAS ECHO.

The Examiner acknowledges with thanks the receipt of a copy of the beautiful Christmas number of the London, Ont., Echo. This number is a happy combination of the artistic and the useful. It is studded with splendid photogravures illustrative of the prominent civic, social and other features of London the Less. It is also well supplied with seasonable literature, finely illustrated, and altogether this number of the Echo subordinates its name for it is less an echo than a mirror of the beautiful in art, and of the artistic people (musicians) and artistic homes of London. The Echo has done so much in making a Merry Christmas for its readers, that it will doubtless, as the Examiner hopes it may, contribute as largely in making for them a Happy New Year.

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Complete Schedule of Trent Valley League—Peterborough's Part in the O. H. A.—Other Sporting News.

PETERBOROUGH TEAMS PROMINENT IN O. H. A.

The Town's Team has won more Championships Than any Town in the Province.

The Ontario Hockey Association has just issued the annual edition of the History, Constitution, Rules of Competition, Laws of the Game, schedule of matches, official referees and club secretaries of the O.H.A.

It is a very valuable publication, giving a vast amount of useful information to hockeyists.

A noticeable feature in the article dealing with the history of the O.H.A., is the prominence which is given to Peterborough and its teams.

On a number of occasions the Peterborough team went into the finals, and has probably won more championship honours than any other team. In 1893 the senior team went into the semi-finals for the championship, but were defeated by Queen's University in Kingston, by a score of 14—2. The team that represented Peterborough was:

Goal, T. H. Dumble.
Point, Gus Sawers.
Cover point, W. B. Carmichael.
Forwards, W. Wonham, W. J. Montgomery, J. Parsons and W. Phelan.

In 1894 and 1895, the Junior Championship came to Peterborough, the local team defeating the Toronto Granites in the finals each year. The O.H.A. historian says:

"Peterborough had little difficulty in capturing the junior championship. The match that decided the victors took place on its own ice with the Granites of Toronto, and the score was 14—0 in favour of the seven men from the east. Geo. Dixon, of Winnipeg, goal; W. J. Montgomery, now of Port Arthur, point; J. Parsons, cover point; J. Hedley, W. Phelan, W. Wonham, and Lionel King, since a vice-president of the O.H.A., forwards, made up the Peterborough team."

Of 1895 the book says—

"For the second time in succession Peterborough won the junior championship, their opponents again being the Junior Granites, but the score, 7 to 6, evidences that the sevens were well matched, and that the honours came to Peterborough after a determined fight. The game took place in Toronto, and the teams were: Peterborough, Geo. Dixon, goal; W. J. Montgomery, point; S. Adams, cover point; Walter Phelan, Lionel King, W. Wonham and R. Davidson, forwards."

"In 1896 Peterborough again got into the finals in the junior series by defeating the Victorias, of Kingston, by 13 goals to 1. In the west the Toronto Granites defeated Berlin by 4 goals to 2. Peterborough and the Toronto aggregation came together in Toronto, and the ambitions that the eastern town had to win the Junior Championship were ruthlessly cast aside, and the Toronto Juniors—though Juniors in those days did not limit a man to being married and playing with his own children on the ice—succeeded in getting the Junior Championship after three years' efforts."

Peterborough's line-up was, Goal, J. Hamilton; point, W. J. Montgomery; cover point, S. Adams; forwards, W. Phelan, J. Parsons, L. King and Roger Davidson.

In 1897, "a shock came to the hockey world early in the season when the Queen's team met its first defeat in four years at Peterborough. It was a senior championship match."

No championship honours came to Peterborough that season, however.

During the season of 1898, "a lively contest for honours in the junior series kept up excitement in hockey at Stratford and Peterborough until late in the season. In two matches, Peterborough and Upper Canada College rounds even scores and a contest to decide the winners of the round was played at Lindsay, and Peterborough won, leaving them in the finals with Stratford, and the western club came out best by 12 goals to 9.

"Peterborough—Miller, goal; Cavanagh, point; Armstrong, cover point; Lynch, Morgan, Whitcroft and Harry King, forwards.

"At Peterborough the score was 5 to 3 in favour of the home team, but Stratford overcame the lead of their opponents on Stratford ice, winning by a score of 9 to 3."

The Junior Championship came to Peterborough in 1901. "Peterborough, Stratford and Barrie got into the semi-finals, and then Barrie lost to Peterborough, and the teams from the east and west competed for the championship, the seven youngsters from Peterborough finally winning by a majority of five goals. This is the second year in succession that these two teams have competed against one another for the junior championship.

In 1902 Peterborough again won a championship, this time the Intermediates. "In the Intermediate Series Peterborough and Galt met in the finals in very keenly contested games, the result of which was in doubt until the last minute of the second game. In Peterborough the score on March 7th was 4 to 3 in favour of the home club, and on March 10th, in Galt, the score at the end of time was 3 to 3, Peterborough therefore winning the round by the narrow margin of one goal, viz., 7 to 6."

It will thus be seen that Peterborough has played no mean part in the success of the greatest amateur sporting organization in the world.

HOCKEY.

The first game in the O.H.A. in Peterborough for this season will take place to-night, when, in the Junior Series, Cobourg and Peterborough will cross sticks. This should be a good game as Cobourg is said to have a fast team. The team to represent Peterborough will be much stronger than that which has figured in any game this season, and will line up as follows:

Goal, Van Every.
Point, Moore.
Cover point, Parker, capt.
Forwards, Kennedy, Groose, H. Long and McFarlane.

The progress of the game at Picton, where the senior team will play to-night, will be bulletined at the rink to-night. There will be special facilities in the building and despatches will be received every few minutes.

The secretary of the Trent Valley League has received a letter from Mr. J. R. The team will be here on Friday to play the T.A.S. team.

It appeared in the columns of the Examiner issue last night, that the young Snowflakes challenge the boys of St. Andrew's Guild, and that they are champions of the North End. The Snowflakes were defeated by the Suicide Hockey team on Christmas by the score of 3-1, and on New Years tied the score 1-1. The Manager of the Snowflakes, Mr. Bill Maher, playes point. He is a fast one. He was seen practicing on the tight-board fence which surrounds his house with a piece of frozen turnip. If it had of been a rubber puck he might have been afraid of it bouncing back and take him in the eye. Now the Suicide Hockey Club challenge the Snowflakes to a game of hockey on the rink, river, creek or back yard any time it is convenient for them.

OTONABEE.

The Examiner has received a rather lengthy letter from Mr. P. G. Walker in which he strongly resents slanderous statements which he alleges have been made in connection with a certain deal in cedar wood. The letter is rather too personal for publication but it makes plain the fact that Mr. Walker has been guilty of no improper or dishonest conduct in connection with the transaction. Mr. Walker is an old and respected resident of Otonabee and his character is so well established that his denial of improper conduct should be accepted. These disagreements between neighbours are not to be best smoothed over by giving them too much publicity.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

WHAT THE PACIFIC PROVINCE CAN RAISE ON ITS FARMS.

Its Agricultural Area a Vast Surprise to the Average Uninformed Canadian—Lower Fraser Valley the Garden of the Province—Fruit Raising Rapidly Increasing—A Nutshell View of Farms and Products in British Columbia.

Many people are of the opinion that we raise nothing in British Columbia people are of the opinion that we raise nothing in British Columbia but fish, minerals and pin-headed politicians, but such is not the case, says The New Denver, B.C., Ledger, judging from what J. K. Lindsay said in Winnipeg the other day. He says:

"The agricultural area of British Columbia would be a big surprise to the average person, who is under the impression that the province is practically a sea of mountains," says Mr. Lindsay. "While part of this is timbered, yet when it is cleared, which can be done at a very moderate cost, its productiveness is unequalled in Canada."

Speaking of the lower Fraser Valley Mr. Lindsay says it is probably the garden of the province. A tour through this immense district would be a revelation to one unacquainted with the possibilities of the wonderful climate enjoyed by that district. Says he: "The warm days and cool nights produce luxuriant yet hardy vegetation.

"Mixed farming is the usual occupation, stock-raising and dairying being the most profitable. On account of the wonderful pasture an acre will pasture one animal per year. I saw one farm of fifty acres on which a dairy herd of forty netted the owner over $2,400 in one year. According to the creamery statistics, cattle, practically speaking, are out the year round. Pork is another remunerative product, the comparison of production between here and there will demonstrate this—the one feeding skim milk and clover and the other grains.

"The high prices paid for produce and the fact that British Columbia does not and cannot produce enough for home consumption, importing produce to the value of $600,000 yearly, will always keep the prices up. Butter, for instance, nets the farmers from twenty-two to twenty-eight cents per pound. At present eggs are worth from twenty-five to fifty cents per dozen, with other produce in comparison.

"Fruit-raising is rapidly increasing. Apples, plums and pears grow to perfection and also bring good prices. For instance, apples net $1 per box—three and one-half boxes would equal one barrel. Crop failure is practically unknown. In grains wheat is not grown extensively, the land is too valuable for dairy purposes. Oats bring tremendous yields. Peas one to one and a half tons per acre.

"Timothy hay, seven tons per acre is not an uncommon yield. Much land is yet available, and much cheaper than corresponding lands to the south in Washington. Wild lands run from $5 to $15. Improved farms from $20 to $70. In the municipality of Chilliwack, for instance, a valley of forty thousand acres, only twenty thousand acres are under cultivation. While one hundred and sixty-acre farms are the average here, forty acres comprise a good-sized farm; in fact, hundreds are making a good living off ten acres. Ten dollars per acre is usual yearly rental, and in some cases $15.

"Vancouver Island contains many beautiful farms in the vicinity of Victoria," says Mr. Lindsay, "the climate being similar to that of England. All vegetation produced there goes exceedingly well.

"Kamloops, which is in the dry belt, will have thousands of acres opened up in the spring, through a very extensive plan of irrigation now nearing completion. The land will grow anything from a peach to a watermelon. In the Kootenays are thousands of acres owned by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. These lands are situated on the Kootney Lakes, north and east from Nelson and in the Cranbrook district. These lands can be bought from $1 to $5 per acre, and contain many valuable minerals. The bottom lands are taken up, and many thousands of acres can be used for grazing lands. The rolling and sheltered nature of the country makes it an ideal cattle country, as the large areas in the Territories are being rapidly cut up and this must be the cattle country in future. The climate is also much milder.

"The Okanagan district contains the finest fruit-growing land in the province, also producing an excellent grade of cereals. Lord Aberdeen's Coldstream ranch is a magnificent sight."

Canadians in Congress.

At least six present United States Senators can never occupy the White House because of the constitutional provision requiring Presidents to be native-born, says The Washington Post. Patterson of Colorado was born in Ireland, Nelson of Minnesota in Norway, Millard of Nebraska in Canada, Wetmore of Rhode Island in England, Gallinger of New Hampshire in Canada, and Kearns of Utah in Canada. The proportion of foreign members of Congress is much greater in the Senate than it is in the House, for while six of the eighty-eight Senators are foreigners, all save seven of the 386 members of the House are natives. The House members who were born abroad are Lorrimer of Illinois and Baker of New York in England; Lucking of Michigan and Hughes of West Virginia, in Canada; Lind of Minnesota, in Sweden; Barthold of Missouri, in Germany; Rodey of New Mexico, in Ireland, and McLachlin of California, in Scotland. For voting purposes Gains of West Virginia might as well have been a foreigner, for he was born in the District of Columbia.

CANADA'S ESQUIMAUX.

They Are Dying Off, Measles and Whiskey Being Too Much for Them—The Fisheries of Value.

"The liquor obtained by the Esquimaux was the cause of many murders among them, not a season passing without two or three during their drunken bouts. The numbers of the Esquimaux are decreasing very fast. Last spring at McPherson out of a band of eighty whose settlement was at Herschel Island, some seventy died from measles, thus practically clearing out the entire band. At Richard's Island there were about three hundred, but many also died there."

So writes Superintendent Constantine of the Edmonton Mounted Police district in his report of the conditions which he found to exist at the mouth of the Mackenzie River, where he went last summer and established a police post. Accompanied by Sergeant Fitzgerald and four constables the superintendent left Athabaska Landing, on June 1st, and arrived at Fort McPherson on July 14th. The journey of 1,854 miles was accomplished partly by canoe and partly by steamer. Fort McPherson is on the right bank of the Peel River, thirty miles from its junction with the Mackenzie and seventy miles from the Arctic Ocean. The general character of the country from Athabaska Landing to McPherson is swampy, with alternate rocky ridges with muskegs between. The timber is spruce, poplar, black and white birch, willow and alder. The country is full of small lakes, and in a few places there is arable land. North of the Athabaska River there is no agricultural land.

The fisheries in Great Slave Lake are valuable, the most abundant being whitefish, lake trout and pike. The trout grow to a large size and often reach a weight of fifty pounds. At Vermillion, on the Peace River, the Hudson's Bay Company have a flour and saw mill. Superintendent Constantine was informed that about 10,000 bushels of wheat would be raised along the Peace River that season, and the company hoped to be able to supply the northern posts with flour ground from wheat raised in that district. He thinks that if the present conditions continue the post at Fort McPherson could be withdrawn at the end of another year, and two other posts established at Fort Simpson and Fort Resolution respectively, farther up the Mackenzie.

Nickel Indications in New Ontario.

The mineral discoveries in the belt along the new Temiskaming Railway, which have led the Government to remove the land from sale or lease, are nickeliferous. Some of the ores are unlike any that have hitherto been found in quantity in this Province. For instance, the mineral niccolite, otherwise known as kupfernickel, which contains about 44 per cent. of nickel, and which up to the present has furnished cabinet specimens only, has been discovered in what, judging from surface indications, seems to be commercial quantities. A cobalt-nickel arenide has also been found resembling smaltite and carrying, according to one assay 6 per cent. of nickel and 18 per cent of cobalt. Both the minerals

The Cult of the Sea.

The worship of the sea appears to be pretty general throughout Melanesia. In some of the Fiji islands, for example, the natives attempt to propitiate the sea by building a small house in a retired spot near it, in which they set out a table with ready cooked yams and painted cocoanuts. They then drench with short bamboos morning and evening for several generations, even nickel. A much smaller body of nickel, therefore, in Temiskaming will constitute a mine than in the nickeliferous pyrrhotite region of Sudbury.

Some Grotesque Rocks.

We find in the West many grotesque rocks standing out alone. Alaska is full of them. They are called "hermits" up there. Every river has them—great, black, forbidding giants often 200 feet high, with a base not more than three or four feet in diameter.

In nearly every river in Alaska there are eddies. These eddies are unlike those anywhere else. Some of them may be due to rounding points in the river, or to rocks, but far the greater number are due to subterranean rivers. Nearly everyone who has gone through White Horse Canyon knows the "Black Eddy." It is an immense whirling maelstrom of a place. A log 40 feet long and four feet think will whirl several times in it, its speed so increasing that finally it stands upright, and—dives. There is no timber anywhere along the Behring Sea coast, yet the waters everywhere are full of "float," and the beaches are piled high with drift. People say that all this drift comes out of the Yukon, or is brought across from the Japan coast. Why may it not come from these subterranean rivers?—John A. Hornsby, in Toronto Sunday World.

An Unexpected Objection.

An incident occurred at one of Ontario's country schools the other day that shows the average youth knows no such word as impossible. The teacher was explaining that the thing substracted must be of the same kind as the thing substracted from. She said: "You cannot take five peaches from five apples, five lemons from five oranges." Said Johnny: "Please, can't you take five quarts of milk from five cows."

Knew His Value.

Tit-Bits tells a story of an English boy who evidently had a high opinion of his value.

A gentleman called on a member of Parliament one day, and while waiting in the reception room, was attracted by the manner of the small attendant, and started a conversation, which resulted as follows:

"How much do you earn a week, my boy?" asked the caller.

"Ten pounds," said the youngster, promptly.

The visitor had no time to express his surprise or incredulity, because he was admitted to the member's private office just then; but once inside he said:

"Mighty bright youth you have there, to be getting £10 a week."

"Ten pounds a week! What are you talking about?" said the member of Parliament. "He gets 22 shillings."

"But he told me just now that you are giving him £10 a week," persisted the caller.

"Nonsense!" said the member of Parliament, and touched the bell. "Billy," said he, "did you tell this gentleman I was paying you £10 a week?"

"No, sir."

"You didn't? Well, what did you say?" asked the indignant caller.

"I said I earned it," was the prompt rejoinder.

Ireland's Marble City.

How many people are there who know that there is at least one town in Ireland whose buildings and streets are mostly of marble, whose shops, houses and churches are adorned with it? Surely not many. The town is Kilkenny in Ireland. This beautiful town has gained the designation of the "Marble City" because so plentifully has the native black marble found in its vicinity been used for various purposes in the town, that as a matter of fact, the very streets are paved with it. Black marble is not the only kind found and used, however, in the town. There are some splendid examples of what Ireland can produce in marble to be seen in the cathedral in Kilkenny. Green specimens are observed even finer than the black ones, and the reredos itself is an excellent instance of what Ireland can show in this way. The supports of the pulpit, too, are discovered to be solid pieces of this green marble, which is found, not about Kilkenny so much as in the farther district of Connemara.

A Scottish Sentiment.

A Mr. Fischer has been investigating the emigration of Scots to Germany, which took place in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. Little attention has been paid to it, yet it was far from being inconsiderable, and Mr. Fischer deduces much of "the peculiar compound of stubbornness and shrewdness which characterizes the small towns of Eastern Prussia," to a strain of Scottish blood. The expatriated Scot had some modern traits. For instance, towards the end of the seventeenth century the Guild of Merchants at Konigsberg drew up a petition, in which it is

Values of Quebec Farms.

The census branch has issued a bulletin regarding agriculture in Quebec. The area of the province is said to comprise 218,723,687 acres of land and 6,474,874 acres of water surface; 6.60 per cent. of the land is occupied as farms and lots; 93.18 per cent. of the farm land is owned. There are 174,998 owners and occupiers of farms and lot holdings in the province, an increase in ten years of 150,599.

Agricultural values have been taken for the first time in this census. They show for farms and lots in the province a total for lands and buildings of $360,550,154; for implements and machinery, $27,038,205. for live stock, $58,488,457; and for the crops and animal products of the census year, $85,034,401. For farms alone the value of land and buildings is $349,716,097; of implements and machinery, $26,790,604; of live stock, $53,647,720, and of crops and animal products, $82,449,438.

The total value of farm property is $430,154,421, and of this sum land represents 57.58 per cent., buildings 28.72 per cent., implements and machinery 6.23 per cent., and live stock 12.47 per cent.

Reduced to a farm of the average size (110.82 acres, whereof 57.02 acres is improved and 53.80 unimproved), the value of the property is $3,304.86, made up of $2,686.86 for land and buildings, $205.88 for implements and machinery, and $412.17 for live stock.

The total gross value of farm products for the census year is $46,993,267 for crops (57 per cent.) and $35,456,171 for animal products (43 per cent.) This makes the aggregate of $82,449,438, or $683.46 in the year for an average farm, which is 19.17 per cent. of the investment.

Drying of Peat Fuels.

The extensive prospecting for peat fuels in the Ontario hinterland lends great interest to the process for electrical drying of this product, which is being exploited in England. The inventor gave this month at Charlton, Kent, a practical demonstration of his discovery. The process was very simple, and, it is said, cannot fail to be a commercial success.

The peat, in its natural wet condition, is put into a large perforated upright cylinder, in which there are rotating fans; the cylinder is then set in motion, and revolves at a high speed, throwing out the free water through the perforations like a sharp shower of rain. This takes about ten or twelve minutes; then the electrical current is applied, which breaks up the fibres and forces out the latent water, but leaves in all the natural oils. This latter process takes perhaps a further fifteen minutes, but as soon as sufficient current has passed through the peat to dry it, the cylinder stops automatically, so that there is no waste of electricity. The dried peat is then kneaded into a paste-like condition, and made into briquettes in an ordinary brick-making machine; they are then left to dry and harden. The whole process takes about two hours, as compared with months taken to dry peat naturally.

System Poisoned by Defective Kidneys.

Results of the Most Dreadfully Painful and Fatal Ailments Known to Man.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Of the food which is taken into the body, part is digested and assimilated and goes to form new blood and tissue, and a certain portion becomes waste matter which is poisonous to the system. Much of such matter is cast out or excreted by the kidneys in liquid form and passes from these organs through the ureters to the bladder.

When the kidneys become deranged this liquid poison forms into solid material, sometimes collecting in the joints and causing rheumatism, at other times in the kidneys, ureters or bladder, and becoming what is known as gravel or stone in the bladder, probably the most torturing and fatal ailments known to mankind.

Don't wait for symptoms of these horrible diseases, don't wait for Bright's Disease, diabetes, dropsy or apoplexy before beginning the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, but prevent these results by taking warning from the first symptoms, such as headache, deposits in urine, loss of flesh, and any irregularities of the urinary organs.

Mrs. S. Durocher, 495 Bethune street, Peterborough, Ont., states: "I was troubled a great deal with nervousness and began treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I can say for a certainty that it is a splendid medicine for besides steadying my nerves it built up my system wonderfully and enabled me to rest and sleep well. We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment in our family for years and consider them excellent. For skin diseases I think the ointment cannot be equalled and the pills are a most satisfactory laxative."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cts. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 2

ON A FORTUNATE ISLE

By F. B. WRIGHT

...Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure...

The Undine danced merrily over the waves, the sail bellying under the fresh breeze. Dick Ferris at the tiller divided his attention between the boat and the girl in it. She was a very pretty girl.

"I told mother I was going to Daisy Carter's. Oh, Dick, I wish we didn't have to tell such lies."

"I wish we didn't either, but it isn't our fault if our families are enemies," answered Dick cheerfully.

"I don't know what I shall do, Dick, when you are gone. Not to know that you still care—for you might find a girl in the city you liked better, and then"—

"I might drop dead this instant or make my everlasting fortune in a month. There's much more chance that while I am fighting for enough for us to get married on Miss Marjorie Amberly will be finding out that she has become engaged to a homely, ordinary, stupid ineligible."

So did they talk after the manner of lovers while the Undine scudded down the bay.

"Is it a nice island, Dick?" asked Marjorie as they neared the little patch of green bordered with the white baby breakers.

He came about under the lee of the island in a little cove where a fallen tree made a natural wharf. Then together they went up under some stunted cedars to eat lunch. It was a good lunch, with two fat slices of chocolate cake to end with.

"You must think it very good, Dick, for I made it especially for you, and if you like it, when we are married—I wonder will we ever be married?"

"Surely—when I get any money. That means a year or two, I suppose. Uncle Bob promises a fine salary by then."

"Two years is so awfully long to wait. It's so uncertain and our families being at swords' points"—

"Let 'em row if they like. If I had any ready money we could go off and be married."

"They would never forgive us."

"They would when they found there was no help." Dick rattled some loose change in his pocket. "That's the extent of my wealth, though, just now. More sound than cents," he added, laughing, as he rose to his feet. Let's explore the island as if we were castaways. Castaways never need any money, and that's a blessing."

IT FELL APART, REVEALING A BIG ROLL OF BILLS.

They struck up through the woods on a scented carpet of pine needles until they came on a cleared space with a ruinous hut.

"Why, I thought you said this was a desert island, Dick?"

"Deserted too. Crazy Bill, an old fisherman, used to live there. His ghost wanders about the island yet, they say. He was a miser, so I suppose he's guarding his hoard."

"Is there really money buried here?"

"He used to bring money over to Southport and have it changed into big bills, so they know he had it. He didn't show up in town for a month, and some one came over to see if he was sick. They found the old man lying on the floor of his hut with his head split open. Murdered for his money."

"How perfectly horrid! I thought this was a lovely island, but now—I feel as though the old man was lying in there now. Let's go where we can't see the place."

Marjorie was not satisfied until they had put the whole island between them and the cabin. Then she seated herself on a shelf of rock left bare by the retreating tide. Dick sprawled contentedly at her feet while she tried the effect of seaweed in his curly hair.

"Was there ever such a lovely day, Dicky?"

"One; the day I met you."

"I didn't think that day nice, and I don't believe you did. It wasn't until the Brainards' party that I knew"—

"How do you know?"

"Why—well, you were with that Crosby girl all the evening, and I didn't like that, and you only danced once with me, and I went home and cried." Marjorie idly poked a stick into a crevice under a stone as she spoke.

"And yet the very next day you were so cool and distant there was no getting near you."

"That was because I really did care," returned Marjorie, with an air of giving a complete explanation. "Doesn't it seem strange that was only last year? I wish—oh, Dick! There's something in it!"

"In what?"

"In the hole under this stone. Move the stone away and see."

Dick lifted the stone sway with some difficulty. It had covered a sort of pot hole in the ledge. Dick thrust his arm into it up to the elbows and brought up an oblong object so covered with weeds and barnacles as to be hardly recognizable as a preserve jar. He laughed. "It's a great find, isn't it?"

"Open it, Dick. Hurry! I just know there's something inside. Buried treasure perhaps."

"Pirates don't use preserve jars. The cover is sealed. I'll have to break it." Dick cracked the jar on a stone as he spoke, and it fell apart, revealing a big roll of bills tied up tightly. With hasty fingers Marjorie untied the cord. Fifties, hundreds and one $500 bill lay crumpled and creased before them. It came to a little over $2,000.

"It's plain enough," Dick said rapturously, "this hole was old Billy's bank vault. A safe one too. It would be under water most of the time except when, as now, the tide was very low."

"But can we keep it?"

"Of course. The old man had no relatives."

Marjorie cast an apprehensive glance at the darkening woods behind her. "Supposing his ghost is watching us. Let's get away quick."

It was nearly dark when they reached the boat, and Marjorie gave a little cry of dismay. "Oh, I promised I'd be home by sunset, and I forgot all about it. What shall we do?"

"There isn't anything to do. The sun's down now, and it will take us at least two hours to beat back. The wind is dead ahead."

"But they'll discover everything, and I'll be sent off somewhere with Aunt Katherine and never see you any more." Marjorie ended with a burst of tears.

Dick said nothing for a moment. When he spoke there was a ring of determination in his voice.

"There's just one way out of this scrape, Marjorie. You must go away with me."

"Do you mean elope? Oh, Dick!"

"That's what I mean. We can run down to Southport in ten minutes, catch the express to town, go to my cousin's for the night and tomorrow be married."

"But we haven't any money."

"Only some thousands in that jar."

"But mother"—

"I'll telegraph her. We haven't any time to waste. Is it 'yes,' dear?"

And Marjorie consented.

The Man Who Dared.

Sir Stratford Canning, one time British ambassador to Turkey, was a man of great distinction, but of a peculiarly haughty spirit and fierce temper which no man, even when he was "thrice armed" with a just quarrel, cared to provoke. Few natives ventured to stand up to Sir Stratford, but occasionally he met his match, once in Ahmed Vefyk Effendi. The episode is recorded in the autobiography of Sir A. Henry Layard.

Ahmed was dining at the embassy one evening when conversation turned upon the imprisonment by the Turkish police at Galata of some British subject, rascally Ionian or Maltese, who had been seized in the act of committing some crime that richly deserved punishment.

Ahmed attempted to justify the conduct of the Turkish authorities. Sir Stratford maintained that they had violated the capitulations by apprehending a British subject without going through the required formalities, which, it may be observed, usually enabled the criminal to effect his escape.

The dispute waxed warm, and the expression on the countenance of the ambassador announced an approaching storm. Suddenly striking the table with his fist, he exclaimed: "And supposing I went down myself to Galata with a kavass to effect the release of the prisoner. What would your authorities venture to do?"

"Why," replied Ahmed, with imperturbable calm, "they would probably put you and your kavass in the prison to join him, and they would only be doing their duty."

The Cult of the Sea.

The worship of the sea appears to be pretty general throughout Melanesia. In some of the Fiji islands, for example, the natives attempt to propitiate the sea by building a small house in a retired spot near it, in which they set out a table with ready cooked yams and painted cocoanuts. They then drum with short bamboos morning and evening for several successive weeks in order to summon the inve-ni-wai, or children of the waters, to the feast thus provided.

They build a jetty to facilitate the ascent of the sea spirits from the water to the house and plant flags at certain points to prevent them from wandering inland. Finally, the worshipers call and whistle to the deities to encourage them to enter, and, when they imagine this has been done, they eat the feast themselves.

The inhabitants of the Banks islands also pray to a being named Qat, who either controls or represents the sea, as he is invoked thus: "Smooth the sea that I may go safely. Beat down the crests of the tiderip. Beat it down level that I may come to a quiet landing place!"

A Compliment to Canada.

A very hearty welcome was given to Mr. J. Mackenzie Rogan and his men of the Coldstream Guards Band when they appeared after their successes in Canada at the Alhambra Sunday evening concert. Much of the music performed was Canadian, and out of compliment to the Dominion "The Maple Leaf Forever" was bracketed with the National Anthem

Several Doctors Attended But Did No Good.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills CURED.

Read what Miss L. L. Hanson, Waterside, N.B., says: "I feel it my duty to express the benefit I have received from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. A year ago last spring I began to have heart failure. At first I would have to stop working and lie down for a while. Then I got so bad I had to give up altogether and go to bed. I had several doctors attend me but they did me no good. I could get no relief until urged by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before I had used three quarters of a box I began to feel the benefit and by the time I had taken three boxes I was completely cured."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure nervousness, sleeplessness, palpitation of the heart, skip beats, and all troubles arising from the heart or nerves.

WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE REASON.—There is no medicine equal to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. It carries off the poisons which contaminate the life fluid. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands and gives the body an increased supply of pure, body-building blood. It builds up the body with sound, healthy flesh instead of flabby fat, promotes the appetite, feeds the nerves, and so gives to weak, nervous people vitality and vigor.

"About a year ago I had a very bad cough and feared it would run 'into consumption,' writes Mrs. Geo. W. Lynch, of 27 Mason Street, Worcester, Mass. "When a severe attack of coughing would come on vomiting would set in. Matter accumulated in nose and my tonsils were irritated. After reading of the wonderful cures resulting from Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery began to use it, with some doubts as to the good it would do me, I am frank to say. But, after I had used one bottle I noticed quite a change for the better. Ordered five more bottles and before I had used them all the cure was complete. There is not now a trace of cough or cold in my system and my health is perfect."

There are two kinds of emulsions of cod liver oil—Scott's and all the others. Not one of the latter is as valuable as Scott's Emulsion and there's a reason for it. Only the purest ingredients enter our Emulsion and its quality never varies. That is why it helps when all others fail.

There's not much oil in the market now; it's scarce and high in price. But seal oil and other inferior oils are cheap and plentiful. That's why you can buy so many substitutes for Scott's Emulsion at a lower price.

We guarantee our Emulsion to be the best remedy for weak lungs, low vitality and wasting conditions. Who guarantees the others?

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

1847 ROGERS BROS. TRADE MARK

The above trade mark has been stamped on every article of the original and genuine Rogers Bros.' goods for over 50 years. Get this and you get the best that is made.

KISS HER EVERY DAY.

Reader, have you got a wife?
Kiss her ev'ry day.
'Tis the duty of your life
To kiss her ev'ry day.
Tell her that the world is graced
By such as she, the true, the chaste;
Then put your arm around her waist,
And kiss her ev'ry day.

Tell her that she's growing prettier
Every dawning day;
Dearer, nearer, wiser, wittier—
Kiss her ev'ry day.
Many lives are graveward carried,
Wounded, bruised and hurt and harried;
Courting ceased when they were married—
Often that's the way.

Tell your wife how much you'd miss her
If she went away.
Take her in your arms and kiss her
Many times a day.
Tell her she's your life and crown
Never leave her with a frown,
Keep your ugly temper down,
And kiss her every day.

Winter, summer, rain or shine,
Never sulk and blame;
Spring or autumn, never whine,
For your own good name.
Sometimes she'll be cross and cold,
Never mind, she's good as gold—
Let her have her little scold
And kiss her just the same.

When there's something wrong with baby
Kiss her every day.
'Twill help to soothe her worry, may be—
Kiss her ev'ry day.
Kiss her when her soul is sad,
Kiss her when her heart is glad;
Be your fortune good or bad,
Kiss her ev'ry day.

—R. H. Kerrigan, in the Khan's Canticles.

Newfoundland

The British Consul at Patras, Greece, reports that Labrador codfish is yearly growing more in favor with all classes in that province. Owing to the difficulties of communication with the towns and villages of the mountainous districts of the interior fresh fish cannot easily reach them, consequently codfish takes its place and is largely consumed during the times of fasting which are so frequent in Greece. Last year 282 tons were imported by steamer from Labrador coast direct, and nearly 1,340 tons by eight sailing vessels. Labrador codfish suffers to some extent from the competition of French bounty-fed fish, all arrivals in French bottoms receiving a drawback of $1.50 per 100 pounds. The import duty is also heavy, amounting to about $1.00 per 100 lbs. Pickled salmon in tierces of 800 lbs. each is also much esteemed. This comes from Newfoundland via Liverpool, England.

FRUITS OF CANADA.

What the Government Is Doing to Encourage the Industry.

The principal fruits produced by Canada are apples, pears, peaches, cherries, grapes, melons and tomatoes. As an article of trade the apple leads easily. The provinces in which the fruit is produced in the largest quantities and best qualities are Ontario and Nova Scotia. The railway companies have excellent facilities for the transportation of the fruit. There are estates with 500 acres of fruit, while the average size is from 40 to 100 acres.

In the last five years the Canadian Government has devoted considerable time and money to establishing and directing fruit experimental stations. These extend from Nova Scotia to British Columbia—from three thousand to four thousand miles through diverse lands (soils) and climates. The studies relating to agriculture and horticulture, etc., are directed by professors and managers of large experience. The central branch of the system is in Ottawa. Experiments are made on all kinds of fruit on lots of land prepared and assigned for the purpose. The results are published every five years, care being taken to note during the time as it passes all the good and bad effects, conditions and circumstances. The professors study especially the customs of the various insects and parasites that injure and destroy the fruit, and they publish the remedies discovered.

Besides all this, the Government sends experts to all parts of Canada to give lectures on the preparation and marketing of fruit and to explain to the farmers and packers the full meaning of the law.—Resources.

"A Word to the Wise."

General Manager Hays of the Grand Trunk, is of the opinion that something may be learned from every person one meets. In support of this he relates an adventure which recently occurred to him. He was traveling alone between two small Canadian towns on a local where there were no Pullmans, and happened to get into a seat, the other half of which was occupied by an old farmer. The verdant one made several overtures at conversation to which Mr. Hays failed to respond very readily.

"Be you goin' fur?" questioned he of the whiskers.

"Not very," was the curt response.

"Where be you goin'?" persisted his interlocutor.

Mr. Hays enlightened him and the other remained silent until the conductor had passed through the car and collected the fares. The General Manager, deep in thought, abstractedly shoved up his pass, and the conductor, after glancing at the other occupant of the seat, went on down the aisle.

Suddenly, without any preliminary, the old farmer turned to Mr. Hays.

"See here," he said, "I want to put you on to something. If you had just taken off your hat and coat as I did and looked kind of far away when that feller came through, he wouldn't have asked you for no ticket. That's right," he added, noting the look of incredulity on Mr. Hays' face; "that's right. I've been traveling up and down on this here road for goin' on ten years now and I've never been asked for a cent yet!"—Canadian Magazine.

SAFETY OF CHILDREN IN OUR OWN SCHOOLS

A Summary of What Would Happen in Case of Fire.

Canvas of the Local Schools Made by the Examiner and the Principals Interviewed—Precautions for Scholars' Safety.

"Fire!" The very word during the past two weeks has come to be dreaded. Since the appalling Chicago catastrophy the word has been spoken in an undertone. Its full meaning has been revealed. Turning nearer home, to Canada, in fact to Ontario and Quebec, there has been during the past week no less than three very serious fires, one of which ended fatally, while all involved very heavy financial losses in the destruction of valuable property. On Monday the Ottawa post office was almost totally destroyed. On Tuesday the Mount Royal Club of Montreal, one of the most "exclusive" clubs in the country, was burned, with the result that two lives were lost besides several persons being injured. In Toronto yesterday afternoon six hundred children barely escaped from a burning school building. It is admitted that had not the children been efficient in fire drill, loss of life would have been involved. These unfortunate occurrences should be examples which ought to "open our eyes" as the saying goes, to the everyday risks experienced. In the Chicago disaster a large percentage of the dead were little children. Promising lives had been ended in the course of a few seconds only.

The thought of this naturally raises the question, "What provision is made for the safety of our children attending school day after day?" From a conservative view, they are apparently safe in case of fire. Most of the scholars are trained in fire drill, and the principals of most of the schools state that their children can all leave the building inside of two minutes. However, this is the time taken when there is no fire—when the children are cool and know that there is no danger. What, however, would happen in case of a panic? To answer this the Examiner made a canvas of all the local schools, and found much the same conditions in all. On the whole there is no need for alarm regarding the safety of the children.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

Fire drill was introduced into this school last fall and was kept up for some little time. The exits, of which there are two, are well arranged, and each class room leads into a spacious hall. The staircases are wide and on the whole the building is well designed for rapid exit in the case of fire. It is heated by hot air in such a way that fire from an over-heated flue is next to impossible. The average attendance is about 200 children, who are placed on two flats. This school is probably the safest of any in Peterborough.

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

In this school as in the Collegiate Institute fire drill was begun last year, but of late has been neglected. Were a fire to get a good grip on this building there is no doubt that it would be completely gutted in a few minutes. There are two exits, one rear and one front. These are reached from the second floor by two staircases, arranged in such a manner that the children could escape by them very easily, and what is more important, orderly. The school has been on fire twice. There are 400 children in the school all of whom have left the building in two minutes on more than one occasion when the fire gong has sounded. The building is heated by both steam and hot air and the furnaces are reported as being safe.

MENZIES SCHOOL.

One hundred and sixty children attend this school which is equipped with a front and back staircase and two exits. The back staircase in time of fire would be of little use. The stairs are narrow and steep and what is more serious the stairway makes a sharp semicircular bend half way down. On Monday the school was visited with a fire which, however, was extinguished without much difficulty. However, the children showed extreme calmness in leaving the building, notwithstanding the fact that the hall through which they had to pass was full of smoke. In this as in most of the other buildings the children on the second flat are running more danger than the others. The building is heated by a wood furnace.

WEST WARD SCHOOL.

The West Ward School is heated throughout with stoves, of which there are five—four in the rooms and one in the hall. The children last fall practised fire drill but this has been discontinued during the cold weather. The stair case is broad, but the approach to it would soon be blocked by the "upstairs pupils" trying to leave quickly. Should the stove in the hall set fire to the building this might not be discovered for some time.

EAST WARD SCHOOL.

In this building an inside partition has been placed in front on the main exit for the purpose of avoiding the cold draughts. To leave the building one has to push the inside door right back in order to open the outside door. This should be remedied so that both doors open either inward or outward. The two hundred children of this school occasionally practice fire drill, and all could leave the building within three minutes after the alarm had been given. There is a rear exit but this would be of no use should the fire originate in the basement, as the draught would draw the flames up towards it. The building is heated by a wood furnace.

SOUTH WARD SCHOOL.

The principal of the South Ward School assured the Examiner at noon that panic was impossible with his scholars, who number 450 in all. He asserted that the teachers could successfully control them in case of fire and get them out of the building in two minutes. Fire drill had been practiced for a short time, but not lately.

The above are the facts in a nutshell of the condition of things in the various schools in the town. The Separate school was closed to-day and no information was obtainable. On the whole the safety of the children seems to be well provided for. Theoretically, loss of life seems to be impossible, when over four hundred children can leave a building within two minutes. However, too many theories nowadays are unable to stand together when put into practice. Considering the recent loss of life, there would be no harm in having the schools inspected, and, if necessary, provided with hand reels and fire escapes. It is generally after destruction that a building is condemned as having been unsafe.

Duty on Soft Coal.

New York, Jan. 6.—It was announced by Naval Officer Courley, at the custom house Monday, that the duties on soft coal, which were taken off for the year by an act approved Jan. 15, 1903, will be imposed on and after Jan. 15 of this year. While all soft coal imported will now pay full duty again, any anthracite coal, of any quantitative test, will permanently be duty free under the act quoted.

Wonderful Carving.

In a museum attached to two alms-houses at Kirkheatham, near Redcar, erected in 1676 by Sir William Turner Knight, Lord Mayor of London, is a wonderful carving of St. George and the Dragon cut out of a single block of boxwood, the work of a poor prisoner, and it is valued at £2,000. It is said that this piece of carving was the cause of a wager being once laid in a dispute as to its entirety. To prove that the work was one single piece of carving it was plunged into a pot of boiling oil and allowed to remain for hours. All doubts were set at rest when it was withdrawn and found to be still complete. The prisoner who accomplished this marvelous piece of work used an ordinary penknife only.

GREAT BRITAIN TO STAND BY JAPAN.

Significant Utterances of the London Papers.

Cabinet Will Discuss the Attitude of Great Britain in the Light of the Russian Reply to Japan—All Reports Indicate That Japan Will Fight Unless Russia Gives way.

London, Jan. 7.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at St. Petersburg says that the news is confirmed that the second rifle regiment has already left Mukden for Corea to protect Russian interests there.

The correspondent of The Daily Mail at Shanghai reports that Japan has learned that the Russian squadron at Bizerta has been instructed to shadow Japan's new cruisers, and is in readiness to attack them in the event of war being declared.

Germans Supplying Coal.

The Shimoneseka, Japan, correspondent of The Daily Mail, telegraphing under date of Jan. 6, says that the Germans at Kiao Chau are supplying the Russians with coal and gunners, and that Admiral Alexieff's adjutants are offering large sums to induce British and American gunners to desert and go to Port Arthur. The correspondent adds that Prince Adalbert is reported as predicting that the whole Province of Shan Tung will become German territory.

Wiring under yesterday's date, the same paper's correspondent says that the Russian reply to the Japanese proposals has arrived at the Russian legation there, add that it is supposed it has been communicated to Baron Komura, but nothing is known regarding it.

The correspondent says that according to The Jiji Shimpo, the Corean Minister refused to give his consent to the sending of American marines to Seoul, but that he could not make no effective protest. The correspondent concludes that China has declined the request of Paul Lessar, Russian Minister to China, to send a special envoy to Port Arthur to discuss Manchuria.

British Cabinet to Meet.

There are indications that nothing definite has developed in the Far Eastern situation, and that nothing is likely to develop until the end of the week. The first, according to the Tokio correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, is that an urgency meeting of the Japanese Cabinet has been called for to-day, and the second is that the members of the British Cabinet have been notified to assemble on Saturday.

The meeting of the Japanese Cabinet has almost certainly been called for the purpose of considering the reply of Russia to the last Japanese note, and it is equally certain that the meeting of the British Cabinet will be for the purpose of discussing the attitude of Great Britain in the light of the Russian reply.

Britain Must Stand By Japan.

Editorials in this morning's papers are almost unanimous in admitting that even if the war should be confined to Russia and Japan, Great Britain cannot possibly see Japan crushed, and in the event of Japan suffering a severe naval defeat Great Britain would be compelled to go to her assistance.

The Telegraph asserts the Cabinet will be compelled to consider also the limits of British neutrality in the event of a Russo-Japanese war.

Some of the papers urge that a plain indication of Great Britain's intentions would be most effective in averting war.

The Morning Post asks: "What has the Government done by way of preparation for war on a great scale in 1904?"

The Daily Mail wants Russia notified that "under no circumstances will Great Britain permit the Russian Black Sea fleet to pass the Dardanelles," and urges the Admiralty to "see that the navy is quite ready for emergencies."

The Russian Reply.

The Tokio correspondent of The Daily Telegraph still expresses the belief that the Russian reply will not prove satisfactory. The correspondent says:

"It is regarded as most significant that the American and Japanese treaties with China will be ratified, completed and exchanged within a week."

The correspondent says that when the torpedo flotilla was placed on a war footing the Japanese officers volunteered en masse for the service.

The Standard's Tokio correspondent says that the Russian warships, which until recently were in Corean waters, are returning hastily to Port Arthur. He adds that the fall in stocks continues unchecked.

The Che Foo correspondent of The Morning Post cables that orders have been issued to the officials of the Siberian Railway that freight trains shall carry only coal for Port Arthur. A strong squadron is moored in the harbor of Port Arthur.

All Russian Warships Sail.

London, Jan. 7.—A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Tokio says: "All the Russian warships at Vladivistock are reported to have sailed, probably for Port Arthur, Russia's reply has not yet been received by Japan. There is a strong widespread tendency to doubt the reports of the alleged conciliatory character of the reply."

Clyde Engineers Off to Japan.

London, Jan. 7.—The party of marine engineers from the Clyde district, engaged by the Japanese Government, sailed for Japan yesterday via St. John, N.B.

No Hope For Peace.

Paris, Jan. 7.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Paris edition of The New York Herald cables as follows: "There is almost no hope of a peaceful solution, and the public is expecting news of a battle resulting from the landing of Japanese troops in Corea. A battalion has been sent from Vladivostock to prevent the Japanese landing."

Jewish Bankers to Hit Russia.

New York, Jan. 7.—A powerful movement has been started among the Jewish financiers of the European capitals to prevent the countries whose Governments systematically encourage anti-Semitism from obtained any further loans. The two countries where anti-Semitism is most rampant are Russia and Roumania. The former will feel the effects of the movement most in the event of war with Japan.

A TIMELY RESCUE.

Maritime Sailors Frozen to the Deck of Their Schooner.

Gloucester, Mass., Jan. 7.—The experiences of Capt. J. B. Seabean of the British schooner Ayr, and his crew of four, who were brought in here yesterday by the fishing schooner Jennie B. Hodgson, after having been rescued from their wrecked vessel off Cape Cod, were pronounced by the fishermen of this port to be among the worst ever heard of at Gloucester. Capt. Parkman Hodgson of the fishing schooner, when about ten miles off Cape Cod Tuesday sighted the dismasted Ayr.

On boarding her he found the five men on board practically frozen to the deck and almost at the point of death. With great difficulty the helpless seamen were taken to the fishing schooner, where they were partly revived. They had been for thirty hours without food or water, with the thermometer far below zero, and were continually washed by tremendous waves. The rescued men are Capt. J. A. Seabean of St. John, N.B.; Mate Joseph Vitner, Cook William Bell of St. John, and Seamen John Ellison and Hans Peterson.

The Ayr was bound from St. John for New York with lumber.

The warrant has reference to the placing of an iron bar about 3 inches high together with a brick to hold it secure, directly over the rails at a point four miles east of Woodstock on the forenoon of Saturday last.

THE "PASSING" OF THE GOUGHS

The Calm Before the Storm on the Wonderful Cheap Men's Store—Preparing for a Hurricane "Good-bye" Sale.

Gough Bros' Big Double Store is closed to the public to-day—positively closed tight—and will remain closed until Saturday morning. The cause of such an uncommon and disturbing event is, that stock-taking is going on. The firm require to see where they are at before bringing on their hurricane "good-bye sale," which starts Saturday morning at 8 o'clock with the stroke of the clock. The store is as quiet to-day as a church mouse. The familiar faces of the two Gough boys — Messrs. Richard and Geo — are in evidence, busily "calling down" the goods. Both came down from Toronto to oversee the work of inventory in which they are assisted by Managers Tully & Merrell, and a numerous staff of clerical assistants. There's another bright-looking man from Toronto—a mild-mannered but lynx-eyed young expert in footwear. The name on his hat band is Harry Gibbons, the live manager of Gough Bros' Toronto boot and shoe department. He's got his coat off, pushing the inventory of the big shoe side of the store. He is billed to remain in town for some time to engineer the big sale until the wind-up.

Not the town of Peterborough alone, but the whole county will turn out to give Gough Bros. a rousing send-off for their final sale. Both members of the firm are men of a congenial spirit, courageous in business, strenuous and successful. Both have left their impress on the community, and both have made hosts of friends and well-wishers.

EAST RIDING CONVENTION.

One of the greatest and most encouraging nominating conventions ever held by the Liberal or any other party in East Peterborough, took place yesterday in Norwood and resulted in the enthusiastic and unanimous nomination of an excellent and strong candidate in the person of Mr. John Finlay, of that place. The spirit and temper of the convention were excellent. While there was keen rivalry between the supporters of the several aspirants and nominees for the coveted honour of the Liberal candidature, there was splendid unanimity and enthusiasm in the main object of the convention—the selection of a candidate who would be elected to support the Laurier Administration. The Liberals of the East Riding have everything to encourage them in the coming contest. Mr. Finlay is as favourably known as he is well known, throughout East Peterborough. He has long been an honoured and progressive resident of Norwood, where he carries on a large and flourishing manufacturing business, conducted with a success, which testifies to his excellent business abilities, one of the foremost qualifications of a successful representative. Added to this is his large municipal experience both in the Norwood Council and the County Council. Then Mr. Finlay is a candidate in support of the best and greatest administration of whose services Canada has ever enjoyed the benefit. Under the Laurier administration this country has had a prosperity and an advancement, altogether unparalleled in its history. Under this administration the foundations have been laid of a growth and advancement, which under wise guiding like that of the past seven years, will bring national results of tremendous import. With all these advantages in his favour, Mr. Finlay, with the united support of the lovers of good and progressive Government is assured of a triumphant return when the decision of the electors is demanded.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible but tit was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep, which she had not done for several days. For sale by all druggists.

EASTERN DAIRYMEN HOLD CONVENTION.

Now Meeting in Annual Session at Belleville.

President Derbyshire Delivered His Address—A Most Successful Year's Work.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Belleville, Jan. 6th. — The annual convention of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association opened this morning at ten o'clock, in the city hall, Belleville. Mr. R. J. Graham, Mayor of the city, acted as chairman of the meeting, which was largely attended.

Mr. D. Derbyshire, President of the association, gave his annual address, which was as follows:

"This is the 27th annual convention of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, and we are greatly pleased, indeed to have the pleasure of meeting the dairymen of Belleville section to-day after another successful season. The watchword of our eastern dairymen has for a great many years been 'advancement,' and I am glad to say that 1903 has been the banner year. We thank Mayor Graham, the President of your Board of Trade, and the committee representing the citizens, for their loyal reception. Everything has been done to assure the success of our annual gathering. It is four teen years since our convention met in this city. At that time very little general interest was manifested, but to-day we are the most important association in Canada. Our cheese for 1903 will bring $28,000,000; our butter, $7,000,000, and our bacon, $16,000,000. So our output for the year will be $51,000,000, or $6,000,000 more than in 1902. This means prosperity to every industry in our fair land and we are now in a better position for carrying on the work than ever before. What means this rapid progress unless it be the adaptability of Eastern Ontario to the butter and cheese industries. It also testifies to the earnestness and ability of those engaged in their manufacture, aided by this Association and our governments. As a result we stand to day in the very front, and have made the name of Canada famous. We hope to make $60,000,000 during the coming year. We employed 21 instructors last season placing them under the guiding hand of our chief instructor, Mr. Publow, and I must say that the success attending the new scheme has been most gratifying. We have made a more uniform article in all our factories and greatly improved the quality. We will require 25 instructors this coming season. We must have every factory in Eastern Ontario, as well as every dairyman, assist us in this work so that our syndicate system can be properly arranged and have the right men in charge. Most of the instructors were satisfactory, but some new men will have to be secured, and we ask for your hearty co-operation. We feel sure we can count on this. We want every dairyman to promise he will improve his cows, stables, feed and in every way strive to send a better quality of milk to our factories. We want the factories improved—good drainage, better curing rooms and see that the maker attends our dairy school at Kingston. We want to take another step in advance and keep out of the way of our competitors. While we have done excellent work and along the right lines, still there is plenty of room for improvement. The British consumer gives the preference to the goods which please him best and price to him is seconondary consideration. Danish butter is regularly quoted 10 shillings above our Canadian creameries, and in cheese English and Scotch dairies sell 8 to 10 shillings above ours. Two things bring this about — the handling of the cows, seeing that everything is kept "clean," wholesome food, plenty of pure water, well ventilated stables, clean and warm, the milk delivered to the factories in good shape and keeping everything "cool," not only in curing rooms, but in transit until it reaches the consumer. We have made great advancement in these two directions during the past few years. The Dominion Government under the direction of Hon. Sydney Fisher, has given us an illustration station for Eastern Ontario at Brockville, which has been of great value, showing the great benefit of curing cheese at a uniformly low temperature. It is having a healthful influence. As a result a large number of factories have greatly improved their curing rooms; more will follow their example, and I wish I could influence all to do so. We have had refrigerator cars for our cheese as well as butter, both on our railways and steamships. Our goods were never delivered in better condition, but still we want this system enlarged and improved the coming season. I feel sure we can count on the Hon. Mr. Fisher to assist us, providing he sees we are trying to improve the quality of our goods. The Hon. Mr. Dryden, our Provincial Minister of Agriculture, has assisted us by giving the usual grant, and Mr. Publow, our Chief Instructor, every possible help. We all regret Prof. Robertson's illness, but we are glad to say he will be home again fully restored to health, and will as usual give us his counsel and assistance. Mr. Ruddick has rendered valuable assistance the past year. So we feel the hearty assistance of both Governments, and their valuable staff are at our service. We should take hold of the work in 1904 more earnestly than ever before. With our present opportunities for education and instruction there will be no excuse for any factory employing an ordinary maker during the coming season, or having an old open or poor factory sitting in the mud, with no drainage, no cement floors, poor curing room, or not having modern machinery, with every facility for making finest goods for no business in Eastern Ontario rests on a more solid foundation. Was there ever a time more appropriate for turning over a new leaf than now? With our past experience with a full knowledge that the production of butter and cheese and bacon is the one industry that is exactly suited to our section, all our energies should be directed to improve the quality of our goods and all should understand that this can only be done by united work, first by every dairyman giving only the cleanest and most wholesome milk, by the factories being up to date by the makers and all concerned taking a deep interest in making finest goods only, by having covers for our waggons that draw the cheese, etc., to the railway stations, clean refrigerator cars to carry our produce to Montreal, and steamships fitted properly for conveying the same to the ultimate market. Our transportation service was better last year than formerly, but I do hope that it will be enlarged and improved the coming season.

If I only had every producer of milk, every maker, and every proprietor of a factory, here to-day I would make one supreme effort to arouse them to a sense of duty. Improvement all along the line should be the watchword. We should not make winter cheese, but turn our attention to finest butter from November till May. It would equalize our product and keep off the market goods that are not fancy, and we would have a better reputation. We must carry on the work of education and instruction this year more earnestly than ever as we can only hold the prominent place we have held in the past by united efforts.

Our dairy school at Kingston has been doing good work and better than could be expected, considering the accommodation. I do hope Hon. Mr. Dryden will see that money is placed in the estimates for placing our Eastern school in such a position that we can give the best possible instruction to all who desire it. Give us a large first-class school. We are pleased that a "Butter Act" was passed last session, preventing the manufacture, importation or sale of Oleomargarine or any adulterated butter. We can build up a solid business only by making honest goods exactly as represented, and I am sure we will use our influence in that direction.

Can I say anything more that will arouse our dairymen to do better work, to co-operate with this association and with our chief inspector, Mr. Publow, in the selection of your makers, in forming yourselves into syndicates of about twenty-five factories, in selecting your instructors, in fitting up your factories, in securing proper drainage, in beautifying the grounds around your factories, so we can truthfully say at the close of 1904 that Eastern Ontario still, leads in the manufacture of cheese, butter and bacon. We have all looked forward to this 27th annual convention being held in your beautiful city with great pleasure, as this section has always been prominent in dairy matters. We hope much good will result from this meeting, and that we will all return to our homes determined to help on the forward movement. Once more let me thank you for your kind reception.

THERE IS A WAY OUT OF IT.

Catarrh, the Offensive and Dangerous Disease, can be Cured.

Catarrh is a disease that afflicts a majority of the people of the United States. It comes without warning, and from its offensive nature causes intense suffering and humiliation. Its complications are often dangerous and fatal, dyspepsia, bronchitis and consumption frequently resulting, if catarrh is allowed to run its course unchecked.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets have done more good and effected more cures among catarrh sufferers than any known remedy. They never fail to cure even the most aggravated cases where their use is adhered to. They thoroughly renovate the system and cleanse it of all impurities. Under their influence all catarrhal poisons are thrown off and the cure is complete and permanent.

A prominent lawyer and public speaker of Pittsburg, says: "I have been troubled with catarrh of the head and throat for 12 years. In this climate it seems impossible to get rid of it. The continual dropping of mucus from the none into the throat causes irritation and hoarseness, seriously interfering with my public speaking. It took me an hour or more of coughing, gagging, expectorating and sneezing every morning before I could settle down to work, and this condition gradually brought on catarrh of the stomach, causing loss of appetite, poor digestion and a foul breath, which annoyed me exceedingly. My physician advised me to try Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and I took them for two months and was astonished to find how quickly they cured my head, throat and stomach, and I have no hesitation in recommending them. They are not only pleasant to take, but they seem to get at the very root of the trouble, because since using them I have had no trace of catarrh."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. They have done so much good and the demand for them is so great that no druggist ever fails to keep them in stock, although there are other remedies which yield him a greater profit. Druggists know, however, that they would be making a great mistake and endangering their business to be without Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

OMEMEE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The New Year has opened up with a new reeve and council for Omemee. J. T. Bently was elected by a majority of two over R. J. Mulligan. Our councillors are Messrs. J. Evans, J. McCrae, E. Ellsom and R. Carey.

Rev. Mr. Tanner, a former pastor of the Presbyterian church here, preached to a large congregasang a solo with good effect.

The Township Council were elected by acclamation.

The next excitement will be the selection of a candidate for Victoria, as there is considerable difference of opinion as to whether Dr. Vrooman or Col. S. Hughes should hold the fort. Both men have been elected as candidates before the re-distribution.

The Presbyterian entertainment on New Year's evening proved to be a great success in every respect. The receipts at the door amounted to $105. Each and every entertainer was well received, and the programme was a most varied one, meeting the tastes of all, literary and musical, and affording plenty of amusement. Dr. Keith of Omemee, ably filled the duties of chairman, while Miss Rowan acted as accompanist most acceptably.

Mr. Nixon is now the proprietor of the Bradburn House and will be glad to see his Peterborough and East Emily friends.

CANADIAN DAIRYING.

Gathering at Belleville Representative of the Industry.

MOST IMPORTANT IN CANADA

Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association Favors Provincial License and Inspection System—President Derbyshire Points Out the Importance of the Proper Care of the Dairy Cow —Output For the Year.

Belleville, Jan. 7.—The Eastern Dairymen's Association met in annual convention here yesterday at 10 a.m. Mayor Graham extended a welcome in the Carman Opera House.

President D. Derbyshire of Brockville, in his address, urged improvements in matters at the base of the dairy industry, clean dairying, clean, bright, healthy stables for cows, and clean, well-drained factories, with well-regulated temperatures, so as to keep things strictly clean and steadily cool. While Canada supplied 70 per cent. of the British cheese market, the balance was largely held by English and Scotch cheese, which sell at higher prices than Canadian. Canadians could compete for this only by improvement.

During 1903, the output of cheese would bring $28,000,000; of butter $7,000,000 and of bacon $16,000,000; total, $51,000,000, or $7,000,000 more than in 1902, proving the adaptability of Eastern Ontario to the butter and cheese industries. Next year's output should be $60,000,000. The British consumer gives the preference to what suits him best, price being a secondary consideration.

Lesson From Danish Butter.

Danish butter is regularly quoted 10 shillings above our Canadian creameries, and in cheese English and Scotch dairies sell 8 to 10 shillings above ours. Two things bring this about—the handling of the cows, seeing that everything is kept clean, wholesome food, plenty of pure water, well-ventilated stables, clean and warm, the milk delivered to the factories in good shape, and keeping everything cool, not only in curing, but in transit, until it reaches the consumer.

We should not make winter cheese, but turn our attention to finest butter from November till May. It would equalize our product and keep off the market goods that are not fancy, and we would have a better reputation. We are pleased that a "Butter Act" was passed last session, preventing the manufacture, importation or sale of oleomargine or any adulterated butter.

Basis of Solid Business.

We can build up a solid business only by making honest goods, exactly as represented, and I am sure we will use our influence in that direction.

In the discussion which followed, Directors H. Y. Glendenning, Manilla; William Eager, Morrisburg; John R. and J. A. Ruddick and James Anderson, Dargavell and Elgin, took part. Mr. Eager advocated that factories pay for milk according to quality. Mr. Dargavell wanted licensed factories and more inspection.

Hon. John Dryden spoke last night.

Favor Provincial License.

Judging by the applause which greeted the suggestion the members of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association are in favor of a Provincial license and inspection system, for sanitary purposes, for cheese factories. The subject was laid before the convention yesterday by Mr. J. A. Ruddick, head of the dairy division, Ottawa, in the form of a resolution passed at a conference of inspectors and instructors last November, and will be discussed to-day. Mr. Ruddick referred to similar legislation in Denmark and Wisconsin, which might form a pattern. A speech by Hon. John Dryden, looking forward to greater achievements for the dairying industries, was delivered at a public meeting last night which filled the opera house. There are over four hundred members in attendance.

HON. J. L. TARTE IN TORONTO.

Former Minister Talks to Canadian Club on Imperial Unity.

Toronto, Jan. 7.—Last night the largest audience the Canadian Club ever had turned out to hear Hon. J. Israel Tarte on the question of Imperial Unity. Here are some of Mr. Tarte's utterances boiled down:

I am a French-Canadian from the bottom up—there is no doubt about that—and I am an advocate of closer relations between the British colonies and the British Empire.

We have not charge of Mr. Chamberlain's future, but we have charge of the future of Canada.

Whatever my mistakes have been, one of my ambitions has always been to make our country independent of the United States.

The tie that binds us to the British Empire is a tie of silk. But if we had not the British prestige and strength to help us through, what would we do?

My motto, is, "Business is business," and it is the motto of Quebec also.

If we agree we have a great future. We have only to develop what has been given us, and it would be a calamity if we failed.

It is not bad that we sometimes make fools of ourselves, as we may become wise by being childish.

I am a strong man on one point—Canada for Canadians.

I will give this promise—that I will establish a Canadian Club in Montreal in a week.

All-British Floating Exhibit.

London, Jan. 7.—(C.A.P.)—About 150 firms will be represented in the all-British Imperial floating exhibition to sail from England in April. All ports of the Empire will be visited.

People of This Place.

There arte people in every town and village of this country who have been cured of itching, bleeding and protruding piles by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Ask your friends about this great preparation, they can tell you of its great soothing, healing and antiseptic powers. More reputable people have endorsed Dr. Chase's Ointment than any preparation you can mention.

PRINCE OF POSERS JAILED.

Coachman Husband of Countess Russell in Sorry Plight—How He Lived Like a Prince in Toronto.

Toronto, Jan. 7.—The former husband of the Countess of Russell is in the Toronto jail over the Don, under the name of A. E. Stuart. He is charged with vagrancy, and has been remanded for a week. A more serious charge will be placed against him later, according to the police, growing out of debts contracted promiscuously throughout the city during the past month.

This is the bogus Prince Athrobald Stuart de Modena, who wooed and won the Countess. Later he was revealed as William Brown, a coachman, and a sensation of considerable proportions followed. The trial of the divorce petition occurred last week, and the Countess was granted a separation. The "prince" failed to defend.

The success of the coachman in posing as a prince and marrying a Countess in London is but slightly more astonishing than the ease with which the man, under the name of Archibald Edward Stuart, has posed as a man of means in big hotels in Boston, Montreal and Toronto, accumulated debts with the recklessness of a millionaire in different parts of the city and enjoyed himself hugely with the display of nothing in the way of currency but a consummate nerve.

While Archibald had the best the fine hotels afforded, drove the swellest teams in the liveries of the city, secured half a dozen stylish suits from different tailors, employed a valet and appareled him in two natty outfits and borrowed money from a number of accommodating acquaintances, he was absolutely without a dollar when he reached Toronto.

After this lavish display and a month of splendor, but slightly dimmed by the urgent demands of creditors, he wound up in the Don jail with 90 cents in his pockets. Mr. T. C. Robinette, K.C., will defend him.

VENTILATORS AND SKYLIGHTS.

Had They Been in Shape, No Disaster Would Have Been in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—"The overwhelming mistake of the Iroquois disaster was in the condition of the skylights and ventilators above the stage," said Fire Inspector Monroe Fulkerson yesterday.

"Had the ventilators over the stage been opened, or the skylights been fastened shut," said Mr. Fulkerson, "there would have been no loss of life by fire, regardless of the asbestos curtain failing to work.

"All the testimony given me forms a story of incompetence, blunders, carelessness and neglect upon the parts of builders and managers of the theatre."

With the public and press excluded, the City Council special meeting for the revision of the ordinances governing theatres began yesterday.

Fire at Clyde Forks.

Kingston, Jan. 7.—The new mill of the Clyde Forks Lumber Company at Clyde Forks, on the Kingston & Pembroke Railway, was Tuesday night totally destroyed by fire, the origin of which is unknown. A carload of hay for use in lumber shanties was also consumed. The loss is about $10,000; with light insurance. The owners are Jerome Thompson, William Avery, M.P., Sharbot Lake, and George Gray, Clyde Forks.

A Fire at Goodwood.

Goodwood, Jan. 7.—About three o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in the stables of the Forsythe Hotel. The entire sheds, stables and buildings in connection with the hotel were consumed, together with a large supply of hay and wood.

Three Houses Destroyed.

Sault Ste. Marie, Jan. 7.—Fire yesterday morning destroyed three double houses, the property of the Steele Company, in Fagona.

Bad Blaze at Burlington.

Burlington, Jan. 7.—About two o'clock yesterday morning fire destroyed the barber shop and residence owned and occupied by George Noyes, situated in the centre of the Traders' Bank block on Brant street. Thomas Latournal's drug store on one side, and a butcher shop owned by L. J. Rueby on the other side of the barber shop were badly damaged by smoke and water.

Fire in Manitoba.

Belmont Man., Jan. 7.—A serious fire visited the village Tuesday night. Brinkworth's general store and Frank Williamson's implement warehouse, with contents, are totally destroyed. The loss is $9,000, partly covered by insurance.

Fire Drill Worked in Windsor, Too.

Windsor, Jan. 7.—Fire was discovered in the basement of the Felissier street school, and several hundred children vacated the building in record time in response to an alarm of fire. The damage was slight.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This preparation is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for the cure of these diseases over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been given of its good works, of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured, of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous results. It is especially prized by mothers, because it contains nothing injurious and there is not the least danger it giving it even to babies. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by all druggists.

To Be Tried For Manslaughter.

Stratford, Jan. 07.—As a sequel to the bad wreck at St. Mary's on Oct. 31 last, Conductor Charles Frost, Engineer Geo. Mark, Brakeman Walter Dyment, Stratford, members of the crew of the Quarry train, and Engineer King, Windsor, who was in charge of the first engine of the double-header, were arraigned on the charge of manslaughter. Dyment was discharged, but the others were sent up for trial here at the assizes on Feb. 15. Yesterday they came to Stratford and furnished bail in the amount of $1,000 each.

Ever since Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were first introduced to the public the sales have steadily increased, each year being larger than the year preceding. GEO. GAUTHIER WON FROM FARMER BURNS.

Good Wrestling Match in the Opera House Last Night Under Auspices of Cordage Hockey Club.

The second of the series of concerts held in the opera house and given under the auspices of the Canadian Cordage Co's hockey team, was held last night with a large audience present. The programme opened with a song by Mr. E. Crowe, late of Allen & Hart's minstrels. This was followed by a wrestling bout between Pitts Wallace-Cyclone vs. Wreck Jeffries for the 130 pound championship of town. Jeffries was by far the larger of the two but he had a tricky fellow to deal with, but got the first fall in 2 1-2 minutes. Two minutes after the second round Jeffries again downed his opponent, but he was off the mat and it didn't count. Two and a half minutes later, however, Wallace got Jeffries shoulders clean on the mat and was given a fall. The little fellow's success brought down the house completely. Twenty seconds after the third round had begun Jeffries got his second fall which gave him the win.

The wrestling was followed by another song.

An eight-round boxing bout between Dave Belland vs. unknown did not materialize as the "Unknown" was sick.

The next item created loads of fun and the audience laughed to split their sides, as the slang goes. It was a boxing match of twelve rounds between Hockey Jones, of Hamilton, and Jack Morrison of Lindsay. The look of sheer astonishment on Morrison's face when Jones bowled him over with a hard smack on the nose was one which the audience will probably never forget. Jones knocked the Lindsay man over again in the second round. It was just 20 seconds after the second round had begun that Jones knocked his opponent out and won the bout.

This was followed by a musical sketch by Mr. Jones, late of Wallace Shows.

The event of the evening was the return match between Farmer Burns and Geo. Gauthier. The match was excellent Burns displayed his ability as a wrestler but was not heavy enough for Gauthier's strength. Burns seemingly without much difficulty secured the first fall. In the second, however, affairs turned around and Gauthier, after some clever wrestling pinned his opponent's shoulders to the mat. The third fall was also won by Gauthier, giving him the bout.

The concert wound up with a tug of war game between the Cordage and Wm. Hamilton Co's teams, resulting in a win for the Cordage Co's team in two straight pulls.

The following are the teams:

Cordage,—Capt. J. E. Noyes, R. Jewell, Chas. McBrine, T. Corbett, A. E. Mutton, F. Frost, W. Clancy, V. Wilson, A. Purcell.

Wm. Hamilton Co.—Captain R. Baker, J. Sanders, G. Pigeon, C. Watt, J. Turner, H. Elliott, J. Sollitt, T. McEntee, F. Reynolds. Referee—Eugene Hurtubuise.

THE BANNER LIBERAL CONVENTION AT NORWOOD

The Largest and Most Enthusiastic in Forty Years.

MR. JOHN FINLAY THE LIBERAL CANDIDATE.

A Keen Contest for the Nomination—Mr. Finlay the Unanimous Nominee—Officers Elected—Resolutions Adopted.

The largest and most enthusiastic convention held in East Peterborough in forty years, was the Liberal Convention assembled in the Town Hall, Norwood, to nominate a candidate to contest the riding in the interests of the Laurier administration, at the coming general elections for the Dominion Parliament. The hall was filled to the doors, and even standing room was crowded. The throng overflowed the platform, and the chairman was the centre of a crowd that enveloped him on every side. So great was the crush that the scrutineers that were appointed to attend to the balloting could not pass among the throng. They were compelled to force themselves to the outer door, where ballots were distributed to those present, as they passed out into the open air, which was easily practicable, the weather fortunately being mild. When all had deposited their ballots, they returned to the hall, where the ballots were counted, the result announced, and a second ballot taken by a similar process.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The president of the East Riding Reform Association, Mr. A. Shearer, occupied the chair and briefly addressed the meeting.

The first business was the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

President—Mr. A. Shearer, (re-elected.)

Secretary—Mr. Matthew E. Knox.

Executive committee — Norwood, H. G. Buck; Douro, Dennis Moloney; Dummer, E. Hawthorne; Otonabee, Samuel Armstrong; Asphodel, Patrick McNulty; Havelock, Thos. Curtis; Belmont, Wm. Matheson; Lakefield, Robert Graham; Burleigh and Anstruther, William Boulton, J. C. Bates; Chandos, John Monogue.

The candidates nominated for ballot were:

Mr. John Lang, M.P., Otonabee, nominated by Samuel Armstrong, seconded by David Crowley.

Mr. John Quinn, Douro, nominated by D. Moloney, seconded by E. Hawthorne.

John Finlay, Norwood, nominated by John Davidson, Norwood, seconded by Geo. Payne, Lakefield.

The crowded state of the hall making the balloting so tedious and protracted a process, there was opportunity for only brief speaking. However, while the preparations for balloting were being made by the scrutineers appointed, some brief addresses were given.

Mr. John Lang stated that when he ran in the election of 1900, he had decided not to be again a candidate, but he was urged so strongly by his friends that he had reconsidered this resolution. When elected in 1900, he had expected to sit for five sessions, but if the elections were to be brought on soon, as seemed likely to be the case, he would have had only three sessions. Besides, under the redistribution, the area of the riding had been lessened, and it was less difficult to cover. Mr. Lang said he did not ask for the nomination but he would be a candidate if he were chosen. If he were not chosen he would support with all his influence and best efforts the successful nominee. If he were offered, and accepted, the nomination he would not offer himself again.

Mr. Finlay said he had been looking forward somewhat to the nomination, since Mr. Lang had told him that he would not be a candidate again.

Mr. John Quinn briefly spoke, defining his position and stating his determination, if he were the chosen candidate, to energetically contest the riding.

Mr. Samuel Armstrong said that he had nominated Mr. Lang because he felt that his past services should be recognized. He had carried the riding repeatedly and he felt sure he could do it again.

Mr. David Crowley was also sure that Mr. Lang, if any man, was certain to carry the riding.

Mr. Dennis Moloney urged that the convention select the strongest man. He pointed out that Mr. Quinn had served his township well and faithfully. He was a progressive farmer, such a representative as a rural riding like East Peterborough required. Besides, Douro had stood nobly by the Liberal party and her services in this connection were worthy of recognition. Otonabee had rather monopolised parliamentary honours, and it was only fair that Douro should have its turn.

Mr. Hawthorne said he had known Mr. Quinn for twenty five years, and only knew good of him.

Mr. John Davidson, of Norwood, speaking in favour of his nominee, Mr. Finlay, said that although Mr. Finlay was not a farmer, yet as a large manufacturer he had done more to benefit the farmers than any of themselves could have done. He said that Mr. Finlay's annual bank account amounted to $120,000, and of this amount $90,000 was spent for supplies for his wagon hub business, among the farmers of the riding. Mr. Finlay was a good business man and had useful municipal experience in the village and county councils, which served to better fit him for the duties of a representative. Mr. Lang had had a fair share of the honours of representation. Mr. Davidson belived that Mr. Finlay, if nominated, could carry the riding.

Mr. George Payne said Mr. Finlay did not need any introduction. He was well known and highly respected in East Peterborough.

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY.

During the counting of the ballots the following resolution, moved by Mr. John Lang, M. P., and Mr. Wm. Anderson, M.P.P., in brief, complimentary speeches was unanimously carried by a standing vote:

That this convention of Liberals of East Peterborough, desire to take this the first opportunity that has presented, to bear testimony to the great loss this riding has sustained in the death of the late Thos. Blezard, Esq., ex-M.P.P., and to recognize the great services which, during a quarter of a century's capable and continuous representation of this riding he has given, and to offer the sincere condolence of this convention with East Peterborough and this district, have suffered the great bereavement represented by his death.

RESULT OF THE BALLOTING

The scrutineers reported the result of the first ballot as follows:—

Finlay	101
Lang	85
Quinn	61

According to arrangement the lowest on the first ballot dropped out and the result of the second was as follows:—

Finlay	119
Laing	112

Mr. Lang moved that Mr. Finlay's nomination be made unanimous, and this motion was enthusiastically carried.

Mr. Finlay, who was very heartily received, thanked the conventoin for the nomination, and expressed this confidence of being elected. He would work energetically himself and with the hearty co-operation of the Liberals of East Peterborough, a supporter of the Laurier administration would be sent from the East Riding. (Applause.)

The following resolution of confidence in the Liberal Government and its administration was very enthusiastically adopted:—

That the Liberals of East Peterborough in convention assembled do hereby express and declare their confidence and pride in Sir Wilfrid Laurier, one of the greatest of leaders of the Liberal or any party in Canada; that they recognize with grateful appreciation the great results that have come to Canada from the seven years of wise and fruitful Liberal administration, which have so greatly advanced the material interests and exalted the prestige of Canada among the colonies of the Empire and the nations of the world; that they endorse the policy of the Liberal Government of Canada, believing that it will in the future, as in the past, redound to the advantage and advancement of the country; that they also endorse the plan of another transcontinental railway as a necessary and urgently needed medium of development of our great resources all along its route and that they pledge themselves to use their utmost endeavours to promote by every legitimate means the election of a supporter of the Laurier Government in the person of the candidate nominated by this convention.

The following resolution of confidence in the Premier of Ontario and his administration was also very heartily carried:—

That the Liberals of East Peterborough in convention assembled hereby express our complete confidence in Hon. G. W. Ross, the eloquent and able premier of this province and his administration. That we recognize the great work done during the brief term he has been in power in developing the resources of the province, opening up newer portions with the result of increasing the population and importance of the Province. That he and his Government are worthy of the support and confidence of all progressive citizens since their policy is calculated to bring prosperity and advancement and to maintain Ontario in the high place she holds in the sisterhood of the confederation, as the most enterprising and best governed state in the Empire.

After cheers for the candidate, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the King, the most successful and enthusiastic Liberal convention ever held in the county came to a close.

MR. MAGUIRE SO TAKE PHYSICAL TRAINING.

Prominent Member of Y. M. C. A. Goes to Toronto Training School.

Probably no town in Canada has contributed more largely to the ranks of executive offficers and physical directors' staff of the Y. M.C.A., than Peterborough, and this morning another young man left town to go to Toronto where he will take a six months' course in the Y. M. C. A. Training School. Mr. Walter Maguire has for seven years been actively associated with Y.M.C.A. work in the best Y.M.C.A. town in Canada, and now has gone to prepare himself for making the physical instruction of Y.M.C.A. members his life work.

Mr. Maguire will be missed both in the Association here, where he has taken a prominent part in all its enterprises, having been for a time a leader of the working boys' class, a member of the Physical Committee, and also a member of the Leaders' Corps, and in other organizations in town with which he has been prominently associated.

In the George street choir, where Mr. Maguire was one of the most faithful members, his loss will be felt. For two years he has won the prize given for regular attendance at rehearsals and church services.

Mr. Maguire is the second leader of the Boys' Class to take up the physical work, and there is a possibility that a third may soon follow him. Mr. Maguire has been for three years foreman of the blanket department of the Ackerman Harness Factory.

St. Andrew's.

Service preparatory to communion will be held to-morrow (Friday) evening at 8 o'clock in St. Andrew's church. The Rev. J. W. Whitelaw, M.A., B.D., will preach. The Session will meet at 7.30. Offering for Poor and Session Fund.

Notice.

Owing to illness, Miss Foy will not reopen her classes in Kindergarten music until the week commencing January 25th. 1d

IN APPRECIATION OF RECTOR'S WORK.

All Saint's Choir Pass Hearty Vote of Thanks to Rev. W. L. Armitage.

At the close of the choir practice in All Saint's church last night Rev. Mr. Armitage addressed the members briefly, expressing his regret at the circumstances which made a separation necessary. He had enjoyed his association with them, and hoped that the choir as an organization would continue to develop the musical talent which he was certain it possessed. He urged the members to stand together and to give his successor the hearty support which had been accorded him.

In response a number of the members spoke appreciatively of the interest the rector had taken in the welfare of the choir, both as leader and individually, and expressed best wishes for his future success. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the retiring Rector. One of the members presented Mr. Armitage with an ebony baton.

GREAT SUCCESS OF SISTERS' BAZAAR.

Receipts Large and Affair was Gratifyingly Successful.

The Prize Winner in Some of the Drawings—Returns Thanks to Donors and Assistants.

The receipts which have just been tabulated, from the Bazaar recently given by the Sisters of Mount St. Joseph, show it to be by far the most successful of any bazaar ever held, and the result is most gratifying indeed to the zealous Sisters who have worked so industriously in its interest.

The Sisters wish to return thanks to the citizens generally for the liberal support accorded their efforts, and also desire to express their appreciation of the kindly interest which prompted many of the business men and others to contribute articles of value to the bazaar.

The support of this charitable enterprise has not been confined to the town or county of Peterborough. From all parts of the Diocese help has been received, and this with the liberality of the citizens of Peterborough has contributed to make the bazaar the great success it proved to be. There can be no better evidence that the public appreciate the value of the good work being done by the Sisters than the fact that the means which they have taken of raising funds with which to prosecute their work, meets with such a liberal public support. The ladies of St. Peter's parish are deserving of great praise for their untiring efforts on behalf of the bazaar, and no small degree of credit in due them for its unqualified success.

The names of the prize-winners have been announced. For the list of twenty prizes the following are the winners:—

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Opening of O. H. A. Season Last Night—First Day of Winter Meet—To-morrow Night's Game.

LUCK WAS WITH THE PICTON TEAM.

And Peterborough Suffered Defeat by a Score of 6-3.

Yesterday was not so much an off-day with Peterborough hockey teams as it was a lucky day with the opposing teams. The seniors went to Picton to play the fast team of the Canning Town in the first game in the intermediate O.H.A. Series in No. 2 District.

Although comparatively little has been said about the strength of the Picton team, there was a suspicion that while little was being said the little Peninsular Town had a team which would take considerable beating. This proved to be the case, and in the game last night, which was a fast one, the home team won by a score of 6—3. That the win was by no means an easy one though is shown by the fact that at three-quarters time the score stood a tie —three all—and during the last fifteen minutes of the game the Picton team scored three goals, two of which were extremely lucky ones, and did not indicate any particularly good play.

The rink, which is one of the best in Canada, was crowded, and even there Peterborough has quite a number of supporters. Quite a crowd came down from Belleville, too, all of them being Peterborough rooters.

The team played well, and although the game was lost to them it will have an educative effect which will not be lost sight of or neutralized. Although of course the boys had hoped to come back with victory perched on their banners, they recognized that this would probably be the hardest game of the season, at least in this district, and the loss, coming as it did, principally because of the fact that Picton had the luck, has not had the effect of disheartening them.

Will Cavanah and Fred Whitcroft have been working under difficulties from the effects of colds, and were not in a condition to play as good a game as they are capable of. Taking all the facts into consideration the game and its result was a satisfactory one, and demonstrated that Peterborough has a team which can, under equal conditions, hold its own with the best of them. After the game a special train brought the team back to Trenton, where they remained until this morning.

The Globe says of the game:

The first game in district No. 2, intermediate O.H.A., was played at Picton last night between Peterborough and Picton, Picton winning by 6 to 3. The score at half time was 3 to 2 in favour of Picton. On resuming play in the second half Peterborough scored one, tying the score. Then Picton added three more in the last fifteen minutes of play. The game was generally free from roughness, although a number were ruled off each team for slight infringement of rules. Teams:—

Referee, "Chaucer" Elliott; goal umpires, Wasson, of Peterborough, and Pope of Picton; timekeepers, Kelley, of Picton, and Graham, of Peterborough. Attendance, between 800 and 1,000.

COBOURG YOUNGSTERS HAD GREATER WEIGHT

And Won From Peterborough Juniors in Fast Game.

Opening Game of O. H. A. in Peterborough Resulted in Win for the Visitors.

The Junior O. H. A. season opened here last night when the Peterborough youngsters ran up against the Cobourg seven, a heavier, and, as last night's game proved, a faster aggregation of players, and suffered defeat by a score of 7 to 3. The game was witnessed by a good crowd and furnished plenty of excitement from start to finish. This was the first game in which the entire Peterborough team has figured together, and the showing they made against a septette which is heavier in every position, is one of which the team need not be ashamed. When the boys play together more and become acquainted with each other's style of play, the team should make a better showing. The score at half time stood 2—2, although it was only the excellent work of Van Every in goal that prevented the score being larger. He stopped shot after shot that was labelled for the nets, and in fact played the best game he has ever played.

The game was characterized by close checking and in this the visitors weight had a decided effect and counted heavily in winning them the game. It was comparatively clean although a number of men were ruled off at different periods for minor offences. Cobourg was penalized most frequently, and at one time was playing five men against six. Floyd was the worst offender, going to the fence three times, twice being for five minutes.

Harry King, who refereed the game, kept the players well in hand, and any infraction was speedily punished. The players generally, though, showed a desire to play cleanly, and any roughness was due to the hard checking.

Some really brilliant playing was done in spots. The home team found a difficulty in getting their combination to work and were too closely checked to score by individual rushes, although some good rushes were made by Parker, McFarlane and Long. The visitors had a stone wall defence. Floyd was by far the heaviest man on either team and used his body to good advantage, while Crossin at point played a good game, taking care of everything that came his way, and made the work of McCullough comparatively light.

The visitors played good combination and this, combined with their weight, won them the game. Bently played the star game and was responsible for a majority of the goals for Cobourg. He is a good stick-handler and a strong and fast skater.

The first two goals went to Cobourg Mofatt scoring the first in 3 minutes on a pass from Floyd after a splendid piece of combination play. Floyd went off for five minutes for tripping. Bently was the next to touch the Peterborough net, doing the trick in fifteen minutes. Shortly after the face-off Bently was given five minutes' rest for slashing and Floyd and McFarlane went off to keep him company, each getting two minutes. Kennedy got the first for the home team in six minutes and repeated the trick in half a minute, taking the puck from behind the net and scoring. The referee's bell rang for half time as the Peterborough team was making a rush for the Cobourg goal, and had another half minute been left to play a goal would have been scored. The second half started fast and both teams checked hard. The first goal went to the visitors, Floyd doing the needful in five minutes. McFarlane, however tied the score in five minutes after making a splendid rush from centre. Parker also distinguished himself, dodging practically the whole team and shooting on goal. McCullogh, however, spoiled the chance for a score. McCallum broke the tie in half a minute and for the remainder of the game the home team failed to score, although repeated rushes were made into the visitors' territory Burnett scored three goals in succession in ten, one and one-half minutes, respectively, making the final score 7—3. Floyd was again penalized for four minutes.

The work of Van Every last night was of the star variety. He stopped hot ones with everything, body, hands or stick, and was heartily applauded for his excellent work. Moore also played a good game, clearing well, and also starting some good rushes. Captain Parker was the star of the team, and time and again broke up combinations which would doubtless have resulted in scores. The forward line was pitted against a quartette which checked harder and were twenty-five per cent heavier, but in view of this fact they played well and with practice in combination should show up better in future games.

Bently was the fastest man on the ice and frequently found himself too fast for the remainder of the team, which, is generally well balanced and well up in combination playing. They are good stick handlers and fast skaters. Floyd has a drop shot which he uses to good effect, while the team, as a whole shot well.

The teams lined up as follows:

Peterborough		Cobourg
Van Every	goal	McCullough
Moore	point	Crossin
Parker	c. point	Floyd
Kennedy	forwards	Burnett
Long		Bently
McFarlane		McCallum
Grose		Moffatt
G. Lee	goal umpire	Score
F. A. Clarke	time keeper	P. Bond

Referee,—Dr. Harry King.

HOCKEY.

The Junior Guild do hereby accept the challenge of the Young Snowflakes to a game of hockey which was to be played on Friday night at the Brock street rink; but, owing to the misfortune of having two players on the sick list wish the game postponed for an indefinite time.—H. Rosborough, Captain.

* * *

At the Cobourg-Peterborough game last evening the progress of the game at Picton was bulletined, the spectators evidently appreciating the enterprise of the Hockey Club. Special facilities have been arranged for and in future the results of all out-of-town games in which the seniors participate will be announced.

* * *

The Executive of the Hockey Club will meet to-night at the Examiner office at 7.15 for a short while.

* * *

Lakefield has forwarded to Sec. E. S. Clarry of the Trent Valley League a protest against the T. A. S. game. Lakefield alleges that the game should be declared off owing to the fact that Mr. Harry King, who refereed the game was not on the list of official referees and Crough was not eligible to play, not having been a resident of Peterborough since Nov. 1st.

As to the first charge Lakefield, as a matter of fact, has not the ghost of a show, as the constitution distinctly says that the referee's decision is final and, moreover, that the secretary of the League can appoint the referee and he is at perfectly liberty to go outside of the list of official referees at his own discretion. For the second charge it might be stated Crough was granted a permit before he played, he having made a satisfactory declaration contingent with the circumstances Crough while virtually a resident of Peterborough for the past year went to Toronto for a month last fall. He returned, however in the course of business purely, without regard to his handling of the stick.

* * *

In answer to the protest of the Suicide club, which appeared in last night's issue of this paper, the manager of the Snow Flakes wishes to say on behalf of the team that they cannot accept the Suicides' challenge, as they — the Flakes—won out in the two schedule games, and are therefore champions of No. 4 ward by right of conquest. Mr. C. Willson, late of the New Westminsters, B.C., who plays goal for the Suicides, says he will never go between the flags again unless Hector Lafave plays point to defend him, at any rate he does not want to meet the Flakes again.

"Hustler."

TO-MORROW NIGHT'S GAME.

The first local game in the Trent Valley League will be played to-morrow night, when the T.A.S. team will make its first public appearance for the season on the local ice. The Keene team will be the visitors, and a good game is looked for. Keene this year will be considerably strengthened, and Mr. DeVine has received word to the effect that the team will be here without fail. The T.A.S. will have a new fine-up, and expect to start out the home games with a win.

The team will be:—

The game will start promptly on time and will be finished early. The visiting team will be banquetted after the game at McCallum's.

This fast little mare was driven by C. Fife, of Keene, son of Mr. Chas. Fife, the owner. The boy certainly drove excellently and is far from being a green hand at the work. HE'S KIND TO CANADA

LORD WOLSELEY IN HIS "THE STORY OF A SOLDIER'S LIFE."

On the Whole a Fair and Fearless Story —The Red River Expedition, of Which the Famous Soldier Was Chief—A Tribute to Gen. Buller—Praise of Colonel Denison—Splendid Fighting Material.

No Canadian could write of his people with greater respect or warmer sympathy than that displayed by Lord Wolseley in his new book "The Story of a Soldier's Life." There is not a trace of condescension to be found in any of the great soldier's references to Canada, and on at least one occasion, where an impartial observer might well have spoken unfavorably of our militia, Lord Wolseley's tone has no infection of scorn, but continues kindly to the end. Lord Wolseley has not tried to please everybody by his comments on men and affairs. He misses more than one opportunity to "play to the grand stand," and receive praise to official circles at the expense of less influential persons. Nor on the other hand is the "Story of a Soldier's Life" a series of attacks on superior officers, as has been the case in many books written by soldiers. Occasionally the writer speaks impatiently, as, for instance, when he tells of Mr. Gladstone ordering home the British troops from the St. Lawrence, and again when he reviews the political condition of affairs in Canada at the time of the Red River Rebellion. On the whole, Lord Wolseley's autobiography is a fair and fearless story of a gallant soldier's career.

Red River Expedition.

In that portion of the work which particularly concerns Canada he describes Riel as a noisy idler, of little personal courage, but considerable determination. He emphasizes the fact that Riel was a pure-blooded French-Canadian, and not a half-breed, as is commonly believed. When Gen. Wolseley, at the head of his relief expedition, reached Winnipeg (then Fort Garry), they found Riel's breakfast, still warm, upon the table, while the arms and clothes of himself and his party were scattered in confusion about the room. The disappointment of the soldiers, cheated of a fight after their weary march, was intense. Their only satisfaction was in running up the Union Jack on the flagpole which had borne the rebel ensign, and in firing a salute with the guns of the fort. "The Red River expedition," says Wolseley, "was the cheapest undertaking we ever carried out. The total expense was less than £100,000. For that sum 1,400 men were sent by rail and steamer some fifty-two miles, and then in canoes and boats for some 600 miles, through a wilderness of rivers, lakes, forests, and rocks, where, as no food was to be obtained everything required had to be taken with us, and transported over difficult portages for many miles."

Tribute to Buller.

Speaking of the hardships of the expedition, Lord Wolseley pays a tribute to Sir Redvers Buller, in this passage:

"All the officers with the expeditionary force soon became expert in making portages and in mending their boats, no one more so than my very able friend and valued comrade, Redvers Buller. It was here I first made his acquaintance, and I am proud to feel that we have been firm friends ever since. He was a first-rate axeman, and I think he was the only man with us of any rank who could carry a hundred-pound barrel of pork over a portage on his back. He could mend a boat and have her back in the water with her crew and all her stores on board, whilst many, under similar circumstances, would have been still making up their minds what to do. Full of resource, and personally absolutely fearless, those serving under him always trusted him fully. He afterwards served as my chief of the staff in the expedition sent too late to try to relieve the hero and martyr, Gen. Charles Gordon, in Khartoum, and no man ever deserved better of his country than he did upon that occasion."

Praise for Col. Denison.

Following this is an acknowledgment of the services rendered the expedition by Lord Strathcona, then chief of the Hudson's Bay Company, and the traders. Col. George T. Denison, of Toronto, is spoken of in the most complimentary terms. Says Lord Wolseley:

"One of the ablest, and, professionally, one of the best read officers I ever knew is Col. George Denison, of Toronto, who for many years commanded the Governor-General of Canada's Body Guard. The descendant of many generations of gallant soldiers who have, during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, fought for the British Crown in Canada, he would have been a military leader of note in any army he joined. It is much to be regretted that he did not adopt the army as a profession. Had he done so, he must have risen to eminence. He gained the prize offered by the Emperor of Russia for the best essay on cavalry, which was a great distinction, as it was open to the officers of all nations. During the annoyance caused to Canada by the Fenians I came to know him well. With the Body Guard he patrolled the left bank of the Niagara River above the Falls while the excitement lasted. They were just the corps for that work, and he was just the man to command them effectively. I realized at the time that no similar number of regular cavalry could have done that duty as effectively. But he was a man in a thousand, and a born cavalry leader."

Of Canadian officers he adds:

"No commander could wish to have better soldiers than those of the two Canadian militia battalions who constituted the bulk of the brigade I then had with me. Our young officers of the regular army are too prone to depend upon regulations, which are apt to dwarf their natural military instincts in positions where the Canadian officer would act according to the common sense that is within him."

Splendid Fighting Material.

Regarding the men, Lord Wolseley says:

"I had come to know and highly value the Canadian militia, having had the advantage upon several occasions of commanding their camps of exercise. I was fully aware of the splendid material of which that force was constituted. The men are extremely handy and self-reliant; in fact, when well trained they cannot be beaten as fighting soldiers. Their officers, accustomed in civil life to think for themselves, their minds not dwarfed or trammeled by strict rules and regulations, were men after my own heart, and for the work before us they certainly were the best possible material. In parenthesis may I say that if wisdom ruled our councils upon military matter—it does so but seldom—we should employ a Canadian division under their own officers in every serious war we undertake. Fortunate indeed will be the commander-in-chief who should have such a military force at his disposal in any war into which England may be forced."

Russian Poles in Canada.

Up in Renfrew County there is a settlement of Russian Poles, who live perhaps the most squalid lives of any dwellers in the Province. They number in all about four hundred men, women and children. How they manage to wrest a living from the scant earth that overlies the grim Laurentian rocks of the district nobody knows. A few potatoes, a little wheat are grown. Their only flesh food is salt pork, except when a deer comes too near the clearings. Then, in season or out of season, there is venison for the Poles. It is alleged that the lordly moose also meets the same fate.

The Poles were brought to Canada some years ago when Mr. John R. Booth was building the Parry Sound Railway. When the construction was completed a number of the navvies decided to remain in Canada, and took up land grants in the rear Renfrew townships. They still maintain their national customs. One of these is connected with weddings. The young couple, after the ceremony has been performed, repair to their shanty, where a dance is held. Every male guest is expected to dance with the bride, not once, but perhaps a dozen times. Each dance costs a quarter, and it is recorded that at one particularly large and fashionable event of this kind the happy bride danced for two nights and a day. The money goes to pay for the furniture of the shanty.

The Poles have taken kindly to the "whiskey blanc" of the French-Canadian, and as they are split up into several factions under leaders fights are common. Not much damage is done, however, as fists are the only weapons. At first they all carried knives, and used them, but when one settler got five years for cutting and slashing a compatriot, the knife, as part of a Polish gentleman's equipment, went out of fashion.

EXCHANGING BANK PAPER.

How It Is Done in the New Toronto Clearing House Which Was Recently Opened in That City.

The New Toronto Clearing House in the building of the Bank of British North America, corner of Yonge and Wellington streets, was opened for business on a recent morning in the last month of 1903. The clearing house is situated on the first flat above the ground floor, and is a handsome, spacious apartment 49 by 45 feet. The room is well lighted by large windows and the furnishings are all done in finely polished quarter-cut oak, the wall panelings being of oak, and green and red plaster, and the floor of polished wood. In a semi-circle round the room are arranged the desks for the various banks, while near the centre is the desk for the manager, Mr. G. W. Yarker. Provision has been made for twenty-four banks, but at present only nineteen of these desks are in use, as there are only that number of banks in the city.

Four massive pillars, fifteen feet high, support the ceiling; and the carving of the woodwork above the entry, and of the panelings, is very artistic.

Here is how the system is worked: Each bank is represented by two clerks—one, a messenger, who brings with him the cheques, drafts, etc., that his bank has received the day previous upon the other banks, which are called the "exchange," and are assorted for each bank and placed in envelopes. The messengers take their places in a line outside of the semi-circle of desks, each opposite the desk assigned to his bank, while on the opposite side of each desk is a clerk of the bank represented by that desk.

The hour for making the exchanges or general delivery is 10 a.m. Just previous to that time the manager takes his position at an elevated desk near the centre of the chamber and calls the house to order. At the stroke of ten each messenger moves forward to the desk next his own and delivers the envelopes containing the cheques, etc., for the bank represented by that desk to the clerk on the inside. The messenger immediately passes to the next desk, delivering the exchanges for the bank represented by that desk, and so on until he has made the circuit of the room, and reached his own desk, the starting point, having delivered to each bank the exchanges he had for it, and consequently delivering his entire exchanges for all the banks. Every other messenger does the same, the whole moving on at the same time. In other words, each messenger has visited every bank and delivered to each everything his bank has received the day previous from it, consequently the entire exchanges are delivered, while each clerk on the inside has, of course, received from every other bank the amounts each had against his bank.

Besides the time saved by the clearing house method over the old system, each bank is enabled to know the exact balance for or against it at once, as the clerks after receiving the envelopes containing the cheques, etc., make an entry of the aggregate amount from each bank, the difference between the total amount they have received, and the total amount brought by them being the balance either due to or from the cleaning house to each bank.

Kitamaat.

Few men in the Province know north British Columbia better than Mr. James Findlay, and he only claims to have a surface knowledge, so vast is the country. He inclines to the belief that Kitamaat would make the best terminus for the G. T. P. Railway. Owing to the readiness with which it can be approached, both by rail and water, it seems to him a better site than Port Simpson; moreover, it is farther away from those now famous United States islands in Portland Canal. At present the chief thing about Kitamaat is its Indian reserve.

Mr. Findlay has been told that a line could be put through from Kitamaat Arm to the rich Bulkeley Valley, without heavy grades. The valley is a beautiful one, well timbered and easily adaptable for agricultural purposes. The Bulkeley Valley is, says Mr. Findlay, well mineralized in copper and gold. Intending settlers have pre-empted a good deal of land there within the past few years. From Bella Coola a fine valley runs up into the famous gold country, comprehensively called Omineca, while further on is the celebrated Chilcoten ranching country. For a railway the grades would be easy. The chief settlement has been by a colony of Norwegians, who were taken there during Col. Baker's incumbency of the Provincial Secretaryship. They have already broken considerable ground, and are raising cattle and grain.

Principal Story in Montreal.

Montreal many years ago had a tall, handsome young Scotchman as assistant minister of St. Andrew's Church. His name was Robert Story. To-day he is Principal Story, of Glasgow University, and the other day he was telling the young lady students of the commercial capital of Scotland that their mental culture will not expand over reading the novels of Annie Swan and Mrs. Henry Wood. He is equally famed in Scotland for his acid wit and fine presence. Tall, white bearded, with handsome flashing black eyes, the Principal carries himself with the mien of an old-time cardinal. In debate in the Established General Assembly he is feared for the keenness of his replies, couched in irony which no member can equal. An example of his withering retort may be given. An officer in the suite of the Lord High Commissioner had, in the lobby of the Assembly, accidentally entangled his spur in the Principal's robe and torn it. Profuse apologies followed, but the Principal was not to be placated. Staring at the delinquent with his haughtiest gaze, Principal Story icily remarked: "An officer of Volunteers, I presume?"

Could Not Sleep At Night.

Was All Run Down.

Had No Appetite.

FOOD WOULD NOT DIGEST.

Mrs. L. W. Warner, Riverdale, N.S., is glad there is such a remedy as

Burdock Blood Bitters.

IT CURED HER AND WILL CURE YOU.

She says: "I wish to add my testimony to the many others who have spoken so highly as to the unfailing virtues of Burdock Blood Bitters. I was all run down, had no appetite, lost all ambition, could not sleep much and had terrible headache and backache, and my food did not digest properly. I saw B.B.B. advertised, so concluded to give it a trial, thinking if it did no good it could do no harm. But after using one bottle I began to feel better, and by the time I had used three bottles I was feeling like a new person. I am so glad there is such a remedy provided for suffering humanity, and cannot praise it enough for I think there is no medicine like it on the market."

A NAVAL PROBLEM.

Bridge Is Too Exposed for the Signallers, Bunting Tossers.

The signallers in the British navy are nick-named "bunting-tossers," and like their compeers in our land services from a set apart by themselves. There is a sort of Freemasonary in their circles, and they are somewhat non-communicative except to certain superiors in rank. Even then, messages during active service are passed through, and need not necessarily transpire, as when a deserter in the Eastern Transvaal "called up" by helio his own station, and inquired, to the delight of his own comrades, how "old Broadwood" was "getting on."

Signalling communication is maintained between warships by colored signal flags, flag semaphore, and wireless telegraphy. The group of signallers aboard is under the command of a non-commissioned officer, called the "Yeoman of Signals." As in the army, both he and his signallers are badly paid for their highly technical services.

During the time of peace the means of communication may be termed effective. Marconi's receiving instrument obtains the fullest advantage it demands, viz., exposure on the top of a very lofty mainmast.

But what of the situation during a naval engagement? The Yoeman of Signals knows well that it is an impossible one. Nelson paced the deck of the Victory during Trafalgar's battle with Hardy alongside, and his signalman behind him. The captain of the huge H.M.S. London of our Mediterranean squadron, with its dreadful amount of top hamper and running rigging, under the conditions of the present day high velocity lyddite shell, must retire within the conning tower under the forebridge, and its chart house superstructure.

The fore and after bridges and their superstructures in action will be shot away or set on fire to the danger of the directing officers in the conning tower immediately underneath by reason of splinters and smoke. German warship constructors are obviating this danger by greatly modified designs composed of iron and steel.

The position, therefore, of the signallers is in battle untenable. Marconi's instrument in time of peace can be tapped, which is bad enough; during action it will be shot away. How will visual signalling be maintained during a naval battle of the future? Yeomen of Signals shrug their shoulders when you ask them this question. No one aboard ship will be able to live unless under cover of casemates. Even the doctors will not trouble about amputations in the confusion, but move from horror-stricken battery to battery lending first aid.

The only solution of the difficulty lies in wireless telegraphy. At Argostoli last year Prince Louis of Battenburg with his weaker fleet, ran the blockade successfully by paralysing the wireless telegraphy instruments. Not only must the instruments be "tuned," but the "receiver" must be also within the coning tower.

Sudden Changes of Temperature

Bring Hosts of Coughs and Colds—Serious Results are Prevented by the Use of

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

Coughs and colds usually arise from sudden changes of temperature. It may be change of weather, passing from a warmer to a colder room or exposure to a draught.

It is not always possible to prevent exposure in these ways, but it is possible to prevent serious results by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

This great medicine has saved thousands of lives by preventing pneumonia, consumption, and other forms of lung trouble.

It is mother's favourite remedy for croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, and the coughs and colds to which children are subject. Being pleasant to the taste, the little ones delight to take it.

It is prized by the old people because of the prompt and thorough relief it brings for asthma and other chronic ailments of the bronchial tubes.

The very fact that the sale of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is more than three times that of any similar remedy, and was never so large as it is to-day, is sufficient proof of its merit. In the great majority of homes it is kept on hand for cases of emergency.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 35 cents a bottle, family size (three times as much) 60 cents, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on the bottle. 3

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Sores, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, sickness of the stomach, eruptions or blotches, pimples in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "cold forms" treatment—poisons of mineral potassa—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. CABINET PENSIONERS

BRITISH MINISTERS RECEIVE LIBERAL RETIRING ALLOWANCES.

Luckiest of Civil Servants—If They Have Served Four Years They Get a Pension of $9,000 a Year—Some of Them Decline to Accept the Nation's Bounty—Other Official Pensions and Sinecures.

A fact which is usually kept secret by those interested is that the chief British Cabinet Ministers are entitled to a retiring allowance—or pension, to use a more common term—of £2,000 a year, provided that they have held office for four years. It matters not whether this period has been continuous or has been made up of several short terms.

How many people are fortunate enough to receive an annuity of £2,000 after four years' work, however hard it may have been, especially when they have been paid at the rate of £5,000 for every twelve months of labor, as in the case of many Ministers? In justice, it should be stated that some of them decline to accept the nation's bounty. They have enough money of their own, and they do not require a pension. Those members of the Government who hold minor posts are expected to put in longer terms of service, and, naturally, receive less. The second-class rank entitles the holder to £1,200 a year after six years, and the third-class rank means ten years' service and $800 a year.

Lucky Civil Servants.

Ministers may be more favored than other servants of the country in the matter of length of service, but not as regards the rate of the retiring allowance. The civil servant, who has to retire at sixty, receives as a pension a yearly sum equal to two-thirds of his salary; whereas the Cabinet Minister occupying a post worth £5,000 annually has to be content with two-fifths.

It will come as a great surprise to the majority of people to learn that the expenditure of Great Britain in payment of pensions is seven and a half millions sterling every year! In India — poverty-stricken India—the amount paid out every year for a like purpose is six millions, of which three and a half millions are for the military, and two and a half millions are for the civil department.

There is one Cabinet Minister who is better off in the matter of a retiring allowance than all the others; this is the Lord Chancellor. He is in receipt of a double salary, because he acts in a dual capacity. As an Appeal judge his remuneration is £6,000 per annum, and as Speaker of the House of Lords he has a further sum of £4,000.

Not Much Work.

The latter office is little more than a formality. The Lord Chancellor does not have to keep order, as does the Speaker of the Lower House. The retiring allowance of this Minister is £5,000, owing to his twofold office.

The Speaker of the House of Commons has a salary of £5,000 and a grand residence. His office is by no means a sinecure, and ten or eleven years of work is enough for a man of the most robust constitution. When he retires, his brother Commoners vote a special allowance, and a grateful sovereign creates him a peer.

The Lord Judges and the judges of the King's Bench and the Chancery Divisions receive a salary of £5,000, and their retiring allowances is practically two-thirds, being £3,500. The Lords of Appeal have a salary of £6,000, and a pension of £4,000. The greater portion of the seven and a half millions just mentioned goes to the army and navy; the balance—something under two millions—is absorbed by civil servants, the civil list, and hereditary pensions.

Duty on Coals.

In reading the obituary notice of the late Duke of Richmond, many people will learn, for the first time, that the original holder of the title was a son of Charles II. He was created Duke of Richmond for no other reason than that he was the son of the Merry Monarch; but that worthy sovereign did not stop there. In his generosity towards his son, he was profuse with other people's money, and in 1676 he granted to the Duke and his heirs for ever a duty of 1s. per ton for all coals sent from the Tyne for concumption in England. One hundred years later this charge was converted into a perpetual pension of £19,000, chargeable on the Consolidated Funds. This was afterwards redeemed for £633,333, and invested in lands settled on the Duke and his heirs.

One of the most flagrant instances of the indefensible system of perpetual pensions was that of the Master of the Hawks, a post conferred on the Duke of St. Albans and his heirs for ever by the same generous monarch, Charles II.

For Doing Nothing.

The total cost of this office, including salaries, purchase of hawks, maintenance, and other expenses, was nearly £1,400 a year. This was afterwards reduced to £965, and that sum was paid until 1891, although there had been neither hawks nor falconers for many a long year. In that year it was treated as an hereditary pension, and was commuted for £18,335.

It was in the early eighties that the public attention was called to these abuses of the country's money, and the effect upon the holders of the pensions was remarkable. The system of commutation in vogue was that of giving a lump sum equal to twenty-seven years' purchase. This was regarded as much too high a figure, and more than 300 holders, fearing that the scale would be altered, commuted their pensions for a total sum nearly £19,000. This was between the year 1880 and 1887. In the latter year a Select Committee recommended that pensions granted for abolished offices should in no case be continued beyond the lives of the present holders of the annuity.

Dr. Agnew's Powder.

Catarrh, if neglected, soon develops into the chronic form, accompanied by the most nauseating and disgusting symptoms. Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder is a specific for curing Colds, Coughs, Deafness, Headache, Sore Throat, Tonsilitis, Cold in the Head, Influenza and all other diseases of the nose and throat. Mr. C. Spooner, a literary man, and editor of the Kingston News, Ontario, writes: "I was troubled with constant headache, and used almost every concoction sold under the name of 'Headache Cure' without obtaining any relief whatever. At last I heard of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and thought to give it a trial, although having but little faith in its curative action. I was at once relieved and after using it but a short time almost entirely free from the disorder."

GOOD-NIGHT

I am not brave enough to sing
The requiem of a hope just dead;
That word "good-bye" would surely bring
The shadow upon swifter wing—
Come, let us say good-night instead.

See where upon the water's crest
The sky comes down, a sable pall—
To our poor vision, dim at best,
That curtain of rare amethyst
Marks the sure ending of it all.

Ah, heart, the lesson you forget,
The wind which goes with hurrying sweep
Sees farther on, and farther yet,
The white ships go, the waters fret.
The brave, true stars their vigil keep.

So not good-bye, good-night, that's all,
The loneliness, the loss is mine;
To-morrow, when the glad winds call
The purple folds will backward fall,
And leave me with my wand in thine.

—Margaret E. Sangster.

MUSKRAT ARCHITECTURE.

Seemingly Careless It Is a Wonderfully Constructed and Comfortable House.

The muskrat builds a most comfortable house. In an article entitled "The Keeper of the Water Gate," published in Leslie Popular Monthly, Mr. Charles G. D. Roberts describes this strictly utilitarian structure. The entrance, dug with great and persistent toil from the very bottom of the bank, for the better discouragement of the muskrat's deadliest enemy, the mink, runs inward for nearly two feet, and then upward on a long slant some five or six feet through the natural soil, to a point where the shore is dry land at the average level of the water. Over this exit, which is dry at the time of the building, the muskrat raises his house.

The house is a seemingly careless, roughly rounded heap of grass roots, long water-weeds, lily roots and stems and mud, with a few sticks woven into the foundation. The site is cunningly chosen, so that the roots and stems of alders or other trees give it secure anchorage; and the whole structure, for all its apparent looseness, is so well compacted as to be secure against the sweep of the spring freshets. About six feet in diameter at the base, it rises about the same distance from the foundation, a rude, sedge-thatched dam, of which something more than three feet may show itself above the ice.

To the unobservant eye the muskrat house in the alders might look like a mass of dirt in which the rank water-grass had taken root. But within the clumsy pit is a shapely, small, warm chamber, lined with the softest grasses. From one side of the chamber the burrow slants down to another and much larger chamber, the floor of which at high water may be partly flooded. From this chamber lead down two burrows, one, the main passage, opening frankly in the channel of the creek, and the other, longer and more devious, terminating in a narrow and cunningly concealed exit, behind a submerged root. This passage is little used, and is intended chiefly as a way of escape in case of an extreme emergency, such as, for example, the invasion of a particularly enterprising mink by way of the main water-gate.

The muskrat is no match for the snake-swift, bloodthirsty mink, except in the one accomplishment of holding his breath under water; and a mink must be very ravenous, of quite mad with the blood-lust, to dare the deep water-gate and the long subaqueous passage to the muskrat's citadel at seasons of average high water. In times of drought, however, when the entrance is nearly uncovered and the water goes but a little way up the dark tunnels, the mink will often glide in, slaughter the garrison and occupy the well-built citadel.

Curious Western Romance.

For some time past two young ranchers have been seeking the hand of a fair maid in the neighborhood of The Buttes, says The Calgary Herald. There came a crisis a few evenings ago when a dance was held in that section. The dance was at the home of the young lady in question, and the two suitors were invited.

During the evening the rivals got talking over the affair, and one wagered a saddle horse against two steers as to who should have the first dance. Two judges and a referee were chosen by the parties concerned. The lovers then approached the young lady, and she showed a preference for the chap who bet his saddle horse. Everybody at the dance chuckled to know about the bet, and there were many side bets made.

The winner of the bet, with a bill of sale, took two cattle belonging to his rival and at once butchered one. The father of the young fellow who lost his bet tried to prevent the winner from taking the cattle, claiming the cattle did not carry the brand of his son. So enraged was the old gentleman that he made a journey to Calgary to invoke the law, but not one of the city's many lawyers cared to take the case, and he returned home disheartened.

According to the story the young lady's father knew all about the bet, and when the girl chose the man who wagered his horse, the parent was so angry that he took his daughter upstairs and lectured her on her choice, as he favored the beaten rival.

The whole affair has caused much talk in the neighborhood.

Went Off With the Bucket.

An Irishman applied to the skipper of an English sailing vessel in Liverpool for a berth as a foremast hand.

"Have ye ever been to sea before?" says the skipper.

"I have," says Paddy.

"Ye're an Irishman?" says the captain.

"I am," says Paddy.

"Have ye got your certificate?" says the captain.

"I have not," says Paddy, "but I have served aboard the Cunard and Allan liners.

"Well, I won't take you without ye get a paper," says the skipper.

Poor Paddy was astounded, but away he went and got a written character. He returned on board and was engaged by the captain. While he was there another man came aboard for a job.

"What are ye?" says the captain.

"An Englishman," said the man.

"All right. Go forward," says the captain.

The vessel put out to sea. The third day, while engaged in swabbing the deck, the English hand got hold of a bucket, and while attempting to fill it with water, overbalanced and fell overboard and was drowned. Paddy saw it, and away he went to the skipper.

"Do ye remember," said he, "the time ye engaged me?"

"I do," said the captain.

"Do ye mind ye wouldn't take me without a character?"

"I do."

"And do ye mind the Englishman that ye gave a job to at the same time as ye gave me?"

"I do," said the captain.

"Well," said Paddy, "ye didn't ax him for a character; now he's gone off with your bucket."

Sir Archibald Geikie.

Sir Archibald Geikie, the newly-elected Secretary of the Royal Society, who takes Sir Michael Foster's place, is the best-known British, and it might almost be said the most eminent European, geologist. He is a fellow of the Royal Societies of London and Edinburgh, and a correspondent of the Institute of France, and of innumerable foreign Academies. He is the author of numerous geological memoirs in the publications of scientific societies, and his many works on geology began with "The Story of a Boulder," as long ago as 1858. Director-General of the Scottish Survey, the first occupant of many great chairs of geology, and director-general of the Geological Survey of the United Kingdom, and of the Geological Museum, there is hardly any honor which science, in Sir Archibald Geikie's branch of it, has to bestow that he has not already received.

THE RESIGNED BISHOPRIC.

Nova Scotia a See of Antiquity and Historical Importance.

The bishopric of Nova Scotia, which the Right Rev. Frederick Courtney announced on Dec. 1 his intention of resigning, is a see which for antiquity and historic importance may be compared with quite a number of those which possess seats in the House of Lords. It was the first colonial bishopric of the Anglican Church. It was created in 1787, and in 1839, when Newfoundland and the Bermudas were abstracted from it, it had grown to be, though not the largest, the most widely distributed diocese of the Church. It then embraced, beside these two outlying island dependencies, the islands of Cape Breton and Prince Edward, and the colonies of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

The retiring Bishop is a son of the late Rev. Septimus Courtney, fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge, and was born at Plymouth in 1837. He was educated at King's College, London, and his first important charge was in Glasgow. He came to New York in 1876 as assistant minister of St. James', and subsequently held the rectory of St. James', Chicago, and of St. Paul's, Boston. On April 29, 1888 (sixteen years before the day on which his resignation is to take effect, he was consecrated Bishop of Nova Scotia. He is a D.D. of King's College, Windsor, and a D.C.L. of our own Trinity and of Lennoxville, Quebec.

Bishop Courtney will retain the titular dignity of Bishop, and the use of the mitre, if he so desires it, which is not likely. The crozier being the symbol of actual authority will not remain to him. The resignation of colonial bishops is by no means infrequent, many of the dioceses being of purely missionary importance, and not to be compared in opportunities for influence with a great modern church, but it is many years since so important a diocese as Nova Scotia has been exchanged for a rectory. It may be noted that Nova Scotia has the unusual record of having been held by both a father and his son—the first and third Bishops respectively.

Shortest Day of Year.

On Dec. 21 the position of the sun is immediately over the tropic of Capricorn, which is situated 23½ degrees south of the Equator. In all places situate in northern hemispheres that is the shortest day of the year. At Toronto the sun rose at 7.47 in the morning, and set at 4.48. This means that the sun is above the horizon for three minutes under nine hours. At Quebec, which is a little more than three degrees of latitude north of Toronto, the day is eight hours and thirty-one minutes, whilst at Winnipeg, which is three degrees further north still, daylight lasts only eight hours and four minutes. The district around Toronto being as far south as any in Canada, enjoys a longer period of daylight.

THE B. C. LUMBER INDUSTRY.

Displacing Mining in Eastern Kootenay.

Pay Rolls Larger Than in Mining—Demand for Lumber Millers—Silver-lead Industry—Interview With Mr. A. W. McVittie of Cranbrook.

The Toronto Globe contains the following very interesting interview with a prominent gentleman of Western Canada, upon the lumbering industry of British Columbia:—

"Among the New Year visitors in the city is Mr. A. W. McVittie, secretary of the Board of Trade, Cranbrook, B.C. Mr. McVittie has been a resident of Cranbrook for the past six years and is well posted on industrial conditions in the Kootenay district. Many towns in the Kootenay, he says, which had only the adjoining mining interests to support them are now flourishing on the timber industry. Nelson, Cranbrook, Moyie, Marysville, and many other places on the Crow's Nest Railway, are producing lumber for the prairie demand in such quantities that the pay rolls are larger than the mining pay rolls were before the drop in lead prices.

"There are very good openings for experienced lumber operators in the district, many of the present operators being comparatively inexperienced, very few of them have sufficient capital, and yet all are making good profits. The demand from the prairies is constantly increasing, and will for years be greater than the supply. The quality of the East Kootenay timber is equal to any in the west. Larch and mountain pine are largely predominant, and the freight charges to the prairie province are much lower than from the Pacific Coast or from the east. Generally speaking, East Kootenay is very prosperous and the outlook for the future is of the brightest. Many new mining companies are developing quietly, and all that is needed to give great impetus to the silver lead industry is a more liberal treatment in the way of protection, with a suggestion of greater permanency than the present bonus system now gives.

ST. JOHN'S SUNDAY SCHOOL HAD TREAT.

Prizes Presented to Scholars Tuesday Night—Professional Entertainer Gave Pleasure.

St. John's school house rang with mirth and merriment on Tuesday night, when the annual Sunday school treat and entertainment was held. This year a departure was made from the ordinary method of entertainment, and the services of Mr. R. Clark, a professional entertainer from Toronto, were secured, and his numbers created great amusement, both to young and old. He gave six numbers—three were impersonations of Punch and Judy, and three were exhibitions of ventriloquism. His selections were thoroughly enjoyed. Interspersing them were a number of recitations and musical selections.

At the close of the entertainment, prizes were awarded to scholars who had passed a searching written examination, and also for regular attendance during the year. About 60 prizes were presented by Rev. J. C. Davidson. Candies and oranges were distributed to the scholars after the entertainment.

The evening was a complete success, all present enjoying themselves thoroughly. Mr. W. H. Walkey had the management of the affair.

Those who took over 90 per cent. in the written examinations were:

D'Eyncourt Stone, Alma Foot and Hazel Baker, all equal, 99 per cent.

Vaughan Metheral, 96 per cent.

Wilford Hatton, 95 per cent.

Flossy Mitchell, 94 per cent.

Serena Morris and Francis Stone, 93 per cent.

Katie Morris, 91 per cent.

POLICE COURT.

C. W. Throop of Cobourg Discharged on Suspended Sentence.

At the police court this morning, C. W. Throop pleaded guilty to the charge of raising a cheque on the C. G. E. Co. from $1.25 to 9.25. The prisoner came from Cobourg to Peterborough last year to put in two weeks at the Canadian General Electric Works, before signing papers as an apprentice to the machinists trade. Not liking the work, the prisoner left, and one of his cheques amounted to $1.25. This Throop altered. As he is well known in Cobourg, and has a clean slate, he was discharged on suspended sentence.

BELIEF THAT WAR CANNOT BE AVERTED

Russian and Japanese Fleets may Meet off Corea To-day.

Russian Reply is Not Acceptable to the Japanese—Official Attitude of Japan Undefined, But the People Want and Clamour for War—All Signs Point to Conflict in the Far East.

Port Arthur, Jan. 8.—Several warships left here at midnight yesterday for the purpose of meeting a Japanese squadron of four iron-clads approaching Corea to stop six Japanese coal-laden ships from Japan, destined for Port Arthur, and to cancel their charter to a Russian firm here. Lake Haikal is frozen. There is a normal movement of troops in both directions on the railway. Port Arthur defences are complete and the authorities are confident.

War Can't Be Averted.

Pekin, Jan. 8.—Gen. Yuan Shai Kai, Commander-in-Chief of the Chinese army and navy, sent his foreign advisor, Charles Denby, jr., to this place, to investigate the report as to the probability of war. Mr. Denby has reported that, according to the best opinions obtainable, based on diplomatic information, war cannot be averted.

Japan's Attitude Undefined.

Tokio, Jan. 8.—The attitude of Japan towards the response of Russia is still indefined. Premier Katsura, the Minister of Foreign Affairs; the Minister of War, the Minister of Finance and the Minister of Naval Affairs, at a council, decided that the Cabinet confer with the elder statesmen before deciding on a course of procedure. It is manifest that Russia's proposals are unsatisfactory. It is believed that Russia will make concessions in one direction and impose new conditions in another. The Japanese nation is deeply stirred. Public sentiment favors the abandonment of negotiations, believing them to be useless and urges a restort to arms.

Russia Makes New Demands.

London, Jan. 8.—The Daily Mail's Tokio correspondent learns that Russia has made new demands, which it will be impossible for Japan to entertain. The correspondent says that all the powers are landing troops in Corea, and that the British bluejackets landed at Chemulpo are expected to go to Seoul immediately.

Don't Want Winter Campaign.

Pekin, Jan. 8.—It is known that neither Russia nor Japan is desirous of a winter campaign, and that both countries believe delay will help their preparations. The Russian Government has bought all the horses obtainable in Kalgan, the greatest horse market in north China.

No Chance For Peace.

London, Jan. 8.—The Daily Mail's Yokarama correspondent says that Russia's reply to Japan practically removes all hope of a peaceful settlement.

A B. C. Rumor.

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 8.—It is rumored at Esquimalt that the flagship Grafton, a second-class cruiser, has been ordered to proceed to the China station, to strengthen the British fleet in the Far East.

Russian Warship Leaves.

Brest, France, Jan. 8.—The Russian cruiser Almaz, of 2,385 tons, leaves here to-morrow for the Far East.

U.S. Offers Friendly Neutrality.

London, Jan. 8.—The Daily Mail's Tokio correspondent says: "Governor Taft had a secret conference with Marquis Ito yesterday afternoon at the United States Consulate in Yokohama. I understand that Governor Taft assured the Marquis that the United States will observe a friendly neutrality towards Japan in the war, and that if necessary it would grant the use of American ports in the Far East to the Japanese fleet."

Approves the Torpedoes.

Vienna, Jan. 8.—A despatch from Fiume says that a Japanese officer has arrived there and approved the torpedoes which were ordered from a Fiume factory for immediate shipment.

Insurance Obtained.

London, Jan. 8.—The insurance of the Japanese cruisers Niasin and Kasaga, which were brought from the Argentine Government have been completed after considerable difficulty. The policies have been so arranged as to permit the cruisers to go by way of Suez Canal, Cape Horn or Cape of Good Hope routes, as the circumstances of the moment may indicate.

Japs Buying Arms.

Rome, Jan. 8.—The presence of Admiral Miri of the Japanese navy and other Japanese officers in Italy is officially ignored by the Government, as none of the officers have visited the Naval or War Offices, and as their presence has not been announced by the Japanese Legation. The Government, however, is cognizant of the movements of the officers, and is aware that they are making contracts for the purchase of arms.

Brazoff's Illness Russia's Wisdom.

London, Jan. 8.—Special cablegrams from Tokio, printed to-day, agree in believing Russia's reply unsatisfactory. It appears that the note might have been still undelivered, as Baron de Rosen, the Russian Minister, is suffering from an ear affection, had not Baron Komura, the Japanese Foreign Minister, visited the Russian Legation to get it. Slender hope is still drawn from the fact that no ministerial conference at Tokio is fixed for to-day.

According to The Standard's Tokio correspondent, an increasing number of steamships are being requisitioned daily as transports.

The correspondent of The Daily Mail at Tokio reports on the authority of the newspaper Chuo, that one Japanese has been murdered near Port Arthur, and that four others have been seriously injured, but no details are given.

The Daily Telegraph attaches considerable importance to the departure of M. Bezobrazoff, who was recently raised by the Czar to a Secretaryship of State, and who is a leader of the war party, for the Riviera, and prints what is declared is an entirely reliable statement from a high Japanese official confirming the stories of M. Bezobrazoff's warlike influence over the Czar in Far Eastern affairs. The Daily Telegraph hopes, "Whether it is real or diplomatic, M. Bezobrazoff's illness will prove the beginning of Russian wisdom."

Another Source of Trouble.

Salonica, Jan. 8.—An order has been received from Constantinople to hold the Third Army Corps in readiness. There is great military activity in Serra. Troops are leaving Monastir for Uskub. A massacre of Christians at Monastir is expected in the event of the departure of Hilmi Pasha, the Inspector-General of the Sultan's reform movement.

What Makes a White Sale?

Not Advertising
Not Empty Claims to Greatness

The Right Goods
The Right Styles
The Right Prices

It is easy to think ourselves great and then try to get other people to think so. What a lot we thought of ourselves the first time we set afloat our White Squadron! But what a lot we had to learn! and how persistently we go to school for six hot months to be ready with something worthy when these Winter White Sales are due.

Having originated the idea in Peterborough, we are interested each year to do something better — and we should be ashamed this year if we did not offer something five times better than when we first began in January, 1900.

We believe a few moments perusal of our White Goods will convert you into a January White Goods buyer.

MANITOBA LEGISLATURE OPENED.

Railway Rates and Chamberlain's Policy Subjects of Gratification.

Winnipeg, Jan. 8.—The eleventh session of the Manitoba Legislature was opened yesterday afternoon. Sir Daniel H. McMillan, K.C.M.G., Lieutenant-Governor, in his speech from the throne, said:

"It is a matter for thankfulness that the prosperity of this province has continued during another year and every sign points to further expansion and development and continued success of the railway policy. It is occasion for congratulation that the Government have been able to reduce rates on lines of railway in Manitoba to such an extent that a saving of at least one million dollars has been effected.

"This Government views with approbation the movement for fiscal changes within the Empire, now being urged by Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, and it is their belief that this policy, if inaugurated, would be of great benefit to the people of Manitoba and the West, and you will be asked to show your approval thereof by resolutions.

"You will be asked to consider acts to amend Manitoba Trustee Act, Manitoba Joint Stock Companies' Act, the Surrogate Courts Act and King's Bench Act."

James Johnson, Boissevain, will succeed Speaker Hespeler, who has retired. The standing of the House is: Liberals 9, Conservatives 81.

AVERSE TO MILITARISM.

Sir Wilfrid Opposed to Canadian Regiment For India.

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—(Globe Special.)—It is very doubtful whether the Government will consent to the proposition of Mr. Arnold-Foster, Secretary of State for War, to send a Canadian regiment to India. The views of the Prime Minister and his colleagues on a question of this kind are well known. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is especially averse to anything that savors of militarism. He holds the view that Canada's first duty is to populate and develop this country.

If a Canadian regiment went to India it would be treated precisely as an English regular regiment, and would take part in any military operation that might be conducted on the frontiers of India. A good many people think that to accept Mr. Arnold-Forster's proposition would be to entail upon Canada the obligation to anticipate in Britain's foreign wars.

It is very unlikely that the Government will take steps that may be construed as pledging Canada to send its troops abroad.

Attempted Revolt Petered Out.

Port au Prince, Jan. 7.—During the absence from Port au Prince of President Nord, General Monplaisir attempted to raise a revolt against the President, but the movement failed. The general's son and an accomplice were killed.

Mrs. Hughson, of Chicago, whose letter follows, is another woman in high position who owes her health to the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for several years with general weakness and bearing-down pains, caused by womb trouble. My appetite was fitful, and I would lie awake for hours, and could not sleep, until I seemed more weary in the morning than when I retired. After reading one of your advertisements I decided to try the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so glad I did. No one can describe the good it did me. I took three bottles faithfully, and besides building up my general health, it drove all disease and poison out of my body, and made me feel as spry and active as a young girl. Mrs. Pinkham's medicines are certainly all they are claimed to be."—MRS. M. E. HUGHSON, 347 East Ohio St., Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Pinkham Tells How Ordinary Tasks Produce Displacements.

Apparently trifling incidents in woman's daily life frequently produce displacements of the womb. A slip on the stairs, lifting during menstruation, standing at a counter, running a sewing machine, or attending to the most ordinary tasks may result in displacement, and a train of serious evils is started.

The first indication of such trouble should be the signal for quick action. Don't let the condition become chronic through neglect or a mistaken idea that you can overcome it by exercise or leaving it alone.

More than a million women have regained health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for her advice, and a few timely words from her will show you the right thing to do. This advice costs you nothing, but it may mean life or happiness or both.

Mrs. Lelah Stowell, 177 Wellington St., Kingston, Ont., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—You are indeed a godsend to women, and if they all knew what you could do for them, there would be no need of their dragging out miserable lives in agony.

"I suffered for years with bearing-down pains, womb trouble, nervousness, and excruciating headache, but a few bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made life look new and promising to me. I am light and happy, and I do not know what sickness is, and I now enjoy the best of health."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can always be relied upon to restore health to women who thus suffer. It is a sovereign cure for the worst forms of female complaints,—that bearing-down feeling, weak back, falling and displacement of the womb, inflammation of the ovaries, and all troubles of the uterus or womb. It dissolves and expels tumors from the uterus in the early stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors. It subdues excitability, nervous prostration, and tones up the entire female system. Its record of cures is the greatest in the world, and should be relied upon with confidence.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

How the Government Grappled With the Transportation Problem—Canada's Improved Financial Position.

(Sixth Paper.)

(10) In addition to the speedy completion of the canal system, the Government, through the Department of Public Works, has pursued a most vigorous course, with the object of cheapening and facilitating transportation between the great North-west and the Canadian Atlantic sea-board. Special and energetic attention was directed towards improving the conditions of,—

1 The harbours on Lake Superior, where the western grain is delivered by the railways and stored for distribution.

2 The harbours for trans-shipment in Ontario.

3 The lines of routes between the Province of Ontario and Montreal, and other eastern ports both by rail and water.

4 The harbours for receiving, storing and shipment for the ocean voyage.

5 The River St. Lawrence ship channel Montreal and Quebec, to the sea (night and day.)

6 The telegraph system.

The general idea has been to create divers avenues through which would flow into the St. Lawrence, as the main artery, not only the products of the great North-west, but also the products of part of the Western American States.

Starting at the commencement of the water stretch, improvements were effected at Fort William and Kaministiquia River, which enabled easier access to be had to Canadian Pacific Elevators.

At Port Arthur, additional depth of water was provided inside the protecting breakwaters, thereby facilitating trans-shipment at the new Canadian Northern Railway terminus.

The Harbours at Depot Harbour, Collingwood, Goderich, Owen Sound, Meaford, Midland, Sault Ste. Marie, and Sarnia have been deepened by dredging, and at some of them, wharves and breakwaters have been constructed.

A large breakwater is in process of construction at the entrance to the canal at Port Colborne.

At Montreal, the Harbour Commissioners were moved to undertake the erection of a one million bushel elevator; and the Government took under its special charge the construction of high water level piers in the eastern part of the canal at Maisonneuve.

Large contracts were entered into for further wharf accommodation at Three Rivers and Quebec, and at the latter place the Dry Dock was enlarged so as to admit vessels up to 600 feet in length.

Perhaps the most important work which has been carried on has been the improvement of the channel between Montreal and Quebec by dredging.

The Government dredging plant, which up to 1896 was an old-fashioned one and entirely inadequate, was augumented by the construction of five new dredges, the Aberdeen, Minto, Baldwin, Lafontaine and Tarte. New tugs and scows were also built to complete the equipment.

With this much improved equipment, nearly 30 miles of the total dredged distance of the St. Lawrence between Montreal and Quebec—60 miles—was deepened to 30 feet, and widened to 450 feet, and in some of the most dangerous places to 800 feet.

In the interest of the shipping of the St. Lawrence, the Government telegraph system was extended to Belle Isle, and the Marconi Wireless Telegraph System was established between Belle Isle and the main shore.

The transportation facilities in respect of what might be termed purely local domestic trade have also been greatly improved. All over the Dominion, in every Province, improvements have been effected at hundreds of places, consisting of construction and repairs to wharves, breakwaters, piling, dredging, etc.

Since 1896 a most vigorous and progressive policy has been pursued by the Government in the direction of improvement aids to navigation.

GOVERNMENT BONDS HIGHLY FAVOURED IN GREAT BRITAIN.

(11) Through the efforts of the Government, Canadian Government securities were placed by the British Government on the "Trustee List" in Great Britain, which comprises only the most gilt-edged investments such as British Consols, etc. The advantage to Canada through this will be seen, when it is explained that the difference between the selling price of a security admitted to the Trustee List and one excluded from it, is from two to three points in a hundred. The advantage to Canada in the next ten years will not be less than 2 1-2 million dollars.

The fact that the Canadian Government securities were admitted to the most favoured list in the British money market has no doubt operated, and will continue to operate, advantageously to Canadian business securities offered for sale in Britain.

The Opposition, by the way, long coveted this favour, and seriously attempted to secure it, but without success. Moral:—Different methods produce different results.

GOVERNMENT LOANS FLOATED AT TWO AND ONE HALF PER CENT.

(12) In 1897, the Government for the first time in the history of the country succeeded in placing a loan in Great Britain—the world's money centre—at 2 1-2 per cent. interest. The lowest rate previously obtained was 3 per cent. This Loan was sold at very good figures, the net result being an actual rate of interest of 2 7-8 per cent. on the purchase price. Compare this with a net rate of 3 1-6 per cent. under the Conservative regime.

It will be apparent to everyone, that when a country's credit is raised, it operates beneficially to its business interests.

COLD STORAGE FOR FISHERMEN'S BAIT.

(13) A system of Cold Storage was adopted for the preservation of bait for the fishermen of the Maratime Provinces.

Herring and squid form the principal bait for the great cod and haddock fisheries. These bait fish, however, cannot be captured at all times, and as a consequence the fisherman lose many days employment during the season. The aggregate loss to the fishermen of the Lower Provinces through this cause was estimated at $1,500,000 per annum. To overcome this, the Government decided to grant aid to the extent of $100,000, or more, towards the erection by Associations of Fishermen of an adequate number of small ice and salt freezers for the purpose of preserving bait fish, and ensuring to the fishermen a continuous supply thereof. the project has been enthusiastically taken hold of by the fishermen, and most beneficial results have followed.

DISCRIMINATION IN FREIGHT RATES

(14) The Government having, after careful consideration, come to the conclusion that certain Canadian Railway Companies were discriminating in their rates in favour of the Standard Oil Company, and to the detriment of Canadian oil men, at once put an end to the discrimination, and fixed a schedule of rates to apply to all. In this way the rights of the people were vindicated, and the commerce of the country was assisted.

FAIR WAGES TO LABOUR.

(15) The legislation and administration of the Government in the interest of labour have been of a beneficent and radical character.

On the motion of Sir William Mulock, (then Postmaster General, now Minister of Labour in addition) a resolution was adopted by Parliament during the session of 1900, to the effect that every effort should be made to secure to workmen engaged on Government works, and works aided by grants of Dominion funds, the payment of such wages as are generally accepted as current for competent workmen in the respective trades in the district where the work is carried on. The resolution also provided that all Government contracts should contain such conditions as would prevent abuses which might arise from the sub-letting of contracts.

Following the lines thus laid down, Government contracts now contain clauses to the following effect:

1. That except where the same is customary in the trade, the contractor shall not assign or sub-let the contract or any part thereof.

2. That the workmen to be employed shall be residents of Canada.

3. That the wages current in the district where the work is to be carried on shall be paid; such wages are specified in each contract, and made a condition thereof, and the contractor is not to be paid until he has satisfied the Government that he has paid them.

4. That no portion of the work was to be done by piece work. (Piece work was found to be a fruitful source of abuse and sweating.)

Not only do Government contracts contain these clauses, but a special officer, Mr. D. J. O'Donoghue, a well known Labour man was appointed to see that they were properly enforced. That he has performed his duty faithfully is well known to workingmen throughout the country. The results of Mr. O'Donoghue's work, are published from month to month in the Labour Gazette, to which reference may be made for full information as to the contracts, rates of wages, etc.

SWEATING SYSTEM ON GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS ABOLISHED.

(16) In 1897, a Commissioner appointed by the Liberal Government to investigate into the Sweating System, reported that practically all the military and other clothing manufactured for the Government during the last five years of the Tory Administration, had been manufactured through sub-contractors, who employed women and girls to do the work in their own homes for a very meagre pittance and under improper and unsanitary conditions. As an illustration of the low wages paid it might be mentioned that in Montreal women manufactured heavy Government clothing for 2 1-2 cents an hour, or 25c. a day of ten hours.

The Liberal Government, when these facts were disclosed, promptly abolished the evil system, and made provision against it in Government contracts.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOUR AND "LABOUR GAZETTE."

With a view to the dissemination of accurate statistical and other information relating to the conditions of Labour, the Postmaster General, acting for the Government, introduced and carried through Parliament in 1900, a Bill establishing a Department of Labour, clothed with authority to collect, digest and publish in suitable form, statistical and other information relating to the conditions of Labour, and institute and conduct enquiries into all industrial questions—the information so obtained to be published in a monthly publication known as the Labour Gazette.

TREATY MAKING POWERS.

Hon. George E. Foster Opposes Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Plan.

Toronto, Jan. 8.—Imperial questions were again to the fore at the club banquet of the National Club last night. Colonel George T. Denison and Hon. Geo. E. Foster were the speakers. Colonel Denison took the ground that with the preferential trade idea having reached the present advanced stage in England, the work of the Canadians who have propagated it for years was to a large extent done. Mr. Foster reviewed some of the features of the English tariff fight, and at some length combatted the proposal to seek treaty-making powers for Canada.

Rodney Again to the Fore.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Lieut.-Commander R. B. Rodney, whose martial troubles occupied the courts of the district for some years, has instituted a suit for $50,000 damages against Judge-Advocate-General Lemly of the Navy Department. He says that "Lemly, though unsurping practical supremacy in the Navy Department, is maliciously and wantonly subjecting plaintiff to losses and depriving him of his legal rights." Lieut.-Commander Rodney's wife obtained a divorce from him within a year after her marriage. His wife was a Toronto woman.

Cumberland Coming Home.

London, Jan. 8.—The Canadian Society's luncheon at Holborn restaurant was a great success. Roy Somerville presided. Hamar Greenwood was the principal guest, and made a humorous and entertaining speech. There was a large company present. Barlow Cumberland resigned the presidency of the society, owing to the fact that he is returning to Canada.

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—The Canadian commission to investigate the electric smelting of ores will leave for Europe by the Celtic the 13th inst. The party will consist of Dr. Haanel, Superintendent of Mines; his assistant, Erik Mystrom, who will act as draughtsman, C. E. Brown of Peterboro, electrical expert, and Thomas Cote, private secretary.

One of Japan's Jewels.

The great attraction of Kamakura and one of the jewels of Japan is the Daibutsu, or great bronze Buddha. We approach it through a tree lined avenue and get the first and best view of it at a distance of some 200 feet. It is a sitting figure, 49 feet 7 inches high, 97 feet 2 inches in circumference. The face is 8 feet 5 inches long and from ear to ear 17 feet 9 inches wide. The eyes, which are pure gold, are nearly two feet long. The circumference of the thumb is three feet. These figures give some idea of the size, and the figure is elevated on a stone platform some twelve to fifteen feet above the person approaching it. But no description can convey an idea of the majesty of the face. It is bent gently forward as if in brooding contemplation of the infinite. It represents perfect peace—the repose of the attained Nirvana.

Fortunes In Picture Frames.

Some splendid picture frames may be seen every year at the Royal academy exhibition, but the finest and costliest frame ever made for a picture was that which incloses the "Virgin and Child" in Milan cathedral. It is made of hammered gold, with an inner molding of lapis lazuli. The corners of this valuable frame have hearts designed in large pearls and precious stones. Some idea of its value may be gained when it is stated that the frame is eight feet long and six feet wide. Its estimated worth is £25,000. One of the pictures in the Vatican at Rome is in a frame studded with jewels. The picture is a valuable one, but the frame nearly equals the value of the painting.

The Conscientious Citizen.

"This conscience doth make cowards of us all," said the thoughtful and sanctimonious citizen as he stepped off a Druid Hill car.

"Yes?" said his friend.

"Now, if there's one thing I'm conscientious about it's about extravagance."

"Yes, I noticed that," murmured the friend.

"This morning I started downtown in plenty of time to have walked to the office. A car came by me, and, largely through force of habit, but more through man's natural laziness, I hopped it."

"Yes?" said the friend.

"I hadn't any more than got on that car than my conscience began to upbraid me for the unnecessary extravagance in little things. It kept worrying me so much that I was just impelled to atone for the reckless step by beating the conductor and thus saving my nickel after all, since which time my conscience has been perfectly clean."—Baltimore American.

LIBERALS LINE UP

Behind Laurier With Enthusiasm Assuring Victory.

GREAT POLITICAL ACTIVITY

Many Nominating Conventions Held—Hon. D. C. Fraser, the Guysboro' Giant, Presented With a Gold-Headed Cane on Retiring From Political Life—Nominations in the Far West—North Oxford Writ.

Toronto, Jan. 8.—The political pot no longer simmers,—it boils. Conventions are being held daily in all parts of Canada, the members of the Liberal party being especially active. The delegates are chosing candidates, who line up behind Laurier with enthusiasm and declare that, under such a leader, victory is assured. The nominations reported in the despatches include those of Dr. Johnston, M.P., of West Lambton, and Mr. W. M. German, M.P., of Welland. Mr. Mabee, K.C., a leading member of the Bar of Western Ontario, was chosen by the North Perth Liberals, and Mr. G. Nelson Rose by those of Prince Edward.

In the Far West.

In the far west the Liberals of Alberta nominated Mr. Norman Mackenzie of Macleod, while those of Calgary chose Dr. C. J. Stewart. A picturesque figure re-appears on the stage in British Columbia, where Hon. "Charley" Mackintosh, formerly of Ottawa, has been put up by the Kootenay Conservatives.

In Quebec Mr. Fred. Hodgins of Shawville was put in the field by the Liberals of Pontiac.

In Nova Scotia the places of retiring Liberals in Richmond and Guysboro' were filled. Hon. D. C. Fraser, the Guysboro' Giant, who has been a power "on the stump" for Liberalism, retires to a judical office, and was presented with a gold-headed cane by his constituents, in convention assembled.

MAKE PEACE WITH YOUR STOMACH.

You are Certain to Lose if you Attempt the Use of Force and Violence.

You cannot force your stomach to do work that it is unable and unwilling to do. It has been tried time and again with always the same result. The stomach is a good and faithful servant, but when pushed beyond the limit it rebels. Some stomachs will stand much more abuse than others, but every stomach has its limit; and when that limit is reached it is a very dangerous and unwise proceeding to attempt to attempt to force it into doing further work. The sensible and reasonable course is to employ a substitute to carry on the work of digestion and give the stomach an opportunity to recuperate and regain its lost strength.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only perfect substitute to take up and carry on the work of tired, worn out stomachs. They are natural and easy in their work and cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. They contain all of the essential elements that make up the gastric juice and other digestive fluids and will digest any food that a strong, healthy stomach will, and do it in the same time and in the same way. They work independently of surrounding conditions, and the fact that the stomach is weak or diseased does not influence them at all in their useful and effective work. They will digest food just as well in a glass jar or bottle as they will in a stomach. You can see that for yourself by putting one of them into a jar with a square meal and some water to enable it to work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets by thus relieving the stomach of its work, enable that organ to rest and recuperate and regain its health and strength. The process is perfectly natural and plain. Nature will heal the stomach just as she heals a wound or a broken limb, if she is not interfered with and is permitted to do her work in her own way. All interference is prevented by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box, and if you are afflicted with Dyspepsia one box will make you feel fifty times better. You will forget you have a stomach and rejoice in the forgetfulness. No druggist would be so short sighted as to try to get along without Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for they are so popular and are so well known for the good they have done and the happiness they have caused that any druggist caught without them would lose the confidence of his customers, and be regarded as below the standard. His business would suffer as a result and his patrons would go to other stores and buy their other drugs there as well as their Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

DEVONSHIRE'S RETURN.

To Buy Hatchet and Rejoin Liberal Party—Pall Mall Gazette Says He Will Join Hands With Rosebery.

London, Jan. 8.—The impending return of the Duke of Devonshire (who Oct. 5 last resigned the office of Lord President of the Council) to the Liberal party, is announced by The Pall Mall Gazette, which understands that the Duke and Lord Rosebery have agreed to "bury the political hatchet" and amalgamate their interests.

Expedient of Facile Orator.

London, Jan. 8.—The Liverpool Daily Post, commenting on the correspondence between Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Deakin, says that Chamberlain has struck out of his republished version of his speech the passage in which he foretold that Canada would restrict the manufacturers' interest in Great Britain, but this was simply the easy expedient of a facile orator, and will not go far with Canadians to meet the difficulties.

A Sinuous Mass.

London, Jan. 8.—The Liverpool Daily Post says that Peel's article in The Independent Review has shown what an intricate, sinuous mass the Canadian fiscal policy is. Peel found nothing to give any hope that good would accrue to the Empire from Chamberlain's proposals relating to Canada.

Opposed to Imperial Army.

London, Jan. 8.—(C.A.P.)—The Ottawa correspondent of The Express cables that the Laurier Government has rejected the idea of a Dominion regiment going to India, on the ground of the opposition to militarism and to any obligation to participate in England's foreign wars. The Express says the rejection is a setback to the idea of an Imperial army.

Repudiated By Constituents.

London, Jan. 8.—(C.A.P.)—Winston Churchill has been formally thrown over by the Oldham Conservatives. Churchill replied that he would continue to fight against Chamberlain and form a Unionist Free Trade Association. Lord George Hamilton has been notified by the electors of the constituency of Ealing that they would no longer support him.

British Trade Returns.

London, Jan. 8.—(C. A. P.)—The British trade returns just issued by the Board of Trade, which show a total of £903,000,000, are the highest by twenty-five millions in the history of the country. The Chronicle says this is a crushing answer to Chamberlain.

Canada Becoming Known.

London, Jan. 8.—(C. A. P.)—The Halifax Chamber of Commerce recently sent a letter of enquiry to Lord Lansdowne. The reply was sent to Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Developing Colonial Reserves.

London, Jan. 8.—(C.A.P.)—Admiral Sir E. Freemantle, responding to the toast to the "Imperial Forces" at the banquet of the Pattermmakers last night, praised the Canadian offer of a regiment for India, and said the admiralty was endeavoring to develop colonial reserves.

Dilke's View of Canada.

London, Jan. 8.—(C. A. P.)—Sir Charles Dilke, speaking at Stroud last night, complained that the colonies made infinitely smaller contributions for Imperial purposes than India. Canada was deficient in labor legislation, and trade unionism was to have the preference. Manufacturers were both protected against England and favored by means of bounties.

Moral of Trade Returns.

London, Jan. 8.—(C. A. P.)—The Post, referring to the Board of Trade returns, says that by the antiquated system not any attempt is made to differentiate the value of goods sent to the colonies and to foreigners. The chief moral of the returns is that the foreigner's increase in business in our market is almost double our increase in his.

Iron Trade Increasing.

London, Jan. 8.—(C. A. P.)—The News, exulting over the trade returns, says they furnish an answer to Chamberlain's cry that the iron trade is going. The export of iron and steel amounted to £25,000,000 in 1901, and £30,500,000 in 1903. Wool exports were £21,000,000 in 1901, and £25,500,000 in 1903.

Arrest to a Treaty.

Rome, Jan. 8.—It is announced that Great Britain has agreed to the [illegible] arbitration treaty which will be signed in Rome.

The Evidence You Value.

By word of mouth from friend to friend Dr. Chase's Ointment has received more unsolicited recommendation than probably any medicine you can mention. The fact that it is an absolute cure for piles has put it in a class all by itself as a preparation of inestimable value and people recommend it knowing that it is a certain cure.

TRAIN WRECK AT WILLARD.

Twenty Persons Killed in Collision of Rock Island Trains.

Topeka, Kansas, Jan. 7.—Twenty persons were killed and 37 injured in the wreck of a Rock Island express train at Willard early yesterday. Most of the injured are in hospitals in Topeka. The doctors announce that all of the injured will recover, with the exception of Mrs. M. A. Hill of Greensburg, Kansas.

The dead: Mrs. Henry K. Kaiger, Durham, Kan.; William J. Wells, Jacksonville, Ill.; W. S. Martin, residence unknown; Fay Fuller, Blockton, Ia.; E. E. Rankin, DeKalb, Mo.; E. E. Meyers, Buffalo, N. Y.; James J. Griffin, Claremont, Mo.; Raymond Martin, Chillicothe, Mo.; — Forest, died on train; four unidentified women, one unidentified man, three unidentified girls and two unidentified boys.

It is thought that carelessness of trainmen caused the wreck. Instructed to meet a freight train at Willard, the engineer and conductor of the passenger train, noting that a freight stood on the side at Willard, rushed through, thinking that this was the one which they had been ordered to pass.

The passenger train leaped into the darkness at a rate which the passengers declare to have been fully 65 miles an hour. The special stock train which the passenger train had been ordered to meet had not taken the siding, and the trains came together with a terrific crash.

Gen. Supt. Gruber of the Rock Island makes this statement: "The engineer of the passenger train had orders to wait at Willard for the special stock train. He passed on, mistaking a freight train on the siding at that station for the stock train. This caused the wreck. Nobody else is to blame so far as our information goes."

Young Irwin was running after the cars that were being shunted into the sidings, and climbing up the sides to apply the brakes. Kingston, Jan. 7.—While in the act of removing snow from the muzzle of a gun, Louis Joy of the township of Wolfe Island, had a narrow escape. Enormous Growth.

Ever since Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were first introduced to the public the sales have steadily increased, each year being larger than the year preceding. This is probably the best evidence of their remarkable efficiency, as a treatment for derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels. They are invaluable as a family medicine.

Evolution of the Bed.

Bedstead originally meant "the bed place." The truckle bed was the first advance on the bench, and then the tester suspended from the roof. Then came in the Arabian bed—a name perhaps derived from the crusades. The four poster came from Austria in the fifteenth century. The late Queen Victoria always carried her bedstead about with her, and so did the nobles in the middle ages. The coverlid or counterpoint, whence comes counterpane, was often splendidly embroidered. Yet the beds at this time were often only sacks of straw. Feather beds came from France in the fourteenth century, but straw was in general use long after. Blankets of wool were not introduced by Blanket of Bristol, who made them, for the ward, in the sense of a coarse woolen fabric, existed before.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON AT BUCKHORN FACTORY.

Annual Meeting Revealed a Satisfactory Condition of Affairs.

The annual meeting of the Buckhorn Dairy Company, was held in the cheese factory, Buckhorn, on Saturday, December 26th, when the statement of the secretary showing the business done during the season of 1903, was presented. The meeting was well attended and the financial report was of a nature which was most gratifying to the patrons and the Board of Directors.

The president, Mr. A. E. Kennedy, occupied the chair and called upon the secretary to present the report, which showed that during the season 161,386 pounds of cheese was manufactured; the average amount of milk to one pound of cheese was 10.51 lbs., and the price of cheese at the factory averaged 10.5 cents per lb. There was paid out to the patrons during 1903 $13,804.87, for 565 1-2 standards of cheese manufactured during the season. The company ends the season with a good balance in the bank, that to the credit of the stock account is $189.07, while in the expense account the amount is $256.24.

The amount paid for manufacturing the 161,386 pounds of cheese, was $3,227.72, of which $1,096.25 was for drawing, and $1,371.78 to H. J. Crowe for manufacturing, etc.

A great deal of the success of the factory is due to the energetic Board of Directors, composed of Messrs. A. E. Kennedy, president; A. Northey, Wm. Irwin, Thos. Flynn, Thos. Nicholls and W. J. McImoyle, secretary.

The maker, Mr. H. J. Crowe, has given good satisfaction, turning out cheese of first-class quality.

Three Cases at This Morning's Police Court—A Professor of Astrology.

Henry Starr, as the name suggests, is a professor of Astrology, and a few days ago was too anxious to give P. J. Heaslip a free lesson. Heaslip has charge of a shop in which Starr works (as a side line). Some row occurred and Starr gave Heaslip a demonstrative lesson in the science of the Heavens. For assault, in this morning's court, Starr pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs, amounting in all to $8.75.

Mary Cunnis formerly worked at the National Hotel. She claimed $7.40 wages from December 1st to December 11th. After the evidence had been heard judgment was given for the plaintiff, the defendant also paying $3.05 costs.

Adam Thompson of Otonabee, took a cutter which did not belong to him, but claimed that he did not steal it. On the same night Dr. Vrooman, V.S., of Bobcaygeon, who was visiting in Peterborough, found that his cutter had gone and a much inferior one left in its place. Thompson claimed that he drove a lady to town, and when he found that his cutter had disappeared he took the best one in the hotel yard. This turned out to be Dr. Vrooman's. The Police Magistrate did not look upon the case in the light of a theft, but for causing all the trouble fined Thompson $10.20 costs.

INTERESTING PAPER ON "EARLY MARTYRS".

Given at Meeting of T. A. S. Ladies Literary Association Last Night.

The Ladies' Literary Association of St. Peter's T.A.S. held the first meeting of the New Year, last evening. The chief feature of the evening was the reading of an excellent paper by Miss Fannie Holmes. Miss Holmes chose for her subject, "Early Martyrs," and handled it in a decidedly creditable manner. In the introduction of her essay, Miss Holmes carried her audience back in imagination to the earliest ages of the Christian church, and in beautiful language, described the horrible tortures which the early Christians so bravely endured at the hands of their Pagan persecutors. The zeal, ardour, courage and Christian fortitude which the martyrs exemplified in their beautiful lives and glorious deaths, were points of special interest in the paper. Two heroic Christians, whose names are held in deepest veneration, were particularly mentioned in the essay, those being St. Ignatius, Bishop of Antioch, and Ste. Cecelia, a noble Roman lady; both of whom suffered the most cruel tortures that the Pagan mind could invent, rather than deny their faith in Christ. Vivid and beautiful pen-pictures of the Roman amphi-theatre, together with the horrible cruelties practised therein, added particular interest to the essay of the evening.

At the conclusion of her reading, Miss Holmes received the well-deserved congratulations of those who had the pleasure of hearing her excellent paper.

Miss O'Heron presided at the meeting, and during the evening, Miss Olley Tangney contributed a very pleasing vocal solo; an instrumental duet was also played by Misses Mamie and Edith Conner; both of which were highly appreciated.

The usual social evening for members will be held next Thursday evening. A paper on the "Coliseum," will be read by Miss Kate McGrath, Thursday, Jan. 21st.

"OUR FAMILY CIRCLES SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES".

Subject of an Interesting Address by Rev. J. G. Potter at Charlotte Street Church.

The fourth of the Week of Prayer services was held in the Charlotte street Methodist church last night when the following clergymen were on the platform: Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. J. A. Wilson, Rev. J. G. Potter, Rev. J. C. Davidson, and Rev. W. J. Jolliffe. The last named conducted the service, at which there was a good attendance.

The service was opened with prayer by Rev. J. C. Davidson, while Rev. Dr. Torrance read the lesson. Rev. J. G. Potter gave a profitable address on "Our Family Circles, Schools and Colleges." He pointed out that the family circle nowadays was almost forgotten, and that Sunday school teachers and others were entrusted with the moral bringing up of our children to a great extent. He emphatically declared that it was our duty to think more of the family circle, and less of the outside one. As regards the schools he urged that the Bible be taken as one of the text books, while he pointed out that the attainments of the students in the colleges should be turned more towards the service of God.

The service closed with prayer by Rev. J. A. Wilson.

THE "PASSING" OF THE GOUGHS

The Calm Before the Storm on the Wonderful Cheap Men's Store—Preparing for a Hurricane "Good-bye" Sale.

Gough Bros' Big Double Store is closed to the public to-day—positively closed tight—and will remain closed until Saturday morning. The cause of such an uncommon and disturbing event is, that stock-taking is going on. The firm require to see where they are at before bringing on their hurricane "good-bye sale," which starts Saturday morning at 8 o'clock with the stroke of the clock. The store is as quiet to-day as a church mouse. The familiar faces of the two Gough boys — Messrs. Richard and Gus — are in evidence, busily "calling down" the goods. Both came down from Toronto to oversee the work of inventory in which they are assisted by Managers Tully & Merrell, and a numerous staff of clerical assistants. There's another bright-looking man from Toronto—a mild-mannered but lynx-eyed young expert in footwear. The name on his hat band is Harry Gibbons, the live manager of Gough Bros' Toronto boot and shoe department. He's got his coat off, pushing the inventory of the big shoe side of the store. He is billed to remain in town for some time to engineer the big sale until the wind-up.

Not the town of Peterborough alone, but the whole county will turn out to give Gough Bros. a rousing send-off for their final sale. Both members of the firm are men of a congenial spirit, courageous in business, strenuous and successful. Both have left their impress on the community, and both have made hosts of friends and well-wishers.

Now, on with the rush!

PRETTY WEDDING AT BALLYDUFF.

Miss Rebecca Holmes Married to Mr Richard Gillies of Peterborough.

The Presbyterian church at Ballyduff, was crowded to the doors on December 30th, when the nuptials of Miss Rebecca Holmes of that village, and Mr. Richard Gillies, of Peterborough, were celebrated by Rev. D. Oswald, Pontypool.

The bride was given away by her brother, while the groom was attended by Mr. D. L. Somerville, of Havelock. The bride looked charming in white silk, and was attended by Miss Nellie Oswald, who was attired in a cream silk, handsomely trimmed with lace and chiffon. The groom presented the bride with a brooch and the bridesmaid with a pearl crescent.

After the ceremony the bridal party drove to Pontypool, where Mr. and Mr. Gillies took the train for western points. On their return they will take up their abode in Peterborough.

THE BIBLE LAW IS THE CRIMINAL CODE.

Fenelon Falls Couple get Into Trouble by Disobeying the Latter.

The Toronto World has the following:—

"In the Police Court yesterday there arose a question of law as between that of the land and that of the Bible. It will not be solved until Thursday.

"The Canadian Criminal Code provides that no man or woman shall marry or be given in marriage during the lifetime of a former wife or husband, unless legally divorced by act of parliament.

"The Bible—Deut. 24, v. 1, 2, says: "When a man hath taken a wife and married her and it come to pass that she find no favour in his eyes because he has found some uncleanness in her, then let him write her a bill of divorcement and give it in her hand and send her out of his house."

"And when she is departed out of his house she may go and be another man's wife."

"Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Morsley, of Fenelon Falls obeyed the latter. When she and her husband disagreed and separated, she married again. She took a portion of their worldly goods with them, and a part of the family. The first husband did not object to her marrying again, but when he heard that his children were being neglected he came to Toronto and laid a charge of bigamy against her. The woman's defence was a separation paper given her by her husband as in two verses of Scripture.

"The magistrate and Crown Attorney Curry seem inclined to go by the Criminal Code.

MILLBROOK NOW HAS TWO POST OFFICES.

One Near the Station for Residents in That Part of the Village.

It is perhaps not generally known in Peterborough that the village of Millbrook now boasts of two post offices, but such is the case. The village is scattered over a very wide area, for its size, and the residents near the station found it very inconvenient, especially in winter, to walk to the other end of the village for their mail or to post a letter. With the beginning of the year a second post office was consequently put into operation. This is termed the Millbrook station post office, and is run by Mr. Bryan. The two offfices are nearly a mile apart. Peterborough and Ashburnham have never had more than one post office, at least in recent years, and it is somewhat humiliating to know that Millbrook is ahead in this respect.

ENJOYABLE TREAT AT ALL SAINTS' SCHOOL.

Children Given Prizes and Tea Last Night.

The annual Sunday School treat of All Saint's Sunday School was held last night and was thoroughly enjoyed by the large number who participated in the pleasing event.

Tea was served to the children of the school at 6.30 o'clock, and previous to the entertainment the prizes were distributed to the scholars.

The entertainment which followed was held in the church, which was filled to the doors. A pleasing feature of the evening's programme was the exhibition of lime-light views and moving pictures which was given by Mr. Stubbs, to the great delight of the audience, particularly the younger portion of it.

The Rector addressed the school briefly, and was gratified at the success which had characterised the work of the school during the past year.

OPTIMISTIC PROPHECY OF WESTERN PROGRESS

Winnipeg to be Canada's Largest City in Ten Years.

Is the Belief of one of the Prominent Business Men of the City—Mr. W. H. McWilliams Talks Interestingly of the Canadian West.

Mr. W. H. McWilliams, manager of the Canadian Elevator Company, of Winnipeg, one of the most extensive grain buying concerns in the West, is in town spending a few days, on a visit with his parents, and in an interview, graciously gave the Examiner some very interesting information about the Canadian West. Mr. McWilliams' trip to the east was a business one, and on his return from Montreal he stopped over in his own home town a few days to renew acquaintaces with friends here.

The object of his trip was to arrange for the erection at Port Arthur of a grain elevator with an initial capacity of 1,250,000 bushels. This will be the work house, and will be constructed of either wood or steel. Upon its completion an immense storage elevator, constructed of tile or concrete, will be built to supplement the capacity of the work-house.

Arrangements are now being completed with the C.P.R. and the Canadian Northern Railway, for shipping facilities.

This action on the part of the Canadian Elevator Company, is one of the indications of the growth of the wheat industry in the west. The Canadian Northern Railway has just completed one of the largest elevators in the world at Port Arthur, and the C.P.R. has greatly enlarged its storage capacity at Fort William, all of which has been made necessary by the rapidly increasing quantity of Manitoba wheat being shipped east.

Mr. McWilliams is characteristically optimistic regarding the future of the west, and believes that in ten years Winnipeg will be the largest city in the Dominion. This belief is not based on unwarranted assumption, but is a conservative one, the ground for which is the present rate of increase in population of the western metropolis.

Last year $7,000,000 worth of buildings were erected, and the indications are that this year that amount will be equalled, if not exceeded. The C.P.R. will build in that city the finest hotel on its system, and the Canadian Northern will also erect a large hotel and station. The Free Press, the largest daily paper in Western Canada, is planning to erect a large building, and the Union Bank will build a magnificent eleven story block. Eastern business houses, which formerly handled their western business through their travellers are now establishing warehouses in Winnipeg for the purpose of handing to better advantage their rapidly growing trade in that part of the Dominion. Winnipeg is now, and always will be, the gateway to the west, and its importance will grow in proportion to the growth of the country.

The country is being settled, according to Mr. McWilliams, by a very desirable class of farmers, principally Americans, who are coming into the country with means, and building homes for themselves. This is the result of an evolutionary movement which is taking place. The farmers in the more southern states of Missouri and Louisiana, a few years ago sold their farms for from $100 to $125 an acre, and moved north to Minnesota and the Dakotas, purchasing land at $25 to $30 an acre, which was equally as good as that which they sold. Now they are selling their Minnesota and Dakota farms at a profit and coming still farther north, into the Canadian west, where they buy land which is superior to that which they left, purchasing it here at $3 to $5 per acre. The result of this is that farmers who have made successes in their forhomes are coming into the west, with money to spend in developing its resources.

The interests of Mr. McWilliams' Company, and those of the American Cereal Company are associated, and last year the former shipped to Peterborough, to be manufactured into Quaker Oats, 700,000 bushels of Manitoba oats, which fact probably accounts for the excellent quality of the manufactured product. Peterborough, Mr. McWilliams believes, should congratulate itself upon securing the American Cereal Company to locate here. It is a company strong financially, and one which is in a position to help very materially in developing Peterborough industrially.

Mr. McWilliams is enthusiastic in his belief in the future of the Great West, and no one who hears his statements with regard to the present prosperity, can doubt that his estimate of the coming importance of the west in general, and Winnipeg in particular, is unwarranted.

Mr. Jas. Smith, of Gladstone, was renewing old acquaintances in town.

The English Church Sunday school concert given in the town hall New Year's Eve was a complete success. The Rev. Mr. Tandy acted as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Elgin Watson's piano solo was appreciated by everybody. The Fairies' Christmas, given by a number of little folks was very nice. Mr. T. Jarvis' cornet solo was certainly fine. Mrs. R. A. Williamson, of Kingston, sister of the Rev. Tandy, gave a piano solo that showed everybody she was mistress of the instrument. A flag drill by a number of young ladies was exceedingly good. "In the Gloaming," a vocal quintette, by Messrs. S. Cross, T. Jarvis, Barrett, Williams and P. Lancaster, was a treat. "The Shepherd's Watch" was given by a number of young ladies and gentlemen and was exceptionally good, Miss Annie Bry, as leading angel, played her part to perfection. A purse containing twenty-five dollars in gold was presented to Miss Lizzie Henshall, showing the appreciation of the pupils to her as church organist. The Women's Auxiliary, for the purpose of showing their appreciation of the work done during the past year by their preacher, Rev. Mr. Tandy, presented him with a pair of Persian Lamb gauntlets and cap, with the accompanying address which was read by Mr. R. A. Williams and the presentation made by Mrs. W. H. Thompson.

The Rev. W. R. Tandy, M. A.,—

Dear Mr. Tandy: It is not often that so many of your parishioners can collectively approach you, apart from your duties, as incumbent of the parish of Havelock and Belmont. But this season of the year being one of great rejoicing to all mankind, we seize this most opportune time to express to you our appreciation of your zeal and earnestness which have developed the parish and made it a strong and united congregation. The words that might express the heartfelt love which the workers of the senior auxiliary in particular have for you and your work are but a poor means of conveyance of such deep feeling. We ask you to accept the accompanying tokens of our esteem. In offering them we imitate the excellent example of St. Nicholas and we would remind you that a gift however small, may express much love. May you and all yours enjoy every prosperity that God can send; and with the wish that the New Year may see us all working as harmoniously as ever, if not even more so, we beg ever to subscribe ourselves,

MRS. EDWARD CHAPMAN,
Supt. Practical Work, J. A.
MRS. W. H. THOMPSON,
Supt. Missionary Department.

Havelock, December 31st, 1903.

Mr. Tandy, who was completely taken by surprise, made a feeling reply, thanking them one and all for their kind and thoughtful remembrance of him at the close of a happy and prosperous year.

A short address was given by Rev. Canon Dowy at the close of the entertainment. Then prizes were distributed to all the young folks of the Sunday school. Master Reggie Barlow won a magnificent bound volume of The Boys' Own Annual by having the largest attendance marked to him for going to church during the past year.

Mr. Harrison Wing, of Kingston, spent a couple of days in town renewing old acquaintances.

The residence of Mr. J. Huston was the scene of a very quiet wedding on Wednesday, Jan'y 6th inst., when his daughter Miss Rose, was united in the sacred bonds of matrimony by the Rev. Mr. Camp. to Mr. Jas. Craighead at 12.30 m. The bride was charmingly attired in crepe de Chine trimmed with chiffon and medallions. A number of the bride's friends from Seaforth were present and a great number of very beautiful presents were given by the friends of both. The happy couple left on the 4.30 train on their honeymoon with the congratulations of friends and well wishes for a happy future.

THE BRISTOL DOCKS

OLD BRITISH PORT IS NOW WIDE-AWAKE TO HER OPPORTUNITIES.

Occupies Central Position, Two Hours Nearer New York Than London and Three Hours Nearer the American Metropolis Than Liverpool—Spending $3,000,000 to Meet the Requirements of Present Day Shipping.

The most enthusiastic Bristolian would hardly be prepared to say that this port occupies that position in the shipping world which it ought, says The London Merchant and Shipper. Nature has endowed Bristol with many advantages which, if they had been thoroughly cultivated, should have rendered this city one of the most prominent ports in the United Kingdom. It cannot be denied that Bristol has in the past neglected many opportunities, or that port to-day would have held equal rank with either Liverpool or Southampton. For Atlantic traffic Bristol has advantages over both these ports in the matter of time and distance between New York and London, Avonmouth being some two hours nearer to London from New York by water and rail, and three hours nearer than Liverpool. It is also a much more central port than either of those mentioned, while another great advantage is that it has rich and cheap coal, and canals and railways connecting it directly with the great manufacturing districts of the Midlands, to say nothing of the South Wales coalfields.

MR. F. B. GIRDLESTONE,
Secretary and General Manager of Bristol, Eng., Docks.

With such advantages Bristol ought to have been to-day the leading shipping port of this country, but unfortunately in the past those in authority have been far too apathetic. They failed to keep pace with the developments in shipbuilding and with the progress made by other ports catering for the shipping trade. While this has been the case in the past, and Bristol has been allowed to fall somwhat away from that high position which it undoubtedly ought to have occupied, it is satisfactory to know that this is a state of things which will not long continue. The port of Bristol to-day is receiving that attention which it deserves. The citizens of this port have woke up, and for the last few years have manifested an enterprise in connection with its docks and provision of shipping facilities that is worthy of the highest commendation.

Since Bristol awoke to its true position the most strenuous efforts have been made to make the port all that it should be, and there is now every indication that Bristol in the near future is going to play a highly important part in the world's shipping. It indeed does that now, and many of our leading steamship lines are favoring this port, but great as has been the advancement of Bristol from a shipping point of view during the past few years, it bids fair to be greatly eclipsed in the near future. It possesses all the natural advantages for this, and now that such strenuous efforts are being made to bring the docks up to the highest state of perfection and capable of accommodating the largest vessel afloat, it is a port that must flourish and take its place as one of the most important centres for British shipping. The excellent staff which the corporation have gathered round them in the management of these docks, all appear to be in dead earnest in gaining for Bristol that supremacy in the shipping world that it ought rightly to possess. In furtherance of this object, the Bristol Corporation has received very valuable assistance from some of the leading steamship companies, among whom may be mentioned Messrs. Elder, Dempster & Co., and Messrs. R. P. Houston & Co., whose use of this port has done very much for its advancement.

The strides which this port has made of late are really striking, and when the new dock now in course of construction is completed, the shipping possibilities of Bristol will be all that can be desired and will undoubtedly attract much of the shipping, especially among the larger vessels, which now go into other ports.

This new dock, which will be known as the Royal Edward Dock, was projected by the Bristol Corporation some two years ago when they decided to pledge their Borough Fund as security for a further expenditure on the docks of about £2,000,000 to meet the requirements of present-day shipping. It is true that the existing Avonmouth Dock furnishes excellent accommodation, and is perhaps, for its size, one of the most perfectly equipped docks in the kingdom, but since the Avonmouth Dock was constructed there has been a continuous growth in the size of new vessels, a growth which is still going on, and especially is there a tendency to increase the width of beam in vessels. In the construction of the new Royal Edward Dock everything is being done to meet these contingencies, and provide accommodation for the largest class of vessel that is likely to be built for many years to come.

The plan of the docks conveys an idea of the extent of this new dock, and of the adjacent land which the Corporation took the precaution to acquire. The first sod of the Royal Edward Dock was cut by the Prince of Wales, on March 5th, 1902, and it is expected that the whole work will be completed within four years from that date. That it will be able to accommodate the largest vessels will be manifest when we say that the water area will amount to no less than thirty acres, while the area of land in proximity to the dock is 250 acres. The length of quays, including slopes, is 5,030 feet, and the length of slope at the north end is 1,000 feet. The average length of the Royal Edward Dock (or, as shown in the plan, the New Dock) is 1,120 feet, and is 1,000 feet wide. The lock between the inner and outer gates is, according to the plan, 850 feet long by 85 feet wide, but since the commencement of the work the Corporation have determined to increase the width to 100 feet. It will thus be seen that ample provision is being made for the largest steamers that are likely to be built. The length of the arm, east wall, is 700 feet and west wall 500 feet, the width of the arm being 250 feet. The entrance pier, south, is 900 feet long, and the north pier 1,050 feet.

An exceptionally fine graving dock is also being made, capable of accommodating a vessel of practically any size. All the sidings to the dock are being equipped with the most modern and complete appliances for handling cargoes up to 20,000 tons, and nothing is being omitted that will tend to place this port on that high plane in the shipping world which by reason of its situation and natural advantages it ought to occupy.

Bristol has now attracted some very important lines, and is rapidly assuming a position more nearly approaching that which it ought to hold, a fact which is shown by the great increase in tonnage entering these docks within the last few years, and which has been more particularly marked during the last financial year ending April 30th, 1903, which showed a net registered tonnage of vessels entering the port of 1,831,665.

In showing such a healthy and satisfactory state of progress the Docks Committee have been splendidly assisted by the excellent and enterprising staff of officials whom they have gathered round them to undertake the active management of the docks, first and foremost among whom must be mentioned Mr. F. B. Girdlestone, the secretary and general manager. Mr. Francis Brooke Girdlestone is a thorough Bristolian, and has always evinced the greatest interest in the development of that city and port. The eldest surviving son of the late Rev. Edward Girdlestone, Canon of Bristol Cathedral, he in his earlier days spent several years of his life in the Indian Service, in which he had some eventful experiences. His duties there were largely associated with surveying, and when in England on furlough in 1875 the secretaryship of the Bristol Docks became vacant through the death of Mr. Hinton, Mr. Girdlestone applied for the post. There were many candidates for the position, but Mr. Girdlestone was the man selected, and it is satisfactory to know that the Committee have not only had no reason to regret their choice, but, on the other hand, have every cause for gratification at the progress made since Mr. Girdlestone's appointment. In 1885, after the acquisition by the Corporation of the Avonmouth and Portishead Docks, Mr. F. B. Girdlestone was appointed general manager of the whole Dock Estate as well as secretary, a position, as is well known, involving considerable responsibility, especially in view of the increased business which was entrusted to the Corporation both by ship-owners and merchants on the transfer of docks in question. To give some idea of what has been accomplished since Mr. Girdlestone became general manager, we may mention that the capital of the united undertaking has risen from £1,500,000 to £2,750,000, and the revenue from £105,000 to £326,000; while the foreign tonnage has increased from 591,000 net register to 925,000 tons, and the weight of merchandise handled annually has gone up from 333,000 tons to 1,200,000 tons. These are very striking figures, and give an indication of what can be done with the port of Bristol under energetic management.

Running a Paper in Russia.

Running a newspaper in Russia is pre-eminently a risky operation. The Czar's Government spends more on the press censorship than it does on education, and quite recently the staff of press censors has been increased by eight.

Certainly the censor earns his salary in Russia. Last year eighty-three newspapers were suspended for periods amounting in all to thirty-one years and ten days, twenty-six papers were forbidden to accept advertisements and 259 editors were officially threatened with Siberia if they did not mend their ways.

The censorship even pursues the unfortunate editor after it ejects him.

One eminent conductor of a scientific journal who was dismissed at the instance of the censor is practically condemned to starve or emigrate. All the papers and publishers in Russia are forbidden to accept "copy" from him.—London Tatler.

Flag Poles.

With proper care a flag pole ought to last a great many years in spite of the incessant exposure to the elements. Of course the best preservative of wood is paint, and a man who has a flagstaff which has cost him a good sum of money should see that it is painted at least once every twelve months. Flag poles generally rot at the bottom first and then have to be taken down to prevent them from falling of their own weight.

REAL IRISH BULLS

Some That Have Caused Laughter and Have Become Historical.

Fancy three English or Scotch members in a single sitting of the House of Commons making three such bulls as three Irish members in the Irish House of Commons made in the same debate, says Rashe King in M. A. P. In this debate on the leather tax in 1795, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir John Plunkett, emphatically contended that "every man ought to give his last guinea to protect the remainder." "But this tax on leather," objected Mr. Vandeleur, "will be severely felt by the bare-footed peasantry of Ireland." An objection which Sir Boyle Roche met by the suggestion, "that there was nothing to prevent the bare-footed peasantry making the under-leathers of wood, as was done in Lancashire."

Those bulls haven't a genuine ring, though I suppose they are historical. They are not racy like the bulls of the people—like the bull, e. g., of that Dublin carman, who, in answer to the English tourist's question, "Who lives there, my man?" replied, "Misther O'Hara, sor, but he's dead." "Has he been long dead?" "Begor, sir, if he lived till to-morrow, he'd be dead three weeks." Or that supreme bull recorded by Miss Edgworth, made by the Irish sailor, who was carrying the body of an English messmate at the battle of Trafalgar. He was carrying the Englishman, who had been severely wounded in the leg, down to the cockpit, when a cannon-ball took off the head of the wounded man so neatly that his bearer did not know what had happened. Presently an officer, seeing the Irishman carrying a headless trunk, cried with a volley of curses, "Where are you taking that to?" "Sure, I was takin' him down to the cockpit, sor, to have his wound looked afther." "Why, his head's off, you infernal idiot!" Paddy threw down the headless body, looked at it in speechless reproach for a moment, and then said sadly, "An, he tould me 'twas his leg!"

Fireproof Ballet Girls.

Fire-proof ballet girls are receiving the attention of the County Council, says The London Express. Special arrangements have been made at the Alhambra with a view to reducing the risk of fire on the stage. As an additional precaution, it has been decided to make the ballet girls fireproof as well. Their costumes are to be treated with a fire-resisting solution which has been used with great success on the continent. When properly treated with "fire-resister," it is said that the ballet girl's dress is practically free from danger. The above statement was shown to an eminent chorus girl, one who has had a long and honorable career in the "third row" at the Gaiety for many years. "Fire-proof clothes, is it?" she exclaimed, disdainfully. "What next for the poor, downtrodden chorus girl?

"For years we have withstood the possible dangers of fire without the aid of appliances such as they are now talking of introducing. I am conservative in my methods, and see no reason why we should be otherwise attired than in the good old days. I made my debut in 'La Fille du Madame Angot'—never mind the year; and people were not then so particular about the chorus girl. They will put us into asbestos next, with fire grenades as decorations. Why not engage salamanders at once, and be done with it!"

VORACIOUS CANARIES.

Appetite of a Bird Much Greater Than Average Man's.

When an old fashioned hostess urges her guests to eat, after the conventional manner of showing hospitality and remarks, "Why, you haven't the appetite of a bird," she really speaks the truth, though she does not intend to.

The average man, if he had a bird's appetite, would devour from thirty to thirty-one pounds of food a day, which would be a tax on the larder of his hostess.

Recent experiments have proved that the average bird manages to eat about one-fifth of his own weight daily with ease, if he can get so much food, and in a wild state, though the bird has to hunt for his daily provender, he is eating a large part of the time during the day and manages to get his full rations.

The smaller the bird the more voracious seems to be its appetite and its power of absorption.

A German scientist recently kept a canary under observation for a month. The little creature weighed only sixteen grams, but in the course of the month it managed to eat 512 grams weight of food—that is, about thirty-two times its own weight. The bird must therefore have eaten its own weight in food every day.

An ordinary man with a canary's appetite would consume 150 pounds of food a day.

But the canary is an extreme case. The ordinary bird, in good health, will be satisfied with one-fifth of its weight a day by way of food.—Answers.

Last British Lottery.

I have in my possession, writes a contributor, a notice bearing date Oct. 17, 1826, inviting persons to take part in the last state lottery which was held in this country, says a writer in the London Chronicle. This invitation is a very elaborate affair. It is printed in green and yellow. At the top are the royal arms, while below, in the center of the paper, is the announcement: "Positive! By order of the lords of his majesty's treasury, on Wednesday next, 18th October, lotteries close forever in this kingdom. Six prizes of £30,000 will be distributed on that day as the parting gifts of Fortune." The advertisement concludes with a footnote to the effect that Sivewright is selling lottery shares and tickets at 37 Cornhill, London. This man Sivewright was a well known stock and share broker of the day, who made a specialty of lottery tickets. He was very fond of attracting clients by the publication of doggerel verses, mostly of the simplest character, of which the following is a fair example:

Then gallop on gayly;
The fault is your own
If you don't get a good share
Before it's all gone.

The Human Dread of Heart Failure.

ymptoms of Which Cause Constant Alarm Soon Disappear With the Use of

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

The heart is looked upon as the very source and fountain of life, and the slightest defect in the workings of this organ is sufficient to keep one in constant dread of sudden and unexpected death.

Shortness of breath on slight exertion, irregular beating, palpitation and weak action of the heart are among the symptoms which cause uneasiness, and these indications of disease soon disappear when Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is used.

With a liberal supply of rich, red, life-sustaining blood the heart pleds on with ceaseless energy, forcing the blood through the body and patiently renewing its own waste, but just as soon as the blood gets thin, weak or watery, the symptoms of heart weakness appear and hold the victim in constant terror.

Because of its extraordinary blood-building qualities, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food thoroughly removes these symptoms and not only ensures regular and healthful heart action, but at the same time restores strength and vigor to the whole system.

Mr. J. Law, 247 Hunter street, Peterborough, Ont., and who is employed with the Peter Hamilton Co., states:

"For a long time I was troubled with severe splitting headaches and suffered a great deal with pains in the region of my heart, caused no doubt by indigestion. I procured a box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and began this treatment. Since using this preparation for some time I can say that I feel quite different and my health is very much improved. My digestion is good, and the headaches and pains about the heart have not troubled me at all of late. I can sincerely recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a thorough cure for nervous dyspepsia and its accompanying symptoms."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 4

THE MODEL AT VIVON'S

By IZOLA L. FORRESTER

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

The model at Vivon's had fainted.

It was in the middle of the morning sitting, the very apex of intensity in the lesson. Little Vivon moved lightly and restlessly here and there from one easel to another, his small, black eyes mere high lights of sparkling eagerness under their heavy brows. He smoked his short, thick pipe and glanced from the charcoal studies to the slim white figure on the platform.

The sunlight poured full into the long, bare atelier. Suddenly the model swayed ever so slightly and sank to the floor.

Some of the girls gave quick, frightened cries, and Jean Laurier glanced up with a smothered exclamation of angry dismay over his unfinished sketch. From the first easel to the right of the platform the American student, Hal Crane, sprang to the platform and raised her head on his arm. It was such a young head. The loose, warm tinted hair lay softly against his shoulder, and he noticed for the first time how thin the small, piquant face was.

Vivon hopped excitedly the length of the room and waved his small plump hands for order.

"It is nothing," he said. "She is fatigued, it is so warm. Can you carry her, M. Crane?"

Could he carry her? Crane smiled grimly as he raised the slender figure in his arms. Why, his little sister Bess, back in Crawfordsville, Mo., was heavier than this. He followed Vivon from the atelier away from the battery of amused, curious eyes to the artist's private den.

"Ma foi," laughed petite Yvette, her eyes narrowing critically, "that was not bad, that last. I think I shall faint, too, and let le gros Crane waltz me off in his arms."

Laurier leaned lazily over her shoulder and sprawled a rough caricature on the corner of her paper.

"Like that?"

She boxed his ears soundly and reached a greedy little hand after the box of bonbons Elsie Ticot was passing. The model was forgotten.

"Lay her there." Vivon nodded to a corner divan in the inner studio heaped high with pillows, sketches and costumes. Crane ruthlessly pushed the latter off with his foot to make room for his burden. He laid her down gently and held to her lips the glass of water Vivon brought.

"It is just faintness, yes?" asked Vivon anxiously.

Crane stared thoughtfully at the white face among the pillows. He had been hungry once back in the first days of the battle. The little home in Crawfordsville had sent him out to the great city of his dreams, and only long afterward had the fight been his own. He thought he recognized the look that comes to those who are tracked by the wolf.

"I think that she's just about starved," he said bluntly. "Get some wine or brandy or something."

Vivon obeyed. The Americans had a way that made men obey.

"Who is she?" asked Crane when he had managed to get a few drops of brandy between the pale lips.

"One of Ribaut's models," Vivon answered nervously. The sounds from the atelier were not conducive to peace of mind. Yes, she was a new one. Ribaut had sent her to him yesterday, and he had engaged her for the poise, the grace, the turn of the head, that line from the tip of the ear to the slope of the shoulder. She did not pose for the life classes, merely for drapery and the poise effective. And the name—it was in his notebook.

He took it out and read from the latest entries:

"Virginia Wade."

"American?" asked Crane, using more brandy as he saw a flutter of the eyelids.

"But, yes." Vivon shrugged his shoulders. "When they come over and are poor they must do something. Some are so proud they hide away and starve, and some put up the grand fight."

"Where does she live?"

Crane glanced up. The little artist had gone back to the atelier as a fresh crash sounded, with Yvette's peal of laughter ringing above it.

When the girl's eyelids opened he smiled down at her in a friendly fashion.

"Feel better?"

"I guess so." She hesitated and added, with a scared look in her dark blue eyes, "Did I faint in there?"

"Oh, yes; that was nothing. Lots do." Laurier had said the American had reduced cheerful lying to an art. "It's so hot there in the mornings, you know."

There was a quiver of hopeless disappointment around the curves of her mouth, and he knew what troubled her. There was a five franc piece in his pocket. He laid it unblushingly on the tabouret beside her.

"Vivon said that was yours. He couldn't wait, but he said to come tomorrow, and this is for the two sittings."

Her eyes brightened with surprise, and he knew his surmise had been right.

"I must go home," she said, trying to rise from the cushions.

"Wait while I get a carriage." Crane started for the door decidedly. "I'll send one of the girls to help you."

She thanked him with a smile that made him whistle as he went down two flights three steps at a time. When he returned he carried her down to the carriage with a masterfulness that asked no permission, and she did not demur when he took the seat beside her.

It was not hard to find her "sky parlor," as Crane called it mentally, off the Rue des Sœurs Claires. He called there the next evening, and she met him at the head of the dusty landing with a shy dignity and led the way into her attic apartment as if it had been a Louis Quinze reception room in pink and gold. A young girl, younger even than herself, sat in an easy chair by the window and smiled up at him.

"This is Lucille, my sister," Virginia said simply. Crane's quick eyes noticed the slim pair of crutches leaning beside the chair. He knew why she had posed at Ribaut's and Vivon's, why she had not hidden her poverty and starved in silent pride.

The next time he came he brought flowers for Lucille, and a new grateful friendliness flashed in the other's blue eyes.

It became a regular thing, that walk home from Vivon's to the Rue des Sœurs Claires. She showed him some of her sketches, and Crane promptly took a bunch under his arm and hawked them around the art stores with a devout persistency his own had never known. Before a month had passed she had picked up odd work coloring pen and ink proofs for one of the weeklies, and at last there came a day when she left Vivon's for good, and the future was full of hope.

"And we shall see, la-la-la; we shall see now," laughed Yvette. "He is in earnest, le gros Crane. The wedding bells will go ding-a-ling, and the little white faced Virginia will have roses in her cheeks."

"It's all your doing," Virginia told him that night when they parted at her door. "I was worn out and heart sick that day when I fainted, and you cheered me, and—and"— She faltered and held out her hand to him. There was a five franc piece in it. "Please take it back," she said. "Vivon told me, and I think it was just splendid of you."

Crane flushed hotly, but he took it. He knew her pride and that to her it was a debt of honor.

"And after today, what?" he asked. "I shall miss the walk home, and you will forget Vivon's and me."

She bent her head low over the bunch of pink roses he had given her for Lucille, and something in her silence gave him courage.

"Virginia, if you would only give me the right to sweep you and Lucille away from this, the sky parlor and the struggle that never ends! I'm strong and have gained a footing, and you could study then"— he rambled on with boyish helplessness. "I've loved you ever since that day at Vivon's when your head lay on my shoulder, and I wanted to lift you up and carry you away from it all—Laurier and Yvette and old Vivon and all of them. You seemed so different and little and alone."

She was silent still, and he waited. Out over the city some bells were ringing slow, sweet chimes, and the sparrows were fluttering sleepily around the eaves of the sky parlor over their heads.

One of the roses fell at her feet, and he raised it tenderly.

"Do you think I had better go?" The dark blue eyes looked up at him at last, and he bent toward her eagerly. "Virginia, sweetheart?"

She held the roses close to her lips and smiled at him over them.

"Won't you come up and tell Lucille?" she said softly, and he followed her up the long, dusty stairs to the sky parlor.

Narrow Chests.

The old theory that consumption was inherited is utterly discredited by modern medical science. The germs of consumption must be received from without. These germs are every where. They are constantly being received and cast out by the healthy system. It is the narrow chested whose inheritance is weakness who fall a prey to consumption because they are too weak of lung to resist and throw off disease.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes weak lungs strong. It cures obstinate deep-seated coughs, bleeding lungs, weakness, emaciation and other conditions which if neglected or unskilfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption.

$3,000 FORFEIT will be paid by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

"In the spring of 1900 I was taken with hemorrhage of the lungs, and became very weak and short of breath, lost flesh and had no appetite," writes Mr. R. L. Robinett, of Xerxes, Texas. "I was persuaded to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The first few bottles seemed to do me but little good. Thought I would soon be a victim of that dreaded disease, consumption. Had almost given up in despair when my friends persuaded me to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' a fair trial. I commenced its use. I weigh 160 pounds now, and when I commenced I only weighed 140 pounds. If any one doubts this statement I will be pleased to answer any inquiry."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." Nothing is "just as good."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from impurities.

ENGLAND TO ITALY.

"The colder hand," we say, "the warmer heart!"
And here, beneath the chill November skies,
Not soon nor lightly shall our fingers part,
Linked by a hundred sacred memories,

Hither, long since, from many a grim bastille
From Bourbon and from Austrian dungeons, fled
Thine exiled sons; our fathers saw them kneel
And kiss the soil that sheltered them and fed.

Yea, and thy bonds were rent by English hands,
Those errant knights, how many and how brave!
Who fought in Garibaldi's ragged bands,
And to thy cause their stainless manhood gave.

Ours too the poet and his poet-wife,
Whose noble music made thy soul so strong;
They who from Casa Guidi watched the strife,
And told its story in heroic song.

And so to-day, beside our Northern sea,
Where long ago thy great deliverer came,
Our country bids thee welcome, Italy, (calling thee by a sister's name.

—Edward Sydney Tylee, in The Spectator.

Music as Medicine.

From the days of Saul and David music has no doubt been the means of alleviating, if not of actually curing, many serious cases of mental disease. Modern experience has proved this conclusively, and many instances may be quoted from ancient history.

Pythagoras commended music in the treatment of the insane, and Thales, when a pestilence ravaged Sparta, found in music his most powerful means of combating it. Henocrates soothed maniacs by it, and Theophrastus held that even the bites of venomous reptiles were rendered less fatal by subjecting the victims to the influence of melody.

When Philip of Spain was in a morbid and desponding condition, Farinelli, the vocalist, was sent for by the queen, with a party of musicians, to sing and play in the adjoining room. The effect was a speedy and rapid cure.

Both Buckman and Hafeland relate instances in which music has cured cases of St. Vitus' dance, and Becker and Schneider demonstrated practically its influence in different cases of hysteria.

A Line of Action.

"You see," said the young lawyer, "my client is accused of bigamy, and he's guilty; so I hardly know how to defend him."

"Why, that's easy," said the old lawyer. "Defend him on the ground of insanity and get a few henpecked husbands on the jury."

Cause For Worry.

She—Why do you look so worried, Bertie? Did papa object?

Bertie—No. But he said: "It's all right. You'll soon find out it's useless to object when Nell is set on anything."

Invitations.

Archie—See how I am run after. All these are invitations.

Friend—Good gracious! All invitations? Invitations to what?

OBSOLETE TERMS.

Some Big Words That Have Been Consigned to Oblivion.

The number of obsolete words that are to be found in a complete dictionary of the English language is considerably larger than the people have any idea of. The following letter, written by an alleged poet to an editor who had treated his poetry with derision, furnishes some idea of them:

"Sir—You have behaved like an impetiginous scrogie—like those who, envious of any moral celsitude, carry their unglicity to the height of creating symposically the fecund words which my polymathic genius uses with uberity to abligate the tongues of the weetless! Sir, you have crassly parodied my own pet words, though they were trangrams!

"I will not coascervate reproaches. I will oduce a veil over the atramental ingratitude which has chamfered even my indiscerptible heart. I am silent on the focillation which my coadjuvancy must have given when I offered to become your fantor and adminicle. I will not speak of the lippitude, the oblepsy you have shown in exacerbating me, one whose genius you should have approached with mental discalceation. So I tell you, without supervacaneous words, nothing will render ignoscible your conduct to me.

"I warn you that I would vellicate your nose if I thought that any moral diarthrosis thereby could be performed—if I thought I should not impignorate my reputation. Go, tachygraphic scrogie, hand with your crass, inquinate fantors! Draw oblectations from the thought if you can of having synchronically lost the existimation of the greatest poet since Milton."

And yet all these words are to be found in the dictionary.

The Bridal Veil.

The origin of the bridal veil is a disputed question that will probably never be settled. Some see in it nothing more than a milliner's substitute for the usual flowing tresses which half concealed and half revealed a bride's beauty as she knelt at the altar. This opinion is countenanced by the fact that Elizabeth Stuart was not thought to require an artificial veil, as nature had given her an affluence of hair.

Others see its origin in the veil of the Hebrews' marriage ceremony or the yellow "flammeum" of old Roman brides.

A third source is the old "care cloth" of the Anglo-Saxons, a square vestment held over both bride and bridegroom till they received the nuptial benediction. So runs the use of the church of Sarum and the Hereford missal.

Lastly, it has been held to be merely an amplification of the coif which mediæval brides wore between the garland and their hair. Margaret Tudor wore this under her coronet on her marriage to the king of Scotland.

When I arose in the morning I would feel a little better, but as soon as I started to work my heart would start fluttering, my head would become dizzy, faint weak spells would come over me and it seemed as if black objects were floating before my eyes. I was growing worse every day until I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. When the box was half gone I could feel that they had done me good and by the time it was finished I was in excellent health and would advise all sufferers from heart and nerve troubles to try them."

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Second Day's Programme at the Driving Park—Opening of Trent Valley League To-night—Other Sports.

A CLEAR DEAD HEAT BY SPHINX B. AND GUESSNER.

Very Successful Day at Driving Park Yesterday.

Some Very Exciting Finishes—Events Were Concluded This Afternoon—A Good Crowd Present.

No better racing has ever been witnessed in this district than that seen at the Driving Park yesterday afternoon. The weather was very mild and the second day of the winter meeting of the Peterborough Turf Club was a great success in every way. There was a large crowd who were almost ecstatic in their appreciation of the keen sport. The events on the card were two in number which, however were unfinished at a late hour in the afternoon. Consequently the events were concluded today while a consolation race was also run for non-winners.

There were four entries for the 2.30 class of which the following is the summary:

2.30 Class.

Black Boy, J. M. Brooks, Peterborough	1	3	3	3	2
Robert Henry, T. H. Taylor, Niagara Falls	4	4	1	1	4
Jim Watson, M. E. Gray, Barrie	3	1	2	2	1
Keepa Bell, Dr. Johnston, Peterborough	2	2	4	4	3

Time—2.35, 2.35, 2.35, 2.33, 2.33.

In the first heat Black Boy and Keepa Bell ran neck and neck all the way. Before reaching the quarter pole Robert Henry suddenly stopped and would not be persuaded to move even by a vigorous lashing from his driver. When the other horses were about 300 yards ahead Robert Henry continued, but of course did nothing. In the second heat almost on the same spot the horse again broke with the same result. After the heat the driver was called to the stand and explained that his horse took these turns every once in a while. The third heat was most exciting, Robert Henry, to the surprise of the spectators, leading from the start and winning by more than two lengths. When this horse repeated the performance in the next hat the crowd became very excited. However their hopes were dashed to the ground when the horse repeated the former trick and lost the fifth heat by one hundred yards or more.

The next event was the great thing of the day. It was a free for all and five horses were entered. The summary is as follows:

Free For All.

George Sheeley, R. McGuire, Meaford	2	3	3	dh
Guessner, Alex Hunter, Ottawa	1	2	2	3
Maud Wilks, D. Lake, Napanee	4	4	4	4
Sphinx B., Geo. Powell, Peterborough	3	1	1	dh
J.B.F., J. B. Fick, Port Dover	5	5	5	5

Time,—2.21 1-4, 2.22, 2.28, 2.26.

In the first heat Shinx B. lead off but at the half mile Guessner drew up and at the three-quarter had gained one length. On the home stretch Sphinx B. who had the second place broke into a run and was consequently placed third by the judges. The second heat was another smart race between these two horses. As before Sphinx B. led off but at the half Guessner caught up, Neck and neck they tore along the track. As they rounded on the home stretch they were a dead heat. On they came. There was a thudding of hoofs and a snorting of horses and with a ringing cheer Sphinx B. crossed the winning tape half a head in front of her opponent. In the third heat Sphinx B. kept up a lead of ten yards from start to finish. The fourth heat beat them all. There was not much to choose in the way in which Guessner and Sphinx B. got off. It was first one a head in front and then the other. Perhaps no two horses have come along that home stretch at such a pace. It was a matter of which was the faster horse and as the two clattered up snorting with the exertion the crowd was silent. The heat was a dead heat between the horses and the judges gave it as such amid round cheering.

Between two of the heats the celebrated horse, Black Mack, gave two exhibition half miles, the time being for the quarter and half mile respectively: 35 and 1.14 and 36 and 1.14 1-4. Black Mack was driven by Mr. Jas. Timblin, and is owned by Mr. H. Elmhurst, of Keene. For a horse not in training the time was certainly very fast.

The officials were: Judges, N. McGregor, Indian Head, N. W. T., Wm. Leahy, Lakefield. Time keepers, Alex. Elliott, R. J. Munro and J. M. Brooks, Peterborough, Starter, Frank G. Smith, Buffalo.

HOCKEY.

The T. A. S. team will open the Trent Valley season at home to-night with a game in which Keene will be the visiting team. Keene is said to have a good team this season and will give the champions a hard run. The local team is taking no chances, however, and the players are in good shape to continue their winning streak started at Lakefield.

The management wish it understood that the game will start sharp on time which will enable it to be gotten over early. Seventy-five gallery tickets have been issued and may be procured from Mr. D. DeVine, the secretary-treasurer of the club.

Orillia Ladies' Hockey Team played a game in that town last night.

• • • •

For the year 1904 hockey is dead in Orillia, except as it may be played by the young ladies. On Thursday evening last an exhibition game was played on the Wash street rink between the Orillia and Victoria Harbour intermediate teams and the locals made such a poor showing that the management decided to disband. The score was 6 to 3, the visitors scoring all their games in the first half.—Orillia Times.

The Telegram writing on the Waverly-Western game says: "Of the lot, little Redpath, who is a new-comer in Toronto hockey, hailing from Peterborough way, and who, by the way, just squeezed into the junior ranks by a single day, was easily the star. He played one of the fastest, cleanest and best games ever seen here in a junior match. He was always in his place, never lost his check and broke away like a flash of lightning for a rush. And at the end of it he could shoot like the best of seniors."

'Varsity being put on the prohibited list will mean that the collegians will not be able to make any enjoyable Saturday night jaunts to Peterborough, Cobourg, Belleville, Picton and the other O. H. A. strongholds.—Telegram.

The Examiner has been requested to publish the following:

It appeared in the sporting columns of last evening's issue again that the Young Snowflakes still try to hold the championship of the north end. The only way to find the truth of it is to call on Mr. Mark Shaw, the referee, who gave good satisfaction on both sides. The only reason why the Snowflakes tied the score with the Suicide Club was the absence of four of the regular players on New Year's Day, and they had to pick up anybody they could. The Suicide Club challenged the Snowflakes in Wednesday's issue. On Thursday night they refused to accept it. Now, instead of flunking, which they have been doing this last week, why do they not accept the challenge and have the game played on the rink where all can be admitted without cost and also without climbing high fences to their practice yard. It is supposed that the manager, Mr. Bill McIver, harnessed up his yellow ringed bull dog and started for a trip to the back woods, canvassing for a fresh lot of players. He started for his voyage early in the morning and returned in time to hear the report of the Cobourg game at the rink. New Westminster, B. C., goal keeper.

Belleville got quite a surprise when Picton defeated Peterborough, and the Intelligencer expresses it as follows:—Well, well! Will somebody come and knock us down with a feather! The Pea Canners beat the Petes last night 6—3, and flags are flying on every canning factory in Picton to-day.

The Picton management, it would appear, have got together quite a good team, which, considering that they want to Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston and Napanee for their players, is not so surprising after all.

A gentleman who saw the game in Picton last night tells us that the Pea Canners have speed to burn and are excellent stick-handlers, but their shooting is poor and they have no combination to speak of. However, they handled sticks and combined well enough to beat Peterborough, and that's a pretty good task for any team.

CURLING.

"Hoot mon! They're at it doon at the curling rink." "Let me have a bout turn," says Arthur Blade, or "Just crack an egg on that yin," and so the game glides merrily on.

All members of the Curling Club are specially requested to be at the rink to-night. The committee have made arrangements for every member to play and after the game lunch will be served free.

The committee of the Peterborough Curling Club would be pleased if all the cups and medals won last year were returned to the rink.

FAR EAST NEWS IS LESS WARLIKE

Some Concessions Reported to Have Been Made to Japan.

Rumors of a Naval Battle—Story, However, is not Credited in London—Dissatisfied With Russia's Terms, Japan Will Not Issue Ultimatum, but Will Continue Negotiations—How France Stands.

Berlin, Jan. 9.—The Tageblatt's Paris correspondent learns that the French Government has been informed that Russia's answer to Japan makes far-reaching concessions respecting Corea, and that these concessions are equivalent to permitting the occupation of Corea by Japan on lines somewhat similar to the position of Great Britain in Egypt, but that Russia rejects any right of Japan to mingle in affairs in Manchuria.

Rears of a Battle.

London, Jan. 9.—The correspondent of The Daily Express at Kobe sends a scare rumor to the effect that a collision between the Russian and the Japanese fleets has taken place near the Islands of Tsushima, in the Strait of Corea, about midway between Corea and Kiusha.

This rumor is not mentioned from any other source, and, in view of the fact that the Japanese Government is exercising a censorship over all news concerning naval matters, it may safely be disregarded.

To Continue Negotiations.

Tokio, Jan. 9.—The Japanese government has practically determined to continue negotiations. It is dissatisfied with Russian terms, but does not feel warranted in issuing an ultimatum or breaking off negotiations, and will make another effort to secure their modification before resorting to force. It is anticipated that the discussion will continue a few weeks, during which interim a breach of the peace is very improbable.

How France Stands.

London, Jan. 9.—M. Daeshner, first secretary of the French embassy in London, in an interview yesterday, said that the present arrangements between France and Great Britain were such that it would be impossible to disturb them. He said that it was not likely that France would interfere, even if Corea and China joined Japan.

"The Web of Russian Intrigue."

London, Jan. 9.—According to the Daily Mail's Tokio correspondent the Russian reply proposes among other things to transfer the seat of negotiations to St. Petersburg, and the Japanese newspapers denounce this as a manoeuvre to tangle Japan in the web of Russian intrigue. The correspondent adds that riots at Chollado, Corea, are increasing, and that the officers of the Japanese steamer Shini Maru, which left Port Arthur, Jan. 4, report that there were then 80 warships and three first-class torpedo boats inside and five battleships outside the harbor. Dredging was proceeding night and day in the western portion of the harbor. Owing to the breakwater the port is almost icebound.

The correspondent says that despatches from Seoul to Japanese newspapers represent the Emperor of Corea as vacillating and unable to adopt a definite policy.

Bulletined War News.

Philadelphia.—The Japanese Government has secured an option on the new Turkish cruiser Medjidie, now being hurried to completion at Cramp's shipyards.

London.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Seoul says that 20 British and 40 American and 80 Russian guards have already arrived to protect their Legations.

London.—The British home fleet has left Portland for the Spanish coast, after coaling to full capacity. It will replace the Channel squadron in the Mediterranean, should vessels be ordered thence to the Far East.

Hong Kong.—A detachment of two hundred and fifty men of the Sherwood Foresters has suddenly been warned to be in readiness for active service. It is presumed the troops are going to Pekin or Seoul. The detachment is ready and the transports have been arranged.

Cabinet Never Passed on It.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—In reference to the statement cabled to The Daily Express, London, that the Laurier Government had rejected the proposition to send a Dominion regiment to India on the ground of opposition to militarism, it may be said that no such proposition was ever laid before the Government. As already explained, all that has taken place in regard to this matter was mere conversation which took place between Arnold Foster and Sir Frederick Borden. The Canadian Cabinet never had the subject up in any shape or form.

Police Guard Chicago's Mayor.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—During all of Thursday there were three and four policemen about the residence of Mayor Harrison, and the story was circulated that the Mayor had received threatening letters on account of the Iroquois Theatre disaster. Mayor Harrison denied that he had asked for police protection.

Cheese in England.

London, Jan. 9.—Cheese quotations are as follows: Finest, 53s to 54s; fine, 50s to 52s. The market is improving. Butter, finest, 90s to 92s. The market is depressed. Bacon, No. 1, 45s, 47s and 58s; No. 2, 44s, 45s and 47s; No. 3, 43s, 44s and 46s.

ROYAL COMMISSION MEETS.

Begins Work on Transportation Matters in St. John. New Brunswick—The Scope of the Commission.

St. John, N. B., Jan. 9.—John Bertram of Toronto, Robert Reford of Montreal, and E. C. Fry of Quebec, constituting a royal commission, appointed by the Canadian Government on transportation matters in Canada, arrived here yesterday, to begin their work.

After finishing in St. John, they will visit St. Andrew's, N.B., and Halifax and then adjourn for a time before taking in Upper Canadian ports. Their first session here will be this evening.

O. N. Bell of Winnipeg, secretary of the commission, summarized its objects in the following way. He said: "The broad underlying principle of the commission is that we have competitors carrying our goods, and it is before the commission to find out where our competitors were carrying goods and how much they do carry, how they are equipped and what there is for us to do to meet this competition."

The competitors referred to are American railways and the ports of Boston and Portland and others.

Mr. Fry said: "The commission has practically carte blanche, so that its powers are large, and the inquiry will be exhaustive, covering Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It may be a couple of years before their work is done."

CANON SANSON DEAD.

Oldest Anglican Clergyman in Canada Passed Away in Toronto.

Toronto, Jan. 9.—Canon Alexander Sanson, the veteran and venerable rector of Little Trinity Church, who has been steadily failing during the past three weeks, died at his home last evening at 8 o'clock. He passed his 88th birthday on Wednesday last, and in 1902 celebrated his golden jubilee as incumbent of Little Trinity. Canon Sanson was one of the oldest, if not the oldest, Anglican clergymen in Canada.

The late Canon Sanson was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, on Jan. 6, 1819, and received his primary education at what were called the Royal schools, and at other institutions in his native city. He crossed to Canada in 1833, and lived at Orillia, where he studied preparatory to entering the ministry. When, in 1837, the Mackenzie rebellion broke out he became lieutenant in a company of volunteers to aid in the suppression of the rebels. The rebellion stamped out, he exchanged his uniform for the more peaceful surplice and engaged in lay missionary work in New Ontario. Even at that early date there were settlers around Sault Ste. Marie and in Manitoulin Island. After four years' work in the northern settlements, Mr. Sanson returned to Toronto, and on May 8, 1842, he was ordained deacon by Bishop Strachan, who was then Bishop of Toronto. A year later he became a priest and was appointed to his first parish at St. John's Church, York Mills. During a part of the ten years of his ministry at St. John's, he was in charge of St. Paul's, on Bloor street. On July 11, 1852, he was appointed to Trinity. In 1889 he was made a canon and in 1902 he celebrated his jubilee as rector of Trinity.

Canon Sanson was the soul of generosity and geniality and those who mourn his death throughout this country are numbered by the thousands.

SIR WILFRID'S TREATY-MAKING PROPOSALS.

The full report of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's interview, accorded Mr. Lucy, of the London, England, Daily Mail, on his demand for extended treaty-making powers, proves to the hilt that there can have been in Britain no intelligent and honest doubt of the essential loyalty of the Premier's proposals. He does not suggest that Canada shall have full treaty-making power. He goes no farther than to make the entirely reasonable demand that Canada "must be permitted to arrange the preliminaries of all treaties affecting her trade and territory." The right of veto will still remain with the sovereign, exercised, of course, under the advice of his responsible Ministers.

There is no hint of "separation" in this. On the contrary, what is asked is one of those recognitions of the growing importance of the colonies which have done so much in the past to broaden the basis of our loyalty, and to render us more contented in our voluntary allegiance to the British Crown. A similar concession was made when Canada was accorded responsible government. There were timorous souls then who feared that this spelled "separation;" but men of truer sight saw that it was the only way to avert "separation." Were Britain at any stage to make an attempt to check the natural growth of Canada, she has only to read colonial history to know what must result. But Britain has been too wise for such stupidity; and the consequence is that the contented loyalty of her free colonies is at once the amazement and the despair of all Europe.

We have now reached a point in our development when the right to control the making of treaties especially affecting us can no longer be withheld. Mr. Edward Blake was probably not too early when he made his demand for it twenty-one years ago. If it had been acceded to then, we should have been spared the humiliation of the Alaskan fiasco now. But, however that may be, we are certainly at this time too important a part of the Empire to be allowed no voice in treaty arrangements which may take from us our territory, or seriously affect our trade.

But, as Britain must stand behind these treaties ready to defend their integrity with her navy and army, it is only just that she should possess a veto power. That is, it ought not to be possible for a colony, which contributes a very small proportion of the fighting force of the Empire, to commit that entire force to the defence of a treaty, in the making of which the central government had no share. What is wanted is simply a common sense proportionment of powers to responsibilities. It is our trade and our territory which is being dealt with; therefore we should decide the terms and conditions under which this may be done It is largely British power which must defend the fulfilment of the treaty; therefore the British Government should have the right to say whether or not the treaty should be signed at all. In other words, we should each have the power of veto; Canada, to begin with, and Britain when the instrument is ready for acceptance.

To propose this is to propose a strengthening of the bonds of the Empire. Nothing but an entire misunderstanding or a malicious blindness could see in this the smallest taint of disloyalty. If this is disloyal, then Baldwin and Lafontaine, the Browns and Dr. Ryerson, were disloyal in fighting for responsible government; and Sir John Macdonald was disloyal in carrying far the flag of Canadian fiscal independence. But Canadian self respect is not Imperial disloyalty. The bed-rock of British strength is British liberty, British trust to colonial good will, colonial confidence in the entire willingness of the central power to limit its control to the absolute necessities of defence. It is long since we have seen the day when loyalty to Downing street was regarded as synonymous with loyalty to our common Empire; and he is the best friend to British connection who seeks to increase its popularity among the people of Canada. —Toronto Star.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This preparation is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for the cure of these diseases over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been given of its good works, of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured, of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous results. It is especially prized by mothers, because it contains nothing injurious and there is not the least danger it giving it even to babies. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by all druggists.

HOW CANADA WILL SOLVE BIG PROBLEM.

Boats to Carry 70,000 Bushels of Grain Through Water Route and Take Freight Back to Twin Towns.

A special despatch from Montreal to the Toronto Star says:

"The work of the transportation Commission will be to facilitate the moving of traffic originating in Canada along Canadian routes. The first task we will likely undertake will be to establish the shortest and cheapest route from Lake Superior to the English market," said the chairman of the Transportation Commission, while discussing the most important problems that the commission would at once take up for the benefit of the Dominion.

"Now it seems to me that the problem of getting grain through from the west to Montreal in a satisfactory manner, will depend largely on the establishment of an efficient boat service between Fort William and Montreal. It would certainly seem that if the steamers on the upper lakes can make money at a 1 1-2 cent rate to Georgian Bay ports on grain, the through line to Montreal can be worked out on a profitable basis. The steamers that are in use at present are only able to carry 50,000 bushels at the very most, and therefore cannot solve the problem. I am satisfied that a boat able to carry 70,000 bushels, and not more than 255 feet in length, and drawing only 14 feet, can be built, and would help to solve this problem satisfactorily. Such a steamer is being built at present in Toronto.

WESTBOUND TRAFFIC.

"Besides, such a line is bound to become an important factor in the west bound traffic. They could offer a rate against which the railways could not compete. The company having such a line should, however, follow the example of the railway companies, and have representatives in England and on the Continent, who would direct the traffic to the Canadian West by the cheaper Canadian steamship line.

"Then comes the important question of a port on Hudson's Bay. It must be remembered that such a port would be just as close to Liverpool as Montreal, and would represent the saving of the big haul from the west to the Atlantic orts. With the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific to the north of Lake Abitibi, the port on the Hudson's Bay will be within a very short distance of the main line, and can easily be reached by a branch line. I understand that up near the Bay there are very large areas of excellent spruce. While the ground is covered with a thick frost that keeps the frost in it, there is proof that once the moss is removed the land is quite arable. Such a port would prove the natural outlet for the Peace River district and many other sections of the North-west.

A LINE TO THE YUKON.

"The recent decision in the Alaska Boundary Question makes it necessary that a new line should be found up into the Yukon country. It would seem that with the Grand Trunk Pacific completed, with a terminal hundreds of miles north of Vancouver, would prove the natural starting point for a through short line to the Yukon.

"It is altogether likely that we will go right ahead, and gather as much data as possible that will tend to solve these all-important problems. It must be remembered that Canada is a specially favoured country as far as her waterways are concerned, and it seems natural that they should contribute most of all to the solving of many important problems. We must look to our waterways to be able to offer competition against so vast an organization as the Canadian Pacific and prevent the possibility of their imposing exorbitant rates. During a recent visit to the North-west I found the people enthusiastic over the establishment of the line of steamers.

"Canada is on the verge of a period of great development, which renders the solving of the problems just enumerated all the more important."

THAWING DYNAMITE

Ernest Froom Instantly Killed, His Wife Injured.

D. STEWART BLOWN TO ATOMS

His Body Mutilated Beyond Recognition in an Explosion in the Dominion Cartridge Works at Brownsburg—Building Completely Shattered and Wrecked—Man Burned to Death at Montreal.

Cornwall, Jan. 8.—A terrible accident took place on the Post road, a few miles from here, yesterday morning, and resulted in the instant death of a young man named Ernest Froom, son of Noah Froom, and the serious wounding of his wife. The accident was caused by the explosion of a large quantity of dynamite, which blew Mr. Froom's residence into matchwood.

The municipality of Cornwall township had bought a gravel-pit from Mr. Froom, and the men who were working in the pit left a quantity of dynamite by the stove in his house to be thawed out. This exploded and blew the house to pieces.

Mr. Froom was badly mangled, a leg and an arm being blown off and the head and body terribly lacerated. Mrs. Froom, who was in another part of the house, had a miraculous escape, but was badly cut and bruised. She regained consciousness just in time to crawl from the ruins as it took fire. Neighbors who were attracted by the report extinguished the blaze. Mr. Froom was a fine young man, about 22 years of age, and was married only a year ago. It is not likely that an inquest will be held.

The total fatalities in the Iroquois Theatre fire, in Chicago, which occurred last week, are 568.

BLOWN TO ATOMS.

Explosion in the Dominion Cartridge Works at Brownsburg, Quebec.

Lachute, Que., Jan. 8.—A fatal explosion occurred at 8.30 yesterday morning at the Dominion Cartridge Company's works, Brownsburg, four miles from here, by which one of the workmen named Dan Stewart lost his life. Stewart had charge of what is called the day room, where the detonators, after being loaded, are stored to dry. He went into the room at 7 o'clock, and was heard to ask for one of the men to put on another fire, and left. The man performed the duty as instructed and also left the building. Stewart returned at 8.30 and had only entered and shut the door when the explosion took place.

The building was blown to atoms; parts of it were blown over one hundred feet away, and the body of the unfortunate man was torn and mutilated beyond recognition. He leaves a wife and one small child to mourn his loss.

Montreal, Jan. 8.—Alexander St. Amor, 30 years of age, overturned a lamp in his bedroom last evening, and the bed taking fire he was so badly burned that the poor fellow died at the hospital later on.

Child's Neck Broken.

Three Killed in "L" Wreck.

New York, Jan. 8.—Three trainmen were killed yesterday by a collision of two trains on the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad.

Strike Declared Off.

Philadelphia, Jan. 8.—S. M. Wetherly, treasurer of the Keystone Type Foundry, of this city, announced last night that the strike inaugurated about Oct. 1 by the Union Type Founders throughout the United States has been declared off by the officers of the union.

Won't Reopen Panama Question.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Gen. Rafael Reys, the Colombian special envoy, has received the answer of the Washington Government to the note charging the United States with violation of the treaty of 1846. The answer is an emphatic refusal to re-open the Panama question.

Centenarian Dead.

Guelph, Jan. 8.—John Morrell, sr., who died on Wednesday night, lived 101 years and 3 months, his great age being attested by the church records of Oxford, England, and by the family Bible. He was in good health up to the last week or ten days.

Stomach Troubles.

A disordered stomach may cause no end of trouble. When the stomach fails to perform its functions the bowels become deranged, the liver and kidneys congested, causing numerous diseases, the most fatal of which are painless and therefore the more to be dreaded. The important thing is to restore the stomach and liver to a healthy condition, and for this purpose no better preparation can be used than Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by all druggists.

BEAUTIFUL WOMEN WHO USE PE-RU-NA.

HEALTHY WOMEN

Praise Pe-ru-na as a Cure and Preventative of Catarrhal Disorders.

Miss Elizabeth Uber, No. 6 Bassett street, Albany, N. Y., writes:

"I have always dreaded the fall and winter because of my extreme liability to catch cold, when catarrhal trouble would quickly develop through my entire system which it would take weeks to drive away. I am thankful to say that since I have taken Peruna, I do not have any reason to dread this any more. Last fall when I suffered with my old trouble I took Peruna and in nine days was completely cured and since that time, if I have been at all exposed to the damp, wet or cold weather, I take a dose or two of Peruna and it throws out any hint of sickness from my system. I gladly indorse it."—Miss Elizabeth Uber.

Mrs. Wm. Dewey, Saranac Lake, N. Y., is second cousin of Admiral Dewey. In a recent letter she says:

"Peruna is the most valuable of any remedy that I have ever used for coughs, colds, etc. I cheerfully recommend it as a certain cure if used according to directions."—Mrs. Wm. Dewey.

Miss Rosa Gerbing, a popular society woman of Crown Point, Ind., writes:

"Last winter I took a long drive in the country, and being too thinly clad I caught a bad cold which settled on my lungs, and which I could not seem to shake off. I had heard a great deal of Peruna for colds and catarrh and I bought a bottle to try. I am pleased that I did for it brought speedy relief. It only took two bottles and I consider this money well spent.

"You have a firm friend in me, and I not only advise its use to my friends, but have purchased several bottles to give to those without the means to buy, and have noticed without exception that it has brought about a speedy cure wherever it has been used."—Miss Rosa Gerbing.

To neglect a cold is to invite chronic catarrh. As soon as anyone discovers the first symptoms of catching cold he should at once begin the use of Peruna according to directions on the bottle, and the cold is sure to pass away without leaving any bad effects.

Unless this is done the cold is almost sure to end in the second stage of catarrh which is making so many lives miserable. If Peruna was taken every time one has a cold or cough chronic catarrh would be practically an unknown disease.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

SESSION BEFORE ELECTIONS.

Premier, However, Gives No Sign, and He Is the Final Judge—Majority of 80 in Maritime Provinces.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—The question as to whether there will be a session of Parliament still hangs in the balance, but a definite decision one way or the other will be reached very soon. Indications seems to be that there will be a session of Parliament before an election. This is the view entertained by prominent supporters of the Government, who have seen the Prime Minister recently, but Sir Wilfrid Laurier gives no sign, and he is the final judge.

Liberal Prospects in the East.

Montreal, Jan. 9.—Mr. Hance J. Logan, M.P., for Cumberland, N.S., who was in the city yesterday, is very optimistic of the result of the next Federal election in eastern Canada. He spoke as follows: "There is every probability that the Government will carry at least fifteen of the nineteen seats in Nova Scotia, ten of the thirteen in New Brunswicv, three of the four in Prince Edward Island, and will come out of the Maritime Provinces with a majority of twenty seats."

D. W. Bole in Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 9.—D. W. Bole, a leading wholesale merchant, was nominated last night by Winnipeg Liberals for the Commons. A. W. Puttee will, of course, be the labor candidate.

Toronto, Jan. 9.—Three hundred duly credentialled delegates sat in the Liberal annual meeting last night. Sir William Mulock was unanimously re-elected chairman.

THERE IS A WAY OUT OF IT.

Catarrh, the Offensive and Dangerous Disease, can be Cured.

Catarrh is a disease that afflicts a majority of the people of the United States. It comes without warning, and from its offensive nature causes intense suffering and humiliation. Its complications are often dangerous and fatal, dyspepsia, bronchitis and consumption frequently resulting, if catarrh is allowed to run its course unchecked.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets have done more good and effected more cures among catarrh sufferers than any known remedy. They never fail to cure even the most aggravated cases where their use is adhered to. They thoroughly renovate the system and cleanse it of all impurities. Under their influence all catarrhal poisons are thrown off and the cure is complete and permanent.

A prominent lawyer and public speaker of Pittsburg, says: "I have been troubled with catarrh of the head and throat for 12 years. In this climate it seems impossible to get rid of it. The continual dropping of mucus from the nose into the throat causes irritation and hoarseness, seriously interfering with my public speaking. It took me an hour or more of coughing, gagging, expectorating and sneezing every morning before I could setttle down to work, and this condition gradually brought on catarrh of the stomach, causing loss of appetite, poor digestion and a foul breath, which annoyed me exceedingly. My physician advised me to try Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and I took them for two months and was astonished to find how quickly they cured my head, throat and stomach, and I have no hesitation in recommending them. They are not only pleasant to take, but they seem to get at the very root of the trouble, because since using them I have had no trace of catarrh."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. They have done so much good and the demand for them is so great that no druggist ever fails to keep them in stock, although there are other remedies which yield him a greater profit. Druggists know, however, that they would be making a great mistake and endangering their business to be without Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

R. L. Borden's House Burned.

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 9.—R. L. Borden's residence, "Pinehurst," at the Northwest Arm, was badly damaged by fire last evening. It is supposed the fire caught from an electric wire. The damage to the building is estimated at $1,000, and to the furnishings $2,000. The loss is covered by insurance.

One Juror in 3 Days.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—The third day of the trial of Van Dine, Marx and Neidermeier, the car barn bandits, ended with but one juror selected as a result of the three days' examination of venue men. The police searched all who entered for weapons, and confiscated those found on six men.

A LIBERAL VICTORY

They Doubled Their Majority in Ashburton, Devonshire.

SOME PREVIOUS MAJORITIES

Opposition to Hon. Joseph Chamberlain's Tariff Proposals and the Popularity of the Liberal Candidate United to Carry the Day—Mr. Seale-Hayne Had Represented the Constituency Since 1885.

London, Jan. 9.—The by-election in the Ashburton or Middle division of Devonshire Thursday to fill the Liberal vacancy in the House of Commons resulted in the return of the Liberal candidate, H. T. Eve, by a majority of 1,476, over the Unionist candidate, General Sir Richard Harrison, partially due to Eve's local popularity, otherwise attributed to opposition to Chamberlain's tariff proposals.

Mr. Seale-Hayne had represented the constituency since 1885, and his largest majority was 771 in 1900. Previous to that the Liberal majorities were as follows: 1885, 251; 1886, 405; 1892, 711; 1895, 404.

CHINA'S GRIEVANCE.

That British Colonies Do Not Treat Chinamen As It Desires—Some Australian Strong Talk.

London, Jan. 9.—(C.A.P.)—Secretary Chen of the Chinese legation stated yesterday that his Government was extremely dissatisfied with the treatment of Chinamen by the British colonies.

Agent-General Granger of Australia said that if the British Government backed up the Chinese demands in Australia a tremendous storm would follow. England was not the Empire, and Australia could look after her own interests. An Australian mine owner said the Australians would rather cut the painter than allow any Government to alter the Chinese Restriction Act.

Prominent Canadians here says that Canada will likely make stronger anti-Chinese laws than now exists.

Farmer Against Protection.

London, Jan. 9.—(C.A.P.)—The News, referring to the Ashburton Division of Middovon, says it is evidence that the agricultural laborer is dead against protection.

The Post says that the result was influenced by the fact of the Liberal candidate being a large landowner in the division.

The Standard says that Premier Balfour was not beaten, but it is these porsons who are endeavoring to press forward a fiscal revolution that the country has no use for.

To Abandon Newfoundland.

London, Jan. 9.—(C.A.P.)—The Standard's Paris correspondent referring to the Anglo-French negotiations, says that France is likely to abandon her rights and advantages in Newfoundland in return for compensation in Central Africa and the New Hebrides.

A Pecksniffian Preference

London, Jan. 9.—(C.A.P.)—President Jacobs of the General Council of the Australian Chambers of Commerce, speaking on preferential trade called Premier Seddon's policy "a Pecksniffian preference." Protection alone could make Australia great.

It Is Not Hopeless.

London, Jan. 9.—(C.A.P.)—The Times is puzzled over the trade returns and says: "The bumper trade shows it is not hopeless for Chamberlain to try to put the country on his feet. Before exulting it is better to ascertain with whom the trade is done and the proportion of manufactures and raw material."

Hobgoblin Join a Bible Class.

London, Jan. 9.—(C.A.P.)—The Rev. H. Napier, curate of Barton-on-Humber, has written a fairy pantomime, where the wicked hobgoblin joins a Bible class. Napier worked two years as a farm laborer in Canada.

That C.M.A. Resolution.

London, Jan. 9.—(C.A.P.)—The Westminster Gazette says that the resolution of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association just passed is very interesting. Tariff reform in Canada is advocated, but there is no sign of a schedule of the forbidden industries or of any willingness to give that fair measure in return which Mr. Chamberlain demands as the price of a preference by the Mother Country. The words "foreign competition" are used clearly to include British competition. The Westminster Gazette commends the resolution to those who believe the colonies made any offer.

What Uncle Sam Would Do.

London, Jan. 9.—(C.A.P.)—The Rev. Mr. Jephson, a Moseley commissioner, says that if England gives Canada a preference the President of the United States has only to sign his name to the document and all Canadian wheat will have to come through the half-frozen port of Halifax instead of as at present.

Lord Dundonald's Future.

London, Jan. 9.—It is rumored that Lord Dundonald is returning to England to succeed Major-General Sir Alfred Turner as Inspector-General of the auxiliary forces.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—The Earl of Dundonald was asked yesterday afternoon whether there was any truth in the report that he had been appointed to succeed Sir Alfred Turner as Inspector-General of the auxiliary forces. In reply his Lordship said: "I know nothing whatever about it."

HELP ONE ANOTHER.

An Interesting Chat With Rev. E. R. Hatchett.

He Asserts People Should Speak Plainly When Their Words Will Benefit Others.

(From the Recorder, Brockville, Ont.)

Rev. R. Hatchett, general agent of the African Methodist Church in Canada, spent several days in Brockville recently in the interest of the church work. Talking with a reporter he said he always liked to visit Brockville, because he found so many of its citizens in hearty sympathy with the church work he represents. "And besides, said Mr. Hatchett, I have what may be called a sentimental reason for liking Brockville. It is the home of a medicine that has done me much good and has done much good to other members of my family. I refer to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills." "Would you mind," asked the reporter, "giving your experience with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills?" "Not at all," said Mr. Hatchett, "I always say a good word for this medicine whenever the opportunity offers. I know some people object to speaking in public about medicines they use, but I think this is a narrow view to take. When one finds something really good and really helpful in relieving human ills, it seems to me it is a duty we owe other sufferers to put them in way of obtaining new health. You can say from me therefore that I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a very superior medicine—I know of no other so good. My work, as you may judge, is by no means light, I have to travel a great deal in the interest of our church work, and it is no wonder that often I find myself much run down, and afflicted almost with a general prostration. It is on occasions of this kind that I resort to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I can say in all sincerity that they have never failed me. The pills have also been used in my family, and among my friends, and the results have always been satisfactory. You may just say from me that I think those who are afflicted with any of the ills for which this medicine is recommended will make no mistake in giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial."

The Rev. Mr. Hatchett's home is in Hamilton, Ont., where he is known to most of the citizens and greatly esteemed by those who know him.

Enormous Growth.

Ever since Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were first introduced to the public the sales have steadily increased, each year being larger than the year preceding. This is probably the best evidence of their remarkable efficiency, as a treatment for derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels. They are invaluable as a family medicine.

CHICKENS FETCHED VERY HIGH PRICES.

On the Market This Morning—The Supply was Small and Averaged High.

A Good Programme Rendered—Those who Have Been Regular in Attendance and Apt in Studies.

The members of St. Luke's Sunday school enjoyed their annual Christmas Tree and Entertainment last night in the school house, and it is safe to say that the event was a very pleasing one to the large number who participated in it. Not only was the school well represented but the parents turned out in large numbers and apparently enjoyed it equally as well as the children. The chair was occupied by the superintendent, Mr. E. A. Peck, who after a brief address introduced a programme which consisted of two carols effectively given by the school, recitations by Pearl Smith and Geo. and Maggie Colquhon, piano solos by Katie Leary and Janet Quinn, recitations by Reta Gaskins and Laura Parker, and a song by George and Birdie Lang. The contributors were all tiny people and they performed their parts very creditably.

The rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, made a brief speech in which he paid a high compliment to the efficiency of the school and the faithfulness of techers. The record of the past year had been one that indicated a high degree of progressiveness. His announcement was received with applause that Mrs. W. J. Scott, to whom he said, the school owed very much, had won the teachers' prize, a handsome Bible. In awarding the special prizes he said that three children, Eva Crane, Ethel Pakenham and Ella Curtis, had taken the highest number of marks obtainable, 312, and were entitled to the roll of honour.

The scholars whose uames will be placed on the honour roll and who will receive honour certificates and first class prizes, having attended from 48 to 52 Sundays, and obtained the prescribed number of marks, are: Ella Curtis, 312; Ethel Pakenham, 312; Eva Crane, 312; Violet Whittaker, 310; Flo Howden, 310; Rolly Howden, 310; Hazel Crane, 306; Wilfred Adams, 303; Lily Scott, 302; Carrie Whittaker, 300; Percy Crane, 300; Muriel Curtis, 299; Harold Adams, 297, Ada Adams, 296; Alma Curtis, 296; Norman Geale, 296.

Those entitled to honourable mention, having attended from 35 to 40 Sundays during the year, received a certificate of faithfulness. Their names are:—Bertha Curtis, Mary Pratley, Nellie Green, Ruby Quartermaine, Leah Rogers, Maude Stewart, Arthur Weart, Alice Neill, Mabel Oliver, Phyllis Dawson, Percy Neill, Albert Thompson, Arthur Lipsett, Eva McLean, Orlando Watterman.

Feeling reference was made to the death during the year of Zeta Jamieson, and Willie Maniece. Their names had been placed on the roll of those members of the school who had passed away.

The presentation of prizes to pupils who had taken the highest standing in the various classes followed. While this was being done, Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., was taken by surprise when he received as a mark of appreciation from his Bible class, a very handsome set of miscellaneous literary works by favourite authors—Dickens, Thackeray, Scott, Hugo, Farrar, Correli, and others—and a hymn book handsomely bound in leather. Mr. Turner expressed his hearty gratitude for the gift and the kindly spirit which prompted it.

The Rector announced that the school had during the year made a donation of $5 to the hospital for consumptives and he read a letter of acknowledgment. The names of the children who won prizes in their classes, follow, the numbers indicating the order of the prizes:—

Miss Jean Scott's Class.—Lilly Scott, 1, Florence Howden, 1; Mabel Sawyer, 3; Tillie Graham, 2; Kathleen Graham, 3;

The winners of second prizes in the above are those who attended from 45 to 48 Sundays, and of third prizes, from 40 to 45 Sundays.

Two heavily laden Christmas trees, upon which the children had been feasting their eyes during the evening were dismantled of their gifts, which were transferred to the possession of the scholars, everyone receiving some present.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation to the school of a picture of Miss Alice Scott, one of the most faithful members of the school, and who recently went to Gleichen, Alta., to engage in missionary work.

Convention Called for Monday January 19th. for the Selection of a Candidate.

At a meeting of prominent Liberals held in Warkworth on Wednesday, 6th inst., there was a good attendance of representative delegates from the riding. From Mr. A. B. Spellman, of Hastings, who was in town yesterday and who was one of the delegates, it was learned that three of the strongest names were selected, with concurrence of the gentlemen to contest the riding for the House of Commons. These names will be submitted to a convention called for the 19th of January next. Mr. Spellman believes that the constituency can be carried by either of the gentlemen selected.

A SNEAK THIEF IN LINDSAY.

A Port Perry Man Rifled a Room in the Pym House.

(Lindsay Post.)

About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mr. J. J. McDonell, bookkeeper for the Flavelle Milling Co., entered his room in the Pym House and to his great surprise saw a man in the act of ransacking the drawers in the dresser. When asked by Mr. McDonell what he was doing the man didn't answer, but quickly left the room and went to another. A watch and gold chain, which had been left lying on the dresser, were missing.

Fearing the man would escape, Mr. McDonell immediately notified Mr. Pym and Chief Nevison was sent for. When arrested a few minutes later the man gave his name as James Warren, and said his home was in Port Perry. The missing watch was found in the room where the prisoner had taken refuge. Warren at first denied having taken the timepiece, but afterwards admitted the theft. He was escorted to the lock-up, and later in the afternoon appeared before P. M. Jackson and was remanded until next Tuesday.

During the past couple of weeks several parties have reported to Chief Nevison the disappearance of various articles, and he is now of the opinion that he has secured the guilty person.

THE "PASSING" OF THE GOUGHS

The Calm Before the Storm on the Wonderful Cheap Men's Store—Preparing for a Hurricane "Good-bye" Sale.

Gough Bros' Big Double Store is closed to the public to-day—positively closed tight—and will remain closed until Saturday morning. The cause of such an uncommon and disturbing event is, that stock-taking is going on. The firm require to see where they are at before bringing on their hurricane "good-bye sale," which starts Saturday morning at 8 o'clock with the stroke of the clock. The store is as quiet to-day as a church mouse. The familiar faces of the two Gough boys — Messrs. Richard and Gus — are in evidance, busily "calling down" the goods. Both came down from Toronto to oversee the work of inventory in which they are assisted by Managers Tully & Merrell, and a numerous staff of clerical assistants. There's another bright-looking man from Toronto—a mild-mannered but lynx-eyed young expert in footwear. The name on his hat band is Barry Gibbons, the live manager of Gough Bros' Toronto boot and shoe department. He's got his coat off, pushing the inventory of the big shoe side of the store. He is billed to remain in town for some time to engineer the big sale until the wind-up.

Not the town of Peterborough alone, but the whole county will turn out to give Gough Bros. a rousing send-off for their final sale. Both members of the firm are men of a congenial spirit, courageous in business, strenuous and successful. Both have left their impress on the community, and both have made hosts of friends and well-wishers.

First Game in Trent Valley League—Peterborough II at Lindsay—Curling Items.

T. A. S. TRIMMED UP THE KEENE CLUB.

A Fast Game in the Brock Street Rink Last Night—A win by two Goals

The opening game in Peterborough of the Trent Valley League series, was pulled off last night, when Keene met the T.A.S, last year's champions, ending in the visitors losing to the locals by a score of 6 goals to 4. The game throughout was very fast and great excitement prevailed over the crowd, which pretty well filled up the benches. "When Greek meets Greek, then comes the tug of ward," goes the old adage, and certainly Greek met Greek last night. On the whole the play was not rougher than could be expected at such a fast game, but there is no mistake that some of the "liveliness" displayed would have looked better bottled up: this applies to both sides. The teams were about evenly weighted and of equal strength; in fact there was not much to choose between the aggregations, and this fact was fully illustrated in the play, at no time either side running away with the other. It was a hard fought battle and it was very creditable indeed that the T.A.S. won. What is more creditable, however, is that Keene can place such a strong team on the ice. The team is undeniably a good one, which is mainly due to the confident way in which they play togeteher. When stirred up by the sense of defeat, the visitors buzzed around like a swarm of bees and the home defense in the latter half of the game had some tough work checking their concentrated rushes.

As for the T.A.S. team, if they go the gait they did last night, they are going to make the Trent Valley hum this winter and the district will have the opportunity of witnessing some exciting finals. The great prop of the team is the excellent forward line, which is particularly strong in shooting. When once they start going it is a case of Rule Britannia for the opposing defence.

In the first few minutes of the game the T.A.S. scored and were continually pressing the Keene bunch hard on their own ground. Before long, however, and in the first quarter Keene got away with the puck and scored. There was certainly a loss of breath at the quick run, and the fast shot which the visitors put in. This run was followed by another equally pretty one, but luckily Crough saved a good shot. Parnell cleared a mix up in front of the home goal and took a run down the ice, which got the T.A.S. into the centre. Throughout the match Parnell played a cracker-jack of a game, and frequently upset several little lock-combinations which the Keene forward line had begun. The Keene players still pressed the game and somehow H. Quinn, the tricky centre of the Keene bunch, planted a clear one between the flags. The score then stood at 2 goals to 1 in favour of Keene. The score seemed to prick the T.A.S. hard, for they visibly bucked up and the forward line did some great runs down the ice, however, unaltering the score by half time. The second period of the game was better in every way than the first. Lynch handled his stick in a way which would do credit to anybody. His rushes were fine and he knew when to pass. From start to finish he played a fast dashing game and the victory is to a great extent due to his excellent and moreover unselfish play. Crowley also played a rattling game passing the Keene defence time after time and arousing round applause from the spectators. George played a clear-headed game and when he went for the puck it was noticeable that he generally got it. As for the T.A.S. defence they all did well. However, they were up against a fast string of forwards who gave them all the handling they required. At the beginning of the second half Keene compiled their third goal, thus being two in advance of the T.A.S. However, this was succeeded by a quick combined rush of George and Lynch resulting in the home team scoring its second goal. The play at this stage began to get very exciting and more than a necessary amount of slashing was dealt out. The next goal was scored by the T.A.S. and created a slight dissatisfaction, some deeming that the puck did not pass the posts. However, the goal umpire decided that the T.A.S. had scored and the play was resumed, with the score 3 all. The T.A.S. were beginning to feel happy once more and were continually potting at the Keene net, but all the shots were saved by the excellent goal keeper the visitors had brought along with them. However a pretty run from Parnell ended in the T.A.S. scoring their fourth goal placing them one ahead of the Keene score. Three minutes later Keene again drew up with another goal and at full time the score stood at 4 each. Extra time was played and the home team again scored amid howling enthusiasm. In the somewhat rough and tumble play which followed, a case of cross checking caused some little disagreement on the part of two Keene players who refused to continue the game. The T.A.S. were empowered to plant another through the net, bringing their score up to 6 against 4, which ended a game of a very exciting nature throughout.

Referee King was a little too lenient in his decisions which caused some of the players, who would not otherwise do so, to rough it too much. Keene played the better combination and were not as frequent offenders to the rules which helped them in their combination. The hockey was a little too strenuous at times and players frequently appeared to lose their heads entirely.

The two teams lined up as follows:

Keene.		T. A. S.
	Goal.
McIntyre		Crough
	Point.
Dixon		Meagher
	Cover Point.
Quinn		Berbeau
	Forwards.
H. Quinn		Lynch
McCarthy		Crowley
Laing		George
Miller		Parnell
	Goal Umpire.
Frank Welsh		Jack McDonough

Referee—Harry King, Peterborough.

(Later in the evening the visitors were entertained at McCallum's restaurant where a very delightful time was spent. Mr. Fred McFadden acted as chairman and proposed the toast of the Keene Club. Mr. E. S. Clarry, the secretary of the League, was also called upon for a few remarks, he acquiescing. The President, Mr. Wm. Crowley, also spoke, as did Messrs. Geo. Lynch, Meagher and Harry King. The toast of the ladies was proposed by Mr. Quinn, of Keene. Mr. Grady responded. Mr. J. Plouffe added to the evening's pleasure with a song, the pleasant affair concluding with the National Anthem.

It has been arranged with the Keene team and the T.A.S. that the return game which is scheduled for Wednesday next be played on the Friday following. The matter was brought up at the oyster supper in McCallum's restaurant last night. The T.A.S. found Wednesday a bad day for them as two of their number are interested in some matrimonial affairs of that day.

WON THE GAME WITH SEVEN MEN TO FOUR.

Lindsay Team Defeated Peterborough Trent Valley Seven—Referee's Good Work Won Game.

The Peterborough II Trent Valley Hockey Team played its first game in Lindsay last night, and in view of the conditions under which the game was played, the result was not one with which the team's supporters will find fault. This was the first time the whole team has been on the ice together, and for half of the team it was the first time they had been on the ice this season. In view of this and when it is known that the majority of the goals were scored when the team was playing short-handed, in some cases four to seven men, the win by Lindsay by 7—3 is not one for which any particular credit can be claimed. Added to these circumstances was that bane of legitimate sport, a partial referee, and more than half of the seven goals to the credit of the Lindsay team, were scored on glaring off-sides, which the referee conveniently forgot to notice, while similar infractions on the part of Peterborough were instantly detected.

The game was not a good exhibition of hockey, neither team showing any particularly brilliant work, and the frequent delays made the game a tedious one to witness. It was a good work out for the Trent Valley team, and one the benefit of which will not be lost. The members of the visiting team have not been able to play together before this season, consequently their combination was not what it should be, nor what it will be later on in the season, when the forward line gets working together and the members become accustomed to each other's style of play. Considering the meager opportunities the team has had for playing together the game put up was a very creditable one, and has demonstrated the fact that there is good material for a fast team.

During the first half of the game last night the honours were evenly divided, the period ending with the score 3—3. Just before half time Ford broke his skate and was unable to continue the game. Lindsay, however, refused to drop a man to even up, and the Peterborough team continued the game, playing six men to seven. This number gradually shrank, until only four of the visiting team were on the ice, Graham and McPherson being ruled off, the former for the balance of the game, on the supposition that he was instrumental in tripping his check. The action of the referee was one that even the spectators recognized as being entirely unwarranted, as it was plain to all that no infraction of the rules was made. Remonstrances proved unavailing, however, and the teams now stood 7 to 5 men. McPherson quickly followed Graham for an imaginary offence, which everyone but the referee failed to see. With four men upholding Peterborough's end, and the whole Lindsay team on the aggressive, three goals were rushed in, and the game clinched.

Lindsay team included four senior men, the whole defence and right wing player, and the line-up was as follows:—

Peterborough.		Lindsay.
	Goal.
Comstock		McGrath
	Point.
McPherson		Koyle
	Cover Point.
McLean		Duffus
	Forwards.
Cameron		Killen
Ford		Sylvester
Graham		J. McDonald
Lee		F. McDonald
	Time-keeper.
Howell		Cameron
	Goal Umpire
Renton		———

Referee—"Goosie" Taylor.

The first goal was scored by Ford in 7 minutes, the play during this period being confined entirely to the Lindsay end. Lindsay by a flukey play tied the score in two minutes. An offside occurred and the referee faced off the puck within two feet, and directly in front of the Peterborough goal, the puck entering the nets before the referee ordered play. The goal was allowed, however. Lindsay got the next two in five, and one-half minutes respectively, giving them a lead of two goals. In 11 minutes Graham scored for Peterborough, and in one-half minute Lee repeated the trick after making the rush of the night. Just before half time Lindsay located the net, but as the score was made on an off-side play it was not allowed. The half ended with the score 3—3.

The second half opened with Peterborough playing 6 men to 7. Ford had broken a skate and was unable to play. Lindsay, however, refused to put off a man to even up, and the play continued. But worse luck was in store, Chris. Graham, while in the act of taking the puck from a Lindsay forward, accidentally tripped him, and, although it was an accident pure and simple, and the play perfectly legitimate, the referee could not see it that way, and ruled him off for the balance of the game. Captain McPherson soon followed for an offense which existed only in the mind of the referee, and with 4 men to 7, the Lindsay team scored 3 goals, making it 6—3. With two minutes to play Lindsay ran in another making the final score 7—3.

On the Peterborough defence Captain McPherson played a splendid game saving the nets time and again, and breaking up some good combination rushes. McLean was in his first game for the locals, playing at cover point. On the forward line Lee and Graham were the stars, though Cameron and Ford did good work. Comstock was on skates for the first time this season, and stopped a number of shots which were intended for scores.

HOCKEY.

The T.A.S. team will not practice this evening, they having given up the ice to the Peterborough Club.

* * * *

The Juniors and Seniors will practice together between 7 and 8.10 this evening.

CURLING.

The curlers had a great time last night in honour of Dr. Russell, of Hamilton, president of the Ontario Curling Association, and the event was a record one in the history of the Peterborough club. There were about sixty members present and many games were played. This was the greatest rally of the year and it should materially strengthen the local club.

The following games were played:

J. B. Douglas	R. Hicks
F. R. J. MacPherson	H. Morphet
A. B. Stevenson	S. A. Oke
H. LeBrun	S. T. Madd
R. J. Frost, sk. 10	W. G. Ferguson sk 20
Illand	Wm. Smith
Mowat	Wolverhampton
Morrison	Aylmer
Edwards, sk 4	Dr. Russell, sk 6
M. R. Taylor	J. Fowler
J. Cocks	D. Best
J. Gracey	G. A. Cox, jr.
F. A. Lount	T. Brightman
R. Neill, sk. 14	C. N. Brown, sk 11

After the games all adjourned upstairs where lunch was served. After everybody's appetite had been appeased Col. Edwards, in a few sentences introduced Dr. Russell and proposed his health. This was drunk with great enthusiasm amid the strains of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," which he truly is. Dr. Russell responded in a short speech

PRESIDENT DERBYSHIRE AGAIN.

Eastern Ontario Dairymen Elect Their Officers For the Year.

Belleville, Jan. 9.—The Eastern Ontario Dairymen yesterday elected the following officers: President, C. Derbyshire, Brockville (re-elected); first vice-president, J. R. Dargavel, Elgin; second vice-president, John McTavish, Vancouver; third vice-president, L. L. Gallagher, Dilton; directors, E. Kidd, M.P.; William Eager of Morrisburg, Levi Patten of Brockville, James Whitton of Wellman's Corners, T. Marclaw of Warkworth, H. Clendenning of Manilla.

J. W. Mitchell of the Kingston Dairy School, in an address on butter-making, pointed out the advantages that the butter industry has over the cheese industry in winter. Milk for butter may be, in fact should be, pasteurized. By this means bad flavors in milk due to fodder and other causes may be removed. Such treatment in milk for cheese is impossible. Then the use of a good, clean-flavored, active starter in the creamery will control the flavor of the butter in a way impossible in cheese-making.

MRS. A. LEGAULT

Almost a Lost Woman from Nervous Prostration, Insomnia and Headache.

Mrs. A. Legault, Montreal, Que., says:—"I would have been a lost woman had I continued much longer in suffering. My case was a bad one. Nervous prostration, insomnia, headache and loss of memory made up my troubles, and I feared they would lead to insanity. The doctors treated me with all their skill, but I did not get any better. Some of my friends advised me to try Paine's Celery Compound. The first bottle gave me little relief, but the second worked miraculously on my nerves. After the use of nine bottles I can positively say I am cured."

PAINE'S Celery Compound Cured Her.

Not So Bad as First Reported.

Sydney, N.S.W., Jan. 8.—It developed yesterday that the loss of life on board the British-Australian third-class cruiser Wallaroo by the explosion of one of her boilers while on her way from here to Hobart was not so great as at first reported. The number of men killed or injured totals 43. The first report said 43 men had been killed.

Duner Cut His Throat.

Chatham, Jan. 8.—John Duner, a farm laborer, was found Wednesday night at Ford's cold storage house, about a mile out of the city, with his throat cut from ear to ear. A razor was clutched in one of his hands, and all the surroundings pointed to suicide. No reason appears for his taking his life, unless it was poor health, of which he complained lately. An inquest has been ordered.

RUN DOWN BY A RIG

Picturesque Old Man Durell Killed in a Toronto Street.

DANDLED "THE JERSEY LILY"

Driver's Victim Was Formerly Secretary to Mr. Robert Birmingham and One of the Oldest Orangemen in Canada—Educated in Paris Where He Was a Professor of Languages—Posed For the Artists.

Toronto, Jan. 9.—William Durell, a well-known character, and one of the oldest Orangemen in Canada, was killed yesterday afternoon at Jarvis street and Wilton avenue. He attempted to cross the street, and, in avoiding one rig, was knocked down by another. He received an ugly wound on the forehead, which caused his death. Whether he was struck by the shaft of the cutter or the horse's hoof is not known, either would have caused the injury. Deceased has lived for a number of years with Madame Mendon, a phrenologist, at 300 Ontario street.

Durell was a picturesque figure. He was known by sight to thousands, although all did not know his name. His long gray beard and hair and refined, classic features made many a person turn around and look at him the second time as they passed him on the street. He resembled very much the late Walt Whitman, the American post. He was 84 years of age.

A Good Linguist.

The deceased was familiarly called "Daddy" Durell. Born in Jersey Island, he lived there until about 20 years of age, when he went to Paris University, where he learned French, Italian and German, and, having English as his native tongue, became an exceedingly good linguist. After finishing his course at the university he was offered a professor's chair, which he accepted and lived in Paris for many years. He finally returned to Jersey and renewed old acquaintances. Among them was the father of the noted Lily Langtry, the famous actress. When "the Jersey Lily" was quite a little child "Daddy" Durell would rock the little one to and fro to her intense delight, and when she came to Toronto two years ago he called around behind the stage after the play and immediately Mrs. Langtry saw him she said: "Why, there's old Daddy" and went to him. The last time Mrs. Langtry came she did not forget her old friend and sent him an acceptable present.

Was an Orange Chaplain.

Mr. Durell was about 55 years of age when he came to America. On his arrival in Toronto, one of the first men he met was an Orangeman, and he became attached to Lodge 781. Soon after his arrival he was made private secretary to Robert Birmingham, the Conservative organizer, and the Grand Secretary of the Orange Order. For a number of years he has been chaplain of 781.

He posed for a great many pictures, and one will be seen in the Normal School, where it is hung on the wall just as an example of the grand old men of the country. It is a large oil painting and very well done.

JERSEY BULL'S ATTACK.

Police Magistrate Horsey Nearly Killed at Bowmanville.

Bowmanville, Jan. 9.—Mr. William M. Horsey, Police Magistrate, was seriously injured last night by being attacked by a Jersey bull at his residence. After knocking him down and trampling on him the infuriated animal gave him a toss with his horns, clean out of the stable into the barn, through the slide where the feed is usually passed in. But for this almost miraculous escape Mr. Horsey would in all probability have been killed. As it is he is considerably bruised, and his flesh so torn that Dr. Beith had to put a great number of stitches in his right leg.

20 KILLED; 40 INJURED.

Terrific Explosion of Boxes of Dynamite in Mexican Mines.

Mexico, Jan. 9.—At the Los Laureles mines west of Guadalajara, a large number of boxes of dynamite stored in a powder house exploded yesterday, killing 20 men and injuring 40 others. The detonations were heard many miles away and an American mine owner, working in his mine three miles away, was killed by a falling rock that had been jarred by the concussion.

Killed on His Car.

London, Jan. 9.—J. W. Johnston, brakeman on a G.T.R. freight train, which reached here from the tunnel between 9 and 10 o'clock yesterday morning, was found lying on the top of a box car in an unconscious condition. The man was taken to Victoria Hospital, where he died at 10 o'clock, his skull having been badly fractured. No one saw the accident, but it is believed he was struck by the overhead bridge at the Wharncliffe road, in South London. Johnston was about 21 years of age, and lived in Sarnia. He had relatives in Forest.

He May Die.

Belleville, Jan. 9.—Martin Ryan received probably fatal injuries at the G.T.R. machine shops yesterday morning. He was caught between a turn-table and a pillar and crushed so badly about the abdomen that his death is hourly expected.

Unknown Man Dead.

Novar, Jan. 2.—The body of an unknown man was found dead on the railway track between here and Huntsville yesterday morning, and was brought in by the Soo express. The body was badly mangled, as if run over by some train. The body is still unidentified and an inquest will be held.

Kicked By a Horse.

Kingston, Jan. 9.—David Coxe, a driver at a lumber camp at Mountain Grove, was kicked by a horse, a caulk of the shoe fracturing his skull over the right eye and exposing the brain. He cannot live.

Kidneys and Liver Affected by Colds.

Backache and Pains in the Legs the Common Symptoms—Cure Comes With the use of.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Exposure to damp, cold weather is a frequent cause of kidney disease. Sitting in a draught so as to chill the feet and legs is frequently enough to bring on congestion of the liver.

Colds settle on the liver and kidneys as well as the lungs. The results are diseases of the most dreadfully painful and fatal sort.

As yet there has never been discovered a preparation equal to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a prompt and thorough cure for derangements of those great filtering organs.

Pains in the back, headache, urinary disorders, biliousness, liver complaint, dyspepsia, and constipation soon disappear when Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills ar used.

Mr. C. Noyes, for many years, section foreman, and now flagman for the G. T. R. at Peterborough, Ont., states:—"For twenty-one years I was section foreman on G.T.R., and was exposed to all sorts of weather. As a result my kidneys became affected and there was scarcely a day that I was not troubled more or less. At times I would have sharp shooting pains through my back and would get so used up that I felt like giving up work. During this time I was also a great sufferer from constipation. As I heard so much about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for kidney disease and constipation I began using them, and can say that I was entirely cured of my old troubles in a short time. I cannot say anything too good about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and never lose an opportunity of recommending them."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 5

Uruguayan Troops Mutiny.

Buenos Ayres, Jan. 9.—Advices from Montevideo say that the Uruguayan troops in the Department of Artigas have mutinied and are marching on Melo, and that the Nationalists in the Department of Treinta y Tres have declared in favor of the revolutionists. A detachment of Uruguayan troops routed a revolutionary force in the Department of Maldonado on Jan 4.

Suspended For Hazing.

Middletown, Conn., Jan. 9.—President Raymond of the Wesleyan University last night suspended six members of the sophomore class until the mid-year examinations in February, and ordered them to leave town by Saturday night. The students are charged with being connected with the hazing of a fellow-student last night.

Fines Ordered to Drill.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 9.—An Imperial receipt to the Governor-General of Finland directs the Governor to dismiss all Finns employed in the municipal services who have not fulfilled their military service in the Finish rifle battalion during 1903, and not to issue foreign passports to them for five years.

Hop Purity

Carling's Ale gets that light, palatable, appetite-producing flavor, so peculiarly its own, from hops.

But ordinary hops spoil ale—make it sour, dead, and cause biliousness to the consumer.

Hops used in Carling's Ale are grown in Oregon and certain favored localities of Southern Europe, particularly Bavaria—are cultivated, gathered and shipped by experts in the business.

Few other breweries buy hops from these countries—one of the reasons why Carling's Ale is superior to all others.

The same care is used in every operation of Carling's extended system of brewing.

Ask for Carling's Ale—accept no other, because no other is quite so good.

IN QUEST OF KATE

By MARIAN WARNER WILDMAN

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

He stooped and picked it up—a lace edged cobweb handkerchief, elusively fragrant and marked with a daintily embroidered "Kate."

Harper watched the couples gliding by him. "Jane—Gladys—Anne," he murmured. "Dorothy — Isabel — Ruth. Now, which of the hundred I don't know is Kate? Kate!" he repeated musingly.

The music stopped with a crash, and the young lawyer mingled with the promenading throng, a frowning, preoccupied expression in his eyes.

"Look at that coat of Ted Harper's, Miss Cavanaugh," drawled a gilded youth to his companion. "He cares as little for clothes that fit as I"—

"For anything else, Reggie," she completed. "He's too good looking to need to care. He's like the lilies. Not that he doesn't toil and spin," she added quickly. "He's worth a dozen of you lazy society boys—is Theodore Harper!"

Her voice was low, but the passing owner of the name turned suddenly and came back with outstretched hand.

"Rena! I was afraid you hadn't come. Can't I have this dance?"

"I saved it for you, Ted. And we'll talk—I know you'd rather."

"Good girl!" he replied gratefully as he escorted her to the moonlit piazza. There, with the music softened by distance, he was content. He even forgot the mystery of Kate while he and Rena laughed and chatted.

"Now that you are getting rich and famous, Teddy, you ought to marry. You're plenty old enough—I know your age to a minute."

"And I yours, my dear! I haven't forgotten being dragged to see you when you were three weeks old nor how I cried when our mothers made me kiss you!"

"Poor boy! It has been a long friendship, Ted. It would have broken my heart if you had taken whittled fingers and love affairs to any other girl."

"Oh, by Jove, that reminds me! I'm in love again, Rena!"

Rena's silvery laugh was anything but credulous.

"I am, honestly. Aren't you interested this time?"

"Profoundly! Who is the happy lady?"

"Her name is Kate."

"Kate—what?"

"I don't know."

"Well, really, Teddy, what do you know about her?"

"This!" said Harper, laying something in her soft hand. Rena held the handkerchief up to the moonlight.

"You always were susceptible, Ted, but—to fall in love with a bit of linen and lace!"

"I haven't. It's the suggestion, the atmosphere, the—the"—

"The Violette de Parme?" suggested Rena helpfully. "We all use it, you know."

"Rena, you're heartless! I'd counted on your help."

"Teddy, what is it you want me to do?"

"To tell me all the Kates who may possibly have been in this jam tonight. Then I'll devote myself between briefs to narrowing the inquiry."

"Kate Simpson, Kate Ray, Kate"—

"Hold on, Rena! One at a time, please."

"Very well. Katie Simpson you ought to know. You went to dancing school with her. She has dimples."

"She's not the Kate I'm after. I remember her now. Dimples in a baby are all right, but—how about Kate Ray?"

"Engaged to Reggy Van Dyke. You knew that, of course."

"Of course I didn't. Who next?"

"Kate Delemater, a new girl in town; handsome, tall, black eyes, awfully clever. Shall I take you in and introduce you?"

"Thanks, I can wait. I'll have some one of the fellows get permission to take me around for a call. If she doesn't prove to be the real Kate I'll come to you, say Friday, for more clews."

"You might come in any case. I shall be wild to know. Yes, really," in reply to his protest as she arose, "I must go in now."

Harper offered a reluctant arm, and they passed from the freshness of the June night to the glare and gayety within.

* * * * * * * *

The October evening was cool, and Harper found Rena by a fire of snapping hickory.

"I'm too delightfully weary to rise," she said. "I've been in the country all day. Look!" with a comprehensive wave of her hand. The library was aglow with lavish masses of color—the orange and scarlet of maple, the crimson of sumac, the purple and russet of oak and beech. "This is my October carnival. I always celebrate when the autumn gets into my blood. Oh, the glory of the woods today, Teddy!" She leaned forward to lay a fagot on the coals. The seasoned wood burst into a whirl of blue and yellow flame. Harper watched her face curiously as she talked. "All summer these leaves have been quiet, contented little dreamers. Today they are new creatures, glorious. It's the transfiguration of their lives, what they have been waiting for all these tranquil weeks."

"The autumn has gone into your blood, Rena. I hardly know you tonight."

Her thoughtfulness vanished.

"What of Kate?" she laughed.

"Oh—Kate! I'm tired of this foolerol about Kate."

"Ungrateful! When I've spent my whole summer finding you Kates."

"You have been very good. The fault is in the Kates." He took a notebook from his pocket and laid it open in her lap, leaning against the back of her chair to look over her shoulder as she ran her finger down the neat list.

"Katie Simpson—dimples; Kate Ray—engaged to Reggie Van Dyke; Kate Delemater—I hardly dare mention her. Teddy!"

"You have reason to blush. You know how I abominate the bohemian girl who smokes cigarettes and is always stopping on the verge."

"Didn't you find her clever and handsome?"

"Oh, very! Who next?"

"Kate Randall. Mother suggested her. You did like her a bit, I remember."

"I liked her a great deal. She's a sensible, modest, well behaved young woman. But she's not Kate."

Rena sighed patiently.

"What was the matter with Kittie Pomeroy? There isn't a dearer, sweeter, prettier little girl in"—

"I'm not looking for a dear, sweet, pretty little girl."

"What sort of a girl are you looking for, Ted?"

Harper mused in smiling silence, his eyes idly watching a trembling silver butterfly in her hair.

"I think she's tall and has dark eyes. She's well bred, but not conventional. She's honest and kind. She has brains and a sense of humor. She"— He broke off suddenly. "I have it, Rena! Find me a Kate just like you, and I surrender the handkerchief."

"And your heart?"

The light words had an unfamiliar tremor in them, like that of the butterfly's filigree wings. Something sweet and sudden and unforeseen swept over Harper's heart. He was looking down at the leaves in her lap, and fragments of what she had said of them came back to him. "All summer contented dreamers — today new creatures — the transfiguration of their lives—what they have been waiting for all these tranquil weeks."

"Rena!" he whispered, bending lower over the silver butterfly. And then, as she looked up into his face with startled eyes, "I believe it is you I love!" he added simply.

"And Kate?" Her eyes smiled, though her lashes were still wet.

"Kate was an airy nothing."

"Dear, stupid boy!" Rising, she crossed the room and brought back a great Bible which she laid on his knee. Perching on the arm of his chair, she opened the volume at the pages of family record and laid a finger on one of the names.

"Katherine, daughter of James and Katherine Cavanaugh, born June —."

"Rena, is it you?"

"Who else? But Rena I've been from my cradle, save to one person."

"And he?" jealously.

"And she"—reassuringly—"is a college friend who dislikes my poor nickname. I can show you dozens of letters from her addressed to Miss Kate Cavanaugh. The only other proof I could have offered—her gift to me last Christmas—I unfortunately lost."

"At a ball?"

"At a charity ball—last June."

"I don't believe you're my Kate, after all! I told you my Kate was honest and kind."

"And had a sense of humor. Teddy, do you regret the prosaic end of your romance?"

"Prosaic?"

"Do you?" she insisted.

"I should be an ungrateful fool if I did!"

"Then forgive your Cinderella and give back her glass slipper, dear prince!"

From the pocket nearest his heart Theodore drew a crumpled bit of linen and lace, still faintly fragrant. He laid it in her hand, and his own fingers closed over it.

DISCOURAGED

The expression occurs so many times in letters from sick women to Dr. Pierce; "I was completely discouraged." And there is always good reason for the discouragement. Years of suffering. Doctor after doctor tried in vain. Medicines doing no lasting good. It is no wonder that the woman feels discouraged.

Thousands of these weak and sick women have found health and courage regained as the result of the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"In the year 1899 I was taken sick," writes Mrs. Edna Crowder, of Ripley, Lauderdale Co., Tenn. "My limbs ached, had severe pains in back and lower part of bowels, with difficulty in urination, and smarting and burning pain after. I tried many kinds of medicine and four of the best doctors in the country, until I gave up all hope of recovery. In January, 1900, I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and received from him a letter, telling me to try his medicines. I took eleven bottles, six of 'Favorite Prescription,' five of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' one vial of 'Pellets,' and used one box of 'Lotion Tablets' and one of 'Healing Suppositories,' and am now able to work at anything I want to. Thanks to you for your valuable medicine and kind advice."

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

MUNYON WORKS WONDERS.

"I have had Rheumatism for two years, principally in the legs, and the disease was aggravated by my work, which necessitated standing up all day. I secured a vial of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure, and it was really wonderful the relief I obtained. The swelling is all gone, and I have not suffered a bit since; I believe I am cured."—J. B. Robinson, 55 Clarence, Ottawa.

If you are sick, if you have indigestion, if you are nervous, if your liver or blood is out of order, if you have any kidney disease, if you have piles, or any ailment, ask your druggist for "Munyon's Guide to Health"; it is free and will tell you how to cure yourself for 5c. THE ENEMY.

Unskilled in Letters, and in Arts unversed;
Ignorant of empire; bounded in their view
By the lone billowing veldt, where they upgrew
Amid great silences; as people nursed
Apart—the far-sown seed of them that erst
Not Alva's sword could tame; now blindly hurled
Against the march of the majestic world.
They fight and die, with dauntless bosoms curst,
Cursed if you will; demented, not to yield
Ere all be lost! And yet it seems to me
They fought as noblest Englishmen did use
To fight, for freedom; and no Briton he,
Who to such valor in a desperate field
A knightly salutation can refuse.
—William Watson, "In Time of Estrangement."

AN OPEN LETTER TO MOTHERS.

"I cannot praise Baby's Own Tablets too highly," writes Mrs. James S. Beach, Campbell's Bay, Que. "From the time my baby was born he was troubled with pains in the stomach and bowels and a rash on his skin which made him restless day and night. I got nothing to help him until I gave him Baby's Own Tablets, and under their use the trouble soon disappeared, and all my friends are now praising my baby he looks so healthy and well. I give him an occasional Tablet and they keep him well. I can heartily recommend the Tablets to any mother who has a young baby."

Thousands of other mothers praise this medicine just as warmly, and keep it on hand in case of emergency. The Tablets cure all the minor ills of little ones; they act gently and speedily and are absolutely safe. Sold by all druggists or sent post paid at 25 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

Rising Young Artist.

A New York correspondent writes that Mr. William A. Cowan, son of Inspector Cowan of Guelph, who is pursuing his art studies in New York city, has been elected one of the original members of the North American Affiliation of the O. K. Club. The O. K. Club was founded in London two years ago, and its objects, broadly speaking, are to promote good-fellowship among persons interested in science, art and literature. Membership is perpetual, and the oath administered on election is a pledge to oppose "whatever is superfluous in science, meretricious in art and erotic in literature." No member has ever been elected who has not accomplished work of recognized merit. Mr. Cowan formerly a student at the Toronto School of Art, is the first and so far the only representative of Canada in the club.

Norfolk and John Burns.

A good story is told of His Grace the Duke of Norfolk and that estimable man, John Burns. The Duke who, by the way, is to marry again, is not only the premier peer of England, but is colossally rich, although he doesn't look it. Not long ago Mr. Burns was seen by a Battersea elector walking arm in arm with a shabbily dressed man whom the Battersea resident took to be a tramp. Drawing Burns aside, he said to him: "Look 'ere, John, democracy's all very fine, but don't you reckernize what's doo to your position as a member of the 'Ouse? Fancy—walkin' about harm-in-harm, in broad daylight, with a workin' man."

"S-sh," whispered Burns, "that's the Duke of Norfolk."

And it was!

Changed Times in Lancashire.

A typical Lancashire woman of the lower class, in whose company I traveled the other day from Manchester to Oldham in a third-class carriage, told me, in reply to a question, that trade was very bad in her district, "partly perhaps, on account of t' war, but mostly because t' woman bet a shilling on nearly every race, and they take t' bread out of t' children's mouths to obtain the shillings, and that was a think unknownst in Lancashire fifteen years ago, as it was also for women to be seen drinking in the public houses"; and half a dozen fellow-travelers in the same carriage all confirmed her statement.—Mr. J. W. Cross, in The Nineteenth Century.

London Sparrows.

In London there is a huge army of cats which subsist almost entirely upon sparrows. The London sparrow migrates in the autumn to the cornfields, where it does its level best to destroy our bread supply, but during spring and summer the London cats have been working hard among the inexperienced baby sparrows, for the old birds do not often get captured, and a very large proportion of each year's brood never sees the country. BELL AS A LONDON SIGN.

Its Adoption Due to the English Fondness for Bell Ringing.

The English are a music-loving nation, and they love to hear music even when going about their daily occupations, and so it is that the spires and towers of her mighty cathedrals are hung full of glorious bells. So fond of bell ringing is "Merrie England" that Handel once said the bell is her national instrument. It is not strange, therefore, that we find this instrument frequently adopted as a public sign. From early in the seventeenth century Bell Inns were numerous in London. In Knightrider street there was an old inn, the walls of which were prefaced with a giant bell carved in bold relief, the keystone had the initials "M. T. A.," and the date 1668. This fine specimen is now in Guildhall. But a little step away, in Carter Lane, there was another Bell Inn, which has the proud distinction of being the hostelry from which Richard Quyney wrote, in 1598, to his "loving good friend and countryman, Mr. William Shakespeare," the only letter addressed the Bard of Avon now known to exist. The letter is preserved in Stratford, the home of the world's greatest poet. Not far away, again, there is a modern Bell tavern, a place where it is said that Dickens loved to go when making notes for "David Copperfield."

One of the most ancient and reputable wholesale druggists in the city, while rebuilding on his old site, dug out of the foundation of the ancient house an old sign of "The Bell and Dragon." It had lain there for more than two hundred years, having been used on a prior building before the disasters of the Great Fire, and had fallen through into the general ruins. The peculiarity of the situation is that the firm had adopted "The Bell and Dragon" as their trade-mark before the discovery of this fire touched relic. This splendid old stone bas-relief is jealously preserved, and occupies a prominent place in the entrance of the Holborn branch of the firm.

She Corrected Herbert Spencer.

Amongst the stories told of the late Herbert Spencer some time ago was one relating to his boarding-house experiences. His doctor had advised him that solitary meals were not good for him, and he went to a boarding-house, but did not stay. The "pleasant lady" who sat next to him, and who was to engage him in light and cheerful talk, was a sad disappointment. A friend asked her how she liked the boarding-house; could she recommend it? "Oh, yes; I think I can," she replied; "but there is a Mr. Spencer who thinks that he knows about science and philosophy. I have to correct him every night!" One of Spencer's peculiarities was to carry about two little plugs in his pocket, and whenever conversation around him became annoying he took them out and put them in his ears.

Mr. Ed. J. Harris, Newbridge, Ont., was in poor health, but has now been restored to full health and vigor. Here is what he writes us: "Last spring I was in a very critical condition, my system was all run down. I felt drowsy and miserable, and thought I would surely die if I did not get something to build me up. After reading one of your almanacs I decided to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and before I had taken two bottles I had gained ten pounds in weight, and am now in perfect health, and I can certainly recommend Burdock Blood Bitters to build up the system."

THE LATEST NEWS OF LOCAL SPORT

in which he dwelt upon the pleasure it afforded him in meeting his brother curlers. He complimented the club on the good ice and returned thanks for the manner in which he had been received.

At this juncture Col. Edwards produced a piece of Scotch short-bread, which had been sent him by Dr. Kirk, from Bathgate Scotland.

Dr. Kirk was a member of the Scotch curling team which visited Peterborough, and will be remembered by his height, 6 feet 4 inches. He sent the short-bread as a New Year's gift as a memento of their visit about about a year ago. Other members of the club also spoke and in every way the affair was a most pleasant one.

Owing to the fact that Dr. Russell, of Hamilton, the president of the Ontario Curling Association, was in town an honourary game was played yesterday afternoon as follows:

W. G. Morrow	F. Matthews
W. G. Ferguson	C. N. Brown
R. J. Frost	Col. Edwards
R. Neill, sk 14	Dr. Russell, sk 10

TURF.

The Turf Club is considering the advisability of arranging for some small meet probably in February, when they mean to get the best free for all horses in Canada down here. If the thing materializes Peterborough sports will have an opportunity of a first-class race between Sphinx B., 2.15 1-4; Guessner, 2.11 1-4; Dumont W., 2.05; Looking Glass, Gipsy Girl and other famous horses.

* * * *

Thursday's two unfinished races were concluded at the driving park yesterday afternoon when there was quite a crowd for a postponed race. The heavy fall of snow of the previous night made the track slow and the racing was not as good as it would otherwise have been. The two unfinished events were the free for all and the 2.30 class while the programme wound up with a consolation race for non-winners.

Five horses ran in the free for all and one heat decided the event. Sphinx B. led off with George Sheeley second. At the quarter Guessner came up and at the half was racing neck and neck with George Sheeley for second place, and at the three-quarter pole drew ahead of that smart little horse, but did not gain on Sphinx. The heat ended,— Sphinx B. 1; Guessner, 2; George Sheeley, 3; Maud Wilks, 4; and J. B. F., 5.

In the 2.30 class only three horses ran and Jim Watson easily won the heat and race. Robert Henry stopped dead before he reached the quarter and was not in it at all. Black Boy naturally came in second. However their money positions stood as follows: Jim Watson, 1; Robert Henry, 2; Black Boy, 3; Keepa Bell, 4.

There were two entries for the consolation race. These were Lord Roberts and Pearl Wilks. Lord Roberts ran away from the other horse easily winning the two heats which were only half milers.

This ended the very successful ice races of the Turf club.

SUDDEN DEATH OF POPULAR T. A. S. BOY.

Decease of Mr. Leo Callaghan at the age of Nineteen Years—Pneumonia the Cause.

The death of Leo Callaghan, the eldest son of Mrs. John Callaghan, of 47 Elm street, removes from the ranks of young men one of the most promising. The deceased was a most popular young man, and his untimely death occurred at the age of 19 years. He was employed as a time keeper in the American Cereal Works and in the disharge of his duties gave the utmost satisfaction, his work always calling for commendation. His death occurred very suddenly. Last week while out skating he contracted a cold, but on Friday went to work. On Saturday the cold settled on his lungs, developing pneumonia, resulting in his death yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. He was an enthusiastic member of the T.A.S., and was also connected with the Catholic Order of Foresters.

There remains to the bereaved mother, five children, James, May, Lillie, Herbert and Clara.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery for interment.

REV. DR. McDOUGALL A NOTED CANADIAN.

Has Occurried a Prominent Place in Canadian History.

Rev. Dr. John McDougall is one of the most remarkable Canadians living—one who has helped to build our empire. He is a college man, yet he spoke Ojibway before he learned English. He was chosen in 1877 by the Hon. H. B. Co. as diplomat and General Revee commissioner because of his extensive knowledge of languages and peoples of the Great West. He built and occupied a fort at Foot Hills in 1873-5. He has had a most thrilling life among our Indian tribes since he was a boy of 15 years. He was commissioned by the Government to prepare the way for the incoming of the mounted police. So successfully was this mission accomplished that the whole west was occupied by our Government and law and order established without firing a gun or loss of a life.

Dr. McDougall has more than once saved the white population of the West from massacres, so powerful was his influence among the chiefs.

In 1876, during Treaty No. 4, he was present at Carleton and Fort Pitt at the request of the Government Commissioners, and was the only white man invited into the Indians' special council, held to consider terms of treaty.

In 1877, at the request of both Indian tribes and the Government Commissioners, he was present at the making of Treaty No. 7, at the Blackfoot Crossing. Here again he was the only white man called into council by the Indians.

In 1885 he was Government Commissioner to quell the disturbances consequent upon rebellions; became purchasing agent, census taker, fleet builder, scout, guide, staff officer, chaplain; and was held in high repute and confidence by Col. Steele, Major Perry, Generals Strange and Middleton, and was instrumental in many ways in staying rebellion, rescuing prisoners and saving life.

He is now superintendent of Indian missions and schools in Manitoba and North West Conference of the Methodist church.

The Doctor will appear in Mark street church to-morrow morning and George street church to-morrow evening, in aid of the Women's Missionary Society.

In the afternoon he will address the George street Sunday school, giving some thrilling accounts of his extraordinary life.

SKIN-TORTURED BABIES

And Tired, Fretted Mothers

Find Comfort in Cuticura Soap and Ointment

When All Other Remedies and Physicians Fail.

Instant relief and refreshing sleep for skin-tortured babies and rest for tired, worried mothers in warm baths with Cuticura Soap, and gentle anointings with Cuticura Ointment, purest of emollient skin cures, to be followed in severe cases by mild doses of Cuticura Resolvent. This is the purest, sweetest, most speedy, permanent and economical treatment for torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, crusted and pimply skin and scalp humours, with loss of hair, of infants and children, as well as adults, and is sure to succeed when all other remedies and the best physicians fail.

The agonising itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurement, as in acne and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum,—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy have made them the standard skin cures and humour remedies of the civilized world.

Cuticura Resolvent, Pills and in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. Went Down in Sight of Shore.

Every woman and child aboard the Clallam perished within three miles of shore and at a time when it appeared certain the Clallam had been lost. A desperate effort was made to save the women and children in the lifeboats. They were placed in the first boat to leave the ship, which Capt. Lawrence, a Yukon pilot, volunteered to command, and which was manned by deck hands. The frail craft went down within sight of the Clallam, and a second lifeboat filled with male passengers and in command of Second Officer Currin, was probably lost a few minutes later. Aboard the Clallam watchers saw waves sweep passengers from their hold on the seats and hurl them into the waters. Though the lifeboat was righted later, diligent search has failed to find a trace of her. Passengers and members of the crew were lost when a third lifeboat was swamped in an attempt to launch it.

Three passengers were picked up by the steamer Bahala, who had fastened life preservers around their bodies. They had died from exposure and their bodies were brought to Seattle yesterday.

The Clallam was a staunch new passenger boat on the Seattle-Victoria run. She left Port Townsend for Victoria Friday noon, facing a terrific southern gale.

At Mercy of Howling Gale.

Within sight of her destination a huge sea overwhelmed the little steamer, smashing in her deadlights, flooding her hold with water, extinguishing the fires beneath her boiler and placing her at the mercy of a howling gale. All this happened Saturday afternoon. The culmination of the tragedy was postponed for several hours.

Bravely the officers and crew of the helpless hulk worked to save the boat and the souls aboard of her, but in vain. Staunch as she was, the Clallam could not stand the terrific onslaughter of the seas, and just before darkness began to fall it was decided to make an attempt to save the passengers at least by the boats. Two boats were launched. The first contained only women and children, three deck hands from the Clallam and Capt. Lawrence. The boat was overwhelmed 660 feet from the Clallam, and its occupants shrieked in vain for aid from those aboard the steamer. Not a hand could be raised to aid them. The second boat disappeared in the darkness, but some of the occupants were seen to go overboard.

Swamped in Launching.

The third boat containing only men, was swamped in launching. From that time on the members of the crew and the passengers who had volunteered to remain aboard devoted themselves to the task of trying to save the vessel. The pumps were useless and three gangs of bailers were set to work. In spite of their efforts, the water gained on them and they were about to resign themselves to their fate when the Richard Holyoke, one of the six tugs which had been sent to the rescue from Port Townsend, hove in sight. A line was thrown aboard the tug, and, with her tow she started for Port Townsend.

It seemed for a time that the Clallam was to be saved. But the hull began to give way before the terrific assaults of the waves. At 12.30 the Clallam went on her beam ends and began sinking rapidly. At 1.07 she settled and the tow lines were cut. A few minutes later she lurched and disappeared beneath the waves.

By heroic efforts the crews of the tugs Zallon and Holyoke saved the lives of nearly all who remained aboard the Clallam. A few were swept away and perished. The closing scene was eight miles north of Protection Island, only a short distance north of Port Townsend, and approximately thirty miles from Victoria. The survivors of the wreck were brought to Seattle last night on the steamer Dirigo.

News Received in Victoria.

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 11.—Great excitement prevailed here yesterday over the wreck of the steamer Clallam. Crowds thronged the newspaper, telegraph and steamship offices to scan the list of victims.

Seaman Washed Overboard.

New York, Jan. 11.—The American Line steamer New York, which arrived yesterday from Southampton, experienced a particularly severe gale Jan 6. The ship had plowed down when an enormous sea curled over the bow and swept F. Comulisch, a seaman, overboard. Second Officer Meys taking a turn about his body with a line, jumped into the sea after the seaman, who had in the meantime secured a hold on a buoy which had been thrown over the side. Before the second officer could reach the unfortunate man the latter had lost his grasp on the buoy and disappeared. The second officer was then hauled on board.

A Starved Crew Saved.

Boston, Jan. 11.—The steamer Provan, which arrived from Calcutta late Saturday night, brought in the captain and crew of the schooner G. A. Smith of Richibucto, N.S., who were found on their dismasted and sinking vessel about 400 miles off the coast.

The men were taken off the schooner with great difficulty, and within an hour after their rescue their vessel had sunk. The crew of the Smith had been without food or water for two days.

The Swellest of White Lingerie!

Is not too good to be included in the Sutcliffe January display and Sale of Whitewear. This month the major portion of our second floor is given to the display of as beautiful a range of undergarments as was ever shown in Canada. (We make no exceptions.) This present range will stand the test. The growing trade of this Store's Whitewear business is phenomenal, both in the quantity and in the quality. We attribute this growth to the very careful selection of styles which must also have quality, and the careful marking of the selling price which must always be as low, perhaps a little lower than you could by them elsewhere—quality for quality, provided it were possible to get similar Styles, but the Styles are the chief point and have our first attention, and for January come the special January Whitewear prices.

We'd like you would watch these columns from day to day for special "White" information.

We do not wish to confuse you — we carry other than "High Art" Styles at exceedingly reasonable prices.

Highway Robbery in Toronto.

Toronto, Jan. 11.—A daring highway robbery occurred shortly after 9 o'clock in Robert street, between Wilcox and Harboard streets Saturday evening. Mrs. Grace Tomlinson, 98 Wilcox street, was returning home when a man walked past her, and turning suddenly, said: "I'll relieve you of——;" that was all he said. He grabbed Mrs. Tomlinson's chatelaine, which was hanging from her wrist, and broke the chain. She shouted police, "stop thief," etc., but no one heard her and the man got off. In the purse in the chatelaine were two gold sovereigns (one a Jubilee coin), two half sovereigns, $2.96 in currency and a gold glove buttoner.

THE BOARD OF TRADE AND THE CANAL.

In an article published in Saturday's issue it was stated that the first work of the Transportation Commission was to be the consideration of means for shipping grain from Port Arthur and Fort William, via the Welland and St. Lawrence canals, to Montreal. Some suggestion was made of erecting freight steamers of canal calibre to carry 75,000 bushels. Now it is known barges of the capacity of 25,000 bushels can navigate the Trent Valley Canal, and a tow of three barges of this kind could be taken through the canal if completed, a cargo equal to that of the proposed boat. With a tow of five barges, the large amount of 125,000 bushels could be transported more quickly, because of the much shorter route. With all the known advantages of the Trent Canal, route, there is every reason why this canal should be pushed to completion. Now is the time, when the question of transportation is being exhaustively dealt with, to have the merits and claims of the Trent Valley Canal brought into prominence before the Commission, as well as the country.

This seems an opportunity for the Peterborough Board of Trade to do some very useful work. The Board might undertake to prepare a presentation of the canal's merits, the material for which is easily available, and press it upon the attention of the Commission, in season, and out of season. No better opportunity has been offered in a long time to bring to bear the claims of the canal with so much effect. Mr. John Bertram, an old Peterborough resident, can in the absence of any knowledge to the contrary, be depended upon to look favourably upon the canal completion project. The Board of Trade might very profitably be occupied in this direction.

POOR CANADA!

A New York paper says: It is annoying to hear these Canadians boasting about the achievements of their ridiculous little country. Do you know that in the year 1901 there were only 322 divorced women in all Canada, against 1,059 in the single state of Rhode Island the year before, and 2,061 in this city? We could fill the Metropolitan Opera House, with divorcees. In the whole province of Ontario, with over two million inhabitants, only 48 divorces have been granted in thirty years, and some years there are none. You can't get a divorce there without an act of Parliament. Yet Canada pretends to compare herself with the United States, which had 114,965 divorced women and 84,903 divorced men in 1900, including 30 divorced girls under 15 years of age, and 2,427 more under 19.

ENNISMORE.

The municipal elections in this township, after a most spirited contest, resulted in the return of the following council:

Reeve, Mr. Edward Corkery, by a majority of 32 over Mr. Doran; Corkery, 115, Doran, 83.

Councillors, Messrs. M. Perrigue, 106; Samuel Killen, 117; Daniel Kennedy, 101; Wm. Cavanagh, 112; Wm. Creugh, 93; John Young, 82. The first four candidates were elected.

People of This Place.

There are people in every town and village of this country who have been cured of itching, bleeding and protruding piles by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Ask your friends about this great preparation, they can tell you of its great soothing, healing and antiseptic powers. More reputable people have endorsed Dr. Chase's Ointment than any preparation you can mention.

GASOLINE LAMP EXPLOSION.

Insurance Agent Dunlop Found Unconscious in His Room.

Hamilton, Jan. 11.—The National Chambers, King street, were badly scorched early Saturday morning. About $4,000 damage was done.

H. M. Logan, who has an office on the second floor, was experimenting with a gasoline lamp, and an explosion took place. He ran out to give an alarm and fell on the car tracks and was rendered unconscious. The fire was soon discovered.

After the blaze was extinguished Robert Dunlop, insurance agent, was found in an unconscious condition in his office. He had evidently been sleeping on his couch. He was hurried to the General Hospital. Mr. Dunlop is about 65 years of age, and is the father of Mrs. Frank MacKelcan, the well-known vocalist. It is now believed Mr. Dunlop will recover.

FATAL GAS EXPLOSION.

Seven Crow's Nest Pass Miner Killed—Bodies Recovered.

Winnipeg, Jan. 11.—Private despatches received here state that an explosion of gas occurred in tunnel No. 3 of the Crow's Nest Pass Company's mine at Michel, B.C., on Friday night, killing seven men and severely injuring two others.

Bodies Recovered.

Toronto, Jan. 11.—Mr. C. G. S. Lindsey, K.C., Secretary of the company, yesterday received a despatch from the manager, announcing that the bodies of the seven killed and two injured had been recovered. The cause of the explosion was not known.

DEATH OF GEROME.

Famous French Painter and Sculptor Passes Away Suddenly.

Paris, Jan. 11.—Jean Leon Gerome, the painter and sculptor, died here yesterday. He was born in Vesoul in 1824. M. Gerome was present Saturday night at the dinner of the members of the institute. He conversed gaily, but his friends noticed that his features were drawn. At 9 o'clock yesterday morning his valet found him lifeless in bed. A doctor declared death was due to celebral congestion.

M. Gerome was conspicuous in Paris society. The day before his death he showed several friends his statue of Corinth, which had just been finished. He was about to color it.

Among M. Gerome's latest productions were allegorical figures representing labor, which he executed for Charles M. Schwab, the American steel magnate.

Stores Burned at Campbellford.

Campbellford, Jan. 11.—Fire broke out at 3 o'clock Saturday morning in J. A. Frederick's tailor and gents' furnishing store. The fire spread to the stores occupied by Thomas Bros., grocers; Geo. Mills, boots and shoes, and R. N. Simpson, butcher, were all totally destroyed, along with their stocks. Chas. Davidson, baker; J. E. Diamond, harnessmaker and furrier; F. C. Bonnycastle, photo studio, and Ackerman, barber shop, also suffered by smoke and water. The losses aggregate about $10,000.

Cattle Drover Robbed.

Tweed, Jan. 11.—James A Rush, a cattle drover, was robbed of fifteen hundred dollars Saturday morning. He was knocked down by an unknown man.

SEVEN FAT YEARS OF LIBERAL RULE

Contrasted With Eighteen Years of Conservative Administration.

Great Impetus to Dairy Industry Given by Government Assistance—Trade with Other Colonies Increased.

(Seventh Paper.)

The cultivation of tobacco was stimulated. A house for curing home-grown tobacco was erected at the Experimental Farm, and two acres there have been devoted to experiments in the growth of the plant.

A carefully prepared and exhaustive bulletin respecting tobacco culture and treatment was published and widely distributed, and an expert in the business was engaged to travel about the country and give instructions to farmers.

Further means were also adopted to help the industry. The regulations of the Inland Revenue Department which, in effect, operated against the mixing of Canadian grown tobacco and foreign leaf, were abolished, and changes were made in the excise duties in favour of the home-gown leaf.

The result of all these measures has been a remarkable increase in the production and consumption of Canadian tobacco. In 1897 only 726,000 lbs. of Canadian leaf was made into tobacco consumed in the country, whereas in 1902 the quantity had increased to nearly three million pounds. Our home-grown leaf is also entering to some extent into the manufacture of cigars. During 1092 3,712,150 cigars made with Canadian tobacco went into consumption, as against only 704,910 in 1898.

Turning to the figures showing the consumption of tobacco and cigars manufactured from mixtures or combinations of foreign and Canadian leaf, we find that in tobaccos there was an increase from 350,000 lbs. to 1,282,000 lbs. in the last four years, while in cigars the number increases from 35,000 in 1898 to 5,984,195 in 1902.

Since 1897 the number of cigar and tobacco factories in the Dominion has been increased by 64.

CREAMERIES IN THE NORTH WEST TERRITORIES

Soon after taking office, the Minister of Agriculture found that private enterprise in the North-west Territories had attempted to start dairying there, but, through various circumstances incidental to private enterprise, had failed. This was a serious set back to the country.

Investigating the conditions, the Minister was satisfied that dairying could be successfully established in the Territories, and that, by proving this, not only would an important local benefit accrue, but also the whole Dominion would be benefitted, as a fresh development of the new lands of our western country could be counted upon, and another attraction would be added for the incoming settler. Mr. Fisher asked for an appropriation of $15,000 a year for three years, and proceeded to organize creameries in the Northwest Territories.

The working of the first creameries was so successful that all sections of the Northwest demanded the facilities and during the season of 1900 no less than thirty creameries and skimming stations were being run by the Department in the Territories. It has been proved that butter of the most excellent quality can be made there. The farmers in the neighbourhood have been steadily increasnig the number of their cows. Delegates who have been sent to spy out the land have reported that one of the chief inducements to their people to go to certain sections has been the establishment of dairying there.

The export trade in butter to the Orient has been established and is steadily, though slowly increasing. The mining camps of British Columbia and the Yukon have been supplied with a first-class grade of butter fresh from the near-by-plains.

It is now thoroughly established that butter making is one of the profitable industries of the Northwest Territories, and it is equally clear that without the work of the Department it would have taken many years, and perhaps even a generation, to establish this welcome fact.

TELEGRAPH LINE TO YUKON.

A Government telegraph line was built from British Columbia to the Yukon, thereby giving the 30,000 or more people now there means of rapid communication with all parts of Canada.

EXTEENSION OF GOVERNMENT TELEGRAPHS.

The telegraph system owned and and controlled by the Dominion was also extended by many hundreds of miles in British Columbia and the Maritime Provinces. To help the shipping interests an extension was made to the Straits of Belle Isle.

TRADE STATISTICS.

With the object of enabling business men to watch foreign competition closely and promptly, the Hon. Mr. Paterson, arranged for the publication of a Monthly Report giving the same full details of imports and parts as was, and is, contained in the annual Trade and Navigation Returns. These annual Returns had not been published as a rule until about six months after the close of each fiscal year, and the information contained therein was, therefore, inconvenient to be of any practical value to business men. The Monthly Reports are published promptly and that they are fully appreciated, is evidenced by a resolution of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association thanking the Minister of Customs for providing them.

WHOLESALE TRADE BENEFITTED

A regulation was adopted, under and within the Customs law, in regard to shipments to Canada through an intermediate country, which has had the effect of giving a stimulus to the Canadian Wholesale Trade in many commodities which we are obliged to import.

PREPAYMENT OF CUSTOMS DUTIES IN BRITAIN.

An arrangement was entered into between the Customs Department and the British Postal authorities, whereby persons sending postal parcels from Great Britain to Canada may prepay the Canadian Customs duty in Great Britain. This will facilitate business, and will be a great convenience and advantage to settlers from the Old Country.

WHISKEY SMUGGLING STOPPED

Through energetic and well directed efforts applied shortly after the Liberals came into power, and continued ever since, the backbone of the whiskey smuggling business from St. Pierre, Miquelon, to the Maritime Provinces, and points on the St. Lawrence, has been broken. The salutary method of imprisonment was resorted to when free-booters were captured, with the result that they are now thoroughly frightened. If any smuggling of this kind is being done now it is on a very small scale. This traffic was demoralizing in its effects; prejudicial to the revenue and injurious to legitimate Canadian trade.

TRADE WITH SOUTH AFRICA.

The Government has not been behind hand in helping the business men of the country to secure a share of the trade of the newly acquired Dominions of the Empire in South Africa. When the war was drawing to a close a special Trade Commissioner was sent out to ascertain the possibilities for the sale of our products, and recently a most efficient gentleman was permanently appointed as resident Canadian Trade Agent in Cape Town.

In addition to this, the Government, by means of liberal subsidies, provided for a direct service between Atlantic ports in Canada and South Africa, which went into effect about a year ago.

COMMERCIAL AGENT IN FRANCE.

A gentleman of high standing, who is thoroughly conversant with the trade of both France and Canada, was last summer appointed as resident Commercial Agent for Canada in Paris.

COASTING TRADE

An Act in the interest of Canadian ship-owners and ship-builders was passed at the session of 1902.

It provides that ships built outside of the British Empire, but having a British Register, shall not be entitled to engage in the coasting trade of Canada, unless a license be taken out, and a duty be paid of 25 per cent. ad valorem on the fair market value of the ships. Prior to this law a ship built in any foreign country might secure British Register in any British port outside of Canada, absolutely without charge, and by virtue thereof be entitled to participate in our Coasting Trade.

British built ships are of course entitled to the same privilege in regard to such coasting trade as ships constructed in our own waters, but the line is drawn there.

NEW STEAMSHIP SERVICE.

The Department of Trade and Commerce has, since 1896, been instrumental in securing a number of new and important steamship services. Two winter services were inaugurated from St. John, N.B., one to Glasgow and the other to Belfast and Dublin. Steamship lines were also provided to sail from Montreal and Quebec in summer, and Halifax and St. John in winter, to Manchester, and from Canadian to French ports. There were also some services established between local points — for instance one between Quebec and Gaspe, and another between Sydney and Gulf of St. Lawrence ports.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY

The Government entered into an agreement to contribute $60,000 towards the construction of the Marconi Wireless Telegraphy Station at Glace Bay. As a consideration for this Mr. Marconi's company agreed that messages should be transmitted from Canada at a rate not exceeding ten cents a word. This is a great deal below the cable rate, which is 25 cents a word.

THE LAND FOR THE SETTLER.

The policy of the Liberal Government is, and has been, to dispose of Dominion arable lands to actual settlers only, and not to speculators as was the case under Tory rule. The principle of granting large tracts of arable land for railway purposes has been abandoned. The public lands are now held for entry as homesteads and for sale subject to homestead conditions—not an acre has been otherwise disposed of.

The Conservatives gave away to Railroad Companies no less than 66 million acres of land. At the nominal value of $1.50 an acre such lands would be worth $99,000,000.

The granting of such land subsidies has greatly retarded the progress of the west, by reason of the fact that lands so held by Railroad Companies are locked up from sale until the industry of the surrounding settlers gives them such a value as to enable the companies to realize a big profit.

PACIFIC CABLE.

Financial assistance was given towards the construction of the Pacific Cable, which is now in operation.

ASSAY OFFICE.

An Assay Office was established at Vancouver with the object of capturing the Yukon trade, which had at the outset, got into the hands of Americans.

BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY

The Beet Sugar Industry was encouraged by placing machinery and structural iron and steel for the factories on the Free List.

PROTECTION AGAINST INSECT PEST

Necessary steps were taken to prevent the introduction of the insect pest known as the San Jose Scale, which is very destructive to trees, shrubs, vines, etc.

ORDERS FOR WAR OFFICE

Acting upon very strong representations made by our Government, the Imperial Government caused large orders to be placed in Canada for military supplies during the progress of the Transvaal War. These orders ran into millions of dollars, and the fulfilment thereof was supervised by the Department of Agriculture and Militia. The goods so purchased from us comprised: Hay, Flour, Beef, Jams, Oats, Saddlery, Boots and Military Clothing.

Since the war ended orders have also been received through the British Government for a large quantity of Agricultural Implements.

INDIAN MAGIC.

A Trick That Mystified Lord Lytton and One That Didn't Work—Plausible Explanations.

The following story of Indian magic was told me by the person to whom it was told by the late Lord Lytton. I give it in my own words for the excellent though humiliating reason that I have mislaid the manuscript.

When in India Lord Lytton often sought out conjurers, but never saw any but the usual feats, such as the mango tree trick and the basket trick. The method in each case is known, or at all events plausible explanations have been given by Mr. Maskelyne and other experts. On the occasion Lord Lytton liked something in the looks of the conjurer who was performing in an open space before his house. After the ordinary exhibition His Lordship asked the magician if he could not do something more out of the common way. The man said he would try and asked for a ring, which Lord Lytton gave him. He then requested an officer to take in either hand a handful of seeds. One sort was sesame. The name of the other sort my informant did not know. Holding these seeds and having the ring between his finger and thumb, the officer was to go to a well in the corner of the compound. He was to dispose of the seeds in a certain way—I think on the low wall round the well, into the depth of which he was to throw the ring. All this was done and then the magician asked Lord Lytton where he would like the ring to reappear. He answered, "In my dispatch box," of which the key was attached to his watch chain, or, at all events, he had it with him on the spot. The dispatch box was brought out, Lord Lytton opened it, and there was the ring.

This trick would be easy if the British officer was a confederate of the juggler and if he possessed a duplicate key to the dispatch box. In that case he would not throw the ring into the well, but would take it into the house, open the box and insert the ring. But this explanation involves enormous improbabilities, while it is unlikely again that the conjurer managed to insert a duplicate ring into the dispatch box beforehand. Lord Lytton then asked the juggler if he could repeat the trick. He answered in the affirmative, and a lady lent another ring. Another officer took it, with the seeds, as before, and dropped the ring into the well. The countenance of the juggler altered in the pause which followed. Something, he said, had gone wrong, and he seemed agitated. Turning to the second officer, he said, "Did you arrange the seeds as I bade you?" "No," said the officer. "I thought that was nonsense, and I threw them away." The juggler seemed horrified. "Do you think I do this by myself?" he said, and, packing up, he departed.

The well was carefully dragged, and at last the lady's ring was brought to the surface. That ring at least had certainly been in the water. But had the first ring been as faithfully consigned to the depths? Experts will be of various opinions as to that, yet the hypothesis of confederacy and of a duplicate key to the dispatch box is difficult.—Longman's Magazine.

Sir Blundell Maple's Pedigree.

A correspondent writes: The recent death of Sir John Blundell Maple, Bart, the millionaire breeder of horses, who made his money by selling house furniture in a shop in Tottenham Court road, a by no means aristocratic quarter of London, recalls the story of the ingenious and enterprising genealogist who was retained to trace his pedigree from the records of the Heralds' College. The name Blundell was a good starting point, and the learned genealogist was able to deduce a pedigree which greatly pleased the newly-created Baronet, and which (to his satisfaction, at all events), proved his descent from Blondel, the favorite bard of the Court of Richard Plantagenet, who discovered the dungeon in which his loyal master was held in durance vile, the veracity of the pedigree being confirmed by the final surname Maple. For does not history tell us that on hearing the harp of his faithful bard outside the walls of his dungeon, Richard the Lion-heart was heard to explain "Blondel M'Appelles," "Blondel calls me"; after which Sir John's branch of the family adopted the surname of "M'Appellee," which in a later age degenerated into "Maple"—at least so the story goes, and genealogy is never at fault.

Had Fear Already.

In England the Lord Chancellor, by virtue of his office, has a right to inspect all public asylums and hospitals. One day while the late Lord Herschell was paying a visit at the house of a friend near Norwich, he went for an afternoon stroll, and, happening to pass by the great Insane asylum at that place, the thought struck him that this was a good time to perform an official duty. Incidentally, it may be said that Herschell bore the reputation of being somewhat pompous at times. He knocked at the door, which, after a long delay, was opened by an attendant. "You can't come in," he was informed. "It's not visiting hours." "That makes no difference. I shall inspect this institution just the same." "Indeed, you will not." "Come, come, my good man; I'm the Lord Chancellor," Herschell expostulated. "Oh, that's all right," answered the functionary, "we've four of you inside already."

NO TRACE OF PEACE

War Signs Visible in Plenty Even to a Wayfaring Man.

RUSSIA SENDS 37,000 TROOPS

Russians Say They Have Smuggled Troops Into Desirable Points in Corea As Many As the Japanese, and That Virtually Japan and Russia Are at War—Japan Awaits Answer.

New York, Jan. 11.—The Herald's St. Petersburg correspondent cables: It is difficult to-day to discover a trace or sign of the possible maintenance of peace, whereas those of war are easily visible.

Foremost in seriousness is the fact, as yet scarcely known, that the entire Tenth Army Corps, at Kharkoff, commanded by General Sloutchevsky, consisting of the Ninth Division of the Infantry of Poltava, the Thirty-first Division of Cavalry of Kharkoff and the Fifty-first Brigade of Reserve Infantry (including artillery), has been equipped with baggage and the corps is ordered to be transported with the leat possible delay to Manchuria.

The corps consists of 37,000 men. I am told that the estimated cost per man for the journey is 150 roubles, and more than 5,000,000 roubles ($2,500,000) has been appropriated for the same.

Shipping Quotations Refused.

Simultaneously Government agents are making extensive enquiries for transport accommodation, and leading shipping firms are asking for freight rates for the time when the ice clears, but such well-known houses as Messrs. Wilson and Messrs. Bornholdt have refused to give advance quotations.

I made a number of visits on the Russian Christmas among official classes and found the opinion prevailing that Russia is to-day virtually at war with Japan, although what is actually being done in the way of assuming strategical positions is concealed by both sides. This is easy enough, in view of the great distances over which operations are being conducted.

"When the time comes," Russians say, "you will find that just as many Russian troops have been smuggled into desirable points in Corea as Japanese, who are here well known to be pouring in."

Japan Awaits Russia's Answer.

Tokio, Jan. 11.—Japan addressed a note to Russia Saturday, through Minister De Rosen. Its character has not been disclosed, but it is said that Japan requires an answer within a given number of days. Whether the note mentions the time, making the document an ultimatum, or whether the time is intimated otherwise, is unknown. The Government, however, is determined to secure an early response and close the dicussion, if it should prove to be fruitless. It is understood that Japan adheres closely to her original contentions, and it is believed that if Russia fails to fairly meet the demands, war will ensue.

Jap War Spirit Waxing Stronger.

The attitude of the British and Americans greatly encourages the Japanese war spirit, which is stronger than ever. The meeting of elder statesmen has been deferred for a day or two. The Russian warships which left Vladivostock recently are reported to have returned there, instead of proceeding to Port Arthur, as expected.

Despite the general impatience, there is no public excitement here. Sascho, 25 miles from Nagasaki, is full of officers and their families and friends, who are bidding them farewell.

The suggestion contained in a despatch from Berlin of the possible partition of Corea between Japan and Russia meets with no acceptance here. The Japanese officials regard is as further evidence of German support of Russia.

Position of the Dreibund.

London, Jan. 11.—It is learned on the highest authority that it has been decided in the event of war between Russia and Japan, that Germany will maintain a strict neutrality, and that other members of the Dreibund will observe a smilar attitude.

Special despatches from Tokio are very warlike.

Anxiety is apparently felt in Tokio for the safety of the cruisers Niasin and Kasaga, which left Genoa Saturday.

Seoul despatches report the arrival of additional Russian and Italian marines there.

The Daily Mail's Tokio correspondent asserts that the negotiations between Russia and Japan have passed beyond diplomacy, and state that some Corean officials have appealed to the American Legation at Seoul for protection, but that Minister Allen upbraided them for thinking of their personal safety at such a juncture.

Murder Suspect Breaks Jail.

Hamilton, Jan. 11.—William Hillis broke jail here yesterday morning and escaped. Hillis, who hails from Guelph, is one of the two desperadoes suspected of shooting both Constable Barron of Hamilton, and Constable Pearle of Dundas, and is charged with five other crimes. He made his escape early Sunday morning and made a daring though ineffectual attempt to liberate his pal, Herbert Yates. He likely got out about midnight, and it was 7.30 in the morning before the escape was discovered. The authorities have little hope of re-capturing him.

Rev. Josh Gauld Dead.

Hamilton, Jan. 11.—Rev. John Gauld, 134 Duke street, died Saturday evening at the age of 82 years. He had lived in Hamilton about 30 years.

Enormous Growth.

Ever since Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were first introduced to the public the sales have steadily increased, each year being larger than the year preceding. This is probably the best evidence of their remarkable efficiency, as a treatment for derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels. They are invaluable as a family medicine.

CANNOT MAKE SECOND PAYMENT.

A. E. Ames & Co. Have a New Proposition to Their Creditors.

Toronto, Jan. 11.—In a circular letter just issued A. E. Ames & Co. inform their creditors that they have been unable to provide for the second payment arranged under terms of the settlement and which falls due on Friday, Jan. 15, or any substantial part of it. A plan is submitted instead, for the formation of a joint stock company, under which, "if the creditors retain sufficient confidence in the firm to continue us in the administration of the business we hope to work out the plan to a satisfactory conclusion. We state with great regret, but very deliberately, that the position of matters is such that in the absence of the adoption of this plan it will be impossible for us to continue in the conduct of the business with any hope of working out the problem successfully." Creditors are reminded that if the estate had been taken out of the firm's hands in the first instance they would scarcely have been able to realize the 25 cents on the dollar already paid.

The liabilities now stand at $2,307,895.71, of which $522,991.89 is unsecured. Against this, after providing for all possible losses, is $425,286.70, due by clients, and $1,942,389.03 representing securities owned by the firm, regarded as good value intrinsically, but not marketable at fair prices within a restricted time, the total being $2,367,675.81.

It is announced that A. E. Ames has disposed of his residential property at 467 Sherbourne street and his estate of 100 acres, known as "Glen Stewart," on the Kingston road, to Senator Cox. The consideration is $78,000. This sum represents encumbrances against the property for that amount, being $5,000 remaining against the original purchase price of the Glen Stewart property, $14,000 on a second purchase from A. McLean Howard, $30,000 raised on a mortgage on June 2 last and $29,000 on a later mortgage in October, made also to Senator Cox, these latter two sums having gone into the firm of Ames & Co. The sum is said to represent the full value.

A PRETTY PROBLEM.

Correspondent of The London Daily Express Has a Conundrum.

London, Jan. 11.—A correspondent of The Daily Express propounds the following problem:

In the United States the Mexican dollar has an exchange value of 90c. In Mexico the American silver dollar has the same value. On the frontier of the United States, where Texas joins Mexico, there are two saloons, one on each side of the frontier. A man buys a 10c. drink of whiskey at the American saloon and pays for it with an American silver dollar, receiving a Mexican silver dollar in change. With this he crosses the border, goes into a Mexican saloon, hands over the Mexican dollar for a 10c drink and receives an American dollar in change. It is evident that the limit of his purchasing power is the length of time he can stand. He finally wakes up with a bad headache and the American dollar with which he started. Who paid for the whiskey?

MAKE PEACE WITH YOUR STOMACH.

You are Certain to Lose if you Attempt the Use of Force and Violence.

You cannot force your stomach to do work that it is unable and unwilling to do. It has been tried time and again with always the same result. The stomach is a good and faithful servant, but when pushed beyond the limit it rebels. Some stomachs will stand much more abuse than others, but every stomach has its limit; and when that limit is reached it is a very dangerous and unwise proceeding to attempt to force it into doing further work. The sensible and reasonable course is to employ a substitute to carry on the work of digestion and give the stomach an opportunity to recuperate and regain its lost strength.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only perfect substitute to take up and carry on the work of tired, worn out stomachs. They are natural and easy in their work and cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. They contain all of the essential elements that make up the gastric juice and other digestive fluids and will digest any food that a strong, healthy stomach will, and do it in the same time and in the same way. They work independently of surrounding conditions, and the fact that the stomach is weak or diseased does not influence them at all in their useful and effective work. They will digest food just as well in a glass jar or bottle as they will in a stomach. You can see that for yourself by putting one of them into a jar with a square meal and some water to enable it to work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets by thus relieving the stomach of its work, enable that organ to rest and recuperate and regain its health and strength. The process is perfectly natural and plain. Nature will heal the stomach just as she heals a wound or a broken limb, if she is not interfered with and is permitted to do her work in her own way. All interference is prevented by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box, and if you are afflicted with Dyspepsia one box will make you feel fifty times better. You will forget you have a stomach and rejoice in the forgetfulness. No druggist would be so short sighted as to try to get along without Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for they are so popular and are so well known for the good they have done and the happiness they have caused that any druggist caught without them would lose the confidence of his customers, and be regarded as below the standard. His business would suffer as a result and his patrons would go to other stores and buy their other drugs there as well as their Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Her Cultivated Taste.

"How is your daughter getting on with her music?"

"Very well," answered Mr. Cumrox. "She has got along so far that when I ask her to play anything I like she looks haughty and says, 'The idea!'"

"TOMMY ATKINS."

How the British Private the Wide World Over Spends Christmas—Most Important Man.

And how does "Tommy Atkins," the English private, spend Christmas? There is a great many of him, and he is scattered pretty much all over the world. But, wherever he may be, his enjoyment of Christmas is boundless.

Whether it be under the blazing sun of India, the sands of Australia or the Karroos of South Africa, "Tommy" is all right if he can get his plum pudding and roasts. He does not run so much to turkey as his American cousin, and his desires of a somewhat plainer and more substantial character, but his enjoyment of the mess is most thorough.

It is all done by subscriptions, each private subscribing about two shillings each and the non-commissioned officers a little more. Each company has its own dinner, and there is great rivalry therein.

The day opens with reveille, the band falling in at that hour and serenading all round the barracks and the officers' quarters. There is little time wasted in making up the beds, and, as soon as breakfast is over, preparations begin for decorating the tables. In England holly and mistletoe are chiefly used, but abroad palms, crotons or whatever is indigenous to the country is brought into requisition. The most important man on Christmas Day is the company's cook. The color sergeant allows him as many "helps" as he wants, and it is a mighty busy time in the kitchen. The succulent sucking pigs, without which no Christmas dinner would be complete in Tommy's eyes, have been cocked the day before and locked up in the arm chest; so have the fowls and maybe a turkey or two. There are, however, the roast beef and the vegetables to be cooked and the plum puddings to be warmed up. One o'clock is the hour for dinner, and when the quarter bugle, which almost says "Come to the cook house door," blows there is no lack of orderlies to bring the good things across the barrack room. On the approach of one o'clock the officers troop over to the barracks, each captain, with his lieutenants, going to his own company barrack room.

The men are soon seated, each with his knife, fork and spoon and white plate and bowl, and also a good-sized mug of beer. At the end of the table, where the colour sergeant presides, are a bottle of rum and some wine glasses. This is for the officers, who drink a toast, "Christmas" to the men. The colonel with his staff, goes from company to company, and as soon as he departs, followed by the company officers, the feast begins. The married women of the regiment and their little ones are looked after by the wives of the officers, and the day is a red letter one for them.

Christmas is not neglected by the officers either. It is the one day in the year when the wives and daughters of the officers are invited to mess. In England the dinner is not usually much fun, as half at least of the officers are absent on leave, but abroad it is always more enjoyable. Not only are the regimental ladies invited, but also the women folk of the department officers. The scene is always a pretty one, the scarlet jackets of the men setting off the pretty gowns of the women. The colonel takes his place at the centre of the table, while the rest go around much as they please, except that at each end of the table sit the president and vice-president. Behind the president, who is responsible for order, are the colors of the regiment, unfurled so that the names of the various battles in which the corps has from time to time fought can be read by all. Some regiments have a wonderful list, from Oudenaside down to Tel-el-Kebir.

The dinner is a merry one. Every one knows every one else, and all have come with a firm determination to enjoy themselves. The dinner is the best that can be got and the wine is irreproachable. When the cloth is removed, an important ceremony at every dinner, the president and vice-president send the decanters down the table, each man filling his glass first. When everyone has filled his glass with the wine he wishes (there are generally two sorts of sherry, claret and champagne passed around), the president rises and gives the toast: "The King. God bless him." The "vice" rises as well as everybody at the table, and answers: "Ladies and gentleman, the King. God bless him." Outside the band plays the national anthem and each man drains his glass. There are no heel taps allowed. The senior lady gives the signal for departure into the ante room and the men soon follow. There is generally some music after dinner, and then some youngster suggests a dance. The mess table is wheeled to one side, the piano dragged into the mess room and whoever of those present can play takes his turn at this piano. It is the early hours of the morning before the party breaks up, and the regiment has spent another "Merry Christmas."

Infant Marriages in India.

Child marriages are still all too common in India. According to a recent census report, 148 boys and 187 girls under one year of age were married in India during a single year. The record during the same year for marriages of children under five years was 2,297 for boys, and 3,534 for girls. As a consequence of this state of affairs there were, at the time the census was taken, twenty-two widowers and twenty-seven widows less than a year old, and some 300 less than five years old. The evil results of this system have been so extreme and alarming among certain of the Hindu castes that a bill has lately been drafted in the province of Baroda, which limits the marriageable age at eighteen years for boys and fourteen for girls.

OUR NEW OPERA HOUSE.

The social and other distractions of the holiday season may have partially obscured the project of a new Opera House, but they have not eclipsed it. Subscriptions to the stock are being made, but still more stock is needed to place the enterprise upon a sound financial basis. It is to be hoped that public interest in so deserving a matter will not wane till a new Opera House is an accomplished fact. In view of a possible application to have Peterborough erected into a city the subject takes on a new importance, and in building an Opera House as in other things, some consideration must be had for the future conditions. But the central fact remains, that Peterborough—whether town or city—in order to have her equipment of modern conveniences up to the mark, must have an Opera House worthy of its importance.

Albany Club.

The annual meeting of the Albany Club will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Club Rooms, in the Opera House Block, when all members are requested to be present. The chief business of the evening will be the election of officers, while Mr. Gliddon's orchestra will be present to give a musical programme.

The Tramp Trumped.

Joseph A. Crimmon is a privileged person. Last week he was patronised by the King. By profession he is a tramp and hails from Minneapolis. His tramp, however, was trumped by the Lakefield constable. County Police Magistrate gave him 6 months at the Central, and "the King" bought his ticket.

Children's Aid Entertainment.

The plan for the dramatic entertainment to be given for the benefit of the Children's Aid Society, by the Auxilary's Dramatic Club, will open at Sailsbury's on Monday morning. Those desiring tickets, and who have not been called upon may procure them from Mr. Peter Campbell at the Bank of Toronto.

Rev. Dr. John McDougall, missionary to the Indians of the North-west. Rev. Mr. McDougall occupied the pulpit in Mark street church in the morning, and in the evening at George street, in both of which large congregations gathered. The Rev. Doctor's visit was on behalf of the enterprises of the Woman's Missionary Society, and his addresses were eloquent expositions of the great value to civilizations, of the work of the Christian Missionaries to the North-west Indians. At the request of Rev. J. P. Wilson, the pastor, at George street church last night the speaker departed from the usual method of preaching, and told informally of his work in the great west. The Rev. Doctor has spent practically all his life on the Western Plains were his father, Rev. Geo. McDougall lived and died in devoted service to the red men, and his son, now a man over sixty years of age, is devoting his life to the same cause. He is a most enthusiastic believer in the future greatness of Canada, and particularly of the West, and his address was predominantly patriotic. He recounted most interestingly the condition of the Indians in the early days of the Christian Missionaries, and showed how the advent of the latter had changed them from a barbarous race to law-respecting and creditable citizens.

Dr. McDougall's addresses were intently listened to, and thoroughly enjoyed by the congregations to whom he spoke. In the afternoon the Rev. Doctor addressed the children of George street Sunday School, on "Life in the North-west."

The choir of George street church rendered an enjoyable musical service of praise at both services yesterday. In the morning when Rev. J. Bastow, of Murray street Baptist church preached, the anthem was, "O Blessed Are They that Love Them," Miss Chasty taking the soprano solo and obligato. At the offertory Master Herbert Mowat sang very sweetly, "Face to Face.'

The evening anthem was "Christian, the Morn Breaks Sweetly O'er Thee," Miss Bessie Sperry took a soprano solo, and she and Mr. Mulligan sang a soprano and bass duet. During the offertory Mr. Mulligan and Mr. A. L. Davis sang a duet.

FRIDAY NIGHT CONCERT.

Bertha Cushing-Child, Boston, Contralto.

Georgie Turner, Montreal, Violiniste.

Mr. Spencer Jones, accompanist.

Mr. Burton, of New York, in Worcester Telegram, says: — "Bertha Cushing-Child has one of the most agreeable voices ever heard here, of a quality that can be described by one word only—luscious. Her's would be a welcome presence in any concert."

Miss Turner played recently by request from their Excellencies Lord and Lady Minto, at Rideau Hall, Ottawa, and so charmed them that they have requested her to give another recital at Rideau Hall at the close of the present tour.

Plan will open at Ormond & Walsh's, for members of the Bowling Club and subscribers, on Wednesday at 10 a.m., and to the general public Thursday. Reserved seats, 75c. and 50c. Rush seats 25c.

PROMISING SUCCESS OF DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT.

That to be given for the Benefit of Children's Aid Society will be an Enjoyable Event.

The entertainment to be given in the opera house on Tuesday evening by the Alexandra' Dramatic Club, under the direction of Mr. Charles Daly, late of New York, promises to be an unusual success. A great deal of work has been put upon both plays. They will well repay the attendance of those who enjoy society plays, as they are termed nowadays, well put on and well acted by amateurs. "Naval Engagements" represents the love-making of a father (Mr. Eardley Wilmot), and son, (Mr. De la Fosse.) Needless to say, the course of it does not "run smooth." The fair objects of the fervent attentions of these gentlemen are Mrs. Pontifer, (Miss Archer,) an attractive, but somewhat designing widow, and Miss Mortimer, (Mrs Eardley Wilmot), a charming girl still in her teens. The landlord, (Mr. Hughes-Charles,) and his servant, Dennis, (Mr. Miles Hamilton,) continue the course of their keen regard for their own interests to complicate matters very seriously for the lovers.

The proceeds, deducting a limited list of expenses, go to that most deserving charity, the Children's Aid Society. Mr. Daly has come a long distance on purpose to superintend the rehearsals and putting on of these plays, and no effort has been spared by the performers themselves to make the presentations worthy of public attention. The plan of the opera house is at Sailsbury's. Tickets 25 and 50 cents. Carriages may be ordered for 10.30.

"A Pair of Lunatics" will begin promptly at 8.15, and those coming late will have to stand at the entrance until it is finished in order that the audience and performers may not be disturbed.

MR. WILLIAM PRESTON BURIED IN LAKEFIELD

Died in Peterborough on Saturday Evening Last.

The death of William Preston occurred at his residence, 180 Park street, on Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock, after an illness of some months. The deceased was 76 years of age, and was well known throughout the community, which will be grieved to hear of his demise. Besides a bereaved wife he leaves two sons, William and Joseph, both of whom reside in the township of Smith. The funeral took place this afternoon at one p.m., from his late residence, to the Lakefield cemetery for interment.

BOYS WERE FINED $11 FOR BREAKING WINDOW PANE.

In the morning Police Court before Magistrate Dumble.

Anybody is liable to take a glass too much; this has been very firmly impressed on the minds of two boys who were fined $11 at this morning's Police Court. However, it was not for intemperance. On New Year's Eve, the boys conformed with the customs of Canada and "went out on a spree." They were passing Mr. J. Stanger's place about 7.30 o'clock, and one of them broke a pane of glass, while the other knocked the sash in. They then ran. However, they were seen by a young man who gave evidence to the effect. The mischief makers were each fined $5, $4.50 costs and $1 50 damages, to be paid in five days.

A CATHEDRAL WEDDING.

Mr. Dave Belland Married to Miss Milbert Breault.

An interesting wedding ceremony took place this afternoon at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Miss Milbert Breault was married to Mr. Dave Belland, by Rev. Father McColl. The event was a quiet one, only the immediate friends of the interested parties being present. Miss Adeline Guerin acted as bridesmaid, and Mr Percy Breault, brother of the bride filled the duties of groomsman. The bride was becomingly attired and the event was in every way a most pleasing one.

The young couple will reside in town until April, when they will go to St. Louis, Mr. Belland having been chosen as a member of the Q. L. O. team.

MORNING WEDDINGS IN THE CATHEDRAL.

The Brides were Miss Letitia Bouiget and Miss Minnie O'Brien.

Two weddings were celebrated in St. Peter's Cathedral this morning. Thomas Barrette, son of Defier Barrette was married to Miss Letitia Bouiget, daughter of Enedi Bouiget, both of Peterborough. The bridesmaid was Miss Annie Barrette, sister of the groom, while Mr. Hosannah Gordon acted as groomsman. The young couple will reside in Peterborough.

The second wedding was one in which Miss Minnie O'Brien, of Emily, was the bride and Mr. Michael Garvey, son of Thomas Garvey, also of Emily, the groom. The bride was attended by Miss Florence Corkery of Peterborough, while Mr. William Sculley acted as groomsman. They will live in Emily.

Both ceremonies were performed by Rev. Father John O'Brien.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF THE LOCAL PRINTERS.

Typographical Union No. 248 Enjoy Themselves at Harry Long's.

Presentation to the Retiring President An Enjoyable Programme of Music and Toasts.

The members of Peterborough Typographical Union, No. 248, gathered on Saturday night in Harry Long's Palm Room, to enjoy their first annual banquet, and the event proved in every way a most pleasing one, and future affairs of a similar kind will be looked forward to with considerable pleasure. The supper supplied and served by Mr. Harry Long was a most sumptuous one, and did the popular caterer credit. Surrounding the festive board were: Albert Martin, the retiring president of the Union, who acted as toastmaster; T. H. Hounsell, vice chairman; W. A. Smith, the newly elected president, who occupied a position to the left of the toastmaster; F. H. Dobbin at the right, and other members present were: Messrs. T. J. Begley, H. Lacheur, W. LaPierre, F. Sowerby, J. T. Canniff, H. Snook, C. Reid, W. Pearson, W. Dredge, J. Perry, W. Lewis, G. Paxman, B. Canniff, R. Browne, Chas. Brownlee, B. Beattie, T. H. Hounsell, J. Browne, A. C. Herridge, W. O'Rourke, P. Cresswell, W. Peters, J. Ross, R. Long, A. Rogers and Hugh Graham. The invited guests were S. S. Moore, Reginald Norman Jolliffe, R. M. Glover, and a representative of the Examiner editorial staff.

After ample justice had been done the excellent repast, a short informal toast list was disposed of, and proved most enjoyable. The King was honoured in the usual way. Mr. F. H. Dobbin was then called upon to address the gathering and spoke briefly, saying that he was pleased to meet with the union printers, on the occasion of their first annual banquet. He thought that considerable benefit could be derived from the members meeting together in a social way, and also meeting the employers. He wished them every success and happiness, and hoped that the end of the present year would see a similar gathering. Later in the evening Mr. Dobbin contributed to the programme a very humorous selection.

Mr. Jas. Browne then favoured the company with a vocal solo, to which he had to respond with an encore. Reginald N. Jolliffe also rendered a solo, to the great delight of those present. Another contributor to the musical portion of the evening was Mr. T. J. Begley, who gave two vocal selections.

The toast to "Sports" was honoured and responded to by Mr. S. S. Moore of the Review, and the Examiner representative.

Mr. T. H. Hounsell, in a neat speech, proposed the toast to "Our New President," to which Mr. W. A. Smith responded, thanking the members for the honour they had shown him in his election to the office. He hoped the success which had characterized the union during the term of office of his predecessor would continue.

Mr. T. H. Hounsell was called upon for a recitation, and read the following address to Mr. Albert Martin, when Mr. J. G. Perry, presented the retiring president with a handsomely engraved gold locket in recognition of his services on behalf of the union.

Mr. Martin, in reply, expressed his appreciation of the gift, and also of the loyal support given him by the members during the two years in which he had filled the office of president. Thanks to the co-operation of the members the union had made good progress. He hoped the new president would be given the support which had been accorded him.

The toast to "Our Host" was heartily honoured and responded to by Mr. H. Long.

The last toast, that to "The Ladies," was responded to by Messrs. H. Lacheur and T. J. Begley, both of whom did credit to the subject.

After singing the National Anthem, the gathering dispersed, the unanimous opinion being that the event had been a most enjoyable one.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Lakefield, Ont., Jan. 11.—The funeral of the late Samuel Nelson, of this village, who died on Friday of last week, took place yesterday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from his late residence to Ray's Cemetery. The funeral was very largely attended and the cortege was longer than has been seen here for many a day. The local Orange Lodge, of which deceased was a member, to the number of about fifty persons attended in a body. Rev. G. Warren of St. John's Anglican church, conducted the religious services, both at the family residence and the church, and the large number of citizens who followed the remains to the cemetery was testimony to the high esteem in which the late Mr. Nelson was held.

The pall bearers were Messrs. J. P. Strickland, J. Cooper, Hon. J. R. Stratton, F. J. Lillicrap, R. Q. Dench and J. Dinwoodie.

STORES DESTROYED IN CAMPBELLFORD.

The Flames Spread in Frame Buildings in Spite of Firemen's Efforts.

The Merchants and Owners of the Buildings were Fairly Well Covered by Insurance.

Campbellford, Jan. 9.—Fire broke out at 3 o'clock this morning in J. A. Frederick's tailor and gentlemens furnishings store. Five streams of water were soon playing on it, but this building and the adjoining ones being frame, it soon spread, with the result that the stores occupied by Thomas Bros., grocers; Geo. Mills, boots and shoes, and R. N. Simpson, butcher, were all totally destroyed along with their stocks.

Charles Davidson, baker; J. E. Diamond, harnessmaker and furrier; F. C. Bonyeastle, photo studio, and Ackerman, barber shop, also suffered by smoke and water.

The insurance is as follows: Thomas Bros., stock, $1,350, loss about $2,000; R. N. Simpson, stock, $350; J. A. Fredericks, stock, $1,700, loss about $5,000; Geo Mills, stock, $1,700, loss about $1,500.

The building occupied by Thomas Bros. and R. N. Simpson was owned by P. W. Reynolds of Norwood, who has an insurance of $900. The building occupied by J. A. Fredericks and Geo. Mills was owned by Mr. Fredericks, with an insurance of $800. The origin of the fire is unknown.

In connection with the above the Examiner learns from Mr. Picard of town, who received his intelligence by letter from a friend in Campbellford, that the block contained seven stores, and of these four were completely destroyed by fire. They were a meat shop, a shoe shop, a grocery and a crockery store, and a clothing and a furnishing establishment. They were situated opposite the Gibson Hotel. The dry goods store suffered the most. Six thousand dollars worth of goods were burned, and the insurance was only $1700. Morton & Owens' hardware store escaped.

Held this Morning at 11 O'clock in Council Chamber.

The Billiard Purchase Completed and Special Committee to Name — Standing Committees Appointed.

The inaugural meeting of the Town Council of 1904 was held this morning at 11 o'clock, when the following Aldmen were present: Messrs. W. J. Johnston, Jas. Edgcumbe, M. A. Morrison, H. Rush, E. F. Mason, R. Hicks, W. Scott, F. Adams, R. Clinkscale, Jos. Batten, R. F. MacWilliams and H. Best, the latter acting in the capacity of Mayor, in the absence of Mayor Roger.

The Town Clerk notified the Council that all the Aldermen had made the necessary declaration of office.

On motion of Ald. MacWilliams the minutes of the last meeting were adopted.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Communications were read from, G. K. Martin, asking for re-appointment to the position of Town Auditor.—Received.

Alderman Rush moved that the third reading of the bylaw to authorize the purchase of the Billiard property be given, and that the Mayor and Clerk sign and seal the same. The motion carried.

Ald. McWilliams moved that the Town Treasurer be authorized to issue a check to cover the purchase price, $10,000, of the Billiard property.

Speaking on the selection of Committees, Ald. McWilliams said that he thought there had, in the past, been too many Committees, occupying too much time of the Aldermen. He believed that the town's business could be despatched with more satisfaction than by the past system of proceedure.

Ald. McWilliams moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that Ald. Best, Morrison, Adams and the mover be appointed a Committee to name the Standing Committees, with authority to reduce the number of Committees, and to name High School Trustees, members of the Board of Health and Auditors.

An amendment moved by Ald. Clinkscale and Adams, that the Mayor, Ald. Best, Edgcumbe, Morrison and mover and seconder form the Committee was carried.

A motion was made authorizing the Clerk to notify Mr. Billiard that his offer for the property is accepted.

The Council then adjourned.

SUDDEN DEATH OF YOUNG LADY.

Miss Dorothy Pennigton Died in Chicago after Two Days' Illness.

The friends of Miss Dorothy Pennington, and she had many here, were painfully shocked to hear of her sudden death in Chicago on Saturday, January 2nd. She was taken ill with diphtheria on Thursday preceding New Year's Day and died two days later, her funeral taking place on Sunday, January 3rd.

Miss Pennington will be remembered by many in town as having lived here for some time with Mr. Dibbens, of the American Cereal Co. She was a bright young lady and made many friends by whom the news of her sudden death will be genuinely regretted.

GEO. H. CAMPBELL RETURNS THANKS

To Friends Who Assisted Him After His Disastrous Fire.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir, — I would like to say a few words in your paper relative to our having been burned out on December 28th. I was away from home at the time, my mother, wife and three children being all who were there. The fire is supposed to have started upstairs from a defective stovepipe, as there was no fire in any of the rooms down stairs, even after the neighbours found it was impossible to go up stairs. The neighbours saved what they could in the short space of time available, which, however, did not exceed ten minutes.

Messrs. Trotter, Mahoney, Jones, Gouley, Hilcox and Caldwell combined, and in couples, unknown to me canvassed the whole neighbourhood for assistance for me. I would like to thank all most heartily, as well as all friends, who so willingly sent to me by them and in other ways, such needful and much appreciated aid.

Yours very truly,
Geo. H. Campbell.

REV. W. L. ARMITAGE PREACHED FAREWELL SERMONS.

At All Saint's Church on Sunday — Farewell to his Congregation.

Rev. W. L. Armitage, of All Saint's church, who is leaving to take charge of Mary Magdalene's Church, Picton, preached his farewell sermons yesterday. In the morning every seat was taken while in the evening special chairs had to be provided in order that the congregation might be seated.

The text of the morning sermon was,—"The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the Communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all," II Corinthians xiii, verse 14. After stating that St. Paul invariably concluded his epistles with these words, the preacher went on to say that in the few words there was a meaning which to most was hidden. They are more than what they seem and this we see when we look at them closely, in a metaphorical sense. It is a beautiful benediction which St. Paul indirectly pronounces on the readers of his epistles. It is a three fold cord, continued Rev. Mr. Armitage, which is made to hold us up. The strands are three — The grace of our Lord, the love of God and the Communion of the Holy Ghost. The grace of Christ means our Lord's unreserved favour and love for us. Though rich he became poor in order that he might be rich. The preacher next quoted many Bible instances illustrating Christ's love for mankind. Continuing Mr. Armitage urged all hearers to be partakers of the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ. It will fill life as never before. With the knowledge of this grace undreamed of success can be obtained.

Then the love of God. It is a magnificent thought to know that all mankind is loved by the one Supreme God. The grace of Jesus Christ is given through God the Father. He has and still loves us with an everlasting love. It has been so from the creation of man and will continue until the end of all things.

The Communion of the Holy Ghost. The blessing which comes from God comes through the Holy Ghost; with it our lives will be renewed, our deeds and words will be inspired by the knowledge of the love of God, and our spiritual life will be developed to the benefit of ourselves and our fellow brethren, with whom we come into contact.

In conclusion Rev. W. L. Armitage thanked his parish for the many favours which he had received during his stay with them and concluded his sermon with the words of the text: "The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God and the Communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all. Amen."

At the evening service, Rev. W. L. Armitage took his text from II Cor. xiii, vs. 11, "Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace, and the God of love and peace shall be with you."

The reverend gentleman preached with the feeling that St. Paul had just parted with his Corinthian friends. He applied the various phrases of his text to the conditions of his congregation, whom he urged to attain the highest ideal of Christian life. He exhorted them to continue as heartily with the work with his successor as they had with him. He dwelt at some length on his relations with the congregation, fellow ministers and the local press, and concluded by wishing them every success for the future.

Referring to his relations with the press of Peterborough Mr. Armitage said that he had always found the papers willing to give space to Christian enterprises and considered them great factors in the moral up-building of the community.

HINDOO CONVERT GAVE INTERESTING ADDRESSES

Mr. Sircar, a Native of Hindustan, Speaks in Y. M. C. A.

On the Work of Conversion Amongst the Natives of the Far East—Their Country and Habits.

Yesterday was a red letter day in connection with the Foreign Work movement of the local Y.M.C.A. and the inspiration and interest kindled by the visit of Mr. B. C. Sircar will long be remembered by the members who were privileged to hear his soul stirring addresses yesterday.

Mr. Sircar's conversion to Christianity was due to the work of the Calcutta Y.M.C.A., through a secretary sent out there from North America. Subsequently Mr. Sircar himself became a local secretary in Burma, and has spent the past two years in the Toronto Bible Training School. He returns to his native country in May. He is a typical native, is a B.A., of the University of Calcutta, and has a forceful grasp of English.

Yesterday morning at ten o'clock the boys' assembly room was crowded with members of that department who are most actively interested in the work of Mr. Farquhar in India, who is being supported by the united efforts of the Associations of Ontario and Quebec.

Mr. Sircar gave an interesting description of the country, of the large population, their need of the Gospel, and Y.M.C.A. work.

Every day thirty thousand die in that country, and in the darkness of their heathen religion. He expressed the hope that some members of the Boys' Department of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. would become foreign secretaries.

At the close of the address Master Herb Mowat sang "Face to Face" which was greatly appreciated by the boys. The boys' pledges for the foreign work were increased by $16, being payable five or ten cents monthly and must be out of each boys' earnings.

The Y.M.C.A. Hall was crowded with men in the afternoon, when for fully three quarters of an hour Mr. Sircar spoke of the work in India, and its claims upon the men before him. He told of his stubborn opposition to Christianity, and of how he was won to it. The Y.M.C.A. had concentrated its efforts on behalf of the thousands of men in the student centres, and this had been going on for fifteen years. He pointed out that nothing short of the Gospel of Christ was sufficient to meet the needs of India. The Y.M.C.A. could reach men often when the the missionaries could not get the opportunity because of opposition and indifference.

The following statement of the work in Calcutta will be of interest: Calcutta, having a population of more than 1,000,000 people, is the leading commercial and educational centre in the Indian Empire. In this city there are at least 34 colleges with 13,000 Hindu students, and 74 high schools with more than 30,000 native boys. After their studies are completed these men and boys scatter throughout India, teaching in schools, editing papers, and in other ways exerting a tremendous influence on the country. In reality the future of India is in their hands. Mr. J. N. Farquhar, M.A., the representative of the Young Men's Christian Associations of Ontario and Quebec, is actively engaged in Association work among these students. Through religious meetings, Bible classes and personal interviews, men, each year in increasing numbers, are being reached for Christ, and these are entering Christian service in behalf of their fellow men. Some of the young men in our Associations through their support of Mr. Farquhar, are helping to make this work possible, and in that way are helping to mould the future of that large section of the Empire.

The speaker made a strong appeal at the close of his address for a hearty and loyal support of the work and $20 was pledged by the man, payable in monthly instalments.

Before the address Mr. J. Laurance sang a selection in splendid voice, which was well received.

NEW [C]OLONIAL SECRETARY

PEN SKETCH OF RT. HON. ALFRED LYTTELTON AND HIS FAMILY.

Comes of Good, Old-Fashioned Family of Twelve—Mother Gave British People Several Distinguished Sons—Had to Win His Spurs at the Bar—Amused Over Prominence Given His Athletic Record.

At the present moment there is no more conspicuous figure in the British Cabinet, from a Canadian point of view, than the Right Hon. Alfred Lyttelton, Secretary for the Colonies, writes Lally Bernard, the London correspondent of The Toronto Globe. Mr. Alfred Lyttelton, whose photograph accompanies this sketch, was the eighth son of a good old-fashioned family of twelve children. His mother, the late Lady Lyttelton, a sister of Mrs. Gladstone, has given to the British people several sons who have distinguished themselves in public life. Two were in the church, the late Bishop of Southampton, and the present famous headmaster of Hailebury Co[illegible]ford. There is yet another, well known in the musical world of London, the Hon.

RT. HON. ALFRED LYTTELTON, COLONIAL SECRETARY.

The versatile successor as Colonial Secretary to Mr. Joseph Chamberlain.

Spencer Lyttelton, who was for years the chief private secretary to his uncle by marriage, Mr. Gladstone.

The present Colonial Secretary had, like many other legal lights, to make a valiant fight to win his spurs at the Bar. He was for years engaged in Parliamentary practice, which has given him a wide knowledge of international law, invaluable to him in his present capacity. He not only won his spurs, but a large income, and acquired an insight into departmental work, without any of the danger which comes from long service under the "red tapeism" of British officialdom. This augurs well for the future.

All the brothers whose names I have mentioned were Eton boys, and went through their university career at Trinity College, Cambridge. Mr. Alfred Lyttelton's family are all amused at the prominence given to his athletics, when, as a matter of fact, his scholastic and university career was quite as brilliant. He is a man of letters, as well as a musician of no mean attainments. All the family are musical and meet at least once a year, simply to hold a musical reunion.

Mr. Alfred Lyttelton first married a Miss Tennant, a sister of the Mrs. Asquith so widely known to the reading public as the heroine of Benson's story, "Dodo," a clever but exaggerated skit on a certain set in London society. The first Mrs. Lyttelton died in child-birth, and her little daughter did not long survive her.

The present Mrs. Alfred Lyttelton will be remembered by many Canadians who were in London during the coronation festivities. She was a most active member of the Reception Committee, under the Ladies' Empire Club or Victoria League, for entertaining colonials in London. The current rumor that Mrs. Lyttelton, who was a Miss Balfour of Fifeshire, is a relative of the present Premier is entirely wrong. There is no connection between the families. Mrs. Lyttelton is a distant connection of Robert Louis Stevenson and Whyte Melville and is very proud of the fact.

The town house of Mr. and Mrs. Lyttelton is situated in a most delightfully historic neighborhood. Their drawing-room windows overlook the lawns of the Abbey garden of Westminster, which is guarded from the public gaze by a high stone wall, capped with formidable spikes. Formerly their town house was in a much more fashionable part of London, but when Mr. Lyttelton went into political life they chose this old residence, 16 Great College street, built in the time of Charles II., that they might be close to the Parliament buildings, as they entertain in a most informal way during the season. The members come in by twos or threes to dinner, and if a matter of importance is coming up in Parliament a messenger can summon them to the House. The dining-room is restful and quaint, and has nothing of the appearance of having been decorated by "the stores." From the living room, which faces the south, one sees a new feature which has been added since the master and mistress

The Sunlight Maids are always through their wash at twelve o'clock.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

With ordinary soap a woman has to work so hard and so long on wash day she has no time for preparing any of the family meals. Wash day is a trial, and the good wife faces each with a sigh of despair.

Sunlight Soap makes all the difference in the world. No toiling—no rubbing—no boiling—less than half the labor with much better results. Most women are all through their wash by twelve o'clock when they wash with Sunlight Soap the Sunlight way. It makes child's play of work.

of the house returned from South Africa, where Mr. Lyttelton held his first office under the Government as Commissioner for the Settlement of Claims—a quaint Dutch "stoep," with a high settle and a few rare tiles hung against the wall of the house. It opens on the little scrap of garden that reveals possibilities to this energetic London woman which no Canadian would ever think of. The living room, which is, like the rest of the house, pannelled in ivory-tinted woodwork, is simply smothered in books. An immense window forms the south end of the room and two workmanlike library tables show the similarity of interests of husband and wife. Mrs. Lyttelton is modestly reticent about her literary work, but both husband and wife have from time to time contributed articles to current reviews, and Mrs. Lyttelton published a story, of which she, however, refuses to speak, saying it is too slight a piece of work to discuss.

There are two charming little children, Oliver and Mary. The boy is being educated at a day school in London, but Mrs. Lyttelton, who has very decided views on the subject of education, has established in the quaint old rooms of this house a small school, where her little daughter shares with about twelve other children the privilege of being taught by a lady who Mrs. Lyttelton considers has a genius for imparting knowledge.

The wife of the Colonial Secretary is one of those women of the modern school who find that by a prodigious amount of self-control and a vast deal of method and arrangement they can accomplish both their household and social duties, and yet find time for most successful efforts in that world of "woman's work" which is daily gaining recruits from every class. Not only does she keep up her literary and musical recreations, but she takes so intelligent and keen an interest in her husband's political career that when, in the late election, he was prostrated with illness she not only took his place on the public platform, but, I am told, parried and thrust with the skill of a trained politician, so certain was she of the arguments her husband would have used to combat his opponents. This speaks volumes for the close companionship which is commonly supposed to be non-existent in London households of the class of the Lyttelton menage.

The drawing-room in the house I have just mentioned is as charming in its unostentations yet thoughtful arrangement as the rest of the quaint old house, which a politician's wife in our country would hardly think pretentious enough under the circumstances. I found Mrs. Lyttelton doing a piece of needlework, which showed that, in spite of the thousand and one matters in which she is interested abroad, she makes time to spend many a quiet hour by the pretty fireplace. A copy of one of Fra Angelico's angels was being transferred to linen, done in the finest silk embroidery, and the work required not only skill with the needle, but knowledge of form and color. Here and there were evidences of the artistic taste and observant habits of the owners of the house, and everywhere there was that spirit of genuine home-making which allows strong men and women to emerge into the arena of public life.

"HIGH WALLS," A SCOTCH HOME.

The quaint and charming residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lyttelton in Scotland.

Their residence in Scotland is as quaint and uncommon as the solid old-world house they inhabit in London. It is called "High Walls," and the illustration conveys some idea of its peculiar charm. Let no one imagine that the house I have described is one of those where "aesthetic" would apply as a proper term. It is in the truest sense of the word "homelike." Mrs. Lyttelton is so totally devoid of affectation of any sort that one feels that comfort has been much more closely studied than effect, but, nevertheless, the charm of thought, of ideals and of widespread interests and untiring industry speaks in the personal environment of the new Colonial Secretary and his wife.

This is the season of the year when Scott's Emulsion does some of its best work. Fortifying the system against the ravages of winter is one of the most effective uses of Scott's Emulsion; it builds up the strength of the whole body and puts one in a healthy, vigorous condition.

Weak lungs, throat troubles or bronchial affections get more positive help and relief from Scott's Emulsion than from any other source.

Cod liver oil itself is very scarce just now; cheap adulterations and mixtures of inferior oils are offered everywhere.

This is why Scott's Emulsion should be insisted upon. It never varies from the high quality and absolute purity that has made it the standard for thirty years.

When She Waked.

Mildred was just three months old when we took her to a friend's to show her off. This lady's little boys, four and six years of age, were very much interested in the sleeping baby. They asked many questions, such as "Can she eat?" and "Can she walk?" etc. On discovering that she had no teeth, that she slept much of the time, that she could neither talk nor walk, Herbert, the younger boy, said somewhat pityingly, "Well, when will she be alive?"

His Duty.

A pretty little girl some five years of age, named Rose, was teased a good deal by a gentleman visiting the family, who finally wound up by saying:

"Rose, I don't love you."

"Ah, but you have got to," retorted the child.

"How so?" asked her tormentor.

"Why," said Rose, "you must love them that hate you, and I'm sure I hate you."

An Iron-Heeled Butterfly.

His man-servant entered the studio. "Well?" said Whistler. "Lady Somebody, sir," said the servant (she was one of the great ladies of the British peerage). "Where is she?" "In her carriage at the door, sir." Whistler took no further notice of his servitor, but resumed the reading of his proof sheets to me, and the puzzled footman, who was standing behind his master's back and facing me, shook his head slowly up and down, and—like Longfellow's Arabs—"silently stole away." Thus the reading went on for quite ten minutes longer, and the reader's sole auditor fidgeted more and more, till, realizing how deadly cold it was on that March day, I called out to him, "I beg your pardon, Mr. Whistler, but I think I overheard your servant telling you that a lady was waiting to see you." "Oh," said he, "let her wait, let her wait—I'm mobbed with these people!" Then he went on reading for fully fifteen minutes more, and after that (his voice was getting tired, I daresay), he condescended to go downstairs and receive her shivering ladyship.—Frederick Keppel, in The Reader.

The Duke's Dinner.

A well-known Scottish M.P. of humble parentage went to Chatsworth on a political visit. The Duke of Devonshire asked him to lunch, and there is no doubt the M.P. fully appreciated the privilege of touching toes with the Duke under his grace's own table.

But at home that night in the privacy of his wife's boudoir the honorable member interpolated gulps of smoky indignation with words against the presumption of the nobility.

"Wull, Donald, an' whatever be aiblin' ye?" she asked.

"Jessie, what would ye give a Duke like Devonshire to eat if he'd visit us?"

"Why, geese and turkeys!" she replied.

"Wull, the day's lunch at Chatsworth was naething but minced lamb on toast!"

Happily Married.

"When may a woman be said to be happily married?"

"Not until she has had the pleasure of refusing several men."

In every family there is a genius who can't prove his genius. Their kind doesn't count.—Atchison Globe.

A LAND OF FLOWERS.

Lady Minto's Account of Her Recent Visit to Japan—Her Ladyship Was Greatly Impressed.

Lady Minto, who has but recently returned from a visit to Japan, which country she visited in company with her daughters, Lady Eileen Elliot and Lady Ruby, was wonderfully impressed during her trip with the progressive spirit displayed by the whole Japanese nation. The country and its clever inhabitants Her Excellency considers quite marvelous in many respects. Its unusual beauty, its sunshine and flowers, its striking cleanliness, or its people, who are imbued with poetical and artistic inspirations, combined with an energy and a spirit of progress worthy of the most up-to-date Americans, requires actual contact with, declares Her Excellency, to thoroughly appreciate.

It is the land of flower fetes and of fascinating Geisha girls. At the flower festivals masses of flowers are arranged everywhere, through which thousands of lanterns twinkle behind softly colored shades. It is a land where people of mature years ascribe qualities to flowers, much in the same manner as a child of poetic imagination would do with us.

Yet this same Japan declares Her Excellency, has an army and navy "wonderfully organized." The Government has established a kindergarten and a school system based upon ours, and they have also adopted our railways, and our business methods even so far as our telephone girls. The marvel of the land is, however, that while they have taken the best of our modern inventions, that they have the good sense and native appreciation of art to retain the former thoroughness and distinctive qualities of their art and handicrafts. Her Excellency, who is herself an artist, particularly admires this feature of Japan's industrial life. Ordinary weavers will work for months upon one piece of work, frequently originating their own designs.

Several trunks of interesting souvenirs, quaint bits of lacquer and inlaid work, and copies of peculiar gods, which cause one to wonder at the religious instincts of such a people, are interesting mementoes of Her Excellency's visit. The collection also contains a few of the large exquisitely carved bronze lanterns, which are hung before the Shinto temples, and a number of the remarkable dwarf cedars of Japan. An autograph portrait of the Empress of Japan is a valued souvenir.

Clock Plant.

The clock plant is a native of Borneo, and in that country even it is said to be rare. The plant derives its name from its peculiar habits, which are known to but few who have not studied it from a scientific standpoint. The plant has leaves of two sizes, one of which acts in the capacity of a minute hand, which keeps moving until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and the other keeps going until morning. The larger leaves act as the hour hands. Starting in a position when all the leaves lie close to the stem, with the points hanging down, they rise gradually until they turn toward the top, and then they drop to their former position. It takes the smaller leaves about one minute to go through this performance and the longer leaves just about an hour.

A Bornean Weapon.

The Bornean mandau, or "head taker," is a modification of the Burmese dah. It is a heavy, thick bladed cutlass, from twenty to thirty inches long, and the edge is ground from the right side only, the left side being forged slightly concave. The blade is also slightly curved to the right, so that the cutting action of the weapon is like that of an enormous gouge. Only two strokes can be dealt with the mandau—from right to left downward and left to right upward.

Indication of Interest.

"Teacher is interested in you, pa."

"How so?"

"Why, today, after she told me seven times to sit down and behave myself, she said she wondered what sort of a father I had."

A Friend.

A friend whom you have been gaining during your whole life you ought not to be displeased with in a moment. A stone is many years becoming a ruby. Take care that you do not destroy it: in an instant against another stone.

Croupy Coughs and Asthma Gasps

Are Alike Relieved and Cured by the Soothing, Healing Influence of Thousands of mothers feel grateful to Dr. Chase because this great medicine has been the means of saving a darling child when frantically struggling for breath—a victim of croup.

It also frees the asthma sufferer from the dreadful paroxysms which cause him such keen agony and cures asthma, as has been proven in a hundred cases.

The effects of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine are both thorough and far reaching and it cures when ordinary cough medicines have little or no effect.

From childhood to old age this great treatment for ailments of the throat and lungs stands as a guard which prevents coughs and colds reaching the lungs and developing into pneumonia and consumption.

Mrs. A. A. Vanbuskirk, Robinson street, Moncton, N.B., states:

"For years I have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for my children whenever they take cold. I used it first with a severe form of asthma. We have never tried anything in the way of a cough medicine that worked so satisfactorily. It seemed to go right to the diseased parts and brought speedy relief."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is sold by all dealers at 25 cents a bottle, family size, (three times as much,) 60 cents. Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Case, the famous receipt book author, are on every bottle. 6

HIS WINTON SLOWNESS

BY HARRIET G. CANFIELD

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

The first Winton that "came over" had incurred the lasting displeasure of the first Albright. I believe he had been slow in paying a debt—at least there was a general impression that "the Winton slowness" was responsible for the feud. Beyond a doubt the present Wintons—father and son—were slow of speech and movement. Mrs. Winton and Sue did not share in "the family failing."

When Amos Albright's wife had died he had persuaded a younger brother to "move in and run the farm"—they were two miles out of town—and Grace, who was then fifteen, was sent east to a young ladies' seminary. During her four years' absence from Highmead her once vivid recollections of the enmity between the Albrights and Wintons grew dim and shadowy. When, on the day following graduation, she was invited to spend a week at a classmate's home it was with no feeling of apprehension that she heard her friend say, "Brother George has asked Jack Winton to come down with him from Harvard, and we shall be quite gay." The Wintons that she knew had a son, but his name was John. This young man proved to be well built, self possessed and clear of skin, and John Winton had been a long, lank, freckled boy, very bashful, she remembered. To be sure there was a certain drawl in her new acquaintance's speech, which reminded her of "that boy," but perhaps all Wintons were slow spoken.

The four young people thoroughly enjoyed the week they spent together, and it was with delight that Jack Winton discovered on the eve of his departure that Miss Albright's destination was the same as his own. "I'm glad that we travel together," he said. "Yes," Grace assented hesitatingly. Jack's face flushed, and he turned to his host with the explanation, "Miss Albright has just recognized an old enemy in your humble servant."

"Oh, no!" Grace protested. "If our fathers are foes we need not be." And she held out her hand to him, with a friendly little gesture.

During the three days' journey westward their friendship progressed rapidly. They were in the midst of one of many animated conversations when Mr. Amos Albright boarded the train at X., a station some thirty miles from Highmead. Grace saw him coming down the aisle.

"There is father," she said hurriedly. "He'll not recognize you, I'm sure! I believe I'll introduce you as Mr. Jack."

When Mr. Albright bent to kiss his daughter's upturned face he looked keenly at the young man beside her. "Mr. Jack, father," Grace murmured and blushed guiltily when the two men shook hands gravely, and Jack offered the newcomer his seat.

"I'll move opposite," he said in his pleasant drawl, "if you don't object." Before they reached Highmead he found himself drawn into the conversation. To his daughter's delight Mr. Albright seemed to enjoy talking with her friend. "Sensible young man!" he said to Grace when Jack went into the smoking car just before the train pulled into Highmead. On the homeward drive he spoke of him again. "I've seldom met a young man," he said, "as intelligent as Mr. Jack. Queer name, isn't it? If my eyes were shut while he was talking I'd declare he was Winton."

"He is, father," Grace confessed. "He is Mr. Jack Winton."

Amos Albright looked at his daughter for a moment in dumb amazement. "I'm sorry," he said at last, "but that settles him."

Jack Winton refused to be thus summarily "settled." The next day he came to call and was received so coldly by his unwilling host that he knew at once that his identity had been revealed.

"Mr. Albright," he said in his deliberate way, "I'm Winton, as you've evidently discovered, but the Wintons are not such a bad lot, after all. Aren't you a bit prejudiced?"

"Not a whit more than your father is," Mr. Albright said stiffly.

"Yes, I know. Mother and Sue hadn't a word to say when I spoke of calling here, but the pater raised a storm—almost forbade me to come. Really, now, what have you against me—the Winton slowness?"

"Yes. I hate a laggard in anything. That's enough to condemn you, sir! My daughter can receive you, if she wishes, whenever you may call, but I must ask you to excuse me now—and always." A chilling request, but Jack went away happy in the thought that Grace still considered him as a friend and had asked him to come again.

In spite of the enmity between the heads of the two houses Mrs. Winton and her daughter were exchanging calls with Grace Albright before the summer waned. Amos Albright still disapproved of Jack, though he could discover nothing objectionable in his conduct. The young man seemed to be an able assistant to his father, who was at the head of a well established business. "Blood will tell," he said to himself, "and the old Winton slowness will crop out some day." When Jack came one evening in October with the not unexpected request for his daughter's hand, he said impressively: "If Grace loves you, and she imagines she does, I will consider your proposal carefully. You may call tomorrow morning at 6 o'clock, and I will let you know my decision."

"Six o'clock!" Jack exclaimed. A look of triumph crossed Mr. Albright's face. "Yes," he said, "but perhaps that is too early for a Winton."

"Not at all," Jack calmly assured him. It was evident that Mr. Albright meant to test him. The idea amused him greatly, and he laughingly related the result of his call to his mother and Sue.

"It's a test, mother," he said, "and a good one too. Nothing short of an earthquake will get me up at 5. I must wake then if I'm to keep my appointment at 6."

"Nonsense!" Sue cried. "There's the old alarm clock. You can set the alarm for 5 and put it at the head of your bed, Jack."

"Just the thing," he said gratefully, "and I'll do it now."

Late in the evening his mother stole into his chamber and set the hands of the little clock forward an hour. "Jack will never notice," she said to herself, "and he dresses so slowly."

After he was asleep Sue tiptoed in. There was no light in the room, but she found the clock and set it an hour ahead of time, as she thought. Neither mother nor daughter knew that the sleeper was doomed to wake at 3 o'clock, but promptly at that hour the alarm sounded. Perhaps Jack can tell the remainder of his love story better than any one else can, and I will give you his account of it:

"I was awake in a moment, and if ever a Winton hustled I did then. I let the old horse have full swing, and we trotted out to the farm in great shape. All the shades were down, and the place was silent as the grave. I rang the bell, and Mr. Albright put his head out of the window. His language wasn't very polite. It was hard work to keep from laughing when he shouted, 'What in thunder do you want?' 'Your daughter,' I shouted back. 'Man alive,' he cried, 'I said 6, and it's only half past 3!' Maybe that didn't surprise me!

"'Perhaps it's too early for an Albright,' I suggested. 'Shall I call later?'

"'No,' he growled; 'I can answer you now. If this is a sample of Winton slowness the stock is improving, and'—

"'And I may have Grace?' I interrupted him.

"'Plague take you!' he cried. 'I suppose so!' Then he closed the window with a bang, and I camped on the porch until Grace came down."

A Caustic Judge.

On one occasion a barrister who was a terribly verbose practitioner discovered that one of the jury trying the case was fast asleep. He forthwith roundly rated those who were still awake for taking so little interest in the case. Interposed the commissioner: "Ye just remind me of a meenester in Ayrshire, who was lecturing his congregation for not coming to kirk and remarked, 'Those of ye who do come are asleep, bar the village idiot,' when a voice said, 'If I'd nae been an idiot I had been asleep too.'"

While generally jocular at the expense of others, the commissioner could appreciate and enjoy a good repartee even at his own expense. Thus on one occasion an advocate with a beard and mustache, which he then hated, appeared before him. "How can I hear you, sir, if you cover up your muzzle like a terrier dog?" he asked. "Well, I had rather be an English terrier than a Scotch cur," was the reply. The commissioner chuckled and merely remarked, "Get on."

The commissioner's pet theory against giving credit once furnished occasion for a most amusing incident. One day a plaintiff was seeking to recover £13 odd for milk supplied. The commissioner said to a milkman, "I thought every one paid for his pennyworth of milk each day as it was delivered." The plaintiff replied: "Oh no, they don't, your honor. I serve your honor's house with milk, and they have not paid me for two months." The commissioner said: "Ah, well, you'll not supply me any more. You will be watering my milk to make up for this £13 you are going to lose."—From G. Pitt-Lewis' "Commissioner Kerr—An Individuality."

Deeply Injured.

Her eyes were wild, her hair was in disorder, her face was flushed, her hands were clinched. She was a deeply injured and desperate woman.

"Oh, cruel one," she cried in anguished tones, "I have borne with you too long! You have injured the very foundations of my being. Day by day you have tortured me, and yet I could not bear to give you up. When first we met how your ease and polish attracted me! When you became my own how my friends envied me! But your understanding is too small for my large soul. You are opposed to my advancing myself. You have ruined my standing in society. If we had never met I might have walked in peace. So now begone! We part forever."

There was a moment's convulsive breathing, then a gritting of teeth and a sharp sigh. It was all over. By a supreme effort she had pulled off her new shoe.

No Influence.

During a municipal election in a town in the west of Scotland a young lady who was canvassing on behalf of one of the candidates called at a house, the door of which was opened by the good wife.

"I have called to solicit your vote on behalf of Mr. ——," said the young lady.

"But it's not me that's got the vote. It's ma man," replied the woman.

"Yes," said the young lady, "but I thought you might perhaps use your influence with him."

"Me influoence him?" said the good wife. "I hiv nae influoence wi' him. Only this morning I askit him to wash the floor afore he went out, and he wadna dae it."

Glazed Eyes.

Snakes may almost be said to have glass eyes, inasmuch as their eyes never close. They are without lids, and each is covered with a transparent scale much resembling glass. When the reptile casts its outer skin the eye scales come off with the rest of the transparent envelope out of which the snake slips.

This glassy eye scale is so tough that it effectually protects the true eye from the twigs, sharp grass and other obstructions which the snake encounters in its travels, yet it is transparent enough to allow the most perfect vision. Thus if the snake has not a glass eye it may, at any rate, be said to wear eyeglasses.

A similarly protected or cased eye which very nearly approaches a glass eye, or, at any rate, an eye in glass, is to be found in fish. From the character of the element in which they live and the subdued light that reaches them fish have no need of eyelids either to wash the eye or protect it from glare, and therefore eyelids are absent, but some of them need the protection of the transparent, horny, convex cases, which defend their eyes without obstructing the sight.

Letter Too Perfect.

General Phil Cook, when secretary of state of Georgia, observed that a young clerk, fresh from one of the small towns, daily received a letter over which he hung long and tenderly. The general knew that this daily missive was from the young fellow's sweetheart, and one day, when the letter seemed especially distracting, he said:

"Well, John, I suppose she writes a very nice letter."

John colored, but was too gallant to let the challenge pass.

"A nice letter! Why, general, she dots her i's and crosses her t's with a fastidious levity that disdains all pursuit."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Westminster's Colony.

The Duke of Westminster, who has been in South Africa in connection with his scheme for the colonization of a large tract of land which he has acquired in Orange River Colony, says he is confident of success. The site of the colony lies between Thaba N'chu and Ladybrand. Arrangements have been completed for a system of irrigation, fencing, allotment of farms, plans of buildings, and ascertaining the class of settlers most suitable for the purposes of colonization. Yeomen from the Duke's Cheshire property will form a considerable portion of the emigrants. Thousands of acres will be devoted to the growth of cereals and tobacco. The advance party of the colonists has already left England.

HERBERT SPENCER IN CANADA.

Some Interesting Reminiscences of His Visit to the Dominion.

The late Herbert Spencer was in Canada in 1882. He did not come as far west as Toronto, although a Montreal gentleman, who entertained him there, gives a local journal this account of his visit:

"On Sunday evening, September 2, 1882 Mr. Spencer, accompanied by his old friend, Mr. Edwin Lott, a banker from his native Derby, came to Montreal. When I entered their car at St. Lambert Mr. Spencer was dozing, but quickly aroused himself and stood up, a somewhat tall, slender man, his fair sunburnt face giving little token of the ill-health from which he had so long suffered. The next morning we walked to Mount Royal. A heavy shower soon obliged us to take refuge in a stone-breaker's shed on the Park road near the head of Peel street. Seated on the limestone, Mr. Spencer chatted of his early days as a railway engineer, and of Robert Stephenson, who had designed the Victoria Bridge. He distinctly remembered Mr. F. P. MacKelcan, an engineer who long resided in Montreal, and who, in 1879, removed to Chicago. As young men they had met at Durham. He spoke of the shameful way in which landowners 'held up' the first English railway companies, sometimes demanding four times as much as their property was worth, and claiming damages from lines not so near as a mile to their estates. One of these plunderers, whom he named, gave a large sum for a public purpose, 'endeavoring to compensate for robbing Paul by giving Peter what he did not owe him.' He was greatly impressed by the magnificence of New York; he thought the Capitol at Albany in bad taste."

"Mr. Spencer," continues the Montreal narrator, "was much interested in hearing from Dr. Sterry Hunt details concerning the earliest known organic remains, those of Eozoon Canadense, studied by Sir William Dawson and Dr. Hunt. Mr. Spencer said that he expected much new light to be shed on the evolution of life by deep-sea dredging. His talk was marvelously pointed and clear. A universal interest and a flawless memory were in plain and unobtrusive evidence every moment of that memorable hour. From his habit of dictating to an amanuensis he had acquired a precision of statement that made every sentence fit to print as it left his lips."

Some Salvation Army Humor.

The Christmas War Cry contains the following among other oddities culled from corps eports:

Lieut. P—— sang a owfoul pretty solo.

We mean to serve God to the bitter end.

We finished up with a hallelujah whine-up."

The people drank in the Bible truths from the writer's lips.

The Lieutenant was taken seriously ill with the quinces.

A little boy sang in good faith, "He taught me how to wash and pray."

"The audience was so attentive you could hear a pin drop on the flour."

After a hasty supper the Brigadier went at it again, belching forth words of love and fire.

A soldier (a brother) prayed, when a sister was at the penitent form: "O Lord, kindle a fire in her heart, and pour water upon it that it may bring forth fruit."

MR. HAYS EXPLAINS REASONS FOR DELAY!

Impossible to Run Mixed Train on Time- General Manager's Statement.

In answer to the many complaints made with reference to the service given by the G.T.R. in western Ontario, Mr. C. M. Hays makes the following statement:

"Many complaints are made from time to time, in a general way, but we can only deal with specific cases. It is the same as when a man comes in and says: 'Your trains are late all the time.' We ask, 'What train?' with the result that the man cannot give any specific cases. Still, we know that during weather such as we have just passed through the trains on all lines are usually late, and the G.T.R. is no exception. It is therefore strange that we should be singled out. On the branches specified we run a good many mixed trains of freights and passengers, and if is impossible for any road to run them on schedule time all the time. They are run according to the wishes of the district, accommodation in that manner having been requested. The G.T.R. does not like to run mixed trains when it can be prevented, but when a district cannot supply enough passenger traffic to support a certain number of exclusive passenger trains, and some of our patrons want more, we try to accommodate them with mixed trains. Then we come in for abuse whenever they are late, which is always possible when indefinite quantities of freight have to be handled. Passengers invariably complain when a mixed train happens to be delayed in getting freight and forget that we run regular passenger trains and attach a passenger coach to a freight train for their special convenience."

Stomach Troubles.

A disordered stomach may cause no end of trouble. When the stomach fails to perform its functions the bowels become deranged, the liver and kidneys congested, causing numerous diseases, the most fatal of which are painless and therefore the more to be dreaded. The important thing is to restore the stomach and liver to a healthy condition, and for this purpose no better preparation can be used than Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by all druggists.

New York, Jan. 11, 1.3 0p. m., Market was extremely narrow. There was no stock pressing anywhere but some issues acted as if short interest had been to a large extent eliminated. Van Enburg and Atterburg, who sold Penna, Atch., UP, and other stocks last week were buyers in some quantity around the room. It was argued from this that the Western shorts were covering. Expected decision of U. S. Supreme Court on the constitutionality of the Board of Franchise law tended to keep tractions dull as it was thought it would probably be adverse. Keene brokers were buyers of S P. rather openly. It seems probable that Pittsburg is rather more bullish on U. S. S.

BLAIRTON.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

We have had some bitterly cold weather.

Mr. F. C. Caskey had a narrow escape of having his stables and drive sheds burned. The fire was fortunately discovered in time to subdue it.

Of late several mining magnates have been visiting Pearce Company's iron property here with a view to purchasing or to operating on a royalty. They were all very favourably impressed and expressed themselves as being surprised that such an immense body of iron ore should have remained so long untouched.

It is a strange experience for Belmont that wood, of any description, is at a high premium.

Victoria, our neighbouring C. M. Church, is to have a tea meeting in a few days. The Blairton choir, under the leadership of Mr. George Aunger, and the Cordova choir, under Mrs. Mundy, are to take a part in the musical portion of the programme.

THE LATEST NEWS OF LOCAL SPORT

HOCKEY.

The following will be the team which will represent the Peterborough H. Trent Valley team at Lakefield to-night:

Goal, Cornstock; point, MacPherson; cover point, McLean; rover, Ford; R. wing, Lee; centre, Cameron, L. wing, Graham.

These players are requested to be at the Brock street rink at 6.30 to be sharp.

The team committee of the Peterborough Hockey Club will meet to-night at the rink after curling practice.

The Juniors and Seniors will be out to-night.

The Junior Team leaves to-morrow at noon for Belleville. All the players are asked to be at the rink to-night.

The Lindsay Post devotes a column to the hockey game played there Friday night and finds fault with the Peterborough club sending up the Trent Valley team instead of the Juniors, Commenting on the Peterborough team it says:

"McLean for the visitors wes a star, his lifting being a feature. McPherson and Comstock proved a tower of strength on Peterborough's defence. Cameron and Lee worked in some fine combination play. Chris Graham did some hard checking."

The Picton Times, writing on the game played there Wednesday night, says:

The Peterborough boys brought a good number of supporters with them and a special train load of enthusiasts arrived from Belleville, all of whom admitted it was the fastest hockey they had ever witnessed. There is no individual merit to the pirates, but every man played a magnificent game. The score at half time was threee to two in favour of Picton and at the finish Picton had six to three. That the Peterborough cracks are a splendid team cannot be questioned. Their brilliant combination brought forth great cheering but the lightning speed and expert stick handling and phenomenal endurance of the Picton team won the victory. There were several points in the combination of the Picton team that showed a weakness although Mr. Boulter has improved them wonderfully since their last match.

On Saturday afternoon a hot game of hockey between the Victorias and Crescents was played, the former winning by 8 to 7. The teams were:

Victorias.—Goal, A. Wade; point, G. Matthews; cover point, H. Matthews; forwards, L. Stevens, C. Miles.

Crescents.—Goal, H. Clancy, point, P. Long, cover point, C. Taber, forwards, J. Dougherty, N. Wilson.

Referee, S. Wade.

On Charlotte street Saturday afternoon the Alerts trimmed the Evergreens to the tune of 23 goals to 3. G. Greer refereed the game, the teams lining up as follows:

Alerts,—Goal W. Metheral; Point, A. Hall, Cover Point, P. Grange, Forwards, R. Heaslip, M. Dobbin, G. Long, P. Kennedy.

Evergreens,—Goal, C. Cobb, Point, B. Burdett, Cover Point, C. Dummett, Forwards, G. McGauder, E. Dummett, H. Heap, W. English.

In the morning the Alerts ran over the Northern Lights by 14 to 3. Charlotte street is in darkness.

CURLING.

Ice No. 1—Cameron vs. Neill.
Ice No. 2—Brown vs. Rutherford.
Ice No. 3—Whiten vs. Edwards.
Ice No. 4—Crane vs. Greer.
Ice No. 5—Morrow vs. Hay.

Curlers throughout the whole Dominion will be gratified to know that letters have been received from Rev. Mr. Kerr, Captain of the Scottish visiting curlers of last winter, stating that his illustrated narrative of the tour through Canada and the United States is now ready, and will be on sale in Toronto before the end of the present month. The large amount of work required to reproduce the photos of many of the fathers of curling in Canada, of the rink groups of players who met the Scots o nthe ice, and of many of the curling rink buildings in Canada, which are unrivalled in any part of the world, and have given Canada the well-deserved title of the paradise of curlers and curling, has delayed the issue of the book longer than was anticipated, but adds greatly to its value as a fitting record of the most memorable event in the history of curling. The letter press will be found intensely interesting, and will add another spray of laurel to the well won literary wealth of the reverend author. The distribution of the book will most probably be with the Toronto News Company.

SPRINTING.

Dave Belland, the now well known local sprinter received a telegram this morning from the president of the Q. L. C. stating that he and Edgar Shea, of Quebec, had been picked for the Canadian team for St. Louis next summer.

The Examiner is informed from a reliable source that there is a runner in town who is anxious to race Belland across country stretch from Chemong to the Oriental hotel for a cup.

The following are the scheduled games for this evening:

A TIRELESS WORKER.

The Marvelous Energy That Was a Part of Macaulay.

No life was ever lived at higher pressure than that of Macaulay. He was not only "like a book in breeches," as Sydney Smith said of him; he was also like an intellectual steam engine. His thirst for knowledge was only equaled by his amazing capacity for retaining knowledge and by his passionate interest in all the aspects of life. "I wish I knew as much of anything as Macaulay knows of everything," said Melbourne, and, though the epigram may have been intended as a gibe, it approximated to the truth. To the average dullard of the world it must have seemed that this tempestuous man was literally omniscient. He plunged into Italian like a boy rejoicing in a new toy; he took up Spanish with an appetite growing by what it fed on, and then he returned to Greek with a joy which he found indescribable. He amused himself in going to India by learning German and mitigated the distress of a voyage across to Ireland by committing "Paradise Lost" to memory, claiming, doubtless with truth, that if by any inconceivable mischance the great epic were to be utterly destroyed he could from the tablets of his memory give it back to the world.—London News.

A Highland Dinner.

"The highland dinner is a very smart affair, and one that is never seen south of the Tweed," says the London Queen. "The laird wears his full dress kilt every night, and every one with any claim to a clan does the same, so that often there are more kilted men around the table than black coats.

"The full kilt dress is splendid, and a man to the manner born looks far better in it than in any other clothes. It gives width, height and dignity to the wearer, with its shayd, sporran and brooches. Not only does the laird wear his highland dress, but toward the end of dinner his piper, who has played in the hall outside during the meal, comes into the room and marches around the table. The pipes are a little deafening, but the player looks so fine that one is glad to see him. Most of the pipers in the more noble families have inherited the position from their ancestors and are rightly proud of the post. After dinner, if there is a big house party, there is often a dance. Then the piper is at his best, as he plays his pipes for the lightsome reels to be danced, beating time with his foot the while."

The Value of Politeness.

If those who are doubtful as to the correct course to pursue in any given situation will remember that even the wrong thing is overlooked if one is but absolutely polite in the doing of it, their relief might be great.

A gentleness of demeanor and a courteous response or question can never be out of place. A man may wear a business suit of clothes to an evening wedding less noticeably than a truculent air of insolence. If he be perfectly well bred as far as behavior goes, it matters not so much what his outward garb, although by an unwritten law of social observance certain clothes are the correct thing for certain occasions.

Politeness is never wrong. Its practice goes nearly all the way toward the goal of the right thing in the right place. We hear of polite insolence, but insolence is never polite, and it is never under any circumstances polite to be insolent.

Unanswerable.

The illustrator is not supposed to have the poet's license, but he gives himself the scope he desires, and if his conception of a figure or a scene differs from that of the writer it is simply a trifle worse for the writer.

When Holman Hunt illustrated Tennyson's poem, "The Lady of Shalott," Tennyson was somewhat taken aback by his first sight of the lady.

"My dear Hunt," said he, "I never said that young woman's hair was blowing all over the shop!"

"No," said the artist, whose mind was as ready as his fingers, "but you never said it wasn't."

A UNIONIST SPLIT

Devonshire and Chamberlain Write Bitter Letters.

POWERFUL PARTY DISRUPTED

Duke Suggested the Party Should Dissolve, But Mr. Chamberlain Wants a Vote of the Association—"Let the Defeated Party Retire," He Says —Duke Wants Less Violent Means of Dissolution.

London, Jan. 11.—(C.A.P.)—Referring to the correspondence between Chamberlain and the Duke of Devonshire, The Chronicle says it marks not only the break-up of the Unionist organization, but Mr. Chamberlain's part throws some light on the tactics of the once powerful English party.

Bitter Correspondence.

An acrimonious correspondence between the Duke of Devonshire and Joseph Chamberlain is published this morning. The Duke wrote to Mr. Chamberlain suggesting that the association should dissolve owing to the difficulty of allocating funds now that the party has become divided by the fiscal controversy.

Mr. Chamberlain in a long rejoinder said he thought it best to "let sleeping dogs lie," but that if the Duke wanted to make a fiscal test question, he "had best take a vote of the members of the association and let the defeated party retire."

The Duke replied, objecting to such a violent disruption of the association, and asking for a friendly discussion of the arrangements for dissolution.

Mr. Chamberlain closes the correspondence by announcing that as the Duke will not accept his views he is determined to call a meeting on his own responsibility, and that the course to be pursued will be decided at this meeting.

The correspondence between the Duke of Devonshire and Mr. Chamberlain is considered as completing the disruption of the Unionist party.

It is expected the Duke of Devonshire will resign, and that either Mr. Chamberlain or Lord Lansdowne will be elected president of the association.

The London Press.

The Express says the Duke's letters are evidence of the politician, irritated by his party, who no longer answere the call.

The Telegraph says, after an honorable existence, the Liberal-Unionist organization is on the verge of complete transformation. No doubt an overwhelming majority of the Unionists are with Chamberlain, but it is curious that the cautious Duke, like Saturn, would devour his own children.

The Times says the most conspicuous feature of the correspondence of the Duke of Devonshire was the pontifical tone of his formal severance from the Unionist party. It must now be anticipated that Chamberlain is not likely to set up a new extraneous test, and Lansdowne is the best choice for President.

The Standard says the correspondence is another painful exemplification of the strain of the fiscal controversy which threatens to reduce all the branches of the Unionist party to a hopeless wreck, as the manner in which protection was introduced has jeopardized the most powerful party in English politics for a century.

The News, under the head "Great Disruption," says Chamberlain, having got rid of the Duke of Devonshire, will now throw aside the Premier.

Surprised to Hear It.

London, Jan. 11.—(C. A. P.)—The Chronicle says the world will be surprised to learn that Canada produces over half the nickel consumed throughout the world.

Will Be Resented.

London, Jan. 11.—(C. A. P.)—Mr. Seddon, speaking at Wellington, Australia, said the introduction of Chinese hordes into the Transvaal would be bitterly resented by the self-governing colonies.

Mercenary Patriots.

London, Jan. 11.—(C. A. P.)—Reynolds' Newspaper, referring to the volunteering of Canadians for service in Japan, says such mercenary patriots as Chamberlain called the entire world to admire are now fallen so low as to serve barbarians.

Premier Seddon's Promise.

London, Jan. 11.—(C. A. P.)—The Premier of New Zealand, writing to a correspondent at St. Helens, says: "Whether or not they do anything in England we will put an extra 40 per cent. on some lines, and 20 per cent. on others, which ought to give British manufacturers a good show. He thinks the British manufacturer has much to learn in the matter of freights, as Germans or Americans ship goods 20 to 50 per cent. less than the British, owing to the open door policy held by British workingmen. It was all nonsense to say that trade follows the flag, as trade follows the ships, and people buy where they get the best terms and are quickest served."

Wireless Improvement.

Strasburg, Jan. 11.—At a meeting of a scientific society Saturday, Prof. Braun, inventor of the system of wireless telegraphy named after him, stated that recent discoveries and improvements made the question of distance in etherography of no importance.

Dynamite Kills Six.

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 11.—A dynamite explosion occurred near Cassel, in Wayne County, Saturday, while a number of employes on the Norfolk and Western extension were at luncheon. Six workmen were killed and fourteen injured.

JAPAN DETERMINED

Russia Must Recede From Her Position or Fight.

IMPRESSES THE CHINESE

Japan Sends a Warning Note to China and Asks That Nation to Preserve Strict Neutrality—War Is Believed to Be Inevitable, and It May Come at Any Moment.

London, Jan. 12.—The Times' Pekin correspondent, cabling under yesterday's date, says that the Chinese at Tokio, at the request of the Japanese Foreign Office, telegraphed the following communication to Prince Ching:

"The second Russian reply to the Japanese proposals has been received by the Chinese Minister at Tokio, but it is unfavorable and cannot be accepted by Japan, who will, unless Russia recedes, be compelled promptly to resort to arms.

"In view of such an eventuality, Japan expects and urges China to maintain the strictest neutrality to preserve order throughout the Empire, to guard the foreigners resident in the territory, to take special care to preserve order in the Provinces of Shan Tung and Yunnan lest foreign powers might seize the pretext of disorder and make aggressive movements therein."

The correspondent says that the despatch has deeply impressed the Chinese, who now believe war to be inevitable. He says that notes looking to the ratification of a treaty between China and Japan were exchanged yesterday afternoon.

Russia's Position.

Berlin, Jan. 12.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Lokal Anzeiger says that a communication has been drawn up showing the latest developments of the Japanese question. He says:

"The Czar wishes, as he told Count Lamsdorff, that the whole truth will be given to the public. He is personally against war, and refuses to believe that it will come. He hopes to convince Japan that Russia's wishes are reasonable and must be respected.

"Accordingly, the communication chiefly embraces five points:

"First—Japan will get various concessions in Corea.

"Second—In South Corea the Japanese can act not only in their economic interests, but they can adopt strategic measures, corresponding with these interests.

"Third—Russia allows Japan full commercial freedom of action in North Corea, but Japan must not permanently occupy fortified towns either to the north or south, and neither on the coast nor in the interior.

"Fourth—A neutral zone of 50 kilometres broad is to be created between Corea and Manchuria along the Yalu and Tumen Rivers, in which neither Russia nor Japan can establish fortified positions; also that the strait between Japan and Corea shall be neutral, thus giving free ingress and egress to Russian vessels.

"Fifth—In reference to Manchuria, Russia accepts no conditions, but declares that she is ready to permit Japan and other powers to represent their interests, embracing the 'open door' for Mukden and New Chwang."

The Czar personally edited and corrected the above points of the communication.

It is learned that the terms enunciated in the forecast of the Russian communication to the powers cabled from Berlin yesterday, and which gave the substance of Russian's proposals to Japan regarding Manchuria and Corea, are practically identical with Russia's former reply, of which Japan asked a reconsideration. The only difference is in the wording, together with some minor concessions concerning Corea, which, it is stated, Japan considers immaterial.

Balfour's Grave Words.

London, Jan. 12.—Premier Balfour, speaking at Manchester last night, referring to the Far Eastern situation, said: "No one can contemplate hostilities between two great civilized countries without feelings of misgiving and depression."

Premier Balfour added that Great Britain would carry out to her fullest extent all her treaty obligations.

Mr. St. John Brodrick, Secretary for India, speaking at Guildford, said he hoped war would be averted. The Government, he said, would do its utmost to promote a peaceful solution of the difficulties, but that if its effort failed Great Britain would seek to localize the effects of the conflict.

Premier Balfour's guarded statement is commented on by this morning's papers as an intimation of the intention of the Government to accord full support to Japan in the event of circumstances arising which would call into action the Anglo-Japanese treaty.

The Daily News, which represents a large section of the British public, heartily disliking that treaty, regards Mr. Balfour's language as a plain and unnecessary threat to Russia, and declares that the treaty was made without consulting the British representatives in Japan, who, since its adoption, have repeatedly warned the Government of the perils attaching to it.

War Appears Inevitable.

St. John, N.B., Jan. 12.—The possibility of war between Russia and Japan is beginning to have its effect upon steamship business. William Thompson & Co., agents here for the Allan Line steamships, yesterday received from the office of the Allan Line in Glasgow, the following despatch: "Make no further engagements for cargo at present rates, war appears inevitable."

Bells Under the Water.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—Hon. Raymond Prefontaine has obtained the consent of his colleagues to get as many submarine bells for use on the St. Lawrence River and Atlantic coast as he deems advisable. These bells were tested some time ago while the Minister of Marine was present, and he found them very satisfactory. The bells will be in use on the St. Lawrence during the coming season of navigation. Mr. Prefontaine will also establish five Marconi stations on the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

King Peter May Get Into Trouble.

Paris, Jan. 12.—The French Minister to Servia, M. Benoit, has been recalled, and another official has been sent to Belgrade to act as Charge d'Affaires, the result of the failure of King Peter to take adequate means of redress for the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga. Most, if not all, the ministers of the leading powers have been withdrawn or are about to withdraw from Belgrade.

Boy Murderer Released.

Montreal, Jan. 12.—Eddie Laurin, the 20-year old son of Cyril Laurin, the wealthy horse fancier, who shot and killed a negro stableman employed by his father, has been released from St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary. It is claimed the boy is dying of ulcers in the stomach. Young Laurin has been in the penitentiary about a year on a sentence of 14 years.

Toronto, Jan. 12.—A signal compliment was paid the Province of Ontario when Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, was elected chairman of the animal section of the new organization called the American Breeders' Association, which was perfected at St. Louis on Dec. 29 and 30 last. Mr. Dryden was notified a few days ago of his election.

The Swellest of White Lingerie !

Is not too good to be included in the Sutcliffe January display and Sale of Whitewear. This month the major portion of our second floor is given to the display of as beautiful a range of undergarments as was ever shown in Canada. (We make no exceptions.) This present range will stand the test. The growing trade of this Store's Whitewear business is phenomenal, both in the quantity and in the quality. We attribute this growth to the very careful selection of styles which must also have quality, and the careful marking of the selling price which must always be as low, perhaps a little lower than you could by them elsewhere—quality for quality, provided it were possible to get similar Styles, but the Styles are the chief point and have our first attention, and for January come the special January Whitewear prices.

We'd like you would watch these columns from day to day for special "White" information.

We do not wish to confuse you — we carry other than "High Art" Styles at exceedingly reasonable prices.

JUDGING BY RESULTS.

The Province of Ontario has been under Liberal rule for over thirty years continuously. It is rather a proud record that after so long an exercise of administration our affairs have been so efficiently, economically and carefully managed that not a cent of direct taxation has been or is imposed for provincial purposes. Our educational interests and the care of the insane and weak-minded, the education of the deaf and dumb are assisted or paid for out of the provincial revenue, without calling in the services of the municipal assessor or tax collector. This is in pleasant contrast to the conditions that are found in the states of the neighbouring Republic. In most if not all of these states a direct tax in addition to the municipal tax is levied for state purposes of various kinds. The last issue of the Sault Ste. Marie, (Michigan) Evening News, contains a supplement bearing an advertisement for the annual sale of local lands for taxes held, not by the municipality, but by the State of Michigan! This list contains thousands of plots of land and if printed in the Daily Examiner would fill four or five of its pages in small type. Such a thing as this province advertising even one little village lot for sale for taxes is impossible for we have no direct taxation. We have no direct taxes here for provincial pruposes. The last of the tax sale in the "Michigan Soo" shows two things,—first that a pretty stiff State tax is imposed, or there would not be so many delinquents. It also shows that there must be a defective state of local prosperity, when so many persons are unable to meet their tax obligations.

IS WAR AT HAND

In view of all the conflicting reports which come from the Far East it is difficult to determine whether Japan and Russia are to fight, says the Woodstock Sentinel Review. We are inclined to think that most of what is termed reliable information from the Orient is merely the result of guess work. In trying to decide for oneself what the truth of the situation it, it should be borne carefully in mind that a story of coming conflict makes better reading for the newspapers than one which tells us that matters are likely to be amicably settled. Correspondents, especially those attached to sensational journals, are therefore apt to lay more stress on bellicose tendencies than actual conditions warrant.

A great deal depends upon the character of the man who has for the moment the ear of the Czar. It is not believed that the present Nicholas has very positive views of his own, in which respect he differs very greatly from the sovereign of the same name who occupied the throne at the time of the Crimean war. The power behind the present Czar, in M. Bezobrazoff, who has risen to a position of great political influence only within the last few months, though for a long time he has been a prominent figure in the life of St. Petersburg, mainly owing to his possession of great wealth. The two men who have figured so prominently in connection with Russian affairs in recent years, M. Plehve and M. de Witte, between whom the struggle for mastery was believed to be, have both, it seems, been displaced, and it is for M. Bezobrazoff to say what the Imperial policy is to be.

We hear a great deal about the instability of administrations under democratic conditions. The one virtue of absolutism, it has been represented, is the steadiness which it gives to a country's policy. The experience of Russia does not tend at all to support this view. These constant changes in court favourites take us back to the days of the two Charles in our own history. Under a democracy, practised observers can tell when a change is impending. Under the rule of these secret advisers, everybody is in the dark. What M. Bezobrazoff's tendencies are is not altogether clear, but the general feeling is that he desires an appeal to arms in the East. But this has been said of others who have occupied his position in years past, and no conflict came. In fact it always seems to us as an unchanging feature of the Russian policy to gain all that was possible by trickery but to leave a loop-hole by which fighting in the last extremity could be avoided.

The outspoken utterances of the English press will count for something in determining her choice. They are practically unanimous in the opinion that Britain cannot afford to stand by and see Japan seriously beaten, and there seems to be little doubt that the old land, in case of a prolonged war, would be drawn into it. But Japan seems to be convinced that she is quite able to look after herself, and if the worst comes to the worst, she will go into the struggle with the best wishes of the friends of progress everywhere.

WHERE WE COME IN

(Hamilton Times.)

According to the Paris press negotiations are in progress for the settlement of all the points of difference between Great Britain and her colonies and France, and a treaty based on mutual concessions will soon be signed. The correspondent of the London Standard intimates that France will abandon her rights in Newfoundland in return for concessions in Central Africa and the New Hebrides. In this way a long-standing cause of annoyance will be removed, and the people of Newfoundland will be rid of the troublesome French shore question.

It is to be hoped that the rumours are based on fact. Canada should have Newfoundland as a part of the Confederation, and it would be greatly to our advantage in such circumstances to be rid of international complications and causes of irritation. The Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier is alive to the importance of these rounding off the Dominion and heading off trouble similar to that met with on our western coast, and its known desire gives colour of probability to Britain's move to pave the way for the entry of Newfoundland into Confederation.

MORTGAGES DECREASING.

(Brockville Recorder.)

To-day Lt.-Col. W. H. Cole, registrar for the County of Leeds, mailed his report for the year's business ending Dec. 31st, to Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary. From a glimpse at the report it would seem as though the people of this county were prospering. The total number of mortgages registered during the year were 511, while the number of mortgages discharged was 543. Col. Cole informed the Recorder that this has been the case for the past three or four years. Other registerings during the year were, Patents, 7; deeds, 854; wills, 115; leases, 16; liens, 1; other documents, 133; a total of 2,230 for the year. The total amount of money loaned on mortgages was $675,510, but this of course includes renewals, etc.

CLYDESDALE.

The weather is now somewhat milder after some very severe weather. The snow here is four feet deep on the level, besides drifts five and six feet high. This made Christmas rather dull. However, we were pleased to meet some of the Peterborough and Lakefield young people for Christmas. Miss Lily Goulais and Miss Lilly, and Mr. and Mrs. Burke of Peterborough, who were home for Christmas; also Mr. Herbert Trotter of Lakefield, who was home spending a few days with his parents.

Mr. John Heffernan paid us a flying visit, taking with him Miss D. Trotter to Peterborough. Miss Lillie Trotter has also since gone to the city for the winter.

Quite a number of our young men are in camp for the winter, making it dull here.

Our new teacher arrived the other night, and began duties on Tuesday, the 12th, at No. 1 School.

Council met on Monday, the 11th. The old council was re-elected by acclamation.

Mr. Geo. Campbell of Rose Island, had his dwelling burnt with contents on election day.

Mr. Thos. Trotter has gone to Peterborough to renew old acquaintances.

Mr. Jas. Trotter is busy shovelling a road to the school for the teacher.

We regret to learn that Mr. Patrick Menogue is very low at present.

Mrs. Lee and family are guests of Mr. Cardwell.

Mr. George Cardwell and Nelson are home spending a few days with their parents.

Mr. Jas. Scott has returned from Bancroft with a new team.

Mr. Fred Rimmington is home and is busy hauling wood to School No. 1.

Alex. Trotter has had another severe attack of hemorrhage of the lungs, but is recovering again.

THERE IS A WAY OUT OF IT.

Catarrh, the Offensive and Dangerous Disease, can be Cured.

Catarrh is a disease that afflicts a majority of the people of the United States. It comes without warning, and from its offensive nature causes intense suffering and humiliation. Its complications are often dangerous and fatal, dyspepsia, bronchitis and consumption frequently resulting, if catarrh is allowed to run its course unchecked.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets have done more good and effected more cures among catarrh sufferers than any known remedy. They never fail to cure even the most aggravated cases where their use is adhered to. They thoroughly renovate the system and cleanse it of all impurities. Under their influence all catarrhal poisons are thrown off and the cure is complete and permanent.

A prominent lawyer and public speaker of Pittsburg, says: "I have been troubled with catarrh of the head and throat for 12 years. In this climate it seems impossible to get rid of it. The continual dropping of mucus from the nose into the throat causes irritation and hoarseness, seriously interfering with my public speaking. It took me an hour or more of coughing, gagging, expectorating and sneezing every morning before I could setttle down to work, and this condition gradually brought on catarrh of the stomach, causing loss of appetite, poor digestion and a foul breath, which annoyed me exceedingly. My physician advised me to try Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and I took them for two months and was astonished to find how quickly they cured my head, throat and stomach, and I have no hesitation in recommending them. They are not only pleasant to take, but they seem to get at the very root of the trouble, because since using them I have had no trace of catarrh."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. They have done so much good and the demand for them is so great that no druggist ever fails to keep them in stock, although there are other remedies which yield him a greater profit. Druggists know, however, that they would be making a great mistake and endangering their business to be without Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

PORTS OF CANADA.

What the Transportation Commission is Trying to Do.

St. John, N.B., Jan. 12.—The Royal Commission on Transportation completed its business here yesterday afternoon, and the members will go to St. Andrew's, N.B.

At yesterday's meeting Robert Reford said that it is the desire of the commission to do everything possible to have Canadian shipments made through Canadian ports and to take them away from American ports, where they have unfortunately gone.

John Bertram, chairman of the commission, said that if the Grand Trunk Pacific desired to send Canadian shipments to Portland, Me., instead of to St. John, N.B., it was part of the commission's duty to try to compel them to use Canadian ports.

A. J. Anderson For South York.

Eglinton, Jan. 12.—South York Liberals gathered in Eglinton Town Hall here yesterday afternoon for the selection of a candidate for the Federal House. Every sub-division in the riding was represented and the meeting was characterized by the greatest unanimity. A. J. Anderson, barrister, Toronto Junction, was selected unanimously, and he replied briefly for the honor done him.

NORTH AMERICAN FISH AND GAME PROTECTIVE ASS'N.

Fourth Annual Meeting to be Held in Portland, Maine, Jan. 20th and 21st.

(Miramichi Advance, Chatham, N. B.)

The fourth annual meeting of the North American Fish and Game Protective Association is to be held at the Falmouth Hotel, Portland, Me., on Wednesday and Thursday 20th and 21st January next.

The Association is composed of citizens of Canada and the United States, whose efforts are directed towards the harmonizing of the fish and game laws of the different Provinces of Canada and contiguous States of the American Union; the preservation, propagation and protection of fish, game and bird life and the maintenance and improvements of laws relating thereto, and mutual assistance in enforcing game and fish laws on the borders of the various States and Provinces; the preservation of forests; the promotion of fish-culture, the introduction of new species and varieties of fish, game and useful birds and the dissemination of information relating thereto.

At the annual meeting the members are hard workers. Three sessions are held each day and in addition to the discussion of many questions which are submitted by members for the purpose of eliciting information from the experienced men assembled, many of whom are experts of international reputation, papers are read, which are valuable contributions to the literature of the subjects treated. At the Ottawa meeting last January, which was presided over by Hon. F. R. Latchford, of Ontario, papers were read on matters pertaining to fish and game protection, on "The Stocking of Inland Waters with Black Bass," on Big Game in Ontario" and one entitled "Notes from the Standpoint of an Observing Layman" by Professor Macoun of the Geological Survey of Canada; one on "Trout Fishing on the Nipigon" and many others, and very full discussion of all the subjects introduced was had.

The meeting at Portland next month will, doubtless, be of equal interest. The area of country represented in the organization is indicated by the list of its officers, who are as follows:—

PRESIDENT.
L. T. Carleton, Augusta, Me.
SECRETARY-TREASURER.
E. T. D. Chambers, Quebec, Canada.
VICE-PRESIDENTS.
H. O. Stanley, Dixfield, Me.
J. Fottier, Jr., Boston, Mass.
R. E. Plumb, Detroit, Mich.
A. T. Dunn, St. John, N.B.
N. Weatworth, Hudson Centre, N.H.
C. H. Wilson, Glens Falls, N.Y.
G. A. McCallum, Dunnville, Ont.
J. T. Finnie, Montreal, Que.
Gen. F. G. Butterfield, Derby Line, Vt.
C. S. Harrington, Halifax, N.S.
S. A. McGrath, Franklin, Pa.
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.
Chas. E. Oak, Augusta, Me.
F. S. Hodges, Boston, Mass.
Henry Russell, Detroit Mich.
D. G. Smith, Chatham, N.B.
N. Weatworth, Hudson Centre, N.H.
J. H. Seymour, New York, N.Y.
S. T. Bastedo, Toronto, Ont.
C. E. E. Usher, Montreal, Que.
F. L. Fish, Vergennes, Vt.
H. M. Wallace, Halifax, N.S.

Men interested in the objects of the Association should, if possible assist its work by being members. The entrance fee is $2 and annual dues $3—that is, $5 for the first year and three dollars yearly thereafter. Anglers and sportsmen who can do so would find great advantage in joining the Association and attending its annual meeting this year, especially when it is being held at so convenient a point as Portland. Meetings have since the organization, been held at Montreal, (2); Burlington, Vermont, and Ottawa. Portland is quite as convenient as any of these to the majority of the members belonging to the Upper Provinces of Canada, while it is more so to those of the Maritime Provinces. Citizens of the United States who are interested in the fish and game regions of Canada take a great interest also in the Association, and a greater number of residents of the Maritime Provinces should show a similar disposition to assist in promoting the work of the organization.

Applications for membership should be addressed to the Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. E. T. D. Chambers, Quebec, or if they are entrusted to any of the other officers they will be glad to see them properly forwarded.

WANTS AN INQUIRY

Serious Charges Made Against the Steamer Clallam.

LIFEBOAT'S PLUGHOLE OPEN

Victoria Times Indignant Over the Alleged Condition of the Str. Clallam —Charges Made That She Was Not a Seaworthy Boat and That She Was Hastily and Flimsily Constructed.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 12.—No. 1 lifeboat of the steamer Clallam, which was picked up here, shows that when the boat was launched from the sinking steamer the plug was removed. Examination of the bow shows that water must have come in through the open plug hole. She did not capsize, as two iron rowlocks, unfastened, were found in the boat, together with a gold watch and a purse containing $41 belonging to Millie Murdock of Seattle.

The Times newspaper, in a lengthy editorial regarding the responsibility for the Clallam disaster, says it is openly charged that the Clallam was not a seaworthy boat, and was hastily and flimsily constructed, ill found in some respects and unsuitable for the service in which she was placed, and that she was in a chronic state of leakage for some time. The Times suggests that an investigation should be made of these charges.

To Recover the Mails.

H. M. S. Grafton left Esquimalt yesterday morning to proceed to the scene of the Clallam wreck. If the lost vessel does not lie at too great a depth when located, divers will be sent down in an effort to recover the mails and any bodies that may be with the wreckage.

Two of the bodies found Sunday have since been identified as Mrs. Reynolds, address unknown; and Mrs. H. LePlant, of San Juan Island. One remains unidentified.

The funerals of the victims whose bodies are at local morgues will commence to-day.

The bodies that remained unidentified have been shown to be those of Minnie Murdoch, Seattle; and Mrs. Hattie Moore of San Juan Island.

Among Those Missing.

Among those lost and yet unfound are Mrs. Galletly, wife of the manager of the Bank of Montreal; N. P. Shaw of Victoria, of the firm of N. P. Shaw & Co., who did a large business in Dawson in meat, and are owners of the steamer Venture, carrying live stock to Skagway, and interested in mining, leaves a wife and child; R. Turner, street car conductor, this city, and wife; Annie Murray, Victoria; Capt. T. Lawrence, master of steamer Scotia, Atlin Lake; W. Gibbons, who was to begin services in St. John's Church, this city; T. Sullivan, mining man from Mount Sicker; George J. Jeffs, a young man of 22, whose father is manager of the British Columbia meat market, this city; Homer Swaney, head Irondale smelter, deeply interested in Vancouver Island iron properties.

Miss Galletly was only 18. Capt. Thompson, late of the 10th Prince Albert's Own Hussars, was popular here. His wife was a famous London beauty and a friend of Queen Alexandra. She is a sister-in-law of Chief Justice Hunter.

Niece of London Man

London, July 12.—Word was received here Sunday night by J. W. Jones, auctioneer, of this city, that his niece, Miss Ethel Diprose, was one of the victims of the ill-fated SS. Clallam, which was wrecked at Port Townsend, Wash., on Saturday morning last. Miss Diprose was a nurse in the Tacoma General Hospital and had embarked at Seattle to visit her sister, Mrs. Challoner, of Victoria, B. C. Her remains were recovered and identified on Sunday. Deceased's family reside at Strathroy, her father formerly having been in business in this city.

A CONTINUAL DRAG.

The Exact Term.

Only those who have experienced the pain and suffering incident to Piles or Hemorrhoids, can know what a drag and handicap this complaint is; how even the mildest form hinders the patient from putting forth his or her best efforts, while those afflicted with protruding or bleeding piles realize all the tortures of the Inquisition.

It may surprise the reader to know that there is a sure, permanent cure for this disease, as the following testimony from Mr. E. A. Leonard, an American resident in the City of Mexico will show.

"For twenty years I suffered with piles, sometimes being confined to my bed for days at a time. The relief received from doctors both in the United States and Mexico, was temporary and more frequently I received no relief; other medicines had no effect. It was a continual drag. I was fit for nothing. I finally tried Pyramid Pile Cure; first application was magical; I could not believe I was awake the next morning—I experienced a relief that I had not known for twenty years. One box cured me; but not believing myself cured I bought two more, but they are still in my trunk. I first used the remedy in July, 1902; and have had no occasion to use it since. The world should know of Pyramid Pile Cure. I have no words to express its merits."

Pyramid Pile Cure is in the form of a suppository, which is admitted by all physicians to be the best preparation for treating piles; it comes in direct contact with the painful tumours and does its work quickly and painlessly. It is sold by druggists generally at 50 cents a package, and there is no other remedy "just as good."

Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their little book on the causes and cure of piles, which is sent free for the asking.

Police Warned of Escape.

Hamilton, Jan. 12.—The police say they have not heard anything from Hillis yet. They think he is being hidden by friends in this city. He boasted to the police while under arrest that he would never be caught alive again. It turns out that warning had been given that he would try to make his escape.

Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure

Costs Nothing if it Fails.

Any honest person who suffers from Rheumatism is welcome to this offer. For years I searched everywhere to find a specific for Rheumatism. For nearly 20 years I worked to this end. At last, in Germany, my search was rewarded. I found a costly chemical that did not disappoint me as other Rheumatic prescriptions had disappointed physicians everywhere.

I do not mean that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure can turn bony joints into flesh again. That is impossible. But it will drive from the blood the poison that causes pain and swelling, and then that is the end of Rheumatism. I know this so well that I will furnish for a full month my Rheumatic Cure on trial. I cannot cure all cases within a month. It would be unreasonable to expect that. But most cases will yield within 30 days. This trial treatment will convince you that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure is a power against Rheumatism—a potent force against disease that is irresistible.

My offer is made to convince you of my faith. My faith is but the outcome of experience—of actual knowledge. I know what it can do. And I know this so well that I will furnish my remedy on trial. Simply write me a postal card for my book on Rheumatism. I will then arrange with a druggist in your vicinity so that you can secure six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure to make the test. You may take it a full month on trial. If it succeeds the cost to you is $5.50. If it fails the loss is mine and mine alone. It will be left entirely to you. I mean that exactly. If you say the trial is not satisfactory I don't expect a penny from you.

Write me and I will send you the book. Try my remedy for a month, if it fails the loss is mine.

Address Dr. Shoop, box 47-9, Racine, Wis.

Mild cases not chronic are often cured by one or two bottles. At all druggists.

CRITICIZING BALFOUR.

His Latest Speech Calls Forth Some Varied Views.

London, Jan. 12.—(C.A.P.)—Referring to Mr. Balfour's speech, The Daily News says he goes on quibbling while Chamberlain burns his house over his head. He is alarmed at the rate Chamberlain is going, but while the fire flames from every storey the languid chief fireman directs a mere garden watering pot on it.

The Morning Post says Mr. Balfour is right in urging the tariff reformers to go more slowly on the ground of the difficulty in persuading the colonies to modify their protectionist regime in favor of Britain, but he forgets that under the Canadian preferential tariff the Canadian woollen and cotton manufacturees have suffered loss, yet the Imperialist movement has grown stronger.

The Daily Telegraph says the Prime Minister puts the unification of the Empire before all other objects. The publication of the Duke of Devonshire's letter has done more than anything else to consolidate the Imperialist party. All over interest is alive and alert. The Unionist party is fervent in the cause of the ultimate future of Great Britain and the Pritons across the seas.

The Daily Chronicle says Mr. Balfour's scheme was the humiliating one of explaining his abdiction. He laid down one proposition, of which more will be heard, when he said that any proposed arrangement with the Colonies must be based on a modification of the tariff walls against British manufacturers. It was Chamberlain who spoke of the Australian invitation, but he did not pretend the Australian offer included that.

The Standard says Mr. Balfour declined to commit himself to the preferential scheme because he sees the people of these islands, as yet unconverted to a tax on food and the colonies unconverted to a lowering of the tariff barriers behind which their manufactories are being nursed.

The Times says Mr. Balfour does not conceal his sympathy with Chamberlain's policy, but adheres to his opinion that a new tax cannot be placed on food merely as a financial expedient. A great Imperial reorganization must await an Imperial wave. Chamberlain is in entire sympathy with this view, and it is his task to convert public opinion in Great Britain and the colonies.

The Morning Post says Mr. Balfour pleads for consideration of the manner in which the Imperial tariff will work before it is adopted. Mr. Chamberlain's manner of procedure in in practical lines. The two statesmen represent two aspects of one harmonious scheme.

Hopes It Will Be Declined.

London, Jan. 12.—(C.A.P.)—The Times (London, Eng.) trusts Premier Seddon of New Zealand's invitation to the Prime Ministers of the self-governing colonies of the Empire to unite in protest against the introduction of Chinese labor into the Rand (South Africa) will not be accepted. If the Transvaal people are favorable why should the home Government thwart their wishes. Such a course would upset the constitutional principle, which concedes the right of the colonies to settle their own affairs.

Pig Iron From Canada.

London, Jan. 12.—(C.A.P.)—British iron firms are greatly interested in the arrival in Glasgow yesterday of a cargo of Canadian pig iron from Cape Breton. No shipment of Canadian iron has reached Glasgow for almost two years, a circumstance due to the fact that Canadian producers were securing better prices at home and in the United States. This importation also marks the drying up of British shipments to America.

Canadian Papers in Demand.

London, Jan. 12.—The Canadian Associated Press has had several inquiries from the librarians of public libraries in London, with regard to their being supplied with Canadian newspapers.

Strike Declared Off.

Philadelphia, Jan. 8.—S. M. Wetherly, treasurer of the Keystone Type Foundry, of this city, announced last night that the strike inaugurated about Oct. 1 by the Union Type Founders throughout the United States has been declared off by the officers of the union.

EDDY PAPER MILLS CLOSED.

Operations Suspended on Account of the Strike.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—The strikers from the Eddy Company paper mill number nearly 400. The doors of the mill were closed yesterday morning and operations have been suspended. They are advertising for men to replace the strikers. There are 135 union papermakers and 250 helpers. The papermakers are divided into four classes according to ability. The first-class is paid $1.85 a day; the second, $1.50; the third, $2.50; and the fourth, $3.25. It is claimed that the Eddy Company will not suffer from any suspension of operations, having supplied all their customers with paper for a long time to come.

Why 190 Weavers Struck.

Montreal, Jan. 12.—One hundred and twenty weavers in the Paton mills in Sherbrooke struck yesterday morning. They claim they were fined too much for spoiled work. They had a conference with the managers, but got no satisfaction.

MR. J. Y. HEMMING

Had Inflammatory Rheumatism which Baffled the Skill of Medical Men.

Mr. J. Y. Hemming, London, Ont., writes as follows about his marvelous cure:—"I suffered for years with inflammatory rheumatism which baffled the skill of medical men. I had every form of treatment known to specialists, and visited mineral springs, but obtained only temporary relief. Almost giving up in despair, I was asked to try Paine's Celery Compound, and I thank God such a blessing was brought to my notice. The use of three bottles of the great remedy gave me relief from pain, and I slept better. Ten bottles worked for me a complete cure. I have no hesitation in recommending Paine's Celery Compound to all rheumatic sufferers; it cures surely and permanently."

PAINE'S Celery Compound Cured Him.

Barley Purity

The best malting barley in the world is grown in certain favored localities of Western Ontario.

All the barley used in Carling's Ale is grown in these districts, and the best crops are selected each year by Carling's own experts.

Before being used it is put through special machinery which separates all the impure and foreign substances.

Common grade ales, insufficiently aged, are heavy and taste sour, which causes headaches and biliousness to the consumer. Carling's Ale is aged for six months before being marketed.

Ask for Carling's Ale—accept no other, because no other is quite so good.

THE LAST MEETING OF THE OLD BOARD.

The Board of Health Winds Up the Year's Affairs.

This Morning—Dr. Bingham, M. H. O. Presented His Annual Report—Two Communications.

The last meeting of the old Board of Health was held in the town buildings at 11 o'clock this morning, in the absence of the chairman, Mr. Eyres was asked to take the chair. The other members present were Messrs. G. Schneider, Dr. McNulty, Dr. Burnham, Dr. Bingham, M.H.O., and Chief Rossel, Sanitary Inspector.

Two communications were read and received.

Dr. Bingham, read his annual report, which was as follows:

To the Board of Health, Peterborough,—

Gentlemen,—To give you a detailed outline of the sanitary condition of the town and of the work done by this Board and by your officers during the past year would occupy too much space.

Throughout a portion of the year this board met weekly to discuss the sanitary conditions of the town, and in the early spring the chief and his men served papers on all householders instructing them to clean up, and afterwards a thorough inspection was made in order to see that the law laid down in the Health Act had been respected. The sanitary work must have had a salutary effect upon the health of the citizens.

Your sanitary inspector and health officer had constant employment in looking after infectious diseases, disinfecting houses and in adjusting to the best of our ability all complaints brought to our notice. It is only fair to add that we found the citizens at all times ready to assist in all sanitary matters to which their attention had been called. Fourteen deaths were reported during the year. This makes 14 1-2 per thousand [illegible] on the population at 12,000, and in mortuary lists this is considered a low rate of mortality. Many different diseases are given as the causes of the deaths which occurred. They are as follows: scarlet fever, heart disease, abcess, pneumonia, dyspepsia, puerpural fever, Bright's disease, cancer, old age, paralysis, inflammation of the brain, consumption, haemorrhage of the brain, abdominal tumor, bronchitis, goitre, accident, typhoid fever, drowning, apoplexy, ulcer of the stomach, whooping cough, peritonitis, appendicitis, and diptheria. During the year we had 77 cases of scarlet fever, and 12 deaths from that disease. Also during the year we had 58 cases of diphtheria and 6 deaths registered against that disease. These are called preventable diseases and the strict isolation of all infectious diseases by this board is doing much to prevent an epidemic outbreak of such diseases. It is encouraging to those who are engaged in sanitary work to know that the people generally are improving in sanitary knowledge and that they appreciate the fact that absolute cleanliness in all things is the surest road to good health. The water supply of the town is derived from two sources—river water and spring wells. Theoretical objections have been urged by both, but facts are more reliable than theories and throughout the year we have been unable to trace sickness in any part of the town either to the city water or the wells—except in one case, a family in the south part of the town was hardly ever free from sickness. We had the water tested and it was found unfit for use. The well was closed forthwith and now the family enjoys good health. But neither the well nor the river can be absolutely safe from contamination and we look forward to a time when the City of Peterborough will tap the neighbouring hills with artesian wells and will bring the crystal stream of life to their homes, to impart health and vigor to their families.

Yours respectfully,
J. BINGHAM,
Medical Health Officer.

Jan. 9th, 1904.

Dr. Burnham moved, seconded by Dr. McNulty that the Medical Health Officers' report be accepted as that of the Board and forwarded to Toronto.

The motion was carried, after which the Board adjourned.

PUBLIC LIBRARY ANNUAL REPORT.

Presented at the Meeting of Members Held Last Night.

Information with Regard to Affairs of the Library Presented in Reports—The Retiring Board of Director Re-elected.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Public Library Subscribers was held last night in the Library Rooms, the President, Dr. Burnham, in the chair. The reports showing the work accomplished during the past year were presented, and showed the library to be in splendid condition in all departments. The report of the Board of Directors was as follows:—

To the Members of the Peterborough Public Library:

Your Board of Management take pleasure in presenting the following statement of the affairs of the Public Library for the year 1903:

The great revival and progress of business which made the year 1902 a remarkable one in the town's history were continued and increased during the year just ended, for work of all kinds was never so plentiful, nor wages so high before; but the busiest of years are not the most favourable to libraries, and so the number of books issued and read was hardly as great as in some years not so prosperous. Notwithstanding this, your board has not failed to place in stock all the leading works as they appeared, and as will be seen by the detailed report below, 344 volumes have been added to the large number already on hand.

In past years some dissatisfaction was felt with the lighting arrangements and, to remedy this, your board has, at considerable expense, replaced the gas by 17 incandescent electric lights, and they feel satisfied that a great improvement has been effected.

Some months since, the library was visited and inspected by Dr. S. P. May, of the Education Department. The doctor is superintendent of all the public libraries in Ontario. He was met while here by several members of the board, with whom he discussed matters pertaining to the welfare of the library. After an examination of the rooms, etc., he expressed himself as highly pleased with all he saw, and said that the library compared very favourably with any other which he had visited. For many years your board carried on at a loss a class in machine drawing. They would not have cared for the loss, if the young men of the town had shown that they appreciated what was being done on their behalf; but year after year, the attendance and interest seem to decrease, and so your board have decided to dispense with the class for the future.

The following list shows the number of books added to each class, during the year, and also the numbers issued.

Class		No. Added.	No. Issued.

GERMANY RANGED AGAINST JAPAN.

Such Would be the Postion in the Event of Hostilities.

(Special to the Examiner.)

London, Jan. 12.—The Birmingham Post to-day asserts that in the event of hostilities between Russia and Japan there is some fear felt that Germany would be forced eventually to take a part in the conflict, naturally against Japan. The Post intimidates that England is preparing for eventualities. It says the Indian army is quietly preparing and that a considerable force could be embarked from Calcutta at forty-eight hours' notice.

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Peterborough II. Win Their Game at Lakefield—Interesting News of Canada's Winter Game.

PETERBOROUGH II START WINNING.

Took First T. V. L. Game in Lakefield by 10-1.

Game was Clean and Fast—Good Work by Winning Team—Features of the Game.

The Peterborough II Trent Valley Team has won its first championship game, and if the style and quality of hockey displayed by the winners in the game last night, is continued, the Peterboroughs should pretty nearly lead the League when the championship honours are being distributed.

The game last night, which was played at Lakefield, was the opening game, as far as the visiting team was concerned, and the showing made by the winners has filled their supporters with confidence in the team. The score last night was 10—1 in favour of the visiting team, and the game is said to have been the best exhibition of hockey ever seen in Lakefield. It was entirely free from rough play and the best of good feeling existed between the two teams. Mr. J. McIntyre of Keene, refereed the game with strict impartiality, and won the respect of every player on the ice, as well as the spectators. There was practically no rough play in the whole 60 minutes duration of the game, only two men being ruled off, and these were Lakefield players, for minor offences. There was no disposition on the part of either team to break the rules, and the game was one which it was a pleasure to witness.

The visitors played the fastest kind of hockey, their combinations being most effective, and although the home team was beaten they put up a good game and it was by no means a walk over for the winners. But the kind of hockey played by the winners last night would win games anywhere, and although of course the sympathies of the spectators were naturally with the home team, the playing of the visiting team was appreciated and none begrudged them the victory so cleanly won.

The team showed a marked improvement in form over that displayed in the Lindsay game, the passing being fast and the combination almost perfect. The forwards played well together, and when they got their combination rushes going a score was almost sure to be the result. Graham, Ford and Cameron played on the forward line, the rink being too narrow to allow of four forwards to work conveniently, Lee going back on the defence, and playing with McLean as cover point. The players showed the good effects of Capt. McPherson's coaching in practice, and he is to be congratulated on the game put up by his team.

The visitors led the way right from the start, the score at half time being 5—1, Ford and Graham scoring two goals and Cameron one. In the second half the visitors were shut out, while the visitors added five more. Lee was responsible for two goals, while McLean made a rush and scored one. Graham and Ford each adding one to those previously credited to them. It is impossible to particularize on the work of the winning team, every man played his position, and played it well, the team working as a unit. The home team put up a good game, but were not equal to the superior playing put up by the winners. They took their defeat like true sports, and after the game entertained the swimming team to an oyster supper.

Mr. J. McIntyre, who refereed the game so acceptably, expressed himself as being greatly pleased at the conduct of the players. The teams were:—

Peterborough.	Lakefield.
Goal.
Comstock	.....Quigley

McPherson	Meredith

THE GREAT GAME TO-MORROW NIGHT.

The Fast Belleville Bunch will Meet the Local Septette.

Great Exhibition of Hockey Expected—the Locals are in Good Shape and Will Put Up Good Game.

Perhaps no hockey game ever played in Peterborough has occasioned more interest than that which is being centred on the game to be played here to-morrow night, when the much-tooted Belleville septette will meet the Peterborough team, and the lovers of Canada's great winter game will have the privilege of witnessing a fast exhibition of the game. The Belleville team has been regarded as the fastest team on the front and Peterborough is recognized as being the most dangerous of Belleville's rivals. Consequently to-morrow night's game will be doubly interesting because of the keen rivalry existing between the two teams. Both are out to win the game, and the team which does win will have achieved no mean victory. Belleville's last year's team has been strengthened by the addition of "Reddy" McMillan, who last year was the star forward on the Cornwall senior O.H.A. team, the runners up for the O.H.A. championship. The fact that they defeated Port Hope by 8—2 is an indication of their ability.

The new Peterborough team will be seen for the first time in a championship game at home, and, those who have been following the practices are confident of the ability of the home team to put up a winning game.

The team will be constituted as follows:—Goal, Mercer; point, Howell; cover point, Cavanah; rover, H. Armstrong; centre, Whitcroft; right wing, Roy Armstrong; left wing, Chris. Graham.

There are one or two practices indulged in by the spectators which the management wish to remedy, after the game no spectator will be allowed to cross the ice and out of the door admitting to the ice, but all must leave the rink by the galleries. The management also ask the spectators to pass out immediately after the game, not stopping inside the door and blocking the exit, as is frequently done.

Ample provision will be made for all spectators at the game to-morrow night, which will commence at 8.15 sharp.

"Chaucer" Elliott, of Kingston, who refereed the Picton-Peterborough game with so much satisfaction will act in a similar capacity to-morrow night.

HOCKEY.

The Peterborough Junior O.H.A. team went to Belleville to-day on the 2.05 train to play the Junior team of that city. The team will be constituted as follows:

Goal, VanEvery.
Point, Moore.
Cover point, Pascal.
Forwards, Long, Kennedy, Hall and McFarlane.

The boys will make a good attempt to wipe out their defeat of last Wednesday.

The records of games and standing of teams in District 2, O.H.A., Intermediate and Junior Series, are as follows:

District No. 2, Intermediate.
Picton won from Peterborough, 6—3.
Belleville won from Port Hope, 8—2.
Belleville plays at Peterborough on Wednesday, Jan. 13th.
Picton plays at Port Hope on Jan. 13th.

District No. 2, Junior.
Cobourg won from Peterborough, 7—3.
Peterborough plays at Belleville, Jan. 12th.
Trent Valley League, District 4.
T.A.S. defeated Lakefield.
T.A.S. defeated Keene.
Peterborough defeated Lakefield.

The Belleville team will run a special train to Peterborough to-morrow night to see the game.

• • • •

The Belleville Intelligencer of Monday night says: The hockey match to-morrow night between the Belleville juniors and the Peterborough juniors promises to be a very fast one. Our youngsters are a very fast and clever aggregation and will make Peterborough step along at a fast gait to beat them. No doubt there will be a large crowd in attendance to witness the first game in the junior series of the O.H.A.

• • • •

There will be some fast hockey in No. 2 Group in the Trent Valley League, which is composed of Trenton, Cobourg, Brighton and Colborne. The race for the championship of that district will be a great one and considerable interest will be centred in it. Colborne is scheduled to meet Brighton at that place on Friday, and both clubs have asked Secretary E. S. Clarry for a competent referee. Mr. Clarry has appointed Mr. Jas. T. McCabe of town.

• • • •

The executive of the Trent Valley League was to have met on Friday night of this week, but owing to the fact that several matches are being played on that date the meeting has been changed to Thursday evening. The Lakefield protest against the T. A. S. game will come up for discussion.

• • • •

One of the most interesting games in the Trent Valley League League Series will take place on January 22nd, when the T.A.S. and Peterborough will clash. The secretary of the League will appoint a referee from an outside town.

• • • •

On Friday night the Lakefields play the Peterborough II here.

• • • •

Napanee plays Belleville in the Trent Valley League Friday night.

• • • •

Trenton plays at Cobourg in the Trent Valley League Friday night.

• • • •

Mr. Percy Shorey, son of Rev. Mr. Shorey, formerly of Peterborough, is playing with the Trent Valley team in Picton this winter.

• • • •

Secretary E. S. Clarry wishes referees and clubs generally to note the fact that there shall be no tie matches, except in districts where there are only two clubs. In districts composed of more than two clubs referees will see that the games are played to a finish. Reference to the O.H.A. rules will make this point clearer.

• • • •

The IIIForm Hockey team hereby challenge any other Form team to a game of hockey to be played on the Brock street rink at the earlie' date possible. A. Quinlan, Captain.

• • • •

At Napanee yesterday the first game in the T.V.L. series was played between that place and Deseronto, resulting in the home team winning by a score of 8 goals to 2.

• • • •

The Trent Valley League game between Belleville and Picton, played at Picton last night, resulted in Belleville winning by a score of 8 to 2.

HIGHLAND LEGENDS

WHERE WITCHES AND FAIRIES ONCE HELD HAPPY HUNTING GROUNDS.

Fascinating Chapter in the History of the Highlands of Scotland—A Tailor's Cunning Device—Little Girl Surprised Her Father by Sinking Ships With a Glance—A Shepherd's Experiment—A Popular Legend.

One of the most fascinating chapters in the history of the Highlands of Scotland is that which treats of witchcraft and second sight. The Highlands were the happy hunting grounds of witches and fairies, who differed in many respects from their unsavory sisters of the plains. There was little of the repulsive about them, save, perhaps, in the physical sense, for they were usually poor old women to whom nature had been unkind; "De'il has me, but the Lord was fair beside himsel' gin he gi'ed the poo'er o' evil intil the hands of sic an ill-faured (ill-favored) besom!" was frequently the contemptuous remark of the scoffer. They had no midnight meetings or dances with the devil, "dead men's fingers" were excluded from their stock-in-trade, and it is doubtful if there was even a broomstick in the possession of all the unholy sisterhood. They were mostly blackmailers.

Witches' Remarkable Powers.

Just as the Highland caterans levied toll on the Sassenach cattle-owners for the immunity of their stock, so, in most cases, the local witch demanded, and was generally paid, a fixed sum annually, in consideration of which she agreed to refrain from exerting her evil powers on her clients' cattle beasts. Supernatural gifts had only to be claimed to be acknowledged, and many of the unhappy women believed in their professed power. Their emoluments were not large, and some idea of the strenuous competition that latterly prevailed in the profession may be gathered from the fact that a pound of tobacco could accomplish great things in the way of healing disease in a man or beast. Many remarkable powers were ascribed to the witches. It was averred and believed that they could take the milk from their neighbor's cattle (generally by milking the iron crook on which the kettle was hung), and they could bring the herrings to the coast, and so insure the success of their fishermen clients, and, that they could raise storms and sink ships, drowning those who had given them offence. In fact, there was little the witch could not do when she had a mind. As Burns says in "Tam o' Shanter:"

"For mony a beast to dead she shot,
And perished mony a bonnie boat,
And shook baith meikle corn and bear,
And kept the countryside in fear."

They had a pretty way, too, of flying through the air with incredible swiftness to London or Dublin, where they took possession of wine cellars and drank wine till morning. Curiously enough, they never thought of flying across the Irish Sea so long as they could sail across in an eggshell or a sieve. Then for a purely nominal charge they could waste an enemy with disease by the simple process of melting a waxen image over the fire, and, when the spirit moved them, they were wont to turn themselves into seagulls, cats, hares, mice, black sheep, rats, ravens, whales, and occasionally, foaming breakers. (It was sometimes in the disguise of a hare that they deprived cows of their milk).

Tailor Too Sharp.

To this day tales of the uncanny doings of the witches are told with bated breath round the peat fires of many a lone Highland croft, and one or two of these may be worth retelling. One night a Lewis tailor discovered the meeting place of a number of witches, among whom he recognized his own wife. They disappeared in creels, and returned in the morning, each with her creel full of herrings. The tailor impressed on his wife the advantages of co-operation, and his arguments being considered good he was allowed to accompany the band on their next expedition. Twenty of the witches set out to sea in a creel, and the tailor's wife was detailed to remain on shore, and pay out a long line of worsted attached to the witches' peculiar craft. The tailor, however, prevailed on his wife to hand over her duties to him and join her companions; and when the wily man had paid out what he deemed a sufficiency of line he cut it, and the witches were all drowned. On the death of his wife, the tailor occasionally dabbled in the black art. He had observed an old woman step into a creel, mutter an incantation, and disappear through the hole in the roof that formed the chimney, returning later with a basketful of herrings. In endeavoring to emulate this feat the tailor unfortunately forgot part of the incantation, and, consequently, instead of skipping lightly up the chimney he came bump with his head against the rafters. "Where in the name of God are you taking me?" cried he, when on the mention of the Deity the creel dropped to the floor with such violence that the tailor broke both his legs. There is no record that he continued his researches into the unknown.

A shepherd and his little daughter were walking on the hills of Mull, in view of the shipping in the Sound. "Father," said the little girl, "would you like to see me sink all those ships?" "You are surely joking, my girl," said the startled shepherd, "how could you do it?" The girl stooped down and looked through her legs backwards at the vessels, whereupon they all whirled round and sank beneath the waves. The horrified father ascertained that both his wife and daughter were witches, and with the assistance of the neighbors he burned the pair of them.

A Popular Legend.

The following used to be a popular tale in the Western Highlands: A shepherd was sitting at his lonely fireside when a number of cats entered the room, and sitting round the fire proceeded to make themselves comfortable. After a bit one of the cats rushed to the door, and, putting on a black cap, cried, "Hurrah for London!" and disappeared with a whisk of its tail. The others proceeded to follow suit, but ere the last could get off the shepherd seized its cap, and shouting "Hurrah for London!" was in a trice hurtled through the air to that identical city. There he got drunk in a wine cellar, where he was found in the morning by the wine merchant, who hauled him before the Lord Mayor. The unfortunate man was now regretting having left his comfortable home—all the more when the Lord Mayor ordered him to be hung. While awaiting his doom with the rope round his neck on the gallows, he made this last request that he should be allowed to die with the black cap—his mother's last gift to him, so he said—on his head. No sooner had he donned the cap than with "Hurrah for Skye!" shepherd and gallows and all whirled out of sight, and in less than no time he was back in Skye, where he made of the gallows a boat, which is to be seen in Skye to this day! Various districts claim the venturesome shepherd as their own, but for his method of locomotion it is clear that he must have been a Skye man!

Many of the stories of witches are obvious exaggerations of commonplace occurrences. In these enlightened days one would never dream of connecting the unusual antics of a frisky hare or an innocent tom cat with some misadventure of everyday life, but the Highlander of a bygone day was not so blind. A mist over the sea swirled into fantastic shapes by an eddying wind was, without doubt, a witch endeavoring to destroy a ship—indeed, there was little in the heavens above, or on the earth beneath that the Highlander could not ascribe to witches. Few people take such notions now, but there are still a few of the "auld bodies" who tell such "auld farrant" tales as are here set down as if they believed in them.—The London Globe.

A BOLD HOAX.

Daring Forgery That Figured in the Famous Tichborne Case.

It is rather a striking fact that the greatest deception of the last century brought about one of the most daring forgeries. While the Tichborne case was dragging its weary length the court was staggered one morning by the receipt of a letter purporting to be written by Sir Algernon West at the direction of Mr. Gladstone, his chief, to Lord Chief Justice Bovill. The letter set forth that the slow progress of the trial was a public scandal and that we could not fail to become a by-word to all civilized nations. Mr. Gladstone, the letter ran on, added: "He is aware that you are not in any sense responsible for a state of things which is a blot upon our civil jurisprudence, but he thinks an early expression of your and perhaps his opinion, from the high position you occupy, would tend to remedy a state of things which threatens to result in a virtual denial of justice."

Ballantine used to say of Bovill, "With a little more experience Bovill would be the worst judge of the bench." He believed the letter to be genuine and summoned his brother judges to advise him how to act in such an unprecedented interference with the administration of justice. Luckily one of his junior contemporaries had the wisdom to suggest that the best course was to see if the letter were really genuine before considering the grave constitutional question involved. Thereupon they sent down to Sir Algernon. He flew to Westminster. Of course, the thing was a monstrous forgery, and he was in time to prevent the precipitating of the thunderbolt that would inevitably have left the bench had Bovill not been wisely counseled. The author was never discovered, nor did they ascertain how he managed to get hold of official treasury note paper for the purpose.—St. James Gazette.

A Protest From Dickens' Son.

We have received, says The London Daily Chronicle, a letter written by Mr. Alfred Tennyson Dickens, who has lived in Melbourne for many years. As the eldest surviving son of Charles Dickens he strongly protests against a paragraph copied into the Commonwealth papers from some London source alleging that "Dickens, who never liked Thackeray, told a friend he could see nothing to admire in one of Thackeray's novels that was being serially published at the time." Mr. A. T. Dickens, "with every possible confidence," gives this statement a most emphatic contradiction. He recalls the fact that his father was the chief mourner at Thackeray's funeral in Kensal Green, and also wrote a biographical sketch of Thackeray in The Cornhill of January, 1864, which "did full justice to the genius and merits of the author of 'Vanity Fair' and 'Pendennis.'" Mr. Dickens adds that many a time he has heard his father speak in the most glowing terms of Thackeray's wonderful versatility. "More than this, I can truthfully say that I never heard him make use of any unkind or indiscreet expression in regard to any author or authoress of his time."

Tortured with Pain.

Too Weak to Work.

ULCERS, BOILS AND PIMPLES ALL OVER HER BODY

Such was the condition of Mrs. Samuel Deits, Zurich, Ont.

She happily found relief from her terrible suffering by using

Burdock Blood Bitters.

A remedy without a rival for the cure of all diseases and troubles arising from bad blood. A record extending over a quarter of a century and thousands of testimonials will prove this. Mrs. Deits writes: "Too weak to work, tortured with the pain of ulcers, boils and pimples all over my body, especially on my face. I had almost made up my mind to give up trying to have them cured. I was ashamed to have any person come to see me, my face was in such a terrible state. I tried everything I could think of but got worse and worse. I was then led to try Burdock Blood Bitters and was surprised at the wonderful change the first bottle made. Altogether I took seven bottles and am now completely cured and am in perfect health again. I feel that B.B.B. saved my life."

A FAMOUS PERFUME.

Delicious Attar of Roses Is Chiefly Made in Bulgaria.

The far famed otto (or attar) of roses is chiefly made in Bulgaria. Kasanlik is the center of the rose growing country. Red roses only are used in making the perfume, but white roses, which grow more freely, form the hedges of the fields.

The trees, which grow to a great height, are separated by paths nine feet in width to allow the oxen and plow to pass. The perfume is obtained not only from the petals, but also from the stalks and leaves. These give a peculiar scent, which adds greatly to the delicacy of the perfume of the petals.

October, April and June are the months for planting branches of the old trees. Weeding, pruning and digging are necessary for three years, when they are full grown and repay the labor spent upon them by bearing for twenty years.

The discovery of the delicious attar was quite an accident and took place three centuries ago. The Persian Princess Nour Djihan was strolling through the splendid galleries of her palace with her betrothed (the Mongolian Prince Djihangyr) and noticed in the rosewater basins about the passages an ugly, yellowish oil floating on the surface. Orders were instantly given to remove the unsightly fluid, when it was discovered the perfume was also removed. Thus the virtue of the essential oil was found out, which is still called in Persia "Attar Djihan."

Culture and Riches.

If one-tenth as much attention were devoted to the fools among the middle and working classes as is devoted to the fool sons of the rich, we should be in danger of believing with Carlyle that the people are "mostly fools." It is true that the culture of the suddenly rich is cruder and narrower than the culture of those who have had generations of wealth and leisure, but culture is relative. The culture of the most cultured classes in the old world is the result of large wealth possessed for generations. Culture is a matter of growth, but it never grows in poverty. The cheapness of the culture of the very rich in this country as compared with that of the aristocracy of old countries is simply the difference between youth and age, a difference of experience. There is a comparative cheapness in the culture, bearing and manners of the people of the west as compared with those of the east, and for the same reason. The aristocracy of the south and of New England have a refinement quite unlike that of the newly made rich in New York and Chicago and the west. They have been longer in the making.

Shaving the Bridegroom.

The shaving of the bridegroom on his wedding day is a Bulgarian custom which, handed down from pre-Christian days, is still observed with due formality, especially in country districts. While the barber is at his task a dancing crowd of young folks surrounds him and the bridegroom. As the latter's hair is cut the snippings are carefully collected by some of the girls for preservation in one of the bride's chests. The barber, when his work is done, receives a small white linen cloth as a present and also a trifling sum of money from each person there. Then the bridegroom kisses the hands of the girls, washes his face and dons his wedding dress, which must first be carefully weighed three times by one of the boys.

Highland Makeshifts.

A few years ago accommodations in the highlands of Scotland were very primitive. It is related that the young Duchess of Gordon, on inquiring how the late duchess managed to entertain so much company at Kinrara, where there seemed no room, was told by the butler that for weeks at a time he had slept on the top of the kitchen dresser. A niece and two other young ladies were known to have slept in the duchess' bedroom, which probably was not large, for they were sent out to wash in the neighboring brook. Miss Macdonell of Glengarry, who told this, said also that there was a waterfall near Ochtertyre which the late Sir William Murray and his brothers used as their shower bath.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER.

OVER 5,000 LANGUAGES.

Interesting Informing Studies of Mr. J. Collier, of London.

Continuing in Knowledge (London) his informing studies in the struggle for existence in sociology, Mr. J. Collier says: "It is estimated that over 5,000 distinct languages are spoken among men. A calculating prodigy would be wanted to compute with exactness how many separate dialects are in use. Sixty years ago it was reckoned that sixty different vocabularies were to be found in Brazil, but the actual number must be far greater, for in much smaller Mexico the Nahua language has broken up into 700 dialects. There are hundreds in Borneo. In Australia there is no classifying in the complexities. And, generally the number of dialects is in inverse proportion to the intellectual culture of the population. Assume that only fifty dialects on an average belong to every language, and we have the colossal total of a quarter of a million linguistic varieties. In this Babel the battle is incessant. Could we examine the habitat of a language or a dialect as we watch the advancing or receding boundaries of a biological species, we should perceive its frontiers to be in similar continual movement, as now one and now the other gained the victory. All manner of inflections—numbers and tenses, cases and moods—likewise strive with one another for predominance. Modes of utterance dictated by differently modified laryngeal organs struggle for superiority. Unlike manners of arranging the written words are found to be mutually incompatible, and several succumb, while one survives here and another there. The visible transcripts of sounds gather into alphabets, and the cuneiform, ideogrammatic, syllabic and literal contend on bloodless battlefields, where most of them perish or else live on in isolated environments. What are the laws of the conflict among all these groups? Canon Isaac Taylor affirms that 'plainly the laws which regulate the survival of language do not conform to the same conditions as those which regulate the survival of race.' If such were the case, either set of law, or both sets, would be convicted of unsoundness or inadequacy. The laws of evolution are universal, or they are no true laws. The laws of survival are identical in all provinces of sociology. They are the same as those which govern the survival of vegetal and animal species."

Labor Market in England.

The condition of the labor market in London, according to The Star of that city, is described by a Salvation Army officer who recently applied in person to a few of the advertisements in the daily papers. An advertisement for a carpenter asked that applications should be made at 9 a.m. At half-past 8 85 workmen were in waiting, and by 9 the number had increased to 110. The Electric Tram Company wanted men for road work, and when one of the applicants arrived at 8.30 there were over 300 men waiting. Thirty, who had shovels of their own, were engaged. For a job of night-watchman, at 24s. a week, there were over 200 applicants. For the situation of a stoker to attend to an underground boiler and fires for a week of 77 working hours at 25s., there were 60 applicants. One man replied to an advertisement for a gardener, the wages being 22s. a week. The man determined to get it, if possible, and arrived at the place at 7 a.m., when he saw a crowd of 350 there before him. The saddest sight was the rush for a warehouse porter's job at a guinea a week. There were no fewer than 150 men of all ages, from 20 to 50, and all respectably dressed, waiting.

Brain Controls Every Muscle.

Injury to Brain or Nerves, Deficiency of Nerve Force, Mean Paralysis and Helplessness.

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Every muscle of the body controlled by the will is connected with the brain, and every muscular action is originated by nervous force, generated in the brain and transmitted along the nerves to the muscles.

When the nerves are injured or diseased, when there is a deficiency in the supply of nervous energy, paralysis, locomotor ataxia or some form of helplessness results because the brain no longer has control of the muscles.

It may be weak heart action, inability to digest food, failure of the lungs to purify the blood or impaired action of any of the vital organs, but the cause of trouble is with the nerves.

The restorative action of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is soon felt throughout the entire system, because it restores the vigor and vitality of the nerves—fills them with new nerve force, the vital power of the body; weakness, nervousness, irritability, sleeplessness and low spirits disappear and new energy and strength take their place.

Mr. John Rousel, school teacher, living at 596 George street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—

"As a remedy for nervousness and nervous dizzy headaches, I consider Dr. Chase's Nerve Food excellent. I was troubled a great deal with headache, and my system was pretty well run down, but the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has made a radical change in my condition. My nerves have become strong and healthy, the headaches have entirely disappeared, and I believe that the credit is entirely due to this preparation."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 7

What the World Said

By ALLAN P. AMES

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

"In this matter," said Easton, "there are three opinions to consider."

"One is enough for me," said the girl.

"Your own, I suppose."

"Of course. I presume one of the others is yours. Whose is the third?"

Easton gave a long, sweeping stroke that sent the canoe darting far through the waters and laid the dripping paddle across the gunwale. "The third," he replied, "is what the world says."

"And who cares for that?" spoke the girl lazily from her cushions near the bow.

"Public opinion is something none of us can afford to ignore," said the youth gravely.

"But this is not a public matter. The extent of my liking for you is something just between ourselves."

"Our world tonight, Anne, is not the world of last winter. It's smaller—just the little colony at this end of the lake, in fact. That's the way we men feel, at any rate. We come here to get away from the world of work, and we want to keep wholly within this little pleasant sphere of our own. Now, you can't say that nobody about here has noticed my devotion. If you should inquire I'll bet you'd find that most of your friends can enumerate the times that I've proposed in the past month. Oh, they know all about us, and they're intensely concerned. You can't have forgotten what an active interest you and I took in your sister's affair."

"We were only rude children then."

"Summer days like these make children of us all. I've been growing younger ever since I knew you. Now, I have a childlike faith in the world's good judgment. Can't you let it settle this question for us?"

"Do you value its opinion above mine?" asked the girl, with a smile he might have seen had the moon been larger.

"Oh, no; only, you see, your opinion in a measure is neutralized by mine. Here's a disinterested third party. Why not submit the question to him? I am convinced that you should marry me. You say you shouldn't. The rest of mankind are comparatively unimportant, but let's leave it to them. Isn't that fair?"

"Would you have them vote it at next election?"

"No, no. I am in earnest, Anne. If all our friends thought as I do, wouldn't it make any difference to you?"

"But I don't know what they think. I've never asked them. Have you?"

"Certainly not," answered Easton indignantly. "But I know a way of learning—to a certain extent."

"What's that?"

"Listening."

"At keyholes and open windows, I suppose."

"No, I don't feel quite young enough for that. Besides, it isn't necessary. See here."

Easton left his perch on the stern, worked his way to the center of the canoe and picked up a small megaphone. "Put the little end to your ear," he said, handing it to his companion. "Here's another just like it for me."

"Why, Joseph Easton! I'm ashamed of you! Do you often do things like this?"

"Never did it before. This is a very exceptional case."

"You're sure to hear something about yourself you won't like."

"No danger," he replied cheerfully as he raised the funnel to his ear. "Don't they say all the world loves a fellow in my condition?"

Then, while the girl sat watching him, with her own megaphone untouched in her lap, he listened first in one quarter, then in another. Sound travels surprisingly far at night on a calm body of water. To the unaided ear nothing was audible but the chirping of insects upon the shore and the lapping of ripples along the keel. Nevertheless at the fourth trial Easton's attitude betokened that his megaphone had intercepted some sounds more intelligible.

"Pity you're missing this," he chuckled presently. "Better follow me."

"Can you really hear somebody talking about me?" asked Anne, interested in spite of herself.

"Seems to be a couple of girls discussing you," said Easton. "And very nicely too. Excellent sense those people have. Hush—

"Now they've switched off on me," he added, after a pause.

Anne could restrain herself no longer. "It isn't so wrong for me to listen when they are speaking of you," she said finally. The next moment two megaphones were leveled into the darkness.

This is what came through them:

"Roving fancy, did you say? Indeed he had. I never saw a man change as he has since last summer. He showed a preference for Anne then, but he was willing to glance at the rest of us occasionally. But now—well, it's a case, all right."

Easton turned triumphantly to see what effect this had upon his companion. To all appearances she was listening shamelessly, intent to catch every word. When he returned to his megaphone another feminine voice was speaking:

"Least doubt about it. But I shall always have one exquisite joke on Anne and Joe if they marry, as everybody thinks they will. As long as he remains truthful the poor fellow never can tell her that she's the first girl he ever kissed."

"Bella! I'm shocked! What right have you to say that?"

"The best right in the world. The first girl he ever kissed is me"—

"Splash! went Anne's megaphone into the water. The youth whirled about to find himself confronted by a pair of quivering shoulders and the back of a head that was a whole encyclopedia of outraged feeling. The megaphone bobbed against the side unnoticed.

"Anne, dear," he cried, "don't mind those busybodies. It's only Bella Mainard. You can't care what she says."

"Oh, I don't; I don't!" came back in smothered tones. Then—"Spiteful thing! She wanted you herself. I always knew she did!"

"Wanted me?" echoed the youth. "Wanted?"—slowly realising the import of the past tense. At the imminent risk of capsizing the frail craft, he crawled forward, placed a hand on each shoulder and gently turned her face toward him.

"Anne," he said, "you do care!"

For answer the face was hidden against the front of his coat.

"If you had only listened longer," observed Eaton, when conversation again became an adequate mode of expression, "you might have heard the Mainard girl tell when it was I kissed her."

"I don't want to know," said Anne. "Your past is your own. Your present is mine."

"And my future," he added fervently. "But I don't mind in the least telling you how this happened. It was at a children's party. I was six and she was nine, I think."

The Original of Major Pendennis.

Miss Horace Smith once told me a story. It was long and complicated, but she assured me she had told it to my father, the late W. M. Thackeray, just before he wrote "Pendennis," and that it had partly suggested the opening chapters. It concerned a family living in Brighton, somewhere near Kemp Town. There was a somewhat autocratic father and a romantic young son who had lost his heart to the housemaid and determined to marry her. The father made the young man give his word of honor that he would not marry clandestinely and then, having dismissed him, rang for the butler. To the butler this Major Pendennis said, "Morgan," or whatever his name was, "I wish you to retire from my service, but I will give you £200 in bank notes if you will marry the housemaid before 12 o'clock tomorrow." The butler said, "Certainly, sir," and the young man next morning was told of the event which had occurred. As far as I remember, a melancholy and sensational event immediately followed, for the poor young fellow was so overwhelmed that he rushed out and distractedly blew his brains out on the downs behind the house, and the butler meanwhile, having changed his £200, sent a message to say that he had omitted to mention that he had a wife already and that this would doubtless invalidate the ceremony he had just gone through with the housemaid.—Mrs. Richmond Ritchie in Cornhill Magazine.

Beating the Expressman.

They haggled for ten minutes over the cost of moving. The woman claimed that the job was worth only $2, including a tip. The expressman insisted upon getting $2.25. At last the woman won out.

"All right," said the man, "if you won't pay any more you won't." So he piled the trunks, the books and the bookcases into the wagon and drove away.

The woman was jubilant. She told everybody in the house she was leaving about how she had at last got the best of that autocrat, the New York expressman, and when she got to the house of the friend with whom she was going to live boasts of her achievement still trembled on her tongue.

"What do you think?" she began triumphantly.

"Excuse me a minute," said her friend. "Before you go on I want to tell you about that expressman. He got your things here without a scratch. He was so very nice and careful that I gave him a quarter. He asked for it. He said you expected me to give it to him; that you would have given it yourself only you were short of change and couldn't spare it. I hope it was all right. Now, go ahead and tell your story."

"I don't think I have one to tell," said the woman weakly. "You have spoiled the point."—New York Press.

Spelled by Success.

Julius Chambers related in the Reader how in 1887, while he was editing a paper in Paris, he conceived the idea of putting on his editorial staff an old beggar woman who had two wooden legs and who was a well known sight on the boulevard. So he paid her a regular salary and had brilliant interviews written with leading men and women of Paris, which he published over the signature "The Little Old Woman on Two Sticks." He says: "It soon became a matter of pride among English and Americans to know the wretched creature who had become so famous. Money was showered upon her by American and English visitors who had not fathomed the humor of the situation and veritably accepted the inference that the beggar was on speaking acquaintance with all the notables of Paris. The episode finally developed into a farce because the old woman's vanity was roused by the attention notoriety brought her. She could not read English, knew nothing about the contents of the articles and actually flattered herself into the belief that she possessed physical attraction for the generous hearted men who gave her alms or patted her tenderly on the shoulder. Like many another useful member of society, she was spoiled by success and one day struck for higher wages."

Their Only Trouble.

James Abbott MacNeill Whistler was a man who lived to see the full development of the myth about himself. His name is linked with endless good stories, many of them, of course, apocryphal, but nearly all worth the telling. Here is one of them:

When the artist was requested to paint a portrait of Carlyle for one of the leading cities in Scotland a deputation of citizens called to confer with him with regard to the work. They first asked him how much he wanted for it. "A thousand guineas," he replied promptly. "That's a braw price, Mr. Whistler," said the spokesman, with great earnestness, "a braw price for a moodern pectur. For the coolors in your moodern pectures doon't keep the coolors like your ancient pectur, mon. The coolors in your modern pectur's fade—they fade, mon, they fade." Whistler looked at the group for a moment, then he shook his head sadly and replied: "No, my dear sir, you are mistaken; the colors in the modern pictures don't fade, and therein lies their damnation."

London Chronicle's New Editor.

Robert Donald, the new editor of The London Daily Chronicle, is another of the Scotsmen who have made their mark in Fleet street. Born forty-two years ago, he early entered journalism, and gradually worked his way south, halting at Edinburgh—where he was a reporter on the same paper as Mr. William Archer, the dramatic critic—and at Northampton. Apart from his extensive London experience, he has also done journalistic work in Paris and New York. He will be no stranger in The Daily Chronicle office, as some years ago he acted as news editor of that journal. Mr. Donald is tall, with flowing black hair and luxuriant moustache, and is a tireless worker. Probably he knows more of the Municipal Government of London than any man not a councillor, as a glance at "The London Manual," of which he is editor, will amply bear out.

More Suddenness.

"Something bothering you, Miss Weaver?"

"Why, yes, Mr. Ragmore. It's only a trifle, of course, but our lives are made up of trifles, you know. Mamma and Aunt Miriam have been giving me such a lot of nice linen lately, and I was just wondering how I would have it marked."

"Why not with your name?"

"Yes, of course. B-but if I wanted to change it?"

"But you don't want to change it, do you?"

"Oh, Mr. Ragmore, this is so sudden!"

WHY THE JUROR HELD OUT.

The Secret That Was Imparted to an English Chief Justice.

The most remarkable case of a jury "standing out" against what seemed irrefutable testimony, and all through the resolution of one man, occurred before Chief Justice Dyer many years ago. He presided at a murder trial in which everything went against the prisoner, who on his part could only say that on his going to work in the morning he had found the murdered man dying and tried to help him, whereby he had become covered with blood, but when the man presently died he had come away and said nothing about it because he was known to have had a quarrel with the deceased and feared he might get into trouble. The hayfork with which the man had been murdered had the prisoner's name on it. In other respects his guilt appeared to be clearly established, and the chief justice was convinced of it, but the jury returned a verdict of "Not guilty."

This was Chief Justice Dyer's case, and he put some very searching questions to the high sheriff. The cause of the acquittal, said the official, was undoubtedly the foreman, a farmer of excellent character, esteemed by all his neighbors and very unlikely to be obstinate or vexatious. "Then," said the judge, "I must see this foreman, for an explanation of the matter I will have." The foreman came, and after extracting from His Lordship a promise of secrecy proved at once that the prisoner had been rightly acquitted, "for," he said, "it was I myself who killed the man."

It had been no murder, for the other had attacked him with the hayfork, and—as he showed—severely injured him, but in the struggle to get possession of the weapon he had the misfortune to give the man a fatal wound. He had no fears as to his being found guilty of murder; but, the assizes being just over, his farm and affairs would have been ruined by a confession, through lying in jail so long, so he suffered matters to take their course. He was horrified to find one of his own servants accused of the murder. He supported his wife and children while in jail, managed to be placed on the jury and elected foreman. He added that if he had failed in this he would certainly have confessed to his own share in the business, and the judge believed him.

Every year for fifteen years the judge made inquiries as to the foreman's existence, and at last, happening to survive him, he considered himself free to tell the story.—London News.

The Start

In married life is generally made on an equal footing of health in man and wife. But how soon, in many cases, the wife loses the advantage and fades in face and falls in flesh, while her husband grows even more rugged and robust.

There is one chief cause for this wifely failure and that is, the failure of the womanly health. When there is irregularity or an unhealthy drain, inflammation, ulceration or female weakness, the general health is soon impaired.

"A little over a year ago I wrote to you for advice," says Mrs. Elizabeth J. Fisher, of Diana, W. Va. "You advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which I did, and with the most happy result. I was troubled with female weakness and bearing-down pains. Had a very bad pain nearly all the time in my left side, nervousness and headache. Was so weak I could hardly walk across my room. Could not sit up only just a little while at a time. My husband got me some of Dr. Pierce's medicine and I began its use. Before I had taken two bottles I was able to help do my work. I used three bottles in all and it cured me. Doan's Kidney Pills

FINALLY MADE A COMPLETE CURE.

Mr. Jacob Jamieson, Jamieson Bros., the well-known Contractors and Builders, Welland, Ont., tells of how he was cured: "For fourteen years I was afflicted with kidney trouble which increased in severity the last five years. My most serious attack was four years ago, when I was completely incapacitated. I had terrible pains across my back, floating specks before my eyes and was in almost constant torment. I could not sit or stand with ease and was a wreck in health, having no appetite and lost greatly in flesh. I had taken medicine from five different doctors and also numerous other preparations to no purpose. I finally began to take Doan's Kidney Pills and before I had taken five boxes the trouble left me and I now feel better than I have for twenty years. Those who know me know how I was afflicted and say it is almost impossible to believe that I have been cured, yet they know it is so. I have passed the meridian of life but I feel that I have taken on the rosy hue of boyhood."

PREDICT A YEAR OF GREAT CALAMITY.

French Astrologers Agree That the Year 1904 Will see Many Horrors.

The Parisian papers are commenting gravely on the unanimity of the astrologers, magicians, clairvoyants, and trance mediums in predicting a year of horrors for 1904.

A leading astrologer named Jacobs sizes up the situation as follows, and the others agree more or less as to details:

"Here is the horoscope for 1904, made at the moment the sun entered the sign of Capricorn. It indicates a year of great immorality in London. The Viceroy of India abdicates. The United States have great quarrels with Russia and Germany. Roosevelt falls sick, and a conspiracy is hatched against him. Serious financial disaters in America.

"The Emperor of Japan has grave accident.

"An attempt on the life of the Emperor of China.

"Volcanic shocks in Constantnople, Chili, and the Philippines.

"A fear of unhealthy literature and unlimited materialism.

"The French Cabinet falls between April 7 and 19.

"A panic in a music hall, grave accidents and popular disturbances in Russia. An attempt to poison the Czar. Serious dissension between Russia and Austria.

"England loses prestige. The campaign in Thibet falls through.

"Tremendous failures in Calcutta and the Transvaal.

"Anarchist troubles in Spain; the Government threatened.

"In China women are massacred. Everywhere crimes of passion, mysterious deaths and strange phenomena.

"Nineteen hundred and four is an anagram of 1409, the date of the birth of Joan of Arc. This year a wonderful child will be born with a high destiny, showing its power in 1924, an anagram of 1429, the date of the apogree of Joan of Arc."

Stomach Troubles.

A disordered stomach may cause no end of trouble. When the stomach fails to perform its functions the bowels become deranged, the liver and kidneys congested, causing numerous diseases, the most fatal of which are painless and therefore the more to be dreaded. The important thing is to restore the stomach and liver to a healthy condition, and for this purpose no better preparation can be used than Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by all druggists.

QUOTATIONS ON THE WALL STREET MARKET.

The Fluctuations of the Leading Stocks

Messrs. McMillan & Maguire furnish us with the following:

London, Jan. 12.—Japanese Legation is unable to give out the text of Russian reply as it has been enjoined to keep it secret for present. Meanwhile Japanese Legation and other official quarters, the gravest view of situation is held.

New York, Jan. 12. — President Ramsay, of Wabash railroad says:—"I have no comment to make on various reports which credit the Wabash with plans to secure another tidewater terminal in addition to Baltimore. Earnings of the Company during past calendar year have been satisfactory. During second half our fiscal year just commencing, we expect a considerable decrease in our gross earnings. In net, however, we shall about hold our own."

Liverpool, Jan. 12.—Wheat closed quiet, 3-6 higher, corn quiet, unchanged to 1-8 up.

London, Jan. 12.—Americans closed steady. Paris closed heavy.

Flash—We would advise taking some May oats.

New York, Jan. 12.—Wheat a little quieter and prices have had reaction followed by corn and oats on profit taking, but offerings are light.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—A prominent Minneapolis firm who does more or less business for Armour in that market is reported to have bought about 1,000,000 bushels. A prominent New York stock exchange house says their Washington correspondent reports that the Japan consul says war is inevitable.

New York, Jan. 12. — Market steadied in first hour, but did not seem to have much spirit to it, while bear traders and London were testing its abilities to make stock rather severely. There was good protection in places. Clark Dodge and Co. were big buyers of Penna. early. They took something like 10,000,000 shares. The street was full of stories about Alton, most of them old yarns warmed up. There is some reason to think that the western crowd is planning another bear campaign and have been feeding out stock wherever market was strong enough to take it.

A STRONG PROTEST.

Score of Learned Authorities Petition U. S. Senate in Plain Terms.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 12.—Twenty prominent citizens of New Haven, headed by Professor Theodore S. Woolsey, professor of international law, Yale University, have signed and forwarded to United States Senator Hoar, a petition asking that the Senate defer formal ratification of the Hay-Bunau Varilla treaty, and that the United States' action in Panama be subjected to careful and deliberate investigation.

Among the signers of the petition are Franklin Carter, formerly president of Williams College; Henry Wade Rogers, dean of the Yale Law School; Frank K. Sanders, dean of the Yale Divinity School; Professors William G. Summer and John C. Schwab of the department of political economy at Yale, and Samuel L. Bronson, formerly a Democratic candidate for Governor.

The petition says that a belief has arisen in the minds of many in this country and abroad, "that in our dealings with the State of Colombia we have violated and are about to violate the rules of international law, and that we are adopting a line of conduct toward that country which we would not have taken against a stronger power."

CALLED TO THE CABINET.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson May Become Minister of Railways.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—Hon. H. R. Emmerson is on his way to the capital to be sworn in as a member of the Cabinet. The presumption is, but upon this point there is no official information, that he will be given the Department of Railways and Canals.

Only one Dr. Chase.

It frequently happens that people suffer for years from kidney derangements without knowing the cause of their backaches, aching limbs and other bodily sufferings, suddenly the truth is revealed to them that they are the victims of serious kidney disease and in imminent danger. There is no medicine which gives such prompt and lasting relief for every form of Kidney disease as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They are positively effective even in the most chronic cases.

TELEPHONE INVADES NORTH MONAGHAN.

This Township the Local Pioneer in Rural Telephone Service.

The Occasion Fittingly Celebrated Last Night—Mr. F. R. Wilson Presented with a Gold Watch.

This morning North Monaghan is doubly blessed; it has the distinction of being the local pioneer in introducing the telephone, and it enjoyes the undoubted benefits which will come from such a convenience. Mr. F. E. Wilson, an enterprising farmer and merchant in Springville was the originator of the idea, and a prominent mover in the enterprise, which has been completed, and whose happy conclusion was celebrated by an oyster supper at the Orange Hall last night. At this banquet there were about a hundred persons present, including the Peterborough management of the Bell Telephone Company, Mr. F. W. Doan, and Mr. T. J. Tilley, line foreman.

After the excellent supper had been disposed of, Mr. F. E. Wilson, who presided as chairman, introduced a delightful programme of music, speeches, etc. The theme of the speakers was the enterprise of the neighbourhood and the conveniences which would would flow from the establishment of close communication among the neighbours and with the town. During the evening Mr. T. J. Tilley contributed three much appreciated songs and a most delightful evening was spent, in celebration of an event which marks another advanced step in the forward march of progressive North Monaghan. During the evening a most pleasant feature of the programme was the presentation of an address, accompanied by the gift of a gold watch to Mr. Wilson, who has been so largely instrumental in originating and procuring the completion of the new telephone service. The following address was read by Mr. H. Baptie, and the presentation made by Mr. Robt. Lockie:—

Mr. F. E. Wilson,—

Dear Sir, — As representatives of this district, we wish to approach you with sincere thanks this evening for your presence amongst us. As members of this community we regard it as a privilege to have such a man in our midst, and we fully appreciate the kindly interest you have manifested in the material welfare of this place. We are now in direct communication with the outside world by means of the Bell Telephone. This is a step in the right direction and it is in a large measure due to your untiring efforts. It is with feelings of profound thankfulness therefore, that we a few of your Springville friends, are assembled here tonight to rejoice with you over this new advancement. It is a part of our pleasure on this occasion to ask your acceptance of this watch as a token of the esteem in which you are held by your friends here, and is a tangible expression of our gratitude. With this gift we extend to you our best wishes for a long and useful life, and as this watch continues to mark the progress of time, may it also continue to mark the progress of the community.

Signed on behalf of your Springville friends,

HAROLD BAPTIE,
R. J. LOCKIE,
MATTHEW CLARK.

Springville, Jan. 11th, 1904.

The new telephone line is about eight miles in length, and terminates at Madill's cheese factory, near the gravel road, south of Springville. The construction of the line was begun on December 10th, and Mr. F. E. Wilson was the moving spirit, as well as the originator of the idea, while the farmers along the line were of great assistance in promoting the enterprise. The poles for the line were furnished by Mr. J. S. Knapman.

The new line, now thoroughly equipped and in operation, has at present eight subscribers along its route: Messrs. J. Mervin, John Patton, J. Bell, F. E. Wilson, Jas. Baptie, J. McIntosh, M. Clarke and Madill's cheese factory. It is more than probable that as the advantages of the new system become more impressed upon the people, many additional subscribers will be secured.

There is no disputing the advantages this line will be to the subscribers, especially in a busy season for the farmers. The means of easily communicating with the town will save many a journey, and much time at a season when time is money, and the facility of summoning a physician or a veterinary surgeon promptly will be appreciated. The rates will be free for conversation between town and country subscribers, but to outsiders a fee of ten cents will be charged. As a first evidence of the benefit of the new convenience, it may be pointed out that the address printed above was communicated to the Examiner over this line.

The Examiner very heartily congratulates this section of North Monaghan upon the enterprise they have displayed and the convenience they have secured.

CANADAIAN PROSPERITY AND "AMERICAN" DEPRESSION.

An Army of Men Discharged in the United States—Canadian Manufacturers Wanting Employees.

A despatch from Chicago says that in the past three months there have been about 18,000 men discharged from the employ of the railroads terminating in that city. Most of these men were engaged in construction and maintenance of way. Engineers, firemen, and trainmen have been put on shorter hours and their monthly earnings reduced.

While there are the condition across the border, our Canadian railways are unable to handle the traffic that offers. Never was traffic so heavy as it has been of late.

Nor is that the only indication of the superior prosperity that is ours. The industrial activity of Ontario is shown in the fact that the members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association report at the present time a shortage of nearly 4,000 men in the lines of manufacture in which they are engaged.

It seems quite clear that the present is not a good time to call upon Canadians to admire the high tariff system of the United States as the cure-all for every ill that can befall manufacturers, workmen, and citizens generally. Let it prove its worth where it is now in force.—Toronto Star.

HOLIDAY ILLS ARE QUIKLY CURED.

If You Give Your Stomach a Rest by Using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—They are Condensed Comfort.

In these after holiday times nearly everyone is feeling the effects of Indigestion. Some are troubled with pains in the stomach, others find food and gas rising in their throats, and yet others are subject to fits of low spirits and despondency that utterly unfit them for work of any kind.

In all cases there is only one thing to do and that is to help the stomach to return to its normal working condition. It wants rest, and the rest it wants is best furnished by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They do the work of digestion while the stomach rests and recuperates. They bring relief almost immediately, and soon send renewed energy to all parts of the body. That they cure indigestion of any stage is evidenced by thousands. H. A. Coles, of St. Mary's River, Guysboro Co., N. S., says:

"I had stomach trouble for about give years and it finally got so bad I was taken to my bed and the doctor called in. He did me no good, and as I was suffering terribly my wife suggested that I give Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial. I am heartily thankful that I did. I took seven boxes in all which cured me so completely that I have had no return off the trouble."

Had an Eye Trampled Out.

London, Jan. 12.—Morris Jackson of Waterloo street, while leading a horse to the stable, slipped on the sidewalk and fell under the foot of the horse. He was kicked and trampled upon by the frightened animal and injured severely. On being removed to Victoria Hospital it was found necessary to remove his left eye. His nose was also broken and his face badly bruised.

Rebels Were Defeated.

New York, Jan. 12.—News has just been received of the first important battle between the Government troops and revolutionists in Uruguay, says a Herald despatch from Buenos Ayres. Mayocluis Gonzales surprised a party of rebels near Trinidad, defeated them and occupied the town.

Wash greasy dishes, pots or pans with Lever's Dry Soap a powder. It will remove the grease with the greatest ease. 36

TURF.

On the first day of the winter meeting of the Peterborough Turf Club, when Dollie Keswick, the green mare, made a mark for herself of 2.25, considerable discussion arose as to whether she was confined to that class, or whether she could enter any class when racing on the turf. The two following letters to the secretary of the Peterborough Turf Club from the secretary of the National Trotting Association, make that point clear:—

A. Rountree, Peterborough,—

Dear Sir,—I note by letter of December 11th, that your association intends to give a meeting on January 6th and 7th, inst. The rules of the National Trotting Association apply to winter meetings just the same as meetings held during the summer. Please forward premium list for meeting and list of entries as soon after they close as possible. You have also been sent judges' book for meeting.

Yours very truly,
W. H. GOCHER,

The second one is:—

A. Rountree, Peterborough,—

Dear Sir,—I wish to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of January 7th and in reply to same would refer you to rule 44, section 1, which reads as follows:

"Time made under saddle, or on snow or ice, as well as time made when two or more horses are harnessed together, shall constitute a bar for races of the same character, but shall not be a bar for races of a different character."

You will note on reading same that records or bars made on snow or ice are only records on bars in races of that character and are not records or bars in races on the turf.

Yours very truly,
W. H. GOCHER,

Thus it will be seen that the mark of .25 for Dollie Keswick will not bar her from other classes on the turf.

* * * *

Seven carloads of horses left Peterborough yesterday afternoon for Port Perry for that winter meet.

* * * *

On the last day of the races Mr. Frank G. Smith announced that the Turf Club were considering the advisability of arranging a free for all in which some of the best horses in Canada would race. This would take place some time in February. However, on reconsidering the project the Turf Club has decided not to hold the race. The reason for this is that if good prizes are offered the horses will have been done up by attending the big meetings and knowing each other's time would come down and sweep the premiums without there being any kind of a fast race.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep, which she had not done for several days. For sale by all druggists.

CONFERENCE HELD BEFORE THE THRONE

Cabinet and Statesmen of Japan Decide on Answer to Russia.

Communications of the Highest Importance Constantly Passing Between the Czar and Admiral Alexieff.

Tokio, Jan. 13.—The final conference before the throne to decide upon the response to Russia began at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It was attended by all the members of the Cabinet, five of the elder statesmen, Admirals Ito and Ijuin and Gen. Kodama.

Previous to the conference Admiral Yamamoto, representing Premier Kabura, who is indisposed, had a private audience with the Emperor. Foreign Minister Komura and Marquis Ito also conferred privately.

The formal conference before the throne was of long duration, and its result is unknown. It is said, however, that the response that was drafted Monday was approved, and that it will soon be delivered to Baron de Rosen, the Russian minister.

This answer of Japan is regarded as the final step in the negotiations. Public interest in the outcome is at fever heat and developments are anxiously awaited.

Corea Favors Japan.

Seoul, Jan. 13.—The Emperor of Corea has ordered the opening of Wiju subject to the acquiescence of China by telegraph. The American, English, Russian, Italian and Japanese Legations at Seoul are under guards. It is stated that sweeping changes will be made soon in the personnel of the Corea Government favorable to Japanese interests.

Of the Highest Importance.

Paris, Jan. 13.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Paris edition of The New York Herald says that communications of the highest importance are constantly passing between the Czar and Admiral Alexieff, the Russian Viceroy in the Far East.

Japs Want No Aid.

London, Jan. 13.—A news agency despatch from Tokio says that it is understood that Japan has informed Great Britain and the United States that the apparent inaction is not due to a desire for foreign mediation, but to a deliberate policy.

To Protect Port Arthur.

Port Arthur, Jan. 13.—It is reported that owing to threatening news received from Corea, the commander of the 7th Russian Brigade has gone to the Yalu River to select temporary camps and effect a concentration of troops.

Owing to the apprehension of a daring dash on the part of the Japanese at Port Arthur, the authorities here have taken extraordinary precautions in and about the town and along the whole line of the Manchurian Railroad.

Rumors were circulated some time ago that the Japanese intended to take advantage of the festivities incident to the Russian Christmas and surprise the warships here. Consequently, a vigilant watch was kept night and day.

The whole Russian fleet is now in fighting trim.

Rushing Russian Troops.

Pekin, Jan. 13.—Authentic information has reached the Legations here that two divisions of Russian troops are coming by the Siberian Railroad. A Russian force has occupied the terminus of the new branch of the Shan Hai Kwan-New Chang Railroad, recently completed by the Chinese. The terminus is 100 miles northwest of New Chwang, and will be an important strategic base in the event of war.

BRITAIN'S UNDERSTUDY.

Melton Prior Talks of Flowery Kingdom's Preparation For War.

Montreal, Jan. 13.—Melton Prior, who has seen 27 campaigns for London papers, is here en route for Japan and says he thinks war is inevitable.

Japan, he says, has an inestimable advantage in having bases to repair ships and to keep supplies and ammunition. Russia cannot handle supplies fast enough over the Siberian Railway, which, he says, is very inefficient. He has been over the road and they cannot handle more than a thousand men a day.

Japan will never be crushed by Russia for these reasons, and because Japanese are fine gunners. Can't crush them. Britain has warned France if she joins Russia Britain will side with Japan.

A MASS OF FLAMES.

Horrible Fate of Mrs. Macdonald of Stayner in Toronto—Deceased Was in Her 89th Year.

Toronto, Jan. 13.—Fire in the house of Mr. Robert Murray, at 137 Manning avenue, at 3.15 o'clock yesterday morning, caused the death of Mrs. Allan Macdonald, of Stayner, a widow, in her 89th year. Mrs. Macdonald was visiting her daughter, who is Mrs. Murray's housekeeper. She had been ill, and, rising at 3 o'clock, carried the coal oil stove from her room. At the top of the stairs she tripped and fell to the bottom. Before the other inmates of the house could reach her she was a mass of flames, and a blanket thrown over her only added fuel to the fierce blaze.

The smoke and flames drove the family out and before the firemen arrived Mrs. Macdonald was dead. The fire caused $40 damage to the contents and $100 to the building. Mrs. Macdonald and her husband were pioneers in Nottawasaga township, Simcoe County. Four sons survive—Alex. Macdonald, at Indian Head; Allan, at Stayner; John, at Mimico, and Ronald, in Dakota.

George Parrish Broke His Neck.

Bowmanville, Jan. 13.—A fatal accident occurred at Hampton, five miles north of this town, Monday, by which George Parrish, aged 75 years, lost his life. He was assisting W. Allan & Sons to draw straw, and in descending from the wagon the horses moved sooner than he expected. He fell backward over the load, breaking his neck. He lived in full consciousness till yesterday morning, when death came.

Whirled to His Death.

Kingston, Jan. 13.—Philip Jarrell, aged 35, brother of Capt. Jarrell of the steamer North King, was instantly killed yesterday morning in the machine shop of the Montreal Transportation Co. His clothing caught in the shafting as he was oiling the parts, and before relief came he was hurled with deadly force against the ceiling.

Two Miners Killed.

Sydney, N. S., Jan. 13.—Two coal miners, Michael Hunter, a cutter, and Charles Johnson, a loader, were instantly killed in the Glace Bay colliery yesterday. A prop was driven out of place by the firing of a shot and a portion of the roof fell on them, crushing out their lives.

Used Wrong Bottle.

St. Catharines, Jan. 13.—Mrs. W. H. Kottmeier of this city, arose early yesterday, with the intention of using a gargling solution, but by mistake got hold of the wrong bottle, which contained carbolic acid. Before she had discovered her mistake she swallowed some of the poison. It is expected she will recover.

At no Time in the Year

Can we afford the same space coupled with some values as we can in January for the sale of Whitegoods and Whitewear in particular. Trade Departments have wrought a big change from old time methods. That's one of the reasons why Canadian Whitewear has taken such leaps and bounds in styles, qualities, and price modifying. Especially in these seasons of Cotton Fluctuations.

In the first place the Whitewear Manufacturers are blouse manufacturers, and every manufacturer was after the then larger end of the trade, the Blouses. Now these two articles had the biggest demand at the same time, in the spring and summer.

The outer Garment (the blouse) demanded perhaps more assidious attention to the detriment of the inner garment.

January was selected by some of the live manufacturers as a month in which to throw away certain profits to the retailer for the sake of keeping his blouse and whitwear operators busy during an otherwise dead season (October, November and December.

The Retailer readily took on the idea of a "Push" Sale of Whitewear, when he could offer extra special inducements to buyers—in cut price lines.

An Absurd Idea

Were these January Whitewear Sales thoughtsome—no reason in them. Why do we want white goods with snow on the ground. But these Whitewear Sales have revolutionized the whole Whitewear trade.

Merchants began to realize that Whitewear could be bought cheaper and deliveries more dependable if they bought several months earlier in the season—these were advantages for the merchant. Now for the manufacturer—instead of "wandering" through the dull fall months he got to "thinking" and planned or conceived the daintiest conceits in the now looked for "simple or elegant" White Lingerie. The Lingerie such as this store is particularly noted for—women look forward with eager delight to the annual treat, Sutcliffe & Sons beautiful and extensive range of White Undergarments.

Peterborough a Progressive Town

and why should its merchants not adopt the principles of the largest cities, and enable its citizens to buy the best of the good things that can be found in any city in Whitewear. This firm realized the advantages of these January Whitewear Sales and originally introduced them to the Peterborough people.

Our Fifth January Whitewear Sale

is now in progress and we do not mislead when we say that the styles and great price inducements offered during this sale will amply repay any woman to inspect the array of White Underwearables. Now on sale — and which, occupying a thoroughly well lighted, well heated, airy position, on our second floor.

It frequently happens that people suffer for years from kidney derangements without knowing the cause of their backaches, aching limbs and other bodily sufferings, suddenly the truth is revealed to them that they are the victims of serious kidney disease and in imminent danger. There is no medicine which gives such prompt and lasting relief for every form of Kidney disease as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They are positively effective even in the most chronic cases.

"PAY YOUR DEBTS NOW," SAYS REV. J. C. DAVIDSON.

Sermon of Special Moment on Sunday Evening at St. John—A Large Congregation Present.

At St. John's church last Sunday evening Rev. J. C. Davidson in the presence of a large congregation and in the course of his sermon dealt with the importance of promptness and reliability in meeting engagements whether of a business, social or religious nature. In this country, it is frequently charged against us, that we have a natural weakness in this matter, and certainly there is too great a tendancy to laxity and procrastination. Principles of honour applied in daily life were of the first importance, and nothing could take the place of them. The presence of this honour in Englishmen had largely contributed to British greatness. All the different engagements of men should be thoughtfully undertaken and met on time and to the letter. In this connection the speaker deplored the habit of lateness observed in social engagements in which there seemed to be no disposition to observe time with demoralizing effect upon the general character.

The speaker continued, as is his habit at the beginning of the year, to urge strongly a prompt settlement of present accounts. In almost every house, he said, files of these accounts were hanging to-day, and it depended perhaps on a whim whether they were paid now or at some undetermined time in the future. And yet between these there was a tremendous difference. The welfare fare and happiness of many people were concerned and the interests of business houses depended on the action and inaction of people in this direction. So intimately were we connected that the default of one man involved the unhappiness of many, besides our example in this matter was contagseous whether for good or evil. On these grounds in strong language and with evident feeling he urged that all members of the congregation take a united and definite stand at this time and act promptly. In those cases in which men were unable to pay, honour required that the matter should be thoughtfully considered and creditors informed when payment could be expected, thus enabling them to understand their position.

In conclusion he very briefly directed attention to the importance of forming a habit of regular church attendance for which this was an opportune time. There were some men so shackled by the opposite habit as to be absolutely powerless to attend worship and it was a moral certainty that the first service held in connection with them would be the burial service. Multitudes of others had no definite principles and incurred the worry of determining each Sunday whether they would do their duty to the Almighty in this respect or not. The matter might be settled once and for all with satisfaction to those concerned if they would set aside whatever hours were possible for worship under the circumstances and observe these regularly. The habit would soon be formed and it would become a thing of second nature to the advantage of themselves and the church.

MAKE PEACE WITH YOUR STOMACH.

You are Certain to Lose if you Attempt the Use of Force and Violence.

You cannot force your stomach to do work that it is unable and unwilling to do. It has been tried time and again with always the same result. The stomach is a good and faithful servant, but when pushed beyond the limit it rebels. Some stomachs will stand much more abuse than others, but every stomach has its limit; and when that limit is reached it is a very dangerous and unwise proceedings to attempt to force it into doing further work. The sensible and reasonable course is to employ a substitute to carry on the work of digestion and give the stomach an opportunity to recuperate and regain its lost strength.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only perfect substitute to take up and carry on the work of tired, worn out stomachs. They are natural and easy in their work and cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. They contain all of the essential elements that make up the gastric juice and other digestive fluids and will digest any food that a strong, healthy stomach will, and do it in the same time and in the same way. They work independently of surrounding conditions, and the fact that the stomach is weak or diseased does not influence them at all in their useful and effective work. They will digest food just as well in a glass jar or bottle as they will in a stomach. You can see that for yourself by putting one of them into a jar with a square meal and some water to enable it to work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets by thus relieving the stomach of its work, enable that organ to rest and recuperate and regain its health and strength. The process is perfectly natural and plain. Nature will heal the stomach just as she heals a wound or a broken limb, if she is not interfered with and is permitted to do her work in her own way. All interference is prevented by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box, and if you are afflicted with Dyspepsia one box will make you feel fifty times better. You will forget you have a stomach and rejoice in the forgetfulness. No druggist would be so short sighted as to try to get along without Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for they are so popular and are so well known for the good they have done and the happiness they have caused that any druggist caught without them would lose the confidence of his customers, and be regarded as below the standard. His business would suffer as a result and his patrons would go to other stores and buy their other drugs there as well as their Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

A Clever Dance.

An English rural schoolmaster was greatly annoyed one day by not getting satisfactory answers to the questions he put to one of his schoolboys. At last he called the dunce to the front and, handing him twopence, said:

"Away you go and buy some brains."

To the schoolmaster's surprise, the boy quickly turned and said, "And have I to tell the man they are for you?"—London Globe.

The Celtic Affirmative.

In the speech of so highly developed a people as the Celts there is no equivalent to "yes." Thus it happens that you shall never hear an Irish waiter pronounce the shibboleth "yessir" of his English confrere, for he invariably expresses an affirmative by some such phrase as "I shall, sir." "It is, sir."

"Pleasant."

The Visible and Invisible.

The wisest Indian philosophy has never boggled, like ours, over that silly word "supernatural." The Upanishad says, "What is in the visible exists also in the invisible, and what is in Brahm's world is also here." The ultimate, albeit unreachable, is as real to the Asiatic mind as rice, and in the Bhagavad-Gita Arjuna is actually permitted to behold the embodied infinite. Indeed it is rather this present existence which India regards as the illusion, the maya. To see the stars we must wait for night, and to live we must die. Nor is it uninteresting to note in Hindoo classics how these large and happy serenities of oriental view have softened personifications of death.

Old and Good.

Many young men fail in life because they don't know a chance when they have it and only knew what is lost when it is too late. These youngsters who want to be masters over the men who are educating them, and to whom they owe the inspiration of their lives, all wind up by being slaves. One lesson for all leaders—learn to obey till you are able to command. This is old and good.—Schoolmaster.

FOR NORTH OXFORD

Lt.-Col. Munro of Embro Chosen by the Liberal Convention.

HARMONY AND UNITY PREVAIL

The Choice Unanimous—Determination to Roll Up a Big Majority—Unswerving Confidence in Ross Government Pledged By Delegates—Representative Gathering From Every Subdivision.

Woodstock, Jan. 13.—The result of the Liberal convention for North Oxford yesterday afternoon was a distinct disappointment to the opponents of the Ross Government, who had fondly anticipated and freely predicted a split in the ranks. Instead of a division the meeting served principally to demonstrate the splendid solidarity which prevails among the Reformers, and the unanimity with which the delegates and aspirants for the nomination expressed confidence in Hon. Geo. W. Ross and determination not merely to send a supporter of the Government to Toronto, but to roll up such a majority as would demonstrate to the rest of the Province that North Oxford is loyal to the Government.

A Full Convention.

The deep interest taken in the deliberations of the convention was shown by the large attendance of delegates and visitors, who packed the hall to its utmost capacity, and without any apparent diminution in numbers patiently remained during the four and a half hours which the proceedings occupied. Five ballots were required to make a choice, which ultimately fell upon Colonel Jas. Munro of Embro. Before the ballot was taken every candidate signed an agreement to abide by the result and to support the nominee of the convention. Mr. E. W. Nesbitt, who it had previously been stated would run as an independent Liberal in any event, was among those whose signatures were affixed to the agreement.

Tribute to Mr. Pattullo.

A feature of the meeting was the generous tribute paid by every speaker to the memory of the late Andrew Pattullo, and to his work for the county in particular, and the Province in general. Mr. Malcolm Douglas, First Vice-President of the Riding Association, presided, and was supported on the platform by Lieut.-Colonel James Munro, Embro; A. J. McIntosh, Woodstock; Walter Murray, Blenheim; Jas. Hamilton, Woodstock; Francis Patterson and Duncan McMillan, E. Nissouri; G. A. Munro, W. Zorra; George Law, Blenheim; Thomas Peat, Bright; Ald. P. Irving, G. F. Mahon, Woodstock, Secretary of the association, and Dr. Hotson, Innerkip.

When the Committee on Credentials had completed its work it was found that every division was fully represented and that there were 164 votes in the convention. Before proceeding with the business a resolution was presented by Mr. Duncan McMillan and Geo. Law, expressing the profound sorrow which the removal by death of the late Andrew Pattullo, M.P.P., had caused the Liberals of North Oxford. A resolution of sympathy with the family of Mr. Malcolm, the late President, was also passed upon motion of Dr. Hotson and Thos Macbeth.

A resolution, moved by Fred. Vickers and seconded by T. W. Hewitt, was unanimously adopted, expressing unswerving confidence in Hon. Geo. W. Ross and his administration of the affairs of the Province.

A resolution of confidence in Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his Government was also adopted upon motion of Mr. J. W. Mahon and Dr. Hotson.

Harmony and Enthusiasm.

That an abundance of material is available in the ranks was shown by the baker's dozen of aspirants for the party nomination, and the brief addresses made by them indicated the excellent quality of the men offering. Each candidate in turn was apparently anxious to excel in the desire to secure unanimity and harmony in the party, and in the unreserved ness and enthusiasm with which they pledged themselves to accept the decision of the convention and to support its nominee. Those who retired from the contest were E. L. Sutherland, West Zorra; Dr. John McWilliams, Thamesville; Malcolm Douglas, Woodstock; Dr. John Mearns, Woodstock; John F. McKay, Toronto; John W. Mahon, Woodstock; John Krugg, Tavistock.

Those Who Went to Ballot.

The candidates who went to the convention were Lieut.-Col. James Munro, Embro; Geo. Smith, Woodstock; Walter Murray, Blenheim; E. W. Nesbitt, Woodstock, and Mayor John White, Woodstock.

Upon the first ballot Lieut.-Colonel Munro and Mr. Smith tied, with 56 votes each; on the second ballot Mr. Smith was three ahead, but from that point Lieut.-Colonel Munro led, until on the fifth ballot he received a majority of the convention. Upon motion of Mr. Smith, seconded by Mayor White, the nomination was made unanimous.

Col. Munro briefly thanked the convention for the honor, and the meeting adjourned, with the usual cheers.

A Prohibitionist to Run.

D. R. Ross of Embro, has announced definitely that he would be a candidate in the ensuing bye-election for the Legislature as an independent prohibitionist.

Jabel Is It Again.

Dutton, Jan. 13.—A convention of the West Elgin Independent Association was held here yesterday for the purpose of nominating a candidate to contest the west riding of Elgin at the coming election. The nomination of a candidate resulted in the unanimous choice of Jabel Robinson, M. P.

CONNIVED AT DIVORCE, BUT...

Remittance of Former Husband of Countess Russell Slipped Coq, and Police Magistrate Remanded Him a Week.

Toronto, Jan. 13.—Edward Archibald Stuart, the former husband of the Countess Russell, who was arrested a week ago on the charge of vagrancy, was in the Police Court yesterday. There was nothing brought out in his examination that has not already been told, except in reference to his finances when he arrived here.

Stuart went into the witness box and told all he wished to tell about himself. He admitted that he was the divorced husband of the Countess Russell, but denied ever having illused her. He had been unfaithful. He made an agreement with the Countess, allowing her to procure a divorce, and for this he was to receive an annuity of $5,000, to be paid quarterly. When he came to Canada he thought he was in good circumstances. A remittance was due Jan. 1. He depends on this remittance from the Countess to keep him. He has never worked for a living. He claimed his father is a colonel in the First Life Guards, and had been in the habit of sending him money, but had ceased. When Stuart came to Canada he had somewhere near $1,000. He went through it, because he believed in living well, and was under the impression that there was more to follow. He admitted owing the Hotel Touraine, Boston, and the other accounts in Toronto, but claims he will make good. He was remanded for a week.

These unpaid bills owed by Stuart were sworn to: King Edward, $156; Patrick Maher, liveryman, $66.75; Semi-Ready Co., $80; Walker House, Mrs. Elizabeth Elroy, Jos. McElroy, in the last three no amounts were specified.

DID NOT COMMIT MURDER.

Jury Says Fanny McGarvey Was Insane When She Killed Uncle.

London, Jan. 13.—Shortly before 6 o'clock last evening, Fanny McGarvey, the woman who was accused of killing her uncle, Patrick Upton, of Adelaide township, at Strathroy, was acquitted on the grounds of insanity. The case was one of the shortest on record and was commenced yesterday morning before Justice Britton. Medical testimony and that given by the members of the McGarvey family went to show that the woman was dangerously insane; in fact, that she had been so for a year, and should have been confined to an asylum.

On one occasion before she had attempted to take Upton's life, besides attempting to commit suicide on two occasions. She had lived with Upton since she was a child of 16 years of age, and of late because of sickness had been visited with delusions. She believed that anarchists were going to kill him.

On the night of the tragedy, Nov. 7, 1903, she attacked Upton with an axe at the McGarvey house in Strathroy, which she concealed under her cape, while several members of the family were sitting about the room. She was very much agitated in court and talked to herself all through the trial.

She will be confined in the county jail until an order is received from the Attorney-General committing her to the asylum.

Mills Taken Out of Hamilton.

Hamilton, Jan. 13.—The police were informed last night that Hillis, the jail-breaker, was taken out of the city only Monday night. There was a gang of four men with him, and they drove out in a sleigh.

Bull Amuck in Brantford.

Brantford, Jan. 13.—A bull running loose on our streets last evening caused quite a stir for a few minutes. The animal attacked a cutter with two ladies driving; then a young lady crossing Colborne street, opposite the Y.M.C.A., was knocked down and trampled on. The young lady was carried into a store, and was unconscious for a time. What the injuries may be is not yet learned. The animal proceeded down the street, was run into a yard and secured from doing any further harm.

Need Not Give Writer's Name.

Toronto, Jan. 13.—Mr. Justice MacMahon yesterday delivered a judgment of considerable interest to newspaper publishers, when he held that an editor was not bound to reveal the identity of a writer whose contribution is called into question. The paper immediately interested was The Newmarket Express-Herald, which did not wish to give the name of its Sutton correspondent, who, Miss Eva Marsh says, wrote a statement reflecting unfavorably on her.

Canadian Northern Rail Contract.

New York, Jan. 13.—The Illinois Steel Company, a subsidiary company of the United States Steel Corporation, has secured from Mackenzie & Mann, Toronto, the contract for 25,000 tons of standard steel rails to be used on the Canadian Northern Railway. The price is said to be $26 a ton delivered at Port Arthur.

WESTERN DAIRYMEN

Big Rally of Cheese and Butter Experts at St. Thomas.

MILLIONS MADE BY THE COWS

Striking Progress Revealed By Dairymen in Convention—Membership Heavily Increased During the Year—Practical Suggestions Made in the Address of President Connolly—Instructors Report.

St. Thomas, Jan. 13.—The Western Ontario Dairymen's Association opened its thirty-seventh annual convention in the Grand Opera House yesterday afternoon. The president, James Connolly of Porter's Hill, was in the chair and delivered his annual address on calling the convention to order at 1.30 o'clock.

In the afternoon Mayor Maxwell formally extended the hospitality of the city to the delegates. J. W. Stewart, president of the Board of Trade, joined in the invitation. Among others who made speeches were J. U. Paget, P. W. McLagan, A. B. Ingram, M.P., Mrs. Howie and President Connolly.

The cheese and butter exhibition, one of the features of these meetings, is very heavy. There are 120 cheese, averaging 75 lbs. each. The butter is entered in boxes, weighing 56 lbs. The competition is keen. Prizes will be awarded Wednesday.

President Connolly's Address.

Mr. Connolly, in his annual address, referred to the fact that nearly all the charter members present at the first meeting in 1868 had passed away, and he then paid a grateful tribute to the memory of Andrew Pattullo, M.P.P., who was president in 1894-5, and who was devoted to the interests of the dairymen of Ontario. He said, in part:

The past year has been a profitable one for the dairymen of the province. Good prices prevailed; the weather conditions were favorable for a large make, there being ample moisture to keep the grass fresh, and no extreme heat to spoil the product. But bad seasons are sure to come, and now was the time to prepare for them. Of the people engaged in dairying, the milk producer is most affected by low prices or bad seasons, and should make preparations to tide them over. He then gave some practical advice on proper equipment.

Territory Under Jurisdiction.

The territory under the jurisdiction of the association includes twenty-six counties and districts, with 246 factories, which handled 52,000,000 gallons of milk, from which 24,000 tons of cheese were made for which $5,000,000 was realized. To this add the amounts for butter made at creameries, and in private dairies, and the amounts realized for the hogs raised owing to dairying, the amounts realized for milk sold to the evaporators and other processes, and the amount realized for milk supplied to the homes, and you have easily a value of the products of the dairies of Western Ontario of $10,000,000.

The report of the directors showed that 326 new members were enrolled during the year. Mr. Henderson, general manager of the Canadian Salt Company, donated $150, and the Canadian Salt Company $200 for prizes to be divided among the five groups. It was recommended that the owners of factories be required to take out a license. Cash prizes will be offered for a winter dairy exhibition, with the addition of a section for butter made in October.

Instructor Barr's Report.

One of the practical features of the first day's convention was the report of George H. Barr, instructor for the association. It covers his experience for the year, and is much sought by both producers and manufacturers. In substance it is as follows:

The directors of the association appointed a committee on instruction to co-operate with me in arranging and carrying on the work as follows: Robert Johnston, J. N. Paget, W. K. McLeod, Thomas Ballantyne, and the president, James Connolly. Four groups were formed in the following districts: Ingersoll, Simcoe, Brantford, Dunnville, Stratford and Lambton. Each factory in the group agreed to pay a fee of $10 for the instruction services.

Besides these four groups arrangement was made to supply factories outside with instruction as applied for at the rate of $3 for one visit and $2 per visit if two or more visits were made. Before the instructors commenced work, they all spent 10 days at the Guelph Dairy School taking up special work to better fit them for their work in the factories.

Then followed a report of the various groups in detail.

A ROYAL COMMISSION.

Alleged That Dr. Montague Attempted to Bribe Australian Ministers.

London, Jan. 13.—The Victorian State Government is appointing a royal commission to inquire into the allegations of attempted corruption of members of Parliament by Doctor Montague.

Sir E. Peacock, ex-Premier, in his explanation to the House, says that Dr. Montague, being told that there was no ministerial election fund, suggested that Peacock take £50 in notes and handed them to Mitchell, who refused them. Peacock denied that he received a paid-up policy.

New vigor and energy are soon attained by the use of Miller's Compound Iron Pills. 50 doses 25 cents. For sale by all druggists.

The Ruthless Iconoclast.

Lady Godiva is the latest favorite of history to be relegated to the realm of mythology. In her new book on the earls of Warwick Lady Warwick says that while Lady Godiva undoubtedly existed, appearing in the "Doomsday Book" as Godeva, it is impossible that she should ever have taken her famous ride through Coventry, for her husband, Earl Leofric, was of blessed memory and worthy of all praise, instead of being an oppressor of his people, who required to be propitiated by the sacrifice that has been attributed to Godiva.

PE-RU-NA NECESSARY TO THE HOME.

A Letter From Congressman White, of North Carolina.

HON. GEORGE H. WHITE.

Congressman George Henry White, of Tarboro, N.C., writes the following letter to Dr. Hartman in regard to the merits of the great catarrh cure, Peruna:

House of Representatives, Washington, Feb. 4, 1899.

Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen—"I am more than satisfied with Peruna, and find it to be an excellent remedy for the grip and catarrh. I have used it in my family and they all join me in recommending it as an excellent remedy."

Very respectfully,
George H. White.

Mrs. Nannie Wallace, Tulare, Cal., President of the Western Baptist Missionary Society, writes:

"I consider Peruna an indispensable article in my medicine chest. It is twenty medicines in one, and has so far cured every sickness that has been in my home for five years. I consider it of special value to weakly women, as it builds up the general health, drives out disease and keeps you in the best of health."—Mrs. Nannie Wallace.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advise gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Why He Doubted the Map.

At a St. Andrew's society dinner one of the speakers told of a Scotch gardener, recently landed, who had great difficulty in acquiring a knowledge of American geography. The son of the household, failing to teach the gardener in any other way, brought out a huge, highly colored map. The Scot looked at it critically.

"Ah, yes, lad; that may be, but it's no to be trusted. It's laid oot in the plaid o' the lowin' MacFechtons," was his comment.

"A TRIP TO CALIFORNIA AND BRITISH COLUMBIA."

The Subject of an Illustrated Lecture at Charlotte Street S. S. Yesterday.

The illustrated lecture given last night by Mrs. E. M. Cuthbert, of Toronto, in the Charlotte street Sunday school, and under the auspices of the Epworth League of the church, was well attended and very successful. That the audience was highly delighted was quite evident, while the lecture, besides being interesting, was very profitable. Rev. W. J. Jolliffe occupied the chair, and in a few appropriate remarks introduced the speaker of the evening.

Mrs. Cuthbert gave an interesting account of a trip through California and British Columbia, which was accompanied by a number of limelight views. Last year Mrs. Cuthbert conducted a party of young ladies over the main places of interest in California and British Columbia, returning via the prairies and Manitoba, to Toronto, from which city they started. The views were certainly excellent and her address most fascinating. Among the many views were some of the grand canyons in Colorado, and the chief buildings, parks and other scenes of the larger cities they visited.

This year the speaker intends to escort another party to the St. Louis Exposition and showed a number of pictures of that place.

"A PAIR OF LUNATICS" HELD THE BOARDS.

Entertainment in the Opera House by the Alexandra Dramatic Club.

"A Pair of Lunatics," and "Naval Engagements" Produced with Great Success Last Night—Hon. C. N. Daly's Caustic Remarks.

Something new in the way of entertainment was offered to the Peterborough public who cared to attend the Opera House last night, when the Alexandra Dramatic Club, under the patronage of Mayor G. M. Roger, gave, for the benefit of the Children's Aid Society, an entertainment of exceptional merit, which, it was evident, was heartily appreciated by the audience. Although the house was not filled, yet the number present was certainly large, and the complete success of the evening was evidenced in the almost ecstatic manner in which the several actors were applauded. Mr. Rupert Gliddon's excellent orchestra was present and gave a short programme of delightfully select music in their characteristically clever manner, adding that finishing touch without which the entertainment would have been incomplete and which was as necessary as is the retoucher's hand to the photographer's print. Two comedies were put on the boards and were, "A Pair of Lunatics," and "Naval Engagements," the latter being produced in two acts. The word "excellent" through careless use is slowly but surely losing its full meaning. Yet, perhaps, that adjective is the best to be used to qualify the individual acting; certainly it is not too strong and those who were present will, it is felt certain, admit that the word fits the position. Notwithstanding the almost extreme difficulties which the actors had to surmount, especially in regard to the almost total lack of scenery of any description, the affair passed off in an almost incomprehensibly successful manner, and this was, to a very great extent, due to the untiring efforts of Hon. C. N. Daly, late of New York City, to make, what he had coached, a success in every detail. That his exertions in this regard were more than realized was proved in the way in which compliments were almost showered upon him after the production had concluded.

The scene of "A Pair of Lunatics" is placed, as one can easily imagine, in an asylum for patients of unstable mental powers. The event takes place at the annual ball which the inmates give and to which privileged outsiders are invited. Among the latter are Miss Clara Manners and Mr. George Fielding, the former role being taken by Miss Edith Darlee, and the latter by Mr. J. Laurence. After spending an intolerable hour in dancing with those mentally unbalanced Mr. Fielding seeks seclusion in a private apartment where he is joined later by Miss Manners, who, unknown to him, had sought a similar refuge from the peculiarities of the dancers. Miss Manners mistakes Mr. Fielding for a lunatic, while that gentleman unpardonably commits the same offence. In an attempt to humour each other both, to the total amusement of the audience, conduct themselves in a highly ridiculous manner. Accidentally it is discovered that instead of being a lunatic each is an invited guest—and sane at that—which leads to a happy climax.

The second comedy entitled "Naval Engagements," was produced in two acts. The first was one of an English inn, in about the year 1800, and the actors were Admiral Kingston, R. N., Mr. K. Eardley Wilmot; Lieut. Kingston, R. N., Mr. De la Fosse; Short, Mr. D. Hughes-Charles; Dennis, Mr. R. M. Hamilton; Mrs. Pontifax, Miss Archer; and Miss Mortimer, Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot.

The beginning explains that Admiral Kingston has fallen in love with Miss Mortimer, a young girl, thirty years his junior; while the Admiral's son, Lieut. Kingston, has become entranced with the face and manners of Mrs. Pontifax, a lady some fifteen years older than himself. They all stay, unknown to each, in pairs, at the inn in question, where the landlord, "Short," endeavours to make as much out of them from a financial point of view, as possible. In this Dennis, an Irish waiter, ably assists him, to the overflowing mirth of the audience. When at last the father and son meet they tell of their matrimonial engagements, which leads to angry words between them. From this, it must be confessed, that it was plainly indicated what the denouncment would be. Ingenuously, if not practicably, the father falls in love with his son's betrothed wife, and vice versa, concluding in Admiral Kingston marrying the elderly lady, Mrs. Pontifax, and Lieut. Kingston marrying Miss Mortimer, a charming young girl, formerly his old playmate, who however had a whim of marrying an admiral. Thus all ensnared in the meshes of Cupid's net the comedy appropriately concludes.

A refusal during the later play, on the part of the curtain to work, gave Mr. Daly an opportunity to make some very sarcastic remarks regarding the present usefulness of the opera house, its commodious stage and beautiful scenery. He spoke of the great calamity in the Iroquois Theatre, Chicago, and believed that to be a reason why many did not attend who would have done so had that event not happened. He hoped that when he again visited Peterborough, the present opera house would also be burned, without however loss of life, and that the theatre going public of this town would have a new and safe building, built according to modern requirements. These caustic remarks evoked ringing applause. The entertainment concluded with a curtain call and the National Anthem.

While it is not perhaps within the rules of propriety to criticise the individual acting of an amateur entertainment, yet, although all were excellent, the star among the stars, was Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot. To her great credit belongs, not only in regard to her inimitable acting, but also to the fact that the entertainment was due to her idea. She fostered it from a mere suggestion to a successful production. Her untiring efforts in seeing that everything was perfect resulted finally in the smooth manner in which the whole affair passed off, and there is no doubt also that her confident playing materially aided the others in their several parts. The audience also were quick to reward her with applause, and also the entertainment as a whole, which so far as the actors were concerned, was certainly excellent.

SERIOUS ACCIDENTS ON MIDLAND DIVISION.

Conductor Boprey Fell Under Engine at Midland.

While Being Conveyed to Lindsay on a Special Train a Collision Occurred and Brakesman Wilson was Seriously Injured.

The Lindsay Post last night gave the sad intelligence of a deplorable accident which happened to Conductor Boprey, who has for a number of years been running on the Toronto-Port Hope Division of the G.T.R., and who is well known in Peterborough. The Post's account of the accident is as follows:—

Conductor Steve Boprey, a resident of Lindsay, and employed on the Midland division of the Grand Trunk, was the victim of a deplorable accident Monday night at Midland. He was in charge of an extra double-header freight train which was about to leave Midland for Lindsay and while in the act of giving the order to the engineer, Harry Sherman, the unfortunate accident happened. We were unable to get exact particulars up to the time of going to press, but according to the slight information gleaned we gather that Conductor Boprey slipped on the step of the cab of the engine, while the latter was in motion fell underneath, and the big drive wheel passed over the right leg above the knee, completely amputating it.

A physician in Midland was quickly summoned and everything possible was done to relieve the poor fellow. After regaining consciousness Mr. Boprey desired to be taken to the Lindsay hospital at once, so a special was quickly made up and dispatched, but this train had not got far on its journey when another serious accident occurred, resulting in the destruction of a caboose and several cars and the injury of another employee. At Silver Creek, which is a small station between Midland and Orillia, there is a rather heavy grade. A freight train in charge of Conductor Wm. Hodgson had left Midland during the evening, and in endeavouring to ascend the grade it was found the motive power was insufficient, so the train was separated to be taken over the grade in two sections. Conductor Hodgson was on the first section, and during his absence the special conveying Conductor Boprey came along at full speed and smashed into the rear end of the second section. Mr. Bruce Wilson, son of Mr. Jos. Wilson, town, was the rear end brakesman on Conductor Hodgson's train and was in the caboose when the collision occurred. He had a narrow escape from being killed; his face and shoulders were badly bruised and his left leg broken in two places. The two injured men were brought to town to-day, the special arriving at Sylvester's crossing at Kent street at one o'clock, where cabs were waiting for the men to convey them to the Ross Hospital.

Conductor Boprey is one of the oldest and most faithful employees on this division. He has been in the service for over twenty years and is highly thought of by his fellow workmen. He has a wife and family residing in the south ward, and two brothers in Belleville. Previous to engaging with the G.T.R., Mr. Wilson was an employee of the Sinclair Carriage Company. He has been in the service of the company but a short time.

HIS PARISHONERS SHOW APPRECIATION.

Rev. W. L. Armitage Presented With Purse Accompanied by Address.

On eve of Departure Former Rector of All Saints is Honoured—A Social Evening To-gather.

(The following report was unavoidably held over until to-day's issue.)

When the announcement was made some weeks ago that Rev. W. L. Armitage, had accepted an invitation to become rector of Mary Magdalen church, Picton, the members of All Saints' Parish, of which Mr. Armitage had been rector for some time, felt that his departure would be a distinct loss to that church, as during his rectorship the parish had prospered and was in a most satisfactory condition in every department. But the new appointment was one which would be greatly to the advantage of Mr. Armitage, and while his parishioners were loath to see him go they recognising that the move would be a profitable one, cheerfully, if reluctantly, allowed him to go, and now wish him every success and happiness in his new sphere of labour.

On Monday night a large number of the members of All Saints church gathered in the school room of the church to bid farewell to their late Rector, who had the day before preached his farewell sermons. As an evidence of the universal respect in which he was held every department of the church's enterprise was represented, and the event must have impressed the reverend gentleman with the fact that he was beloved by his parishioners in no small degree.

The chairman of the evening was Mr. W. H. Dayman, and a portion of the evening was occupied by a very pleasing musical programme, contributed to by Miss Rickey, Messrs Allen, Edwards, Legg and Rickey, and the orchestra. At the conclusion of this part of the programme Rev. Mr. Armitage was invited to the platform and was made the recipient of a well filled purse, accompanied by the following address read by Mr. G. S. Miller, the presentation being made by Miss J. Chamberlain.

Rev. W. L. Armitage, Peterborough:

Reverend and Dear Sir,— It is with sincere regret that we meet together this evening to bid farewell to you, who have laboured amongst us for the past seven years as a pastor and a friend.

Whilst with us in the parish of All Saints' you have practically begun and carried on a splendid work, which we regret you have not seen your way to continue. We desire, therefore, to congratulate you on this success, and whilst greatly deploring the loss which will be sustained by the parish at your departure from it, we earnestly hope that you may be taking a step that will be of advantage to you, and at the same time assist you to go forward to still greater success in your future sphere of labour, and as a mark of respect, appreciation and affection we ask you to accept from us the accompanying purse, which may serve as a memento in the time to come of the days spent in the parish of All Saints' Peterborough.

We remain, on behalf of the congregation of All Saints'.

Yours very truly,
J. CHAMBERLAIN, President of Women's Auxiliary.
H. E. CONNOLLY, President of Brotherhood of St. Andrew.
W. H. DAYMAN,
G. MAUGHAN, Church Wardens.

In replying to the address, and acknowledging the presentation, the past Rector of All Saints' expressed his gratitude to his former parishioners for the many evidences of kindness shown him during his rectorship, but more especially at the time of his farewell. His stay here had been characterized by the most kindly treatment at the homes of his church members, and he appreciated fully all that had been done for him. Referring to the address, he said that he did not claim the credit for the phenomenal success of the church. The results attained could only have been reached by the co-operation of all the members and by the blessing of God.

He gave his listeners some advice on the prosecution of future work in connection with the church, and urged his hearers to identify themselves with some department of the church's work, and give his successor the support that they had so liberally accorded him. He thanked the churchwardens, the choir and all the faithful workers, and prayed that every blessing and success would attend their efforts. He thanked all for their kind words regarding his work in Picton and hoped he would be able to realize their hopes. He said the call from Picton had been most hearty and unanimous and he felt there was a good work before him.

At the close of the evening refreshments were served and before the company dispersed all present personally bade farewell to Rev. Mr. Armitage.

THE CHARITY BOARD MET LAST EVENING

With a Good Attendance of Members —The Business Transacted.

A meeting of the Central Charity Board was held yesterday evening at 7.30 o'clock, when the following members were present: Messrs. R. Innes, chairman; W. Fowler, J. Sawers, W. Yelland, H. Rush, W. Stock, Joseph Batten, F. W. Miller, and W. Aldridge.

After the transaction of some relief business the following motion, moved by Mr. Sawers, seconded by Mr. Fowler, was carried:

"That this board recommend that the council give the Relief Officer an increase of salary to $200 a year, on account of the increased work he has to do owing to the increased size of the town."

It was moved by Mr. Fowler, seconded by Mr. Stock, that on account of Ashburnham now being included in the town and under the jurisdiction of the Board, and other increased demands, the town council is asked to give this Board an increase in its grant of $500."—Carried.

On motion of Mr. Sawers, seconded by Mr. Aldridge it was resolved that the chairman be authorized to purchase 25 or 30 more cords of wood, and that it be paid for on his certificate.

The Board then adjourned until Monday evening, January 25th.

Season Ticket Holders will obtain their Exchange Tickets at the East Wicket To-night.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION.

This is the time of the year when the business world and people generally aim or should aim to get even with their fellowmen, and start on the new year with a clean slate. In this connection the remarks of Rev. J. C. Davidson, in St. John's on Sunday night, are timely. He referred specifically to the propriety and advisability of people being prompt in the payment of accounts. It is obvious that promptitude and punctuality in this matter will do much to smooth the running of the wheels of business. One man pays another, the latter is then able to pay another and so the chain of benefit from prompt payment is forged link by link. Many a business man is crippled for lack of prompt payment of bills upon which he has a right to count. He is unable to keep his engagements and his note in the bank possibly goes to protest and his credit and standing are impaired. There is no doubt that many of the little frictions that complicate and make unpleasant business relations could be avoided if the public generally would act on the principle of prompt payment. The town would have a greater prosperity, business would be greatly facilitated and the business world would be able to give undivided attention to its legitimate functions. It is manifestly unfair to ask a business man to earn his money twice, once in performing a service, and the second time in collecting the amount due.

Not only in the business world is it good business to pay promptly, but among men generally prompt payment is a Christian act, or at least deferred payment is an unchristian act. There is far too much thoughtlessness, where there is not wicked indifference to little obligations. A washerwoman who depends for the supports of a family upon her daily earnings, and to whom one day's failure of income means hungry children, is in many cases, after a long and hard day's work, turned away empty and compelled to wait weeks, perhaps, for the hard earned money she and her children need so badly. Many a poor seamstress is similarly treated. It needs no argument to show drow wrong this is. If it is due to thoughtlessness, Heaven send more brains, if due to indifference, Heaven send a better heart.

AN OPERA HOUSE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The experience of those who took part in the entertainment presented in the "Opera house" last night and the experience of those who witnessed it combine to bear humiliating evidence of the need of a decent opera house in Peterborough. An excellent pair of plays splendidly produced as far as the actors themselves were concerned, was cruelly marred by the absence of stage scenery and accessories, circumstances which also marred the enjoyment of the audience. We should bestir ourselves to remove the reproach of having only a superior sort of barn in which to hold entertainments. A Peterborough citizen in taking a visitor from outside the town to our "opera house" is under a continual blush of shame and is as much humiliated almost as he or she would be in receiving a guest in a drawing room furnished something after the manner of a stable. It is to be hoped that those who now have the matter of a new opera house in hand will spare no exertions, and not only that, but that they will receive the hearty co-operation of our citizens at large. It is not pleasant when to the same visitor or outsider we open our mouths to praise the beauty and progressiveness of Peterborough, to have our mouths closed with our beautiful opera house thrown into our teeth. Ugh!.

Yours very truly,
HUMILIATED.

A PRACTICAL SERMON.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—We hear sermons these days on all sorts of subjects, but as a member of St. John's I wish to call attention to the excellently practical sermon given by Rev. Mr. Davidson on Sunday night. As a business man from a practical point of view I was particularly pleased with his urging the prompt payment of accounts at the beginning of the year. I took the sermon to heart and on Monday morning set to work to pay all my little bills, and felt a glow of satisfaction when I had done so. I don't know whether it was a reward or not or the effect of the sermon mentioned, but I never have had such success in collecting and closing up accounts, as I have had this year. I hope all the members of St. John's, as well as others will lay Rev. Mr. Davidson's excellent sermon to heart and act upon it. I know the result will be to make all concerned easier in mind and happier. We often hear a good sharp sermon and think how happily it applies to our neighbours. Let us take it to ourselves and the world will be the better off it.

Yours very truly,
HEARER.

ENJOYABLE EVENING AT EPWORTH LEAGUE.

George Street Young People Give Social Evening.

A Pleasing Programme Presented—Some of the Features of the Evening.

A very pleasant evening was spent on Monday night at the George street Epworth League, when a most enjoyable programme prepared by the Social Department, was given.

Mr. G. W. Mulligan acted as chairman and although counter attractions somewhat lessened the attendance those present spent a most delightful evening.

A vocal solo, "Sing Me to Sleep," by Mr. Reg. N. Jolliffe, with violin obligato by Miss Jolliffe, as the opening number of the programme, was thoroughly enjoyed, after which Miss Parnell and Miss Hill contributed a vocal duet, "Sweet and Sour." Miss Clara Belleghem was then heard in the solo, "Angel Land," and kindly responded to an encore.

A dialogue, "The Sewing Circle," was then given by Misses McClennan, Parnell, Gilgore, Mason, Sperry, G. and P. Goldey.

Master Herbert Mowat then delighted the audience with a vocal solo and was obliged to respond with an encore. One of the most pleasing numbers on the programme was a recitation by little Miss Mabel Christie, after which a reading by Miss Alberta White concluded a most excellent programme.

1,000 WERE KILLED

Dervishes of Mad Mullah's Force Meet Crushing Defeat.

5,000 VS. 3,000 AT JIDBALLI

British Lost Two Officers Killed and Nine Wounded—Dervishes Could Not Face British Fire—Broke and Fled and Pursued Ten Miles—Many Prisoners and 400 Rifles Taken.

London, Jan. 12.—A despatch to The Times from Aden, Arabia, says: "An engagement in Somaliland between a British force and the forces of the Mad Mullah has resulted in a severe defeat of the latter, who lost one thousand men killed. The British had two officers killed and nine officers severely wounded."

The War Office last night gave out the following despatch, which had been received from Major-General Egerton, commanding the Somaliland expeditionary force, and which is dated from Jidballi, Somaliland, Jan. 11:

"Advanced this morning, 11 miles to Jidballi. First brigade commanded by Manning, second brigade under Faskin, and mounted troops under Kenna. Total strength of the regulars 2,200, irregulars 1,000. Jidballi held by 5,000 Dervishes. Mounted troops enveloped enemy's right and infantry advanced within seven hundred yards of his position. Dervishes advanced, but were unable to face frontal fire, coupled with flank attack. Enemy broke and fled and was pursued 10 miles. Dervishes killed estimated at 1,000, mostly in the pursuit. Many prisoners and rifles taken.

"I regret to report that two officers of regulars were killed and nine officers wounded; five of the rank and file wounded; of native troops seven killed and 16 wounded. Of irregulars two killed and two wounded. Am inclined to think this is the Mullah's main force. The Mullah himself was not present, but was expected at Jidballi to-day."

Major-General Egerton's force was camped last night two miles beyond Jidballi.

A later despatch from Gen. Egerton says that one officer, Capt. Lister, is missing. Capt. Lister is Lord Ribblesdale's son and heir.

Arousing in Thibet.

ANOTHER "SOO" STATEMENT.

Management Sees Success For the Properties in Future.

Montreal, Jan. 12.—The general management of the Consolidated Lake Superior gave out the statement yesterday that while only three of the subsidiary companies were in operation, yet if the money for reorganization was forthcoming by Feb. 15 the whole plant could be running by May 1 on an earning basis of $168,500 per month, or $2,022,000 per annum.

The pulp, veneer and saw mills could be run as soon as the streams were open. The steel plant could run on American pig iron supply, as ore to make their own pig could not be obtained before May 1. The charcoal plant could not be run until the steel plant opened, as there was no market now for charcoal.

The pulp mill is earning $150 a day over expenses, the Tagoma Water and Light Company $50, and the Manitoulin and North Shore Railway $20. The Algoma Central and the street railways are paying expenses.

Scrawny People.

People grow thin, scrawny, pale and weak when the blood is thin and watery. What is needed to round off the angles and fill out the form, is not fat but healthy muscular tissue. By enriching the blood and increasing its nourishing qualities Dr. Chase's Nerve Food adds new flesh and tissue to the body as well as new vigor and energy. You can prove this by noting your increase in weight while using this great food cure.

We advise everybody to use Sunlight Soap—It makes child's play of work.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

We have used "Sunlight Soap," and we want to tell you that it is the best soap made, that's why we are writing. We found out that the Sunlight way is the best way to wash with "Sunlight Soap." At first we used to wash with Sunlight Soap in the old way as we did with common soap, but after we washed according to directions printed on the package, we would never wash the old way again. We first soap the articles, leave them to soak and then rub out lightly on the wash board. Not much to do and it makes the clothes white as snow.

THE CANADA MILITIA.

Sir Frederick Borden Talks to the Ottawa Canadian Club.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—Sir Frederick Borden, before the Canadian Club yesterday, said that anything Canada lost by reason of her obtaining the right to chose her own G.O.C., was compensated for by the appointment of her Minister of Militia to the Imperial Defence Commission.

The present commission included, aside from Cabinet Ministers, the Commander-in-Chief of the Army, the First Lord of the Admiralty, and the Directors of Military and Naval Intelligence. Record was kept of its decisions so that the military policy of the country under changing political direction might preserve continuity. The matters that came before it would be threshed out around a table by the most competent officers and military and naval authorities.

The proposed change in the Military Act would remove an unjust reflection on Canadian officers.

Referring briefly to Mr. Arnold Foster's suggestion that Canada should, without expense to herself, send a regiment to India to secure the training that service there would afford. Sir Frederick remarked that this had not been considered officially by either the Defence Commission or by the Canadian Government. It was a suggestion put forward with the best of intentions.

Sir Frederick himself believed our permanent force was too small to take this matter up. Besides, there were so many other matters of urgent importance that this scheme must remain in abeyance for the present.

ACHES AND PAINS.

Are Merely Symptoms of Disease and Must be Treated Through the Blood.

If you suffer with pain—any kind of pain—keep in mind that pain is but a symptom, not a disease; that what you must fight is not the pain but its cause; that liniments and oils for external application are absolutely useless. To overcome the cause of pain internal treatment is necessary. Pains, no matter where located, will disappear when you purify and enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves. Aches and pains disappear as if by magic when Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are used. Every dose actually makes new, rich, red blood, which drives disease from the system and banishes pain. Thousands and thousands of grateful people have given their testimony to prove this. Mr. George Cary, Tilbury, Ont., says:—"For a whole summer I suffered terribly from sciatica. The pain was something awful, and I could scarcely bear to have anything touch my leg. I took medicine from two doctors, and tried a number of recommended remedies, but derived no benefit. Then I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and this medicine helped me almost from the start, and soon released me from the trouble, and I have not since had a twinge of it. I therefore have great reason to praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Sciatica, rheumatism, neuralgia and all other aches and pains are completely driven from the system through a fair use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Don't take any pink coloured substitute; see that the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" is printed on the wrapper around the box. If in doubt send direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and the pills will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

Lord Wolseley in Canada.

Lord Wolseley, in his new book of military recollections, speaks of his winter amusements in Montreal, as follows: "Of course, I bought horses and a sledge, in which I daily drove charming women, both Canadian and American. Some extremely nice Southerner families had taken refuge in Montreal, and added much to its social amusements. There was a skating rink where everyone performed daily on the ice, a regimental band adding much zest to the exercise. The garrison consisted of two battalions of foot guards, one of the line, and a battery of field artillery. The general commanding the troops in the Province of Quebec—to which Montreal belongs—was Sir James Lindsay, an able, energetic soldier, whose heart was in his work, and one of the most charming men I ever knew. He was the life and soul of the place, and as great a favorite with the Canadians as he was with the troops under his command. We had very successful garrison theatricals in the winter, and many were the sledge expeditions we made into the neighboring country. Altogether, it was an elysium of bliss for young officers, the only trouble being to keep single."

THE ACCELERATED PACE.

Canadian Progress in the Present Differs Much From Canadian Progress in the Not Yet Far Distant Past.

In the column devoted to social gossip appeared a paragraph the other day which recorded that a gathering had been held in honor of a lady who had recently taken up her residence in the place. As is the wont of the social chronicler, the costumes of several of the ladies present were described, and the mention of the etamine, the voile de soie, the bertha, the chiffon, and the applique indicated that the affair was held in a place on the highway of civilization. There were charming young ladies in the tea-room, and, indeed, all the resources and even superfluities that are considered indispensable to moderate comfort in this stage of being.

Such paragraphs may be found in newspapers every day, but what drew attention to this one particularly was that a person might have stood on the spot where this gathering took place five years ago, and unless he had carefully grub-staked himself would have been in danger of dying from hunger before he could work his way out of the bewildering wilderness of woods and mountains that rose all about him. For that was what it was—an untouched wilderness. The only trees that had ever fallen in the thick fir bush in the valleys were those that had succumbed to age. The wild creatures of stream and hillside did not know man well enough to be afraid of him; and now within five years' space we have a well-grown town, with its social gatherings made bright and elegant by the rich fabrics of the looms of France and Britain.

The matter is worth remarking, for it constitutes a factor in every calculation that may be made as to national growth. If we were to argue from Canadian progress in the past to Canadian progress in the future we would be egregiously misled, says The Toronto Globe. Five years after John Galt cut the first tree on the site of Guelph or Galt there would scarcely have been receptions graced with Paris gowns and the other luxuries that arrive in a Rocky Mountain mining camp almost as soon as the first shipment of ore goes out. Hon. James Young in his "Public Men and Public Life in Canada" says that even as late as 1853 matters were decidedly rude, raw, and democratic in this Ontario of ours. "Every thing," he says, "produced on the farm or manufactured, which required to be exported, as well as all kinds of groceries, hardware, and goods of every description imported into the interior of the country, had to be laboriously teamed by horses or oxen to or from tidewater. . . . House of stone or brick were still the exception in the country. . . . The surroundings of all but the wealthy classes, and especially of the farmers, were rude and backward, judged by present standards. The houses of the latter were scantily, often indeed roughly, furnished. In the country Canadian homespun and the coarse tweeds and other woollens made at the old-fashioned woollen mills were still generally patronized. Luxuries of all kinds were scarce. . . . There was neither the wealth, the conveniences, the comforts, nor the pleasures which are now enjoyed by the great mass of Canadians in all the well-settled sections of the Dominion."

The Province had been settled for more than fifty years, and yet these were the conditions in the fairest and most fertile portions of it. It must be thought that we make more progress to-day in five years than in fifty in the early days. The railroad is undoubtedly the great lever of progress, and the speed of present-day settlement will bear the same relation to the settlement of the past that the locomotive and cars bear to the springless ox-cart on the corduroy roads of primitive Ontario.

Wretch.

"George, did you ever love any other woman as well as you love me?"

"Oh, yes, my dear; several of them."

"Indeed! Why didn't you marry one of them instead of me?"

"Well, I suppose I'll be asking myself that question, too, some day."

Native—Lots of it.

Sportsman—What kind of game?

Native—No game at all. Just hunting.

A PLAGIARIST.

The Sort of a Thief That Charles Reade Pronounced Himself.

The novelists who aspire toward absolute originality of plot might think once in awhile of the sources from which certain masters drew their inspiration and of the calmness with which those great workers picked up whatever would serve them at their trade. Charles Reade depended on the newspapers as the living record of life as it is. One day in the week he devoted to his scrapbooks. Passing events seemed to him of vital importance, and the result of his collating appeared in novels whose "purpose" told.

In "Never Too Late to Mend" he exposed the cruelties practiced in the prisons before the reform was successful; in "Hard Cash" he attacked the abuses of private lunatic asylums; in "Put Yourself In His Place" he opened on trade unions. He was a modern crusader. One day he found in a newspaper certain strictures on this manner of work. His rage was instant and violent.

"Plagiarist!" he roared, crushing the paper. "Of course I am a plagiarist. Shakespeare was a plagiarist. Moliere was a plagiarist. We all plagiarise—all except those idiots who are too asinine to profit by the works of their superiors. Surely every blockhead out of a lunatic asylum (except those idiots) must know that since Homer's time all authors have parodied his incidents and paraphrased his sentiments. Moliere took his own where he found it. 'The thief of all thieves was the Warwickshire thief,' who stole right and left from everybody. But, then, he 'found things lead and left them gold.' That's the sort of thief I am."—Youth's Companion.

Fiscalitis Is Old.

Fiscalitis is a disease that flourished in England as far back as the fourteenth century, only the tax that was then imposed upon foreign goods was a broken head to the maker of them.

When Wat Tyler's people entered Southwark in 1371 their anger was so great against the Flemish weavers and other workers that they made the pronunciation of "bread and cheese" a test of the honest home worker, and whoever failed to pass it was deemed a Fleming and put to death. A century later Cade's Kentishmen had for one of their cries, "The foreigners forestall the market, and so Englishmen want and starve!"

About 1585 England was called the Asylum Christi, so many were the foreign weavers, brewers, silk workers and jewelers who settled there, and a popular saying in Henry VIII.'s reign, "The French teach us how to make hats and how to take them off," shows the importance of foreign made goods at that time.—London Standard.

The Old Time Pepper Mill.

A pepper mill is a piece of silver not often seen on tables nowadays. English housekeepers, however, still use the pepper mill, and American silversmiths sometimes keep it to meet the demands of old fashioned families who prefer to grind their own pepper rather than risk the chance of adulteration. The pepper mill dates back to the time when pepper was a scarce commodity and was always ground at the table from the peppercorns. Pepper was so valuable in those days that rents were often paid in peppercorns, and the high prices they brought were among the incentives that induced explorers to brave the dangers of the unknown deep. If a short passage could be discovered to the Indies, it was agreed by all that a wealth of pepper could be easily brought to Europe.

Watery Blood, Declining Health.

Strength and Vigor Can Only be Maintained by Means of Pure, Rich Blood.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

For many generations doctors have realised the importance of the blood as the source of life and health but it is only in more modern times that science has discovered the best means of forming new blood and so rebuilding the wasted tissues.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the result of careful study of this problem and has proved by far the most successful method of restoring weak, watery blood to a healthful condition.

Anaemia, chlorosis, nervous exhaustion and prostration, and each and every disorder which arises from insufficiency in the quality or quantity of the blood are readily cured by the regular and persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

By noting your increase in weight while using this great food cure you can prove beyond dispute that new firm flesh and tissue are being added.

Mrs. Smeaton, 191 Rubidge street, Peterborough, Ont., and whose husband is employed with the Canadian General Electric Co., states:

"My little son was very much run down in health, had no colour in his face and was quite nervous. As his appetite was poor and he seemed tired and listless, we became anxious about him, and began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It was not long before I noticed a marked change in his appearance. His appetite improved, his appetite became better, and his health generally was very much better than it had been for a long time. I have much pleasure in adding my testimony to the hosts of others who are praising this medicine."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 10

CURIOUS OLD CUSTOMS.

Election of a Mayor Duty Neglected by Not Visiting Ale Houses—Give Imposed Civic Kiss at a Price.

Electing the Mayor is attended with many quaint old customs in different parts of England, and not the least curious—for it is observed nowhere else in the kingdom—is High Wycombe's annual ceremony. As each year comes round so each Mayor is weighed, and his weight to the ounce is recorded in the corporation's book kept specially for the purpose. At the conclusion of his year of office the Mayor is weighed again. Yet His Worship does not enjoy this distinction entirely alone. Every member of the civic Body has to submit to the ordeal and endeavor to preserve dignity under trying circumstances. This amusing ceremony has been carried out, more or less regularly, since the thirteenth century. On the auspicious morning the corporation, attended by the beadle and mace bearer, in their gorgeous old-world costumes, proceed to the Mayor's residence, and His Worship having put in an appearance, they march in solemn and stately procession to the Guildhall, where the weighing is conducted.

Calne, Wiltshire's old-fashioned market town, has a custom just as curious. Annually the municipal officials meet for a wine and cake party, where, in a convivial spirit, sitting round the festive table, the Mayor for the ensuing year is elected.

Among the many quaint ceremonies Brightlingsea enjoys, one of its most interesting is concerned with the appointment of its Mayor. At the door of the ancient parish church on the all-important morning come freemen, jurats and others of the populace as desire. All having assembled, the party proceed to climb into the church's belfry, where it has been the custom for centuries to elect the Mayor and freemen. Here, far above the top of the surrounding houses, with bell-ropes hanging about them, the Mayor is invested with his robe of office and elaborate gold chain, each link of which appropriately represents a sprat and an oyster.

A quaint old-world ceremony took place not many weeks ago at another Cinque Port—Dover. It was the meeting of the Council of Brotherhood and Guestling, held for only the third occasion in 327 years. Each of the Mayors of the five ports—Dover, Sandwich, Hastings, Romney, and Hythe—were present in the robe of a baron of the Cinque Ports, attended by his mace-bearer in gorgeous habiliments. Part of the ceremony consisted in reading some of the decrees from the Black Book of the ports made in the 13th year of Queen Elizabeth's reign. One of these decrees forbids a member to speak more than once, under a penalty of 3s. 4d.—quite a formidable sum in those days.

Even more ancient are the quaint ceremonies observed every now and then by the Mayor and coporation of Dunstable. When recently the bailiff and hayward, known in a less ancient borough as the town-crier, tendered his resignation, quite an epoch arrived in the history of the quaint old town. A Court Leet was at once held, attended by the Mayor and corporation in civic state, and all the old customs were enforced. Jurymen serving for the first time were fined 1s. to buy "colt ale" for their fellows. Two aldermen were again elected as ale-tasters, after one had been fined 1s. 4d. for neglect of duty, which duty is to walk into any one of Dunstable's thirty-six licensed houses and call for a free stoup of ale. The Mayor and his councillors would as soon think of ignoring these old customs as of appearing on a state occasion without their robes of office.

Newcastle's Mayor enjoys the privilege of once a year being allowed to select and kiss any young lady who takes his fancy among the coal city's inhabitants. The kiss is rather costly, however, for it is the custom to afterwards present the young lady with a sovereign, while a further gift is made her by the lady Mayoress, no doubt to disprove jealousy. The sheriff, not to be outdone, also bestows a kiss upon a fair bystander—at the same rate of expenditure.

An excellent custom is observed at the election of the Mayor of Newport, in Monmouthshire. The town clerk is deprived of his cocked hat, which is passed round to the assembled officials, for contributions towards the maintenance of a children's cot at the local infirmary. The dispensation of charity is also a feature of Newbury's Mayor. Every year from an ancient gift known as the "St. Thomas' Half Crowns" His Worship distributes coins of this value to about 100 poor widows.

Most Mayors inaugurate the commencement of their year of office by a sumptuous spread, but of all Mayoral feasts Peterborough's is surely the strangest. The luncheon, at the expense of the Mayor, is held upon the occasion of the opening of Peterborough's Bridge Fair, when His Worship and the councillors, in civic state, sit down to regale themselves at a feast of champagne and sausages.

No Women Lawyers in England.

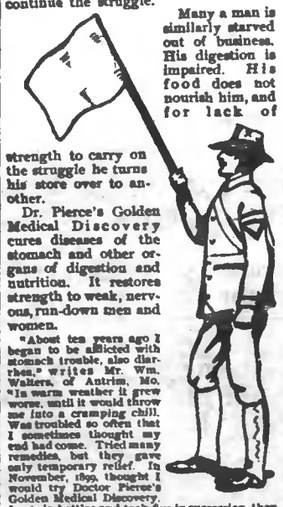
The House of Lords has finally decided that women are debarred by their sex from becoming qualified lawyers in England. This question arose on the appeal of a Londoner, Miss Bertha Cavo, against the decision of the Benchers of Gray's Inn not to admit her as a student for the purpose of being called to the bar. The court decided that there was no precedent for a woman's admission to the inns of court, and no reason to create a precedent.

Scotland's Acres.

Scotland has an area of 10,062,482 acres, of which 4,894,466 acres are twelve persons own one-half of the swelve persons own one-half of the total area, and eighteen persons own one-fourth of it. One-fourth of the tenants hold five acres or less and nearly one-third hold between five and twenty acres.

STARVED OUT.

Many a garrison has been forced to give up the fight and hang out the white flag of surrender, when lack of food has weakened the men past all power to continue the struggle.



Many a man is similarly starved out of business. His digestion is impaired. His food does not nourish him, and for lack of strength to carry on the struggle he turns his store over to another.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores strength to weak, nervous, run-down men and women.

"About ten years ago I began to be afflicted with stomach trouble, also diarrhea," writes Mr. Wm. Walters, of Antrim, Mo. "In warm weather it grew worse, until it would throw me into a cramping chill. Was troubled so often that I sometimes thought my end had come. Tried many remedies, but they gave only temporary relief. In November, 1899, thought I would try Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I got six bottles and took five in succession, then thought I would wait for a time and take the one left. Soon found I had symptoms of the trouble coming back, so took the sixth bottle and it cured me. I have enjoyed the best of health this summer, and the credit all belongs to your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I can't express my many thanks to Dr. Pierce for his remedy, for it did so much for me. Words cannot express how severely I suffered.

"If any doubt the above statement let them address me, and I will take great pleasure in answering."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the bowels and stimulate the sluggish liver.

The Successful Scheme of a Theatrical Press Agent.

An agent who was in despair owing to his failure to get any advertising that had not been paid for found himself in a big western city with his attraction playing to strong competition and something desperately needed to attract public attention to his show. In one scene of the play a pair of handcuffs figured. The agent had an inspiration. He had the star snap a handcuff on her wrist, and then the agent concealed the key, saying it had been lost. The star was compelled to finish the act wearing the handcuff dangling from her wrist. The audience knew it should not be there, and comment was aroused. Between the next two acts the agent drove the actress swiftly to police headquarters, near at hand. The police captain was mysteriously called out. He was informed that the actress must have the handcuff removed at once and secretly, as she did not wish news of her predicament to get out. The chief brought out a big bunch of keys, and finally the handcuff was removed, but not until a dozen alert reporters had snuffed a "story" and were plying the reluctant press agent with questions. Finally the whole story was pumped out of the agent, the star having returned to finish the play. Next morning the first page of every local paper had a fine story, descriptive of the plight of the actress who had accidentally fastened a handcuff to her wrist. The public was interested and flocked to see the play, and the resourceful agent went on to the next town wondering what new thing he could spring on the sensation lovers there.—William Loftus in Reader Magazine.

Marriages in Burma.

Burma is unique among the countries of the east in the position accorded to women. There is no purdah there, and, gentle as she looks, the married woman is the head of her house. The girls before their ears are pierced, which is equivalent to a coming out reception, are allowed to roam about the streets playing boyish games with their brothers and their friends, and afterward there are many opportunities for young men and women to meet at festivals, boat races and other gayeties. Marriages in Burma therefore are usually love matches, and the unmarried woman is in no hurry to change her state. Burmese women are charming, generally slender, dainty and demurely coquettish. They wear gayly colored garments, which make them look like flower beds, and their hair, which is shining and smooth, is always uncovered and decked with flowers.

The Japanese Hell.

The Japanese language has no equivalent for our word "hell," but has the word "jigoku" instead. Jigoku consists of, first, eight immense hot hells, ranging one beneath the other in tiers. Each of these hells has sixteen additional hells outside its gates, like so many antechambers, so that there are in all 136 hot hells. Second, there are eight large cold hells, each with its sixteen ante-hells, making the same number of cold that there are of hot hells. Besides these 272 hot and cold hells for offenders of the common sort the wily Japs have twenty mammoth "hells of utter darkness," into which will be consigned the spirits of children who take the name of Dai Buiss, or Great Buddha, in vain.

THE COUNTRY DOCTOR.

Rural Physician One of the Heroes of the Country.

There was a sharp ring at the bell, which was followed by footsteps inside, and the door was opened.

"Mrs. ——— is very sick."

It was 1 o'clock in the morning. Mrs. ——— lived 12 miles away, and the roads were bad. It was snowing heavily, and blowing a gale.

Mrs. ——— was poor. She already owed a considerable bill to the doctor who had just answered the summons. The wind whistled about the open door, and the flakes eddied in and melted against the chimney of the lamp in the doctor's hand. The caller left, and in a quarter of an hour the doctor was on his way in the face of the storm. He stilled the voice of pain in that house 12 miles away. He brought on sleep, and left the sufferer pointing towards recovery.

When he turned from his stable door and entered his home, the sun was up and the cock had crowed the morn.

His had been a work of charity, yet he did not believe himself a Samaritan.

Do you ever think of the country doctor as the smart equipage of the city physician passes your door? He is one of the heroes of our young nation. As peace has her victories, she has her heroes, even greater than those of war. He who fights with blood and flesh visible, dressed in the uniform of the enemy, fights while the world watches, fights to kill, while the press waits to make his name known ere the smoke has cleared away. The soldier fights for honor, love, and country, fights for crosses, decorations, and recognition. But what of the country doctor who fights to save, who fights the foe invisible, fights without the calcium of the press being pointed on him, fights through cold and heat, darkness and discouragement, mile upon mile he goes.

League upon league is nothing new to him.

Remember the country doctor.

He has no coachman.

His own hands become numbed and blue with the driving. There are no brass buttons beside him, there is no high-stepping hackney in front and pneumatic-tired carriage to ride in.

He knows no asphalt.

Did you ever try the side lines and feel the corduroy?

Matriculant of the same school, graduate of the same university, seat-mate, chum, fellow of his confrere of the city, they parted at the convocation. They attended the same lectures, witnessed the same operations, enjoyed the same opportunities, and then they parted. He to the country, to the quiet and solitude of the simple, single-hearted life near the soil. Obscure? Yes, for his name is upon no brass plate, or reflected to hurrying humanity from a transom.

His name is not noted in the press as performing some remarkable operation. Yet, even as his brother of the city, he does perform remarkable operations.

Is the anatomy of the son of the soil, of the hand-maiden of the country, is it less complicated, is it less delicately constructed, than that of the city's great ones?

Not much.

So on he goes, a hero, sometimes bringing in the youthful pilgrim of the night, and sometimes easing the journey of the aged one as he moves to the other shore. On he goes. He seeks no other satisfaction than the doing of duty.

Did you hear the wind blowing about your bedroom window? The register was open and the room was warm, but as the wind waked you by its shriek you shivered as you turned to listen.

He drove 24 miles in that gale.—Charles F. Raymond, in Toronto Star.

Creases in Drawings.

Creases in drawings, engravings, etc., may be leveled out by following these instructions: Fasten the engraving or drawing by drawing pins on a board, face downward, on a sheet of paper; on the back place another sheet of paper which retains a very slight quantity of moisture. Over this place flannel or blotting paper, and, taking a hot iron, pass it carefully over the part where the creases have been made until they disappear and then submit the drawings or engravings to pressure between printer's glazed boards.

Papa Did Too.

"This is my son Frederick, Mr. Fosdick," said Mr. Glanders proudly, introducing his five-year-old boy to his caller.

"Well, Frederick," said the caller, "do you obey your mamma?"

"Yes, sir," replied Frederick promptly, "and so does papa."

HOW CANADA COMPARES.

Claims to Which It Belongs as to Population and Resources.

Canadians are often at a loss to know how their country compares in size and population with others. A few parallels will enable the average man to estimate the possibilities of the Dominion and the premier province. Canada with a population of 5,371,315 is in the same class as the Argentine Republic, with 4,794,149; Belgium, with 6,693,548; Afghanistan, 4,000,009; Bavaria, 6,176,057; Saxony, 4,200,000; Holland, 5,268,382; Portugal, 5,423,659; Roumania, 6,000,000; Siam, 5,000,000; Sweden, 5,175,228; Turkey in Europe, 6,000,000.

But these countries differ widely from Canada in size. Afghanistan is somewhat smaller than Ontario; the Argentine Republic is about half as large as Ontario. If Canada was as thickly populated as Belgium is we should have a nation of 1,772 millions.

The area of Ontario is 222,000 square miles, and its population 2,182,947. Compare these with Cape Colony, population 2,433,000, area 221,311; Austria-Hungary, area 240,142 population 45,242,889; France, area 207,054 population 38,961,945; Madagascar, area 228,500, population 2,500,000; Greece, population 2,434,000, area 25,014; Liberia, population 2,200,000, area 35,000; Morocco, area 220,000, population estimated at from two and a half to ten millions; Finland, population 2,673,200, area 144,255; Servia, population 2,493,770, area 18,630; Spain, area 194,783, population 18,618,086; Venezuela, population 2,324,000, area 593,943; Norway, population 2,239,880, area 124,130; Wurtemburg, population 2,169,480, area 7,528.

Italy with half the area of Ontario has a population of 32,475,253. Japan, three-quarters the size of Ontario, has 44,260,604 people. Denmark squeezes a population larger than Ontario's into 15,360 square miles.

Great Britain spends $112,500,000 a year on the support of the poor. This does not include private charities.

MR. A. JOHNSTON WON THE MEDAL.

Presented by Canadian Bank of Commerce for Best Dairy Cow.

Mr. Archibald Johnston, of Lakeburst, was in town to-day, and on his return to the northern village will take with him a bronze medal won by him at the Harvey Agricultural Society's Fair, held last autumn, donated by the Canadian Bank of Commerce for the best dairy cow. The medal is a very handsome one, being considerably larger than a silver dollar. On the reverse side is a rural scene depicted, showing a farm yard, while on the obverse are the words, "Canadian Bank of Commerce," encircling the inscription to the effect that the medal was presented to Mr. Archibald Johnston for the best dairy cow at the Harvey Agricultural Society's Fair, 1903.

Naturally Mr. Johnston is highly pleased with the medal.

HOCKEY.

In previous games the moderate request of the rink management that the gentlemen refrain from smoking while in the building has been almost universally respected, and it is hoped that to-night will see a continuance of this The improvement both to the players and spectators is freely commented upon, and in the game to-night when the largest crowd probably that has ever been inside the building is present, it is very desirable that this very reasonable rule be complied with.

Peterborough Junior O. H. A. team made its first out of town trip last night, when the members went to Belleville to play the Junior team of that city. The team was considerable weakened by the absence of Captain Parker from the line-up, and was defeated by a score of 7 to 0. The score, according to the referee, however, did not indicate the relative strength of the two teams, and the visiting seven played a good hard game. The light was very poor, and nearly all the goals were scored on high lifts, the poor lights making it very difficult to see them. Van Every played an excellent game and the seven goals which got past him were not in any way discreditable to him. The boys were well treated, and have only words of praise for the conduct of the Belleville team. The game was a clean one, referee Sutherland keeping both teams well in hand. He was strictly impartial and his decisions were satisfactory to both teams. A special despatch to the Globe describes the game as follows: The first match of the junior series in group 2 of the O.H.A. was played here to-night between the Belleville and Peterborough teams. From the first Belleville showed superiority in commbination, and, although the visitors worked hard, they could not score, whereas Belleville tallied three goals in the first half. After about ten minutes' play in the second half Belleville gathered in another, and when the score stood 4 to 0 the electric light went out. After a forty-minute interval play was resumed. Belleville, however, succeeded in keeping their opponents from scoring, and added three more to their tally, time being up with 7 to 0 in their favour. The teams and officials were:

Belleville,—Goal, Dolan, point, W. Hamilton; cover-point, Conley; centre, Spaugenberg; forwards, R. Hamilton, Weller, rover, Brennan.

Peterborough—Goal, Van Every; point, Moore; cover point, Paschal; centre, Kennedy; forwards, Hall and Long; rover, McFarlane.

Referee—Jas. Sutherland, of Kingston. Goalu mpires, B. Johnston, of Belleville; McLean, of Peterborough; timekeepers, J. Trualsch, Belleville; Hamilton, Peterborough.

Secretary Hewitt has notified the local club that Dr. W. G. Wood, of Toronto, has been appointed to referee the Belleville-Peterborough game to-night.

TURF.

When Sphinx B. and George Sheeley ran a dead heat in the free for all class on the second day of the Turf Club's winter meeting last week there was some controversy as to what became of the pools. The bookmakers stated that the pools were divided. A local turf man averred that they were not showing how unfair it would be for a man betting ten to three. Secretary Rountree telegraphed Mr. Frank Nelson, sporting editor of the Toronto Globe, an acknowledged authority on all sport, especially the turf, with the result that he received in reply a wire stating that the pools were divided.

A meeting of the Turf Club was held yesterday when it was decided not to hold a meet next month, as had at first was contemplated. On 24th of May the club will hold races and on July 1st should the citizens hold a demonstration as last year, the club will co-operate and hold races. The big annual meet will take place during August.

DR. F. H. LITHGOW'S DAUGHTER DIED.

Two Year Old Daughter of Former Peterborough People Dead.

The Laredo (Texas) Daily Times, on Jan. 4th contains the following:—

"Ida Ruby, the only, and baby daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Lithgow, died yesterday morning at five o'clock, of pneumonia. She was two years, six months and six days of age, and was a beautiful, bright and very interesting child. Though she was ill a week no fear was apprehended until very near the last, when a turn for the worse occurred. The child was fairly idolized by its parents and her death was a severe blow from which they will not recover for many months. The Times extends to them its heartfelt and deepest sympathy in their great and irreparable loss."

On the following day the same paper recorded the funeral as follows:—

"The funeral of the little daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Lithgow occurred from the Episcopal church at ten o'clock yesterday morning. A very pretty and consoling service was conducted by Rev. Ward and the burial took place in the new cemetery.

"The floral tributes were numerous and exceptionally beautiful and there was a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and sympathizing friends of the parents in attendance. It was indeed a sad, but pretty funeral."

BRILLIANT OPENING OF THE LEGISLATURE.

Second Session of 10th Parliament Opened This Afternoon.

His Honor the Lieut-Governor Delivered Speech from the Throne—Matters to be Legislated Upon.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Toronto, Jan. 14th.—The second session of the 10th Parliament of the Province of Ontario opened this afternoon with the usual military ceremonies. A large number attended the opening, which was very impressive.

His Honour, Lieutent-Governor Clark, in opening the session gave his speech from the throne as follows; Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

I take great pleasure in again meeting you as representatives of the Province in Parliament assembled.

The important subject of Municipal Assessment will engage your further consideration, having the advantage derived from the Report of the Royal Commission already in your hands and the careful and painstaking deliberations devoted to the difficult questions involved, by the Select Committee appointed during the last Session of the Legislature. Closely connected with this subject and prominently brought before public attention by Farmers' Associations will be the question of taxation of railways and the determination of a reasonable basis of division of revenue received from this source as between the municipalities and the province.

It affords me much pleasure to notice the continued efficiency of the asylums, hospitals and other public institutions of the Province, for which the Legislature has made such liberal provision for many years. You will be pleased to know that buildings to be used as a Hospital for Epileptics are in process of erection, and are expected to be ready for the reception of patients during the current year. It is also gratifying to notice that several counties that have not yet established Houses of Refuge for the indigent are preparing to do so. The generosity of the municipalities in this respect is worthy of the highest commendation.

The means adopted for the protection of the public health against contagious diseases have been effective in their results, and the general measures taken to improve the sanitary condition of all parts of the province have received the cordial co-operation of the local authorities.

Through Divine goodness, the blessings of a bounteous harvest have been vouchsafed to the husbandmen in every portion of the province, and it is an additional cause for gratitude that prices for all the products of the farm, and especially for those of the dairy and orchard, have been very satisfactory during the past year. The signs of continued prosperity, not in agriculture alone, but in every important branch of business and industrial enterprise give cause for hearty congratulation.

The attendance at the Agricultural College continues steadily to increase. The buildings erected through the generosity of SirWilliam MacDonald are approaching completion, and for the first time in the history of the province, instruction is provided for the daughters of Ontario farmers. The rapid increase of the membership of Women's Institutes shows that this instruction will be appreciated.

It is satisfactory to be able to state that the lumber industry has continued in a prosperous condition during the past year. The strongest evidence of this is afforded by the recent timber sale at which, notwithstanding that the dues and ground rent were almost doubled, the prices paid were in excess of those received at any previous sale.

In order to further protect the forest wealth of the Province large additional tracts of timbered lands, non-agricultural in their character, have been set aside as forest reserves, from which settlement will be excluded, and in which it is proposed to apply new conditions as to the cutting and conservation of the timber.

Progress continues to be made in developing the mineral resources of the Province, and recent discoveries of new and valuable ores emphasize at once the latent wealth of our northern regions and the wisdom of providing railway facilities to render them accessible.

Owing to the deficiency of farm labour in the Province and consequent embarrassment to agriculture, special efforts were made by my Government to induce immigration of agricultural labourers from Great Britain, with the result that many farmers were supplied with much needed assistance during the harvest and autumn season.

Satisfactory progress has been made with the construction of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway and the advantages which have already resulted to the province demonstrate the great value of the undertaking. The surveys made during the past year show that the railway may be profitably prolonged at moderate cost through the centre of the rich agricultural district north-west of Lake Temiskaming at least as far as the proposed line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. A measure enabling the Government to proceed with the extension will be submitted to you.

There will be laid before you the report of the Select Committee appointed at the last session of the House for the purpose of collating reports of Committees or Commissions or other authorities on the subject of Municipal Trading or Municipal Ownership or the operation of public utilities as well as other authoritative deliverances on these subjects

Measures will be submitted for the improvement of the License Laws, the amendment of the Assessment Act, the conservation of the timber resources of the Province, a Bill to enable Municipal Councils in cities, towns and villages by by-law to substitute one board of trustees for the existing High School Board, Public School Board, and Library Board, a Bill to amend the Election Act and the Act Respecting the Supplementary Revenue of the Province.

The Estimates for the current year, prepared with as great regard to economy as is consistent with efficient service and the growing wants of the Province, will be submitted for your early consideration.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR PORT HOPE GAME.

Hockey Club Will Run Special on Monday to Port Hope.

On Monday night the local team will go to Port Hope to play the team of that town in the Intermediate O.H.A. Series, and the club has arranged for a special train which will leave here at 6.30 sharp, arriving in Port Hope at 7.30, in ample time to see the game, which starts at 8.30. The train will return after the close of the game.

This will be sure to be a good hard game, as there has always been considerable rivalry between these two teams, and there will no doubt be a large number of supporters anxious to accompany the team.

The return fare will be $1.10, and all who accompany the team may be assured of admission to the rink.

The boys have struck a winning gait and should be given every support.

At no Time in the Year

Can we afford the same space coupled with same values as we can in January for the sale of Whitegoods and Whitewear in particular. Trade Departments have wrought a big change from old time methods. That's one of the reasons why Canadian Whitewear has taken such leaps and bounds in styles, qualities, and price modifying. Especially in these seasons of Cotton Fluctuations.

In the first place the Whitewear Manufacturers are blouse manufacturers, and every manufacturer was after the then larger end of the trade, the Blouses. Now these two articles had the biggest demand at the same time, in the spring and summer.

The outer Garment (the blouse) demanded perhaps more assidious attention to the detriment of the inner garment.

January was selected by some of the live manufacturers as a month in which to throw away certain profits to the retailer for the sake of keeping his blouse and whitwear operators busy during an otherwise dead season (October, November and December.

The Retailer readily took on the idea of a "Push" Sale of Whitewear, when he could offer extra special inducements to buyers—in cut price lines.

An Absurd Idea

Were these January Whitewear Sales thought some—no reason in them. Why do we want white goods with snow on the ground. But these Whitewear Sales have revolutionized the whole Whitewear trade.

Merchants began to realize that Whitewear could be bought cheaper and deliveries more dependable if they bought several months earlier in the season—these were advantages for the merchant. Now for the manufacturer—instead of "wondering" through the dull fall months he got to "thinking" and planned or conceived the daintiest conceits in the now looked for "simple or elegant" White Lingerie. The Lingerie such as this store is particularly noted for—women look forward with eager delight to the annual treat, Sutcliffe & Sons beautiful and extensive range of White Undergarments.

Peterborough a Progressive City

and why should its merchants not adopt the principles of the largest cities, and enable its citizens to buy the best of the good things that can be found in any city in Whitewear. This firm realized the advantages of these January Whitewear Sales and originally introduced them to the Peterborough people.

Our Fifth January Whitewear Sale

is now in progress and we do not mislead when we say that the styles and great price inducements offered during this sale will amply repay any woman to inspect the array of White Underwearables now on sale — and which, occupy a thoroughly well lighted, well heated, airy position, on our second floor.

BRIDGENORTH.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Bridgenorth, Jan. 12, 1904.

Good sligh ing.

The roads are in good condition.

Mr. George Bell was in Peterborough attending the races.

Mr. Thos. Cullen has commenced his ice harvest.

Mrs. Patrick Gereghts has left on a business trip to Newton, Mass.

Mr. Fred Broadley, who has been spending the past week visiting his mother in Toronto, has returned home.

Mrs. Smythe Kelly who has been spending the past ten days with her parents in Perth, has returned home.

Mr. Jim Jopling, who has not been enjoying the best of health during the past few months, is able to be around again.

Mr. Ryerson Coones, who has been spending a well earned holiday with his son in Orillia, has returned home.

Mrs. S. Morrison is confined to her room. Dr. Morgan is in attendance.

Miss Quinn, of Lakefield, who has been spending a few days in the village, the guest of Miss Lizzie Quinn, has returned home.

Mr. Chillie, the collector, made a flying visit to the village last week.

Mr. Wm. O'Leary drove back to Gannons Narrows Bride on Friday last to give some orders about cutting ice around the piers.

Mr. Wm. Ball, who has been confined to the house for two weeks, is able to attend to his work again.

Mr. John Fairbairn, who has been laid up at his home during the past two weeks with blood poisoning, is able to take charge of his shop again.

Mrs. Nathan Taylor, while spending Christmas with her sister, Mrs. Powell, of Peterborough, took very ill and has, up to the present time, been unable to return to her home.

Miss Evelyn Nicholls, daughter of Mr. Wm. Nicholls, who has been confined to her bed for the past six weeks with rheumatism is able to be up again.

Pete Morrison, who is eng ged cutting wood in a swamp on the Lakefield road, states positively he saw a robin last week. Was it a dream he had?

Mr. Levi Harris, who is engaged with Mr. Jopling and who has charge of his farm in Emmismore, had the misfortune to lose one of his fingers last Saturday while engaged in operating a turnip cutter.

Mr Edward Mann of Elgin, Manitoba, accompanied by Mrs. Mann, and son, Melville, are spending a couple of months, visiting relatives in and around the township of Smith, and are at present the guests of the former's brother, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Mann at the village.

Business will be quite brisk this winter on the lake. The new firm of Coon and Morrison are going into the ice business on an extensive scale and have at present booked orders for over 2000 blocks.

The open air skating rink on the lake is well patronized each evening. Every young man who has a sweetheart contributes a pine stump each night for a bon-fire, which tends to brighten things up considerably.

Miss M. E. McEwan, who has been engaged as teacher for the village school, has returned to the village, and is making her home with Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Mann.

Mr. R. C. Heard has been appointed a school trustee in the place of Mr. S. Morrison, who has resigned. Mr. Morrison was a valued member of the school board and considerable time in fulfilling his duties as trustee. The other two trustees are Mr. T. R. Mann and Mr. W. Grant.

The new township council met on Monday and held a short session. Messrs. Harvey and Graham were given a jaunt around the town hall on the township goat, and are now qualified to take a hand in making good roads through the township of Smith. Bob Scott has promised a cement sidewalk on the main street of the village.

Mrs. J. H. Mann accompanied by her daughter, Miss Ida, had a thrilling experience and a narrow escape one day last week while driving a horse and cutter from Mr. Garbutt's in Smith, to their home just east of the village. The horse which was being driven by Miss Mann, took fright at some object on the road, and took to the ditch at a point where the road is very narrow, the result being that they were both thrown from the cutter. Miss Mann succeeded in holding on to the reins for some distence but was forced to lose her hold as the horse had gained such headway. The horse ran some four miles when it was capturedcaptured by Mr. Sam. Steele on the Lakefield road, no damage being done to the outfit. Fortunately the occupants escaped with only a severe shaking up.

INDIAN RIVER NEWS.

Mr. J. G. Whiten, of MacMaster University, Toronto, preached in the Indian River and Warsaw churches on Sunday last.

Death has once more visited our community and has removed from us the only son of Mr. John Harrison, as the result of a serious type of scarlet fever. The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Harrison in their sad bereavement.

On account of the illness of Mr. Burke the work on the canal has been at a standstill for a short time. We are glad to say that he is recovering and work will doubtless soon be recommenced.

Tobogganing is now the most popular sport of the young people of the town.

The Misses McNaughton of Norwood, were the guests of Mrs. Frank Raddon, of Jermyn on Sunday last.

We are pleased to say that Mr. Walker has entirely recovered from his recent illness and is able to be about again.

MYSTERY SHROUDED

Two Shantymen Found Dead Near Fort Frances.

FROG CREEK'S DIRE TRAGEDY

William Watson, From Lanark, Found With His Throat Cut and Head Knocked in—John Scott's Body Frozen Stiff—Bloodstained Knife and Whetstone—Bed Found in the Same Room.

Fort Frances, Jan. 14.—A terrible tragedy took place at Frog Creek, three miles north of here, some time Tuesday night, which is shrouded in mystery. Two men, William Watson and John Scott, were engaged last week to cut wood for A. Dowker on the farm of one James McKay, and were allowed the use of a shanty on an adjoining claim. Mr. Dowker visited them on Sunday, when Scott complained of being sick. On Monday night a gentleman named Cole, passing by, heard the door shut and that is the last heard of the men.

Yesterday morning, when Cole and another man were passing by, they thought something was wrong, and going into the shanty found it empty. On the floor they picked up a case knife and whetstone covered with blood, and on examining the bed found it in the same condition. On searching near the house they found the body of Watson leaning against a stump, dead with a gash in his throat, and his head knocked in.

Still further on they found Scott lying in the snow frozen stiff, with no marks apparently on him. As Scott had been dead for some time, how Watson could have received such terrible wounds is a mystery. Watson is said to have come from Lanark County, Ontario, and was about 40 years of age. He was supposed to have a wife and family.

Scott was about 50 years of age, and clean shaven. Both men were addicted to drink, and have been hanging around town since New Year's. Dr. Moore, the coroner, empannelled a jury and began an inquest yesterday afternoon. After viewing the remains the jurors adjourned to meet next week.

CANNIBALISM IN ONTARIO.

One Indian Woman's Fate North of Lake Nepigon.

Port Arthur, Jan. 14.—Report has reached here from Nepigon of terrible suffering of Indians in the country north of Nepigon Lake, because of starvation. Great distress is said to exist, and, according to a report of an Indian who arrived in Nepigon this week, one family was so destitute that one of the women was murdered and eaten by the family.

A. W. Patterson, Hudson Bay factor at Nepigon Lake, who came to town Tuesday night, reports that Indians in his district are not suffering any privation, and he disbelieves the story.

Eight Employes in Shoe Company Meet Death in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 14.—A crowd of employes pressing against the elevator gate last night on the sixth floor of the Brown Shoe Company Building at 11th street and Washington avenue, caused the gate to give way and 10 persons were plunged down the shaft. Six were taken out dead and the other four seriously injured, were hurried to the City Hospital. Two of the injured died soon after reaching the hospital without regaining consciousness. James Johnston, the elevator operator, was arrested.

Coming From Faraway India.

Toronto, Jan. 14.—Thomas Southworth, director of colonization, has received word that a party of English residents of the central province of India, retired civil servants and their families, are coming to Canada to settle. He has been in communication with them for some time, and they have been so much impressed with the advantages offered by this province that they have decided to take up farms in the older part of the province. They are people of wealth, and will engage in the tilling of the soil on a large scale. Three of the families are already on the way and two others will start in the near future.

Death of John Lyman.

Toronto, Jan. 14.—John Lyman, president of the Northrop and Lymas Co., wholesale medicines, died suddenly in Syracuse yesterday morning. Deceased was 84 and was born in New York State. With the late Mr. Northrop, the firm was established at Newcastle, Ont., 50 years ago, removing the headquarters here 30 years ago. Enormous Growth.

Ever since Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were first introduced to the public the sales have steadily increased, each year being larger than the year preceding. This is probably the best evidence of their remarkable efficiency, as a treatment for derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels. They are invaluable as a family medicine.

BANNERMAN PROPHETIC.

Those Who Cannot Follow Chamberlain Invited to Join in Liberal Triumph.

London, Jan. 14.—Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman addressed a large meeting at Maidstone last night on the fiscal question. He declared that the entire Liberal party would welcome the assistance of those of the Conservative party who were unable to follow their leaders on tariff reform, which was political gambling. A gain of 50 per cent. as evidenced by 23 bye-elections, indicated a coming Liberal triumph. He declared that Chamberlain's whole fabric and scaffolding of argument was ruined by the Board of Trade returns.

Germany Wants Agreement.

London, Jan. 14.—(C. A. P.)—The Standard's Berlin correspondent says that the deadlock existing over the removal of the dispute between Canada and Germany is due to the fact that the London Government referred Germany to Ottawa as being independent in commercial matters, while Ottawa referred her back to London, on the ground that Canada was part of the Empire. Germany has been sincere in the matter since the last notification by the German Federal Council prolonging the preliminary commercial treaty with Britain and her colonies. Canada was not mentioned in the hope of reaching a friendly agreement on this question at an early date.

Bad Times For Iron Trade.

London, Jan. 14.—(C.A.P.)—The Chronicle says that the iron trade of Canada and the United States is experiencing bad times, and the fact that Canadian manufacturers are not sending pig iron to Britain shows that the United States market is closed against them by the fall in prices in the States and owing to the renewal in the States of competition, the Canadian markets are not as good as they were.

Not Making a Success.

London, Jan. 14.—(C.A.P.)—It is understood that the representative of the French-Canadians sent to France with a view to encouraging emigration to Canada is not meeting with much success, the French Government not encouraging the scheme.

Kelly Must Pay.

London, Jan. 14.—(C. A. P.)—In the case of Bradshaw versus Carling Kelly of Ottawa, an action over a claim for £1,000, judgment was given for the plaintiff with costs. The action arose out of the promotion of the Sapphile Corrundum Company in London, in which Carling Kelly took a prominent part.

DO NOT WALK ON THIN ICE.

If You Have Catarrh You are in Danger—It Breeds Dyspepsia, Bronchitis and Consumption.

Aside from the extreme offensive and odious nature of the disease catarrh is also very dangerous if left to run its course unchecked. The constant droppings into the throat, which are mostly swallowed during sleep cause poisonous disorders of the throat, stomach and lungs which rapidly develop into dyspepsia, laryngitis, bronchitis and consumption. When these diseases become established, especially the latter, the result is too well known to need pointing out.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are a certain and absolute cuure for catarrh in all forms and all stages. Catarrhal conditions are always of the same nature, whether they exist in the head, throat, stomach, bowels or bladder, and these Tablets act on all alike. They cleanse, renovate and purify the entire system of all catarrhal poisons, and by thus going to the very root of the disease, effect thorough and permanent cures. This is the only way to treat catarrh as local applications, such as sprays, ointments, inhalations, etc., afford only temporary relief and the malady takes hold again with increased vigour.

An Indianapolis physician says:—"I prescribe Stuart's Catarrh Tablets on all occasions, because I find they are most thorough and effective in their work. I have tried a great many prescriptions, my own and others, during thirty years of practice, but have never found anything quite so satisfactory in all respects as these Tablets. I have known the most stubborn and virulent cases of catarrh to yield time after time to Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and I do not hesitate to prescribe and recommend them."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. It will pay you to give them a trial and get away from the suffering, humiliation and danger caused by catarrh.

JOHN EASTON IS INSANE.

Brantford, Jan. 14.—John Easton, the Dowieite, has gone insane and is now in Brantford lockup. He has been living on his farm on the Brantford road, five miles from Brantford.

A child was born to him yesterday forenoon. About noon Easton sent the nurse out of the house, locked the door and proceeded to Mrs. Easton's room and attacked her, grabbing her by the throat and threatening to kill her. The nurse went to a neighboring farm close by and gave the alarm. Assistance was secured, and proceeding to Easton's house, induced the children inside to open the door and got entrance. Then, with some little difficulty, they overpowered Easton and floored him.

It took four men to hold him down. While this was being done he was yelling and preaching as loud as he could yell. They finally got him tied down and procured a sleigh and brought him to Brantford. Mrs. Easton has a very sore throat where he grabbed her.

JAN. 15 DAY OF MEETING.

Chamberlain's Aids Now Numbers 58 to Discuss Tariff.

London, Jan. 15.—The Tariff Reform League issued last night a complete list of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain's tariff commission, with 14 additional members, representatives of the colonies and the manufacturing interests of the United Kingdom, including Sir Charles Bletterman Elliot, Special Commissioner of Railways; the Honorable Vicary Gibbs, M.P., and Sir W. B. Perceval, who was a member of the Royal Commission for the Chicago Exposition. There are a total of 58 members on the commission, which will meet in London on Jan. 15, under the presidency of Mr. Chamberlain.

Not a minute should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack. It never fails, and is pleasant and safe to take.

TO OPEN A NEW ASSOCIATION.

Mr. H. A. Pearson, Late of Sault Ste Marie to go to Collingwood.

Mr. H. A. Pearson, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., until recently secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in that city, arrived town last night, and is spending today here. Mr. Pearson resigned from the office of secretary at the "Soo" to accept a similar position at Collingwood, where a Y.M.C.A. branch is being opened. Mr. Pearson, during his stay in Sault Ste. Marie, has proved an efficient secretary, and has been the means of holding the Association together, and so successful has he been that to him has been entrusted the care and nurture of a new Association.

He leaves for his home in Lindsay to-night, and will remain there a few days before going to Collingwood.

TO START BUSINESS FOR HIMSELF.

Mr. Harry Adams Retiring from the Golden Lion to Open a New "Ready-to-Wear" Store for Ladies and Children.

The public will have read the announcement of the contemplated business change in the firm of Messrs. Robert Fair & Co., which has appeared in these columns. A dissolution of partnership has been mutually decided upon by which Mr. Harry Adams is named as the retiring member of the firm, to take effect about the end of March, next.

After an unbroken connection of twenty years with the successful business career of the "Golden Lion," Mr. Adams has determined to engage in business for himself. While the customers of this store will have their personal regrets at missing Mr. Adams from his long, familiar place—where he has been a special favourite with all classes of shoppers, both as apprentice and partner—they will be unanimous in according him their best wishes for his future success in his new venture.

Born of the demand which seems to be growing rapidly, it is Mr. Adams' purpose to open out a new store for the sale of ladies' ready-to-wear apparel as well as other allied lines. For such a store, Mr. Adams has been fortunate in securing the central premises at present occupied by Mr. W. H. Meredith, on George street, which will be vacant by the middle of March. It will be an exclusively ladies' store, with no dry goods other than those lines already mentioned. A specialty will be made of ladies' and children's apparel, ready-to-wear skirts, suits, mantles, blouses, gloves, hosiery, underwear and fancy goods. Every resource at Mr. Adams' command will be utilized in making this new business as attractive as modern merchandise and methods can make it. And it is not saying more than the natural results would indicate that the public confidence which has been so deservedly reposed in Mr. Adams, will continue when he enters upon his greater responsibilities, and that he will take with him the good wishes of the firm he has been identified with for so many years and the numerous patrons he has so long and faithfully served.

Peterboroughs Took First Game From Belleville Last Night—First Games in Primary Tankard Matches.

HOME TEAM WON THE FIRST GAME.

Defeated the Fast Belleville Bunch Last Night.

THE SCORE WAS 7 TO 4.

Home Team Played a Fast Game and Won on the Merits—Some Features of the Contest.

Belleville and Peterborough teams played their first Championship game of the season at the Brock street rink last night the home team winning by a score of seven to four. The rink was crowded and hundreds were turned away, unable to gain admittance. The crowd was handled well, and the management deserves great credit for the way the crowd was gotten into the rink. The wildest enthusiasm prevailed throughout the game, and every good play made was heartily applauded. The home team started scoring early in the game and played the visitors to a standstill at every stage of the game. It was the fastest game of hockey played in Peterborough in a long time and the winners richly deserved their victory.

Peterborough Intermediates have played their first home game and won. The 2,000 or more spectators who crowded into Brock street rink last night saw one of the best games of hockey ever played in Peterborough, the culmination of the pleasure in witnessing which was the fact that the home team won the game. The visiting team was the fast Belleville septette, the team that has generally been looked up as being the most dangerous of Peterborough's rivals. There has long been a keen, but friendly rivalry existing between the two teams, and this fact added to the interest which naturally attached itself to the game.

That the home team won on its merits no fair-minded person who saw the game can deny, and every member covered himself with glory. The final score was 7—4, and even this, one-sided as it is, does not adequately express the relative playing qualities of the two teams. The home team had the visitors beaten in every department, and played a fast, clean game. The hockey was of the fastest kind from start to finish, both teams standing the pace to the end. Some very pretty stick handling and shooting were exhibited by both teams.

This was the first championship game in which the home team had been seen this season, and the form shown has fully convinced everyone of the fact that they are capable of playing a winning game. The hockey played last night by the home team won for them the admiration of all lovers of the game, and, as a consequence, the team may be assured of the heartiest support from the public. That the visiting team came here expecting a victory was an open secret, but their hopes were soon dispelled. The home team started scoring early in the game and continued the practice throughout the duration of play. Two of those scored by the visitors were the merest accidents, and no particular credit can be given to them for securing them, the first came from behind the nets after striking the boards, and ran down the post into the net, while on the other hand, every goal scored by the home team represented a proportionate amount of work, and only for the excellent work of Winchester, who is a star of the first water, the score would have been much larger. He stopped scores of shots made from all parts of the ice, and easily classes with the best in the business. The forwards on the local team were particularly happy in their shooting last night, and gave Winchester plenty to do.

The home team started out like winners, scoring in one minute after the face off. Belleville evened this, and were then shut out for the remainder of the first half, while Peterborough added three, making the figures at half time 4—1. After the first few minutes play the result was never seriously in doubt, as it was seen that the home team was playing the superior game, and what few attempts at combination that the visitors made were frustrated, and they gradually came to depend upon "Reddy" McMillan to make his rushes. These in every case failed, however, as he was checked too closely to be of any particular menace to the Peterborough team.

In the second half of the game the homsters added two to those already to their credit, when Belleville put in three in succession, the latter adding one at the close for luck, making the final figures 7—4.

Of the home players it may safely be said that every member of the team played an excellent game. Every man worked hard and the team was a unit in its determination to win by playing hockey as nearly as it should be played as possible. Never was Harold Armstrong in better form, and last night he played the game of his life. He played the best game of any forward on the ice. He was always on the puck and made a number of most sensational rushes, and altogether played a most effective game. He is in good condition, and was after the hour's hard work almost as fresh as at the beginning of play.

Whitcroft played centre last night and had the honour of scoring the first goal. He was playing a man heavier by twenty pounds than himself, but he played his position well. He had speed to burn and handled his stick as well as any man on the ice. He worked in some pretty combinations with Roy Armstrong and Chris. Graham, and shot at every opportunity.

Chris. Graham was checking the fastest forward on the Belleville team and his work was a marvel. He played Kennedy to a standstill, checking him closely and seldom came out of a mix without the puck. He followed up well and was always where he was wanted.

Roy Armstrong, who was playing right wing, got in some of his famous side shots and played a good consistent game. He was speedy, and played the boards well, passing quickly and accurately, and shot on goal whenever an opportunity occurred.

Cavanah was in great form, and played his position well. He proved a most effective man in breaking up some good combination rushes. He invariably proved the rock on which "Reddy" McMillan split when the latter was making a rush. On a number of occasions he got in some good rushes himself, and throughout the game played his position perfectly.

With Howell at point and Mercer in goal a defence is presented which can withstand almost anything in the ordinary line of hockey. It would be impossible to speak too highly of the work done last night by Howell. He played an excellent block game, and got away with the puck, figuring in some pretty four man combinations plays on more than one occasion. His presence on the defence gives the other members of the team confidence, and a sense of security.

Mercer gave a good account of himself in goal. He was not given as much to do as Winchester, because the visitors could not get beyond Howell, but he took care of nearly everything that came his way, clearing well to the corners, and of the four goals scored on him, only two were earned, the others were scored through no fault of his.

The Belleville aggregation was not as dangerous as it was expected. McGuire, who is supposed to be one of the fastest forwards, was not in the game. He is suffering from a sprained ankle, the injury received in an exhibition game with Kingston. His place was taken by Johnston, who proved a good substitute. The team as a whole is well balanced, and did some good individual work, their combination play, however, is not equal to that of the home team, and the Peterborough defence had little difficulty in breaking up the few dangerous combination rushes that were made. Winchester, in goal, is a wonder. He stopped dozens of hot ones, and but for his excellent work the score would have been much greater.

"Reddy" McMillan proved to be much less dangerous than had been expected, and his single-handed rushes, upon which the Belleville team had depended for three or four goals, proved unavailing, as he seldom got beyond Cavanah, who was always ready for him. McMillan played a good game at Point, using his body effectively, and not always legitimately enough to satisfy the ideas of the referee, who sent him to the fence on several occasions.

Kennedy was the fastest man on the forward line, but he too was prevented from doing anything sensational by the close checking of Chris Graham. He got away a few times, but his rushes were short lived. Marks, at right wing played a good game. The team, as a whole is heavier than Peterborough's septette, and their extra weight helped them considerably.

There were no serious infraction of the rules, although a number of both teams were ruled off, the honours in this respect were about equally divided.

Dr. W. G. Wood, of Toronto, refereed the game, and on the whole gave fair satisfaction. His decisions, particulary during the second half were, however, slightly favourable to Belleville, and some questionable plays were allowed.

The teams were:—

THE GAME.

Whitcroft started the "ball a' rolling" by scoring in one minute after the face-off on a pass from Graham after a nice piece of combination play.

The second went to Belleville in three minutes, although it was not to the credit of the visiting team that the goal was scored. A shot was made which hit the boards behind the net and bounded back and into the net from behind.

The players began to rough it, and Marks and Johnston went off for two minutes. Harold Armstrong secured the next game for Peterborough on a nice shot from the wing, scoring in nine minutes. "Reddy" McMillan made one of his characteristic rushes, but Cavanah spoiled his chances of a score, and he himself took a spin down the ice with the puck.

Peterborough took the next game in eight minutes, Chris. Graham scoring on a free off near the Belleville goal. Another for the home succession, the first in one minute, team followed in quick succession, Roy Armstrong locating the net in three quarters of a minute, after the face-off, on a neat pass from Graham. Half time ended with the score 4—1.

The second half started with the home players pressing the Belleville goal hard, and after three minutes play Whitcroft landed one in the right spot on a pass from Roy Armstrong. Chris. Graham got the sixth in ten minutes on a pass from the side by Whitcroft.

This ended the scoring by the Peterboroughs until close to the end of the game. [illegible] got three in Marks got the next in eight minutes by a shot from the side. Kennedy was credited with the last goal for Belleville, scoring on a long drop shot from centre.

With the score 6—4 Harold Armstrong made the rush of the night and scored, making 7—4, at which figure it remained.

During the last few minutes [illegible] teams played six men each. [illegible] Millan had to retire from the [illegible] Chris. Graham going off to [illegible] up.

EMPIRE COUNCIL OF DEFENCE.

Praise For the New Scheme By Editors of London Daily.

London, Jan. 13.—(C. A. P.)—Premier Balfour's speech on the council of defence at Manchester yesterday forms subject matter for the editorials in all the London papers.

The Standard calls the Premier's invitation to Sir Frederick Borden statesmanlike instinct, and admirable precedent in forming the nucleus of a council to discuss matters affecting the Empire as a whole. It foresees that this principle will be applied to other departments where common action is necessary.

The Post sees danger in the Defence Committee trying to deal with too many problems at once, and becoming a sort of secret encyclopedia for the use of the Cabinet to inquire within on everything.

The Chronicle says it is a very sensible if small tentative step in the right direction.

The Telegraph hopes the Committee of Defence will develop into an advisory bond of union, from whose minutes successive Cabinets will be able to secure continuous and reasoned accounts of the military and naval requirements of the Empire.

The Times, referring to Balfour's remarks re Imperial defence, says there is no reason why a question of general interest to the whole Empire could not be discussed by a committee, reinforced by accredited representatives from all parts of the Empire. It is entirely consonant with the laws of the growth of our political institutions.

Eddy Strike Still On.

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—The Eddy paper mill is still closed down, and the papermakers still out. Monday night fifty girls in the finishing room quit work, fourteen of them having joined the union. The strikers say that, if necessary, they can call out the employes in the other Eddy mills, numbering in all over two thousand. The management are equally as determined as the men, and there is no present likelihood of an early settlement of the dispute.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This preparation is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and influenza. It has become famous for the cure of these diseases over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been given of its good works, of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured, of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous results. It is especially prized by mothers, because it contains nothing injurious and there is not the least danger it giving it even to babies. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by all druggists.

Winnipeg's Moral Wave.

Winnipeg, Jan. 11.—The city police commissioners, at a meeting Saturday afternoon, decided that the notorious colony of houses of ill-fame in the western part of the city must be broken up. The chief immediately sent a posse of officers and arrested 75 women who were brought to the police station the same evening and tried before Police Magistrate Daly. All pleaded guilty and were each fined $10 and costs. Orders will be issued that all members of the demimonde must leave the city.

Invading Bulgarians.

Salonica, Jan. 11.—A force of troops has been sent to Kumanovo, sixteen miles northeast of Uskub, where a strong Bulgarian band has invaded Turkish territory. Fighting is reported to have occurred at Kochana, 50 miles southeast of Uskub, the Bulgarians losing 100 killed.

Scrawyn People.

People grow thin, scrawny, pale and weak when the blood is thin and watery. What is needed to round off the angles and fill out the form, is not fat but healthy muscular tissue. By enriching the blood and increasing its nourishing qualities Dr. Chase's Nerve Food adds new flesh and tissue to the body as well as new vigor and energy. You can prove this by noting your increase in weight while using this great food cure.

Dropped Dead in Winnipeg.

Lord Braybrooke Dead.

Closed Valves Caused Explosion.

London, Jan. 13.—William Smith, plumber, says the explosion at the Wolseley Barracks was due to the closing of valves in the hot water pipe system.

Stomach Troubles.

A disordered stomach may cause no end of trouble. When the stomach fails to perform its functions the bowels become deranged, the liver and kidneys congested, causing numerous diseases, the most fatal of which are painless and therefore the more to be dreaded. The important thing is to restore the stomach and liver to a healthy condition, and for this purpose no better preparation can be used than Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by all druggists.

Easy Way of Measuring Heights.

Anybody who knows how to take the altitude of the sun or a star with a sextant and wishes to take that of any distant hill, steeple or the like should put a tea tray on the ground, fill it with water and then retire from it until the top of the hill, steeple or what not is reflected in the liquid. Now take the sextant and make the image of the summit coincide with its reflection in the liquid. The angle of elevation will thus, obviously, have been measured double. Half of this will give the measurement required.

STORIES OF THE TOWN.

How a Toronto Railroad Man Had His Fun and Highballs—How It Feels to Be Drowned.

This is a story of highballs—not those that delight the festive fan nor yet those drives that provoke joy and despair on the football field—but rather those alluring decoctions that one man behind the polished mahogany some times deals out to the soul athirst. Incidentally it is the story of an innocent Canadian's introduction to the treacherous mixture by a jolly crowd of his Yankee friends, and the startling results. J. A. Richardson, the Canadian general agent of the Wabash Railroad system, has his headquarters at Toronto. Once or twice a year he runs into headquarters at St. Louis just for a day. Mr. Richardson is rounding out his twentieth year with the company, and among all the high officials in the company's big building in the Missouri metropolis he is genially known as "Jo." C. S. Crane, the general passenger agent, is one of the good fellows of that section, and in common with many of that type loses no opportunity to get a laugh out of life between handling the affairs of their respective companies. When Mr. Crane and Mr. Richardson were on their way to lunch during one of "Jo's" annual visits Mr. Crane suggested that a highball was the proper appetizer.

"A highball, indeed, and what is that, something to eat or wear?" innocently inquired the man from Canada.

This was too much—a full grown man in Missouri and did not know what a highball was. The joke was too good for Mr. Crane to enjoy alone. He would keep for himself the pleasure of introducing his friend to the seductive fluid and then he would pass it around. After the artist had thrown together with many a flourish and resort to mysterious decanters the Missourian sauntered into a resort patronized by the chief officials of the principal railroads in the city and opening the door, observed with much mirth, "Gentlemen, here is a man who has never come in contact with a highball until to-day; don't laugh, I tell you this in all seriousness, 'pon my honor as a southern gentleman sah."

Then Mr. Richardson was introduced separately and the jokers fell over themselves insisting on being the second to buy highballs for the Canadian railroad agent. Back to business went Messrs. Crane and Richardson, but several times the joke leaked out and others insisted on helping the visitor to highballs galore. As the hour approached for Mr. Richardson to get to the depot, a number of his old friends accompained him, and they did not forget about the good joke.

Around the end of the Wabash sleeper they formed a merry group waiting for the departing signal. In the meantime some of the boys had begun to show the effect of their highball joke. There was a hat set rakishly on one side here, and the suggestion of a disordered necktie there, but Mr. Richardson failed to exhibit any of these signs of fatigue. In fact the man from the Dominion was marvelously calm and collected considering the riotous display of highballs made in the effort of his friends to be entertaining. The conductor gave the lamp a swing. Mr. Richardson stepped lightly on the step and waved his hand serenely to the gay crowd without the shadow of unsteadiness.

As the train moved into the shadow the crowd looked suspiciously at each other, and one festive individual observed with more seriousness than the occasion apparently required:

"I wonder (hic), boys, if Jo really never heard of a highball until today? He couldn't (hic) have been f-f-fooling us!"

How It Feels to Be Drowned.

"How does it feel to be drowned—well, I know," was the rather startling observation of Harry Mack, the Buffalo commercial man, coming into Toronto last night to a crowd of roadsters. "Yes, that's what I mean, for I have been drowned twice. Every time I hear some fellow talk about how all your past life flashes before you during the last supreme moments, I feel like saying harsh things. I was over at Port Colborne one day two summers ago, fishing off the wharf, when suddenly I tumbled in, I had borrowed a rod and reel from a little boy at the hotel. I have lived about the average life and I love life as well as any man, but what do you suppose I thought of? Not my past life at all; nary a thought of what was happening nor yet of what I must face in the judgment; but just whether that little boy would get his pole out of the lake. I remember well I was thinking of that when I lost consciousness. Was it painful swallowing water? Not a bit. The only pain I suffered was in having the water pumped out. Twice I have been drowned into unconsciousness and the result is the same in each."

Turkish Baths Save Money.

"Now I want to tell you fellows a thing or two," remarked a wise old traveling man at the King Edward last night to a small circle, "about the future of the Turkish bathing parlors. I get over the country a good deal, as you chaps knew, and I want to say that I save money regularly patronizing the bath and get my baths free in addition. It's like this: you drop into Toronto and your room at the hotel will be a couple of dollars for the night. You are out in the morning anyway and you merely use it for sleeping purposes. The average Turkish bath rates are one dollar, and with it you get a very comfortable room for the night, a cold plunge in the morning following your hot rub, and you are in fine fettle for the day's business. That's been my rule for years, and it keeps me feeling my oats," and he got up with the air of a sage and carried his 250 avordupois around the corridors with many a wise shake of the head, as if emphasizing the value of his advise.—G. C. Porter, in Toronto World.

Used to It.

Jonah was giving the details of the episode.

"But," they said, "did your wife believe you when you said you had been three days in the whale?"

"Yes," he returned. "She said I had given her much more improbable excuses before."

With a happy smile he went downtown to buy her a handsome present.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

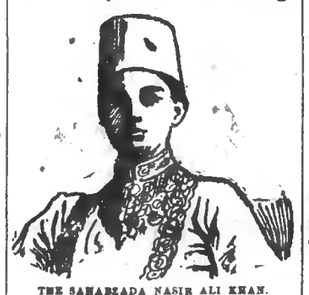
MRS. WALTER MARTHORNE, BROOKLYN, N.S.

She says: "I suffered for three years with terrible headaches and rushing of blood to my head. I lost my appetite and became very thin and weak. I tried many different remedies and consulted doctors, but all in vain until I started to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I had not taken more than two bottles when I began to feel better, my appetite improved wonderfully and I increased rapidly in weight. I took altogether four bottles and am now as well as can be, for which I owe my thanks to Burdock Blood Bitters. I can recommend it to all those suffering as I did."

A PRINCE OF INDIA.

At Present Visiting on the Soil of the New World.

The other day arrived, on the Cunard Line steamer Lucania, a Prince of India, the Sahebzada Nasir Ali Khan, a brother of His Highness the Nawab Hamid Ali Khan of Rampur. He is young, handsome, of distinguished ancestry and wealthy. He is an undergraduate of the University of Oxford. Coming down the gangplank on his arrival he was met by a reporter, who without any preliminaries inquired, "Are you here to marry an American heiress?" The Prince was just as brusque in his reply, and said it was not a matter of public concern. Asked if his caste would prevent such a marriage



THE SAHABZADA NASIR ALI KHAN.

if arranged, "It would not be unlawful," replied the Sahebzada with a smile. "I am not a Hindoo, you know, but a Mahommedan, and I could marry any one who has the sacred books. By that I mean either Christian, Hebrew or Mohammedan. Certainly not a Parsee or a Hindoo."

He did not yet know what he would do when he completed his Oxford course. His time is being devoted now to jurisprudence, and he expected to finish his law studies in England and to gain admission to the Inner Temple. Then he would take a tour around the world. He is practically a ward of the Foreign Office in England, and every week there is sent a report of his conduct.

The Prince is tall, broad shouldered and his complexion is dark. He wears gold rimmed spectacles, which give his face rather a grave look until he begins to talk. Then the glasses twinkle and his features are lighted up. The Sahebzada attended the coronation last year, wearing his official robes, which are of mauve, heavily ornamented with gold. This was the first time that he appeared in the insignia of his rank in England, for he prefers cricket greaves and tennis flannels and shooting coats to the badge of royalty. In talk and manner he is a typical young Englishman. He will be in this country for several weeks.

Getting Along.

"I suppose a fellow ought to have a good deal of money saved up before he thinks of marrying?"

"Nonsense! I didn't have a cent when I started, and I'm getting along fine now."

"That so? Installment plan?"

"Yes, and we've only been married and keeping house for a year, and I've got the engagement ring all paid for now."

Why the Miners Strike.

Amherst, N. S., Jan. 13.—The 200 men employed in the Chignecto Coal Mines in Cumberland County have gone on strike because the management refuse to send their picks into the pit for them. The management hold that each man should carry his own pick, the same as is done in other collieries in Nova Scotia.

Just a Guess.

"I saw you out walking with your wife yesterday."

"I didn't know you knew my wife."

"I don't."

"Then what makes you think it was she that you saw me with?"

"You didn't appear to be saying anything to her."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Family of Influence.

"He seems to be quite an important personage now."

"Why, he always was, and so were the other members of his family."

"Nonsense."

"Not at all. He started as janitor in a flat, his brother is a policeman, and his sister is a cook lady."—Exchange.

Politeness is like an air cushion—there's nothing in it, but it eases the joints wonderfully.—Gannett.

TURNER'S AMBITION.

The Great Painter Achieved It by Years of Self Sacrifice.

Turner could not bear to sell a favorite painting. He was always melancholy after such a transaction. "I lost one of my children this week," he would sadly exclaim. At a meeting at Somerset House it was decided to purchase his two great pictures, the "Rise" and the "Fall of Carthage," for the National gallery. A Mr. Griffiths was commissioned to offer $5,000 for them. "A noble offer," said the painter, "a noble offer; but, no, I cannot part with them. Impossible." Mr. Griffiths, greatly disappointed, took his leave. Turner ran after him. "Tell those gentlemen," he said, "that the nation will most likely have the pictures after all." Long before this Turner had matured a purpose which continued to be his dominant idea while life lasted. This was to bequeath to his country a Turner gallery of pictures and to amass £100,000 to build and endow an asylum for decayed artists. It was for this great object that he denied himself all pleasures that cost money, all luxuries. His resolve, once made, could not be shaken. On one occasion he was offered £100,000 for the art treasures locked up in the "den." "Give me the key of the house, Mr. Turner," said a Liverpool merchant, "and here is the money." "No, thank you," replied Turner. "I have refused a better offer." And that was true. By his will he bequeathed £140,000 to found an asylum for poor artists born in England and, a magnificent art collection in his country. This latter bequest was, however, coupled with the condition that his "Rise" and "Fall of Carthage" should be hung in the National gallery between Claude's "Seaport" and "Mill."—Golden Penny.

The Wilmington Giant.

The "Long Man of Wilmington," popularly known as the "Wilmington Giant," is a rude, gigantic figure of a man 240 feet in length, with arms extended upward and in each hand holding a long staff in a position parallel with the body. The distance between these staves is 119 feet. The figure is well proportioned and reclines with both legs outstretched. It lies carved on a bold bluff of the downs facing the weald and forms a conspicuous landmark for miles round, especially when the light falls on it at a particular angle. There is a similar figure at Cerne Abbas, in Dorsetshire, and, as both are near religious houses, it is supposed that they may have been the work of the inmates. The slope to the south of the priory, on which the figure is cut, bends downward at an angle of fifty degrees, and the giant was originally marked out by removing the turf and exposing the glaring white chalk beneath. In course of time the outlines became grass grown and could only be seen at certain seasons, so in 1873 a movement was set on foot for re-marking the whole figure. This was successfully accomplished, the outline being plainly marked out by white bricks.—London News.

The Usual Cause Of Dyspepsia

And Indigestion is Constipation and Cure can Only Come when the Bowels, Liver and Kidneys are Regular and Active.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

Digestion is not confined to the stomach, for by far the most difficult part of the process of digestion takes place in the intestines and depends on the activity of the liver in supplying bile and the regularity of the kidney and bowels in removing the waste matter.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills bring prompt relief and cure for dyspepsia, indigestion and constipation, because they have a direct and combined action on the kidneys, liver and bowels, making these organs regular and active in their work of cleansing the system.

Instead of merely aiding digestion they have a beneficial action on the entire digestive system. They remove the cause of trouble and ensure the healthful functions of the various organs of digestion and excretion. The cures they bring about are thorough and lasting.

Mr. James H. Harvey, baker, 641 George street, Peterborough, Ont., states:—"I was troubled very much with constipation and pains in the back. At times the pains were sharp like a stab with a knife and caused me great suffering. I heard of many being cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and decided to try them. I am pleased to say that they soon helped me, and I used them right along until cured. I never have pains in my back now, and only occasionally take a pill in order to keep my bowels regular."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all druggists, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto, Ont. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box of his remedies. 11

Cured When all Else Failed

"Could I live my early life over, this testimonial would not be necessary, though I was no more sinful than thousands of other young men. Early indiscretions, later exposure to contagious diseases all helped to break down my system. When I commenced to realize my condition I was almost frantic. Doctor after doctor treated me but only gave me relief—not a cure. Hot Springs helped me, but did not cure me. The symptoms always returned. Mercury and Potash drove the poison into my system instead of driving it out. I bless the day your New Method Treatment was recommended to me. I investigated who you were first, and finding you had over 25 years' experience and responsible financially. I gave you my case under a guarantee. HER ANNIVERSARY

By LAWRENCE PERRY

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

Never had there been such a winter in South Dusenbury. What with musicales, lectures, socials and the like the little village usually managed to fill in the dark, cheerless gap between harvest and sowing nicely. But this winter the felicities of village life had been augmented by an amazing and unparalleled number of wedding anniversaries. Wooden weddings, tin weddings, crystal weddings, had followed one another in rapid succession until those who were blessed in the giving were hardly less numerous than those blessed in the receiving.

Now, South Dusenbury contained its share of spinsters, village parlance which, being interpreted, signified that the woman to whom the term was applied had lived twenty-eight years or more—generally more—and was still unmarried. To their eternal credit be it said that they rejoiced open heartedly in the marital anniversaries of their fellow citizens and had contributed not a little to the general atmosphere of happiness which attended these functions.

No, not quite all. One exception—one distinguished exception—must be noted, Keziah Bottleby. Miss Bottleby was a strong minded, tall, angular woman, an ardent church worker and ready to turn her helpful hand to anything when the needs of the neighborhood required. But these wedding anniversaries began to pall upon her, and by the time Deacon Thompson and Mrs. Thompson had celebrated their silver wedding she was thoroughly disgusted. She lost no opportunity in letting that fact be known. Hers was a trenchant tongue. Some were amused; more were made uncomfortable. But there was no other result. The anniversaries continued just the same. Of course this fact did not silence Miss Bottleby.

"I tell ye," she said one afternoon at a meeting of the King's Daughters, "it's perfectly scandalous. Sech graspin' tendencies as has been exhibited in this village this winter is downright heathenish. Why, look at old John Newell and Sophy Newell. They ain't done nothin' but spat these mortal twenty-five years, accordin' to all accounts, and, laws me, there they stood up together at their silver weddin', she in a new gingham dress and all perked up and simperin' about with one eye and countin' the presents with the other. It made me sick. And I guess I showed jest how I felt too!"

As usual, Miss Bottleby was listened to in the most respectful silence, and when she ceased speaking no one ventured a remark. Miss Bottleby gave a contemptuous sniff and applied herself to her needle. While she sewed on, the glimmer of an idea shot through her mind, and as she pondered and enlarged upon it the stern lines of her face relaxed into a broad smile. Yes, she would do it. There was no reason why she should not and many reasons why she should. If so many persons congratulated themselves and asked others to join them simply because they had been married a score or so of years why should she not be congratulated in remaining single a similar period? Surely it was more difficult to remain unmarried than to find a husband. Yes, she would do it.

In a day or two the villagers received the following invitation:

"Miss Keziah Bottleby, having existed in single blessedness for forty-five years, requests your presence at her home on Thursday, May 12, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the occasion being an old maid's variety. Tea and doughnuts will be served, and presents may be stored in the parlor."

They were the talk of the village, these invitations, and every one said how like Miss Bottleby it was. They all meant to go, too, for they felt that she did deserve something for her long years of abnegation. The general tendency was to defeat her purpose by ignoring the obvious sarcasm and pretending that they took her seriously.

Hiram Spinks had received an invitation, and it had struck a responsive chord in his heart, for he, too, had enjoyed a life of celibacy.

He met Miss Bottleby several days before the "variety" party, and she smiled so warmly that Hiram lifted his hat clear from his head instead of giving the customary little flip of his hand.

"How be ye, Hiram?" said Miss Bottleby. "Fine warm day?"

"Why, how de do-o-o, Keziah?" said Hiram. "Yes, um; yes, it's tolerable warm."

That was all. Keziah swept by, but Hiram suddenly gave a start and turned to look at her retreating figure.

"A fine, smart woman," he muttered; "a real woman." He was thinking. He thought all the way to his lonely home and finally slapped his hand on his thigh.

"By gum!" he ejaculated. "I'll do it as sure as shootin'!"

The next few days were spent in painting, and his married sister came over and helped him put the house in unwonted order. But she felt that he had suddenly lost his mind. She was confident of this fact when a day or so later Hiram came home with a new suit of clothing and a new hat. But all that he would vouchsafe was that he had bought them for the party. Hiram was ready, and the more he mused on his new resolution the more absent minded he became.

The day of the "variety" came, and the villagers outdid themselves in their generosity. They reckoned to silence Miss Bottleby's tongue on the subject of wedding anniversaries forever. The little parlor was piled with presents of all kinds, and all, including Miss Bottleby, were radiant. Every one had a regular good time, and when the guests began to leave they assured her they were ready for the next "variety" any time she chose to give it. Finally the door closed on the last guest, and Miss Bottleby returned to the parlor. She did not look at her presents. She was thinking of how kind they all had been and was making all sorts of resolutions concerning her future relations with her neighbors. Then she looked out of the window.

"I wonder whatever became of Hiram Spinks," she said.

As in answer the bell rang and upon opening the door there stood Hiram, shaven, beard and hair trimmed and new clothing. Keziah gasped.

"Why, Hiram, ye air late, ain't ye? Come in."

"Yes, yes," murmured Hiram. "I'm a-comin'," following Miss Keziah into the parlor. "But I can't stop long. I jest came in to bring ye my present."

Miss Bottleby looked surprised, for Hiram was quite empty handed.

"So ye've brung me a present, eh? Well, ye needn't hev done that, Hiram. What is it? Let me see it."

Hiram stepped closer.

"The present," he said slowly. "Why, Keziah, ye can see the present. It's right before ye. I've come and brung myself fur a present. Do ye want me, Keziah?"

"Why, Hiram!"

Hiram moved closer, and then suddenly Miss Keziah—but let us draw the curtain over what followed, those precious moments of first love in South Dusenbury.

Heart Disease the Most Sudden and Dangerous of Ailments.

Dr. Agnew's Cure.

Stealthy as a thief in the night, Heart Disease heralds its coming only by the deadly grip it lays upon its victim—the distressing symptoms of Palpitation and Short Breath, Smothering Spells, Vertigo, etc. Nothing will remove their fatal grasp save Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. Totally unlike all other remedies, it acts on the nerves through the heart. It has saved thousands of lives—will save yours. A. Du Berger, Waterloo, Que., writes: "Alfred Couldry, who lives at Geo. Bell's, in West Shefford, has suffered from terrible heart trouble for the last four years. He has been completely cured after using eight bottles of Dr. Agnew's marvelous remedy."

Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder is universally recognized as a specific for Catarrh, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Influenza, Hay Fever, Tonsilitis and all the distressing results of a neglected "bad cold." No. 89

Many a woman would make a beautiful bride but she is deterred from entering the married state because of ill-health.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

The proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"If women would study the laws of health and use a little more common sense there would not be such a large number to-day suffering with the ills peculiar to our sex," writes Mrs. Hattie Martins (President Mutual Social Science Club), of 180 South Halsted Street, Chicago, Ill. "Then when medicine is needed if they would take the 'Favorite Prescription,' they would have a chance to get well. I used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription three years ago and it cured me of female weakness of several years' standing, so I know what I am talking about when I praise it and always know what the result will be where it is used."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

Why Your Coffee Is Bad.

Bridget is an excellent cook; but, like most women of her profession, she is opinionated and insists upon making all her dishes strictly according to her own recipes. Her mistress gives her full swing not only as to cooking, but as to the purchase of supplies. The other day her mistress said to her:

"Bridget, the coffee you are giving us is very good. What kind is it?"

"It is no kind at all, mum," said Bridget. "It's a mixter."

"How do you mix it?"

"I shake it one-quarter Mocha and one-quarter Java and one-quarter Rio."

"But that's only three-quarters. What do you put in for the other quarter?"

"I put in no other quarter at all, mum. That's where so many spoil the coffee, mum—by puttin' in another quarter."

Caught With the Goods On.

"Silas was down to the city an' had to send for money."

"Get bunkoed?"

"Nope. He pasted his money to the inside of the bosom of his shirt, and when he went to come home the landlord wouldn't change his shirt."—Exchange.

Aunt Anne's Doubts.

"Sometimes," remarked Aunt Ann Peebles, "I almost doubt whether Sister Hinklesby is even a Christian. She's so busy looking after the souls of other people an' gettin' donations for the poor an' helpin' all sorts of folks out of trouble that I don't believe she's ever stopped to see whether she's got her own soul saved or not."

FRENCH GRACE DARLING.

Brittany Fisherwoman Who Saved Fourteen Sailors Who Were in Danger of Perishing Near Cape Fern.

A heroine worthy to rank with our own Grace Darling is Rose Here, a Brittany fisherwoman, who by pluck and presence of mind saved no fewer than 14 sailors who were in danger of perishing, says Lloyd's Weekly. In a thick fog the Newcastle steamer Vesper, bound to Dunkirk, ran on the rocks near Cape Fern in almost the very spot that witnessed the disastrous wreck of the Drummond Castle. The Vesper's plates were stove in, and she quickly sank, the crew taking to the boats. One of the latter, containing 13 men and the master of the vessel, was in great danger, being driven towards a dangerous rock known as the Pyramide du Runion. Rose Here, who is a woman of forty-three, was watching the wreck with other fisher-folk, and saw that unless some help was given the boat must be lost. She at once divested herself of her outer clothing, plunged into the sea, and being a fine swimmer managed to reach the boat. Then she took the tiller and steered the little craft safely through the dangerous rocky passages into safety in the Bay of Pen-ar-Roch. It was a wonderful feat, and one that has placed Rose Here's name high in the list of the world's heroes.

An Underground Confession.

Women are growing quite embarrassingly frank about the basis and the crown of their charms. On Saturday afternoon a pretty young married woman, with her five-year-old son—so much we could infer—jumped into a first class carriage on the underground. After her came three friends, two girls and a man. "Yes, I'd never be without my wig," said the pretty woman. "It isn't as if I hadn't enough hair of my own. Celia can vouch for that." Celia nodded—we all looked for Celia's nod. "Why, the other Sunday we were lunching at Wimbledon, one of those damp, muggy days. Margaret was there—with her fringe all over her eyes. Mine was all right, and yet Margaret has a maid and I haven't. I've worn a wig for three years, and I don't care who knows it." The rest of us—strangers—held our breath till the tale was told.—London Chronicle.

Peril In the Handkerchief.

It is in fact a grave sanitary question whether the handkerchief does not do more harm than good as it is ordinarily used. When we assume that the healthy nose does not need to be wiped we face a reasonably broad proposition as to the danger of the handkerchief as a disease propagator. Most of nasal catarrhs are of an infectious character, notably those of grip origin.

Contrary to a general law of asepsis, the handkerchief, saturated with disease germs, instead of being promptly washed, is stowed for hours in the pocket, with a result that can be easily imagined. Is it any wonder then that catarrhs are constantly fostered by a system of auto-infection?

Explained.

Baxter—Funny, isn't it? Where we say a man puts his foot in his mouth, the French say he puts his foot in his nose.

Foster—Of course. That's all owing to the nasal sound in so many of the French words.

A Hint Desirable.

"You're all run down," said the doctor. "What you need are quiet and rest. You ought not to be worried at all."

"Will you put that in the form of a prescription, doctor, and give it to my wife?" asked the man.—Exchange.

Success is nothing more than the result of doing whatever you can do not only well, but just a little better than anybody else.

THE LABOR AGITATOR.

Some of the Qualities He Must Possess to Be Successful.

Strikes contribute but slightly to the equipment of the successful labor agitator. The agitator must be thoroughly acquainted with the history of the labor movement and be capable of presenting its aims and aspirations in an attractive and convincing manner. He must possess the ability to think rapidly and to express his views and opinions clearly and forcibly. But, withal, he must inspire those whom he would lead with absolute faith in his honesty. The agitator isn't always an advocate of strikes. He has sometimes to exert his influence to prevent a strike which his judgment tells him would be unwise. It may sound like mixing terms to say so, but it is a truth that the most difficult tasks performed by the labor agitators are their "agitations" in the interest of peace, their efforts to prevent strikes. The man who is always in favor of a strike as soon as one is suggested or who is constantly on the search for a casus belli soon finds his influence as a leader gone.—"The Story of a Labor Agitator," by Joseph R. Buchanan.

Unknowable Russia.

Those who are permitted to speak the open truth in Russia may be counted on the fingers of one hand, and then half of them will be left unused. Why these people are tolerated is one of the secrets of state. Outside of these only those who write works of fiction, which the majority of the people cannot and do not read, are permitted to speak of things as they are. When they exceed the limits of Russian decency and speak too openly, they are given a trip to Siberia at the expense of the government. Siberia is the place where the boldest, the most courageous and most talented products of Russia are put on cold storage.

It is the coldest part of the country, and honest people are sent there when the country becomes too hot for them. When the innocent tourist asks, "Where are your honest people?" Siberia is pointed out to him. If he asks more questions, he is himself sent there. The government objects to questions on general principles. Russia refuses to be interviewed.—B. G. Richards in Reader Magazine.

STORY OF GRAND OLD MUSICIAN

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured His Kidney Disease of Years Standing.

Samuel J. Crow, Well-Known as the Leader of the North Pelham and Rosedene String Band, is Again Enjoying Perfect Vigor.

Rosedene, Ont., Jan. 13.—(Special).—There are few better known musicians in this part of Canada than Samuel J. Crow, for many years leader of the old Pelham and Rosedene String Band, and only his retiring nature has kept him from gaining a national reputation. Consequently his complete recovery from an aggravated case of Kidney Disease of years has aroused much comment here. Interviewed regarding his case Mr. Crow said:—

"To-day I enjoy as good health as I did in boyhood and I give the entire credit to Dodd's Kidney Pills. I suffered for years from Kidney Trouble which became aggravated upon every attack of cold and crushed me agony. In the winter of 1898, it developed into gravel, when I was totally unfit for anything. I tried different medicines without the desired results.

"I was in constant misery when I commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. To my astonishment and delight I immediately began to recover, and after using five boxes the disease had entirely disappeared. I have known others who were great sufferers to be entirely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills."

RESOLUTION OF CONDOLENCE.

The Canadian Order of Chosen Friends local council has passed the following resolution of sympathy to Mr and Mrs. F. J. Jameson, on the death of their daughter:

Mr. and Mrs. Jameson:

Dear Friends,—We, the members of the C. O. C. F., Peterborough, extend to you our deepest sympathy in your very recent bereavement. We do not say sad bereavement as we rejoice to know that some are entertaining angels unawares.

She is not dead, "the child of your affection, but gone unto that school where she no longer needs our kind protection and God, Himself, doth rule."

And in the lonely hours which we all must pass through may you feel that underneath are the everlasting arms of God, who will bear you up to meet your loved one.

Signed on behalf of Peterborough Council,

NOMINATED TO CARRY WEST PETERBOROUGH.

with the riding and with the people. He felt satisfied from assurances that he had received that if he received the nomination he would be elected.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams gracefully returned thanks for the honour of being nominated. We had a grand Liberal Government to work for and that was an inspiration. As for himself he was a native of the town, of the fourth generation, born in this county. His home was here and here he had for some time practised his profession. True he was not very old, but at the present time he was older than the best and most successful man West Peterborough had ever sent to Parliament, was at the time of his election. They had done a good work in electing Mr. Stratton even though he was a young man and they might, Mr. McWilliams hinted, do well to repeat the experiment in his case. He had tried to be a reliable citizen and of service to the town. He was determined to stand by what he thought was right. He believed that the Liberals could win West Peterborough. We must put up a united fight and he would support with all his efforts the nominee of the convention.

MR. STRATTON SPEAKS.

While the preparations for taking the ballot were being made, Hon. Mr. Stratton was called upon to make a few remarks. He said he never saw a convention in West Peterborough, (and he had seen a good many,) where there seemed to be so great confidence and enthusiasm. It was to the interests of West Peterborough to be represented by a supporter of the Government. As far as he was concerned, he, Mr. Stratton, would help on the election of any of the good candidates nominated, who might be selected. He submitted that he had paved the way for the young men (he supposed he was an old man now.) (Laughter)—West Peterborough did not give a Liberal majority of 1,200 in 1886. Peterborough was deserving of good representation and of good treatment at the hands of the Government and the Laurier Government was willing to adopt a course that would benefit and not injure Peterborough. While some clamoured for protection there was not a manufacturer in Peterborough that cannot say that in the past eight years he has not done a bigger business than ever before. The Laurier Government had readjusted the tariff in the interests of manufacturers, by placing raw materials on a more accessible basis. The farming community was in a better position than ever before, and the working man was in a better condition than when the Laurier Government came into power. While these things were thus, it was to the interest of all classes to see that this condition was perpetuated. He had been quite unconnected with the nomination he had not suggested a name, but he would do all in his power to help elect a supporter of the Laurier Government in West Peterborough. Mr. Stratton returned his hearty thanks for the cordial resolution of confidence adopted. He said the Ross Government had not a very large majority, but Mr. Ross could better carry on a Government with a majority of three, than Mr. Whitney could with no majority at all. (Laughter.) Mr. Ross was an eloquent and able man with an eye to the advancement of the good of the province. No Government in the same time had put forward so many progressive propositions and so successfully carried them into effect. He closed by advising all concerned to unite in carrying the candidate selected to victory.

Mr. McClellan at this point retired in favour of Mr. Hall.

The first ballot resulted as follows:—

THE BALLOTING.

Roger	58
Hall	291
McWilliams	289

A propoal made that in view of the closeness of the vote between the leading candidates that the convention adjourn, and that a candidate be elected by delegates, did not meet with the favour of the meeting, and the second ballot was taken, resulting as follows:—

Hall	412
McWilliams	361

MR. HALL'S THANKS

Mr. R. R. Hall, on coming forward to thank the convention for the unanimous nomination, was received with enthusiastic cheers. He accepted the nomination thus tendered, and hoped that all the elements of the local Liberal party would unite, and energetic effort made to bring success to the Liberal cause, which good as it was in itself, was backed in West Peterborough by a splendid fighting element, among which Mr. McWilliams held a prominent position. He was a good fighter, and his assistance, which had been pledged, would be appreciated, and have a great effect. Mr. Hall felt that he needed assistance, for since he had received the nomination he he felt the great weight of the responsibility which rested upon him. He pointed out how greatly it was in the interests of the town to have more manufactories; it was to the advantage of both town and country. He had himself been more or less associated with endeavours to facilitate the establishment of new industries in Peterborough thus affording greater employment for the workmen of our town, and he would not relax, but rather increase his efforts in this direction. One of the most pressing of our wants was the completion of the Trent Valley Canal, and if he were elected he would use special efforts to impress upon the Government the importance of having this great national work speedily completed. Another matter that demanded immediate attention was the improvement of internal navigation, and the adoption of means to conserve our water supply in the interests of both navigation and manufacturing industries, and here again he would do his best to bring about improvement. He indulged the hope that the electors in their own interests would see the advantage of having at Ottawa a representative who was in touch and sympathy with the Government of the day, for no one had any doubt that the Laurier Government would be triumphantly sustained. He pointed out what great results had followed the administration of our affairs by a Liberal Government in the tremendous increase of trade and commerce—by leaps and bounds, far in excess of the increase that had taken place during all the long years of Conservative administration. In conclusion Mr. Hall reiterated his thanks for the nomination and made a graceful reference to the ability of Mr. McWilliams, who had had a distinguished career in his university studies and had since shown great promise. He would have been proud of his nomination if he had been the choice of the convention, and would have gladly worked for his return. He believed that some day Mr. McWilliams would be representative of West Peterborough. (Applause.)

NOMINATION MADE UNANIMOUS.

Mr. McWilliams, who was very warmly received, returned thanks to those who had supported his candidature. Mr. Hall had been their choice, and he, Mr. McWilliams would give his hearty support to secure his election. (Applause.) Mr. McWilliams moved, seconded by Mayor Roger, that Mr. Hall's nomination be made unanimous, which was done amidst enthusiastic applause.

The great convention then adjourned with cheers for the candidate, the Premiers, the Provincial Secretary, Hon. J. R. Stratton, Mr. R. F. McWilliams and the King—one of the greatest conventions held in West Peterborough and a mighty presage of the coming victory of the Liberal candidate.

NOTES.

The greatest ever.

Howell is a stonewall.

It's up to the juniors to win now.

The Peterboroughs have started a winning gait.

Harold Armstrong's rush was the feature of the game.

The team goes to Port Hope on Monday—another victory!

(Belleville's supporters came by special train, about 300 accompanying the team.

Some of the ladies were "pressed" a little more last night than they appreciated.

Chris. Graham surprised the spectators by his speed. He checked Kennedy, the fastest man on the Belleville team.

The request of the management that the gathering refrain from smoking, was respected, and the result was most satisfactory.

The crowd was handled well, and although all could not be admitted those who were unable to obtain admittance took the matter philosophically.

HOCKEY.

President Higgins, of the Eko Camp Club, accepts the challenge of the C. D. A. for a game of hockey to be played for fun, money or marbles, but would prefer a noyster supper to be participated in by the two teams, and to be paid for by the losers.

TANKARD MATCHES WERE PLAYED TO-DAY.

Great Excitement at the Curling Rink —Kingston and Port Hope not Present.

The tankard matches played off today created the wildest enthusiasm the curling element of the town, and there was a very large number of spectators present who fully enjoyed some excellent curling. The ice was in first-class shape and as true as a gun. It was regretted that Kingston and Port Hope were unable to be present, but for some reason they did not put in an appearance. However rinks from Whitby, Cobourg, and Lindsay were there and took part in the keen contest. In the morning eight rinks played, while this afternoon play was continued.

ALDERMEN TALK OF INCORPORATION.

Application to the Legislature Occupied the Attention of Committee of the Whole.

Majority Think Time not Ripe for City Incorporation—More of the Clauses Approved.

After the council meeting last night the members met in Committee of the Whole to consider the application made to the Legislature for certain amendments. The list of amendments applied for have already been published in the Examiner.

Clause 1, referring to the application for incorporation as a city, was first discussed, and divergent views were expressed, the majority, however, appeared to be opposed to asking for city incorporation at present. Ald. Hicks said now that Ashburnham and Peterborough are annexed, we should go slow. We could seek incorporation any time; but could not return very readily to the status of a town. Ald. Morrison and McWilliams were strongly in favour of immediate incorporation, by which we would reap many advantages. The matter was allowed to stand for the present.

Clause 2, to declare that it has been and shall be lawful for the Commissioners of the Peterborough Town Trust, with the approval of the Municipal Council, to invest a portion of the Sinking Fund received by them in the purchase of the buildings and other permanent improvements erected and made by tenants under lease from the Commissioners on any land vested in the Commissioners. — Approved.

Clause 3, to put the property of Ashburnham on the same footing also approved.

Clause 4, to authorize council to borrow sums not exceeding $15,000 in any one year for extensions of, and improvements and repairs to, the water works, without appealing to the people.—Approved.

Clause 5, to ratify a bylaw fixing the assessment of the Colonial Weaving Company, was allowed to stand over for the present.

Clause 6, to ratify the bylaw and authorize the purchase of the Hilliar estate for $10,000, and the selling of any portion thereof, approved, and referred to the Finance Committee to arrange details.

Clause 7, to authorize the erection of an Isolation Hospital, was approved. Mayor Roger explained that the law compelled towns to make provisions for contagious diseases, and that at present contagious patients are being accepted in the hospitals at a charge of $1.00 per day. This arrangement, however, is only a temporary one.

Clause 8, to confirm the purchase by the Little Lake Cemetery Co., of certain property within the corporation. Approved.

Clause 9, to make alterations in the number, term of office, manner of appointment and duties of the Town Trust Commissioners, was allowed to stand till next meeting.

Clause 10, to provide for the reduction of the number of members of the Board of Education. Approved and referred to the Legal Committee to arrange the details.

Clause 11, to provide for the election of Aldermen for a term of two years, one half of the number retiring each year, was approved. Ald. Morrison thought that the old system of electing aldermen by wards should be reverted to.

Clause 12, to provide by the appointment by the council of a court of revision of three members, none of whom to be a member of the council. Approved.

Clause 13, to ratify the exemption of the Dickson Company and the Canadian Ultimator Company, from taxes, except school taxes, met with opposition on the part of Ald. Best and McWilliams. The latter claimed that the Dickson Company's exemption was not approved of by the majority of the Ashburnham electors, who made it an issue at the polls in opposition to Ald. Adams and Scott. Ald. Best expressed the fear that if legislation was secured confirming this matter the town would have to treat all comers alike. He could not see the justice of giving exemption to rich industries, while less fortunate concerns went abogging. He did not like the idea of the Dickson Company's exemption having been rushed through at the close of the year, after union had been consummated.

Ald. Adams explained that this question had been before the Ashburnham council for months. The reason of the delay was that the council awaited the decision of the Legislature, as to whether they were going to rescind the power invested in municipal councils to give exemption. Immediately it was decided to allow that power to stand good till the end of 1904, the Ashburnham council took decisive action.

This clause was allowed to stand until Monday night when the committee will meet again.

WALKED BAREFOOT FOR HALF A MILE.

Because a Man Robbed him of his Boots and Stocking.

Son of Mr. H. A. Leason Near Stony Lake Suffered by Cowardly Act of Unknown Man.

A Stony Lake correspondent writes to the Norwood Register: One of the most cowardly and dastardly acts was perpetrated in this neighbourhood that one can imagine a human being guilty of.

On Saturday evening, the 9th inst., at dark, on what is known as the Stony Lake road (that is the road running east and west on the south side of the lake) just where the 11th concession crosses the said road an oldish man met a little boy of H. A. Leason, about ten years of age. The man stopped the boy and pointing down to his feet said, "I want them sock." The boy said he would not get them. He then grabbed the boy and threw him down and took off the shoe from one foot and the three socks that he had on the foot and sent him away home in the snow in his bare foot. He had nearly half a mile to go and his foot was partly frozen before he got home. The man had his cap drawn down over his face so that the boy could not tell who he was. The boy had on a pair of shoes of his father's and he had on three pair of socks; the outside pair were long and large so that they came up over his knees.

As soon as the boy got home and told what had happened Mr. Leason started out at once and told the neighbourhood and a general search was made of the vicinity, but could find no one.

There is still a mystery in connection with this affair. On the Sunday evening, Mr. W. J. Ruttan was returning home after leaving his father and mother in Norwood just about the time that people were lighting their lights, and just where the boy says he was caught he found the shoe and socks lying. The socks were spread out on the snow and he took them home to Mr. Leason in the morning.

Anyone that would be guilty of such a crime should be severely punished. It is evident that it must have been some one who did not live very far away, whatever his motive for using the boy in that way may have been we are unable to say.

Entertained Choir.

After choir practice last night the St. Paul's choir was entertained by Mr. John Crane. About 30 members were present and refreshments were served in the Sunday School, and a most enjoyable time spent.

Fresh Roses.

Roses, carnations and all other cut bloom, fresh, at lowest prices in town, at the Aylmer street Greenhouses. Reduced prices still continue on all regular stock plants. Jos. Cobb.

DR. DUNCAN FRASER DIED IN LAKEFIELD.

A Prominent Physician, a Victim to Pluro-Pneumonia.

Died in Lakefield Thursday After a Brief Illness—A Noted Member of Medical Profession.

Dr. Duncan Fraser, for over twenty years a continuous resident of Lakefield, died in that town yesterday, after an illness of only a few days. He was taken ill on Saturday evening with pluro-pneumonia, and although every attention was given him by members of the medical profession, he gradually became worse until his death.

The late Dr. Fraser was one of the most prominent citizens in Lakefield, having moved there more than twenty years ago, buying out Dr. Armour's practice. Previous to going to Lakefield he lived in Peterborough, where he was in partnership with Dr. John Clark. During his stay in Lakefield he has taken an active part in educational matters, having been for many years a member of the Public School Board, and for five years chairman of the Board.

The deceased was born in Shakespeare, near Stratford, 57 years ago, where he received his early education and also taught school for a number of years. He then attended Trinity Medical College, Toronto, graduating therefrom in 1874, and winning the silver medal. In the same year he also had the additional distinction of capturing the silver medal given by the Toronto Medical College.

He went to England, and entered on a post-graduate course in London, taking his M.R.C.S. degree. He subsequently made an inspection of the principal hospitals in the different countries in Europe. Following this he spent two years as a surgeon on one of the P. & O. steamers, which plied on the east coast of Africa. At the time of the Russo-Turkish war the doctor saw considerable service, having joined a military expedition under the late Sir William McCormack. Sir William was at that time president of the Royal College and also physician to the Queen.

The deceased had intended to practice in South Africa, but changing his plans he returned to Canada and entered into partnership with the late Dr. John Clark, of Peterborough. The doctor was a life-long Liberal, a P. M. of Clementi Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and associate coroner for the County of Peterborough, and also Medical Health Officer of the village. He was considered one of the leading physicians of the county, and will long be remembered for his exceeding great charity to the poor.

This is the first break in a family of seven. The other members are Dr. B. B. Fraser, Stratford; Jas. F., of Stonewall, Man.; R. A., of Toronto; Alex., of New Hamburg; J. A., and Mrs. Mein, of North East Hope.

The Masonic brethren will have charge of the funeral, which will take place from his late residence Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and proceed to the Hillside cemetery, where the interment will take place.

HELD CHILDREN FOR BOARD BILL.

Peculiar Action on the Part of a Hotel Keeper.

(The Globe.)

The Morality Department and Children's Aid Society officers were called upon yesterday morning to interfere in a case in which three children of Mrs. Sarah Walker, formerly of Peterborough, were detained by a downtown hotelkeeper as security for a board bill of nearly $50. The children detained, aged respectively three, five and seven years, are now at the Shelter, and Mrs. Walker and a fourth infant child are at Mrs. Bellamy's home, Queen street east. Mrs. Walker's husband, Alexander, left the hotel last Saturday to go out to look for work, and has not been seen since. He is a steamfitter. The family came here from Peterborough, and on their arrival put up at the hotel.

UNION LABEL

Daily Examiner.

PROHIBITION MEANS A GOOD LICENSE LAW.

'Saturday Night" Gives an Opinion on the Subject.

In the last issue of "Saturday Night," Jan. 9th, appears the following:—

Archbishop Bruchesi, the Roman Catholic prelate of Montreal, is pursuing the only reasonable course open to any man desirous of seeing intemperance stamped out. Indirectly the campaign that he is now waging is a first-class compliment to Toronto. Montreal is notorious for the wide-open manner in which its public drinking places are run. Even the loose laws they have for the control of the liquor traffic are not properly enforced. The result is quite natural. There is ten times as much drunkenness in Montreal as there is in Toronto. The Archbishop is a sensible man. He knows better than to attempt the impossible, no matter what his desires may be. He bothers the authorities with no pleas for prohibitive measures. He merely asks that restrictive laws, similar to those now in force in Toronto, be enacted and enforced. In no place in Canada are they more needed than in Montreal. In no place has the efficacy of sane laws been more amply demonstrated than in Toronto. In the the eastern metropolis such a thing as early closing is unknown. In many parts of the city there is practically no closing at all. Saturday nights, holidays and election nights are given over to drunkenness by the worst element. Surely in Montreal, if anywhere, a temperance reformer might be excused if he came out flat-footed for prohibition as the only means of removing the stigma that attaches to the city. In the moderation of the Archbishop, however, lie his chances of success. If he fought for prohibition he would not get it. But even supposing he did get it, it could never be enforced. Toronto has demonstrated that reasonable laws can be both obtained and enforced. Every practicable law has public opinion solidly behind it, and the foundation of public opinion, except of the ephemeral sort, is, in nine cases out of ten, ordinary, everyday horse sense. Archbishop Bruchesi enjoys the confidence of his people, and should therefore succeed. If he does, there is only one thing to be feared,—that is that some of the restless people in Toronto, who are never satisfied with well enough, will become possessed of the idea that moderation in the East is the signal for absolute prohibition in the West, and consequently will kick up a rumpus and do their best to spoil things.

ACCIDENTS THROUGH SNOW.

James Hood Lost His Life and Amos Tait Is Unconscious.

Lucknow, Jan. 15.—An accident occurred in Walter Wilson's bush just outside this town yesterday, in which James Hood lost his life. Mr. Hood was drawing out timber, and was alone in the bush. Isaac Morrison had occasion to go to the bush for a load of wood, and was surprised at finding Mr. Hood's horse lying, to all appearances, dead, and on investigating found Mr. Hood buried underneath it. The snow was very deep, and it appeared as though the timber had got bound, and the horse in pulling had thrown himself over Hood, and was unable to recover its feet and smothered his victim.

Snow Caused Roof to Fall.

Meaford, Jan. 15.—Amos Tait's brick blacksmith shop collapsed from the weight of snow yesterday morning burying Mr. Tait beneath the ruins. An iron machine, which stood near the anvil, saved him from being crushed to death. When the roof fell Mr. Tait was struck by the timbers and rendered unconscious. He is badly cut about the head, and at the time of writing has not regained consciousness. The building is a total wreck.

Had a Leg Cut Off.

Chalk River, Jan. 15.—Alex. McGillis, an employe of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, had one of his legs amputated above the knees at Pembroke Hospital yesterday, as the result of an accident at this place on Monday last. He was assisting in coaling an engine, and got caught between the chute and the roof of the cab, which resulted in his leg being crushed. The man's home is near Montreal.

Both Engines Derailed.

North Bay, Jan. 15.—Grand Trunk Express No. 65, northbound, collided Wednesday night with a light engine at Iluntsville, on the North Bay branch of the line. A young man named Fitzgerald, belonging to the light engine, was badly hurt about the hips. He was raking out the ashpan when the collision occurred. Engineer Clark of the express was badly bruised and both engines were derailed.

"Unloaded" Gun Killed.

Winnipeg, Jan. 15.—Charles Johnston of Deagald, east of the city, was fatally shot while cleaning a gun. He had hung the gun up unloaded, but his brother unawares had charged it. He was 11 years of age.

Suicide and Exposure.

Fort Frances, Jan. 15.—The coroner's inquest on the body of the two men found dead near Fort Frances returned a verdict of suicide in the case of W. Watson, while temporary insane, and death from exposure in that of John Scott.

Pierced By a Spear.

London, Jan. 15.—The body of Captain, the Hon. Thomas Lister (Lord Ribblesdale's son and heir), reported missing after the engagement recently between the British and the forces of the Mad Mullah has been found pierced by a spear.

Anxiety About Shenango.

Port Stanley, Jan. 15.—Anxiety is felt regarding the whereabouts of the coal ferry Shenango, which left here on Jan. 2, but has not yet reached Conneaut. It had provisions for only nine days. It carried a crew of 31.

PEACE IN FAR EAST

Czar Desires, and Will Do All in His Power to Maintain, It.

A PEACEFUL ISSUE DOUBTFUL

British Foreign Office, Prince Louis Napoleon and Diplomats at Pekin Are All Agreed That War Is Inevitable—Japan's Reply to Russia Is Responsible For This Concurrence of Opinion.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 15.—"I desire and intend to do all in my power to maintain peace in the Far East."

These were the words the Czar spoke to the members of the diplomatic corps at the New Year's reception held in the winter palace at noon yesterday.

Not an Ultimatum.

London, Jan. 15.—Minister Hayashi received yesterday morning the text of the Japanese reply to Russia's last note. It does not contain an ultimatum, but reiterates Japan's original demands with what Baron Hayashi terms a modification upon a minor point. The questions of Chinese sovereignty in Manchuria and Japan's sphere of influence in Corea are reinsisted upon. Minister Hayashi said to a representative of the Associated Press: "So far as I can see, the relations of the two powers regarding the dispute practically are unchanged. I have no indication of the reception this note is likely to meet at the hands of the Russian Government, but I expect the negotiations will continue for several weeks."

Peaceful Issue Doubtful.

London, Jan. 15.—The British Foreign Office officials said last night, after reading the Japanese reply to the last Russian note, that it only takes the crisis a step further in a less hopeful direction. The advices received by the Foreign Office made them fear that Russia would not accept Japan's reiterated demands.

War Looked For.

Pekin, Jan. 15.—The expectation of war is greatly increased in diplomatic circles here. The German Minister now regards war as a probability, although not despairing of a settlement at the eleventh hour. One legation has received a despatch from Tokio saying that Foreign Minister Komura, Jan. 11, represented to the diplomats that he expected peace to be maintained.

Expects War Sure.

Paris, Jan. 15.—Prince Louis Napoleon has informed a friend that he expects to be called to Russia immediately, adding that war is expected by all. "In case of mobilization," said the Prince, "my command would be one of the first to start. The whole of the Russian army is ready. The army does not desire war, but considers that it is inevitable. It is due to the Czar alone that hostilities have not already broken out." Prince Louis Napoleon is a major-general in the Russian military service and commands the cavalry division of the Caucasus at Tiflis.

China's Wily Move.

London, Jan. 15.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Mail reports the gradual and extensive movement of Chinese troops toward Shan Hai Kwan in Chi Li Province, probably with the view of securing the harbor of Ching Wan Tao, on the Gulf of Lialo Tung, and the coal mines thereabouts against Russian seizure.

The Daily Telegraph's Tokio correspondent says that the Japanese Government as a part of its program in naval extension has placed a contract in England for a 16,000 ton battleship.

Advocates Slaughter of Foreigners.

London, Jan. 15.—The Seoul correspondent of The Daily Mail says that the native press is advocating the slaughter of all foreigners.

United States Minister Allen has ordered all American women and children to remain indoors and he predicts that rioting by the military is imminent.

M. Colle de Plancy, the French minister, has vainly advised the Emperor to take refuge in the French legation.

RIOT AMONG ITALIANS.

Draw Knives and Revolvers—Militia Asked to Get Ready.

Sault Ste. Marie, Jan. 15.—Lieut.-Col. Elliot, commanding the 97th Algonquin Rifles, received word from Capt. Cressy of Sudbury Company, that the latter had been notified to have men ready to turn out at a moment's notice, in anticipation of a riot among Italians at Copperclift.

The trouble is said to have been caused by a reduction in wages of foreign laborers at the mines from $1.50 to $1.40 per day, which the men first learned of when receiving their pay checks for last month. They objected strongly to accepting the reduction, assumed a threatening attitude, and attempted to hinder work by taking other men from it.

An attempt of the police to arrest the ringleaders caused the drawing of knives and revolvers and the firing of a few shots, but none were hurt.

As no further news has been received here, it is thought the situation has calmed down, and there will be no further trouble.

Canadian Sentiment.

Toronto, Jan. 15.—Benjamin Sulte addressed the Empire Club on Canadian sentiment before and after confederation yesterday. Mr. Sulte is one of the most prominent of French-Canadian writers.

Alex. Johnston Nominated.

Sydney, N. S., Jan. 15.—Alex. Johnston, M.P., was nominated by the Liberals yesterday for the south riding of Cape Breton, and Dr. Kendall, M.P., announced his retirement from public life.

Enormous Growth.

Ever since Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills were first introduced to the public the sales have steadily increased, each year being larger than the year preceding. This is probably the best evidence of their remarkable efficiency, as a treatment for derangements of the kidneys, liver and bowels. They are invaluable as a family medicine.

A BUSINESS COURT

Mr. Chamberlain's Tariff Commission a Body of Experts.

A FREE TRADE ALTERNATIVE

Chronicle Suggests Inquiry Court in Opposition to "The Spoils Commission"—Names Mr. Goldwin Smith and Sir Richard Cartwright as Canada's Representatives—Wants Colonials to Watch.

London, Jan. 15.—(C.A.P.)—At the banquet tendered to the Tariff Commission last night, Mr. Chamberlain described the event as a business commission for business men, and said that Arthur Pearson was the greatest hustler he had ever known. Pearson is the proprietor of The London Express and many other publications.

The Times says the Tariff Commission opening to-day is the most representative and authoritative body of business experts ever brought together in this country, and will afford time and materials for mature consideration. The Commission will not in the least way dictate to the colonies what shall be the nature of the colonial preference. The Commission is not one of inquiry, but its object is to work out the details of the Chamberlain proposals.

Colonists Should Watch.

The Graphic calls attention to the great practical value of having colonial representatives holding briefs and watching the proceedings of the Tariff Commission, which opened yesterday.

Free Trade Commission.

The Daily Chronicle publishes a list of members whom it proposes should constitute a free trade court of inquiry. It gives the places on the Commission, which it designates as the spoils, to Lord Welby as chairman and Dr. Goldwin Smith and Sir Richard Cartwright to represent Canada.

A Victory For Chamberlain.

London, Jan. 15.—(C.A.P.)—The Birmingham Daily Post yesterday says: "If it be true that the German Government has given way to Canada, Chamberlain will be entitled to claim that his fiscal proposals have already borne practical fruit. This concession removes one of the chief obstacles to preferential arrangements with the colonies. As Germany has given way, it is unlikely that the other commercial nations will stand out against us."

The Pall Mall Gazette to-day says: "Canada and Natal refusing to join in a protest against the introduction of Chinese labor into the Transvaal is a double set-back to Premier Seddon."

Australia Not Gaining.

The immigration returns for Australia for the years 1903 and 1902 show a net increase in the population of only 55. Lord Brassey recently expressed the opinion that she could not profitably carry a much greater population than she is supporting at the present time.

A CONTINUAL DRAG.

The Exact Term.

Only those who have experienced the pain and suffering incident to Piles or Hemorrhoids, can know what a drag and handicap this complaint is; how even the mildest form hinders the patient from putting forth his or her best efforts, while those afflicted with protruding or bleeding piles realize all the tortures of the inquisition.

It may surprise the reader to know that there is a sure, permanent cure for this disease, as the following testimony from Mr. E. A Leonard, an American resident in the City of Mexico will show.

"For twenty years I suffered with piles, sometimes being confined to my bed for days at a time. The relief received from doctors both in the United States and Mexico, was temporary and more frequently I received no relief; other medicines had no effect. It was a continual drag. I was fit for nothing. I finally tried Pyramid Pile Cure; first application was magical; I could not believe I was awake the next morning—I experienced a relief that I had not known for twenty years. One box cured me; but not believing myself cured I bought two more, but they are still in my trunk. I first used the remedy in July, 1902; and have had no occasion to use it since. The world should know of Pyramid Pile Cure. I have no words to express its merits."

Pyramid Pile Cure is in the form of a suppository, which is admitted by all physicians to be the best preparation for treating piles; it comes in direct contact with the painful tumours and does its work quickly and painlessly. It is sold by druggists generally at 50 cents a package, and there is no other remedy "just as good."

Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their little book on the causes and cure of piles, which is sent free for the asking.

Toronto, Jan. 14.—The Temiskaming Railway Commission has awarded the following contracts for supplies: Angle bars, 15,500, Hamilton Steel and Iron Works; Spikes, Pillow and Hersey Manufacturing Co., Montreal; bolts, Toronto Bolt and Forge Works; nutlocks, W. C. Nun, Montreal.

Five Years For Yates.

Hamilton, Jan. 15.—It was justice tempered with mercy that Chief Justice Meredith handed out to Herbert Yates, the pal of the jail-breaker William Hillis, last evening. The sentence was five years in Kingston Penitentiary. The police have yet no tidings of the fugitive Hillis.

"No," replied the widow, "but I did—$30,000."—Houston Post.

'TWAS SOCIETY DAY

Brilliant Gathering Witnesses Legislature's Function.

LIEUT.-GOVERNOR IN UNIFORM

Assembly Was Opened With Military Pomp—Speech From the Throne—Change in License Laws Foreshadowed—Congratulations on Year's Prosperity—Speech Does Not Contain Lengthy Program.

Toronto, Jan. 15.—A show of pomp attended the ceremony of opening the Legislature yesterday in Queen's Park. The occasion brought out a brilliant assemblage. The guard of honor was chosen from the 48th Highlanders, consisting of 100 men. Four guns of the Toronto Field Battery were located to the east of the main walk, and on the approach of the Lieutenant-Governor and his staff a salute of 15 guns was fired. The Lieutenant-Governor was escorted from Government House by a detachment of Dragoons. The guard presented arms as his carriage drew near, and the band played "God Save the King."

In His Windsor Uniform.

The scene within the chamber was indeed a brilliant one. The floor was filled with ladies exquisitely gowned and gentleman in evening dress. Foreign consuls in uniform, judges of the High Court in their robes of office and military officers in the uniform of their various corps made up a picture of extreme gaiety and attractiveness. Above in the galleries several hundred people looked down on the usual spectacle, for not in recent years has there been such a gathering. The Lieutenant-Governor wore a well-fitting Windsor uniform of blue broadcloth, heavily laced with gold on the breast, collar and sleeves with a broad gold stripe down the trousers and a cocked hat with white plumes. He was preceded up the aisle by Commander Law, and accompanied by the Premier and officers of the Toronto garrison, the gathering standing meanwhile.

The opening ceremony was brief. The Lieutenant-Governor requested the audience to be seated, and the speech from the throne was then placed in his hands. The document was read in a clear and audible voice and handed to Speaker Charlton.

Speaker Charlton, on taking his seat on the throne, announced that since the last session he had been notified of vacancies in the legislature and writs had been issued for bye-elections in Sault Ste. Marie, Muskoka, North Renfrew and North Oxford.

Introduction of New Members.

The introduction of new members followed. Hon. J. M. Gibson and Hon. Richard Harcourt introduced the new Liberal member from the Soo, C. N. Smith. Mr. Whitney and Mr. Foy introduced A. A. Mahaffy of Muskoka. Mr. Whitney and Mr. Downey introduced E. A. Dunlop of North Renfrew.

There was very little ordinary business transacted, but Mr. Ross had a few resolutions to offer. He introduced a bill respecting the administration of oaths of office to persons appointed as justices of the peace. He then moved that the speech from the throne be taken into consideration on Friday, and followed this up by moving the appointment of the usual standing committees. The House then adjourned till 3 o'clock this afternoon.

A DUAL CABINET CHANGE.

Speaker Brodeur Will Take Department of Inland Revenue.

Ottawa, Jan. 15.—Hon. H. R. Emmerson will be sworn in as Minister of Railways at noon to-day. It is also understood that Hon. M. E. Bernier is resigning the port*folio of* Inland Revenue, and that he will be succeeded by Hon. L. P. Brodeur, the present Speaker of the House of Commons. Mr. Bernier said farewell to the employes of the Inland Revenue Department yesterday. Whether Mr. Brodeur will be sworn in at the same time as Mr. Emmerson is not certain, but if not the ceremony in the former's case will not be long delayed.

The retiring Speaker is a man of high character, great ability, and urbane manners. As presiding officer of the House of Commons he has been a brilliant success. His friends predict that he will achieve equal distinction in the Cabinet.

The Uruguayan Government forces were defeated Jan. 11 at Paso de Toros, leaving 25 men killed and having 45 men wounded.

The Catholic hierarchy has abandoned its demand for ecclesiastical control and has consented to accept the scheme proposed by Lord Dunraven, namely, the affiliation of the two new Catholic colleges with Dublin University.

PARLIAMENT OF MAN.

U. S. Committee on Foreign Affairs Urged to Realize Tennyson's Dream.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The House Committee on Foreign Affairs yesterday heard a delegation of Boston, New York and Philadelphia men, who asked the committee to favor a resolution to be introduced in the House, authorizing the President to invite the Governments of the world to join in establishing an International Con*gress to meet at stated periods* to deliberate on questions of common interest to the nations, and to make recommendations thereon to the Governments.

Such a Congress, it was stated, would exert a great and growing influence in favor of amity and mutual good-will, would lessen the dangers of war and assure the permanence of peace and the continuance of prosperous commercial relations.

MAKE PEACE WITH YOUR STOMACH.

You are Certain to Lose if you Attempt the Use of Force and Violence.

You cannot force your stomach to do work that it is unable and unwilling to do. It has been tried time and again with always the same result. The stomach is a good and faithful servant, but when pushed beyond the limit it rebels. Some stomachs will stand much more abuse than others, but every stomach has its limit; and when that limit is reached it is a very dangerous and unwise proceedings to attempt to force it into doing further work. The sensible and reasonable course is to employ a substitute to carry on the work of digestion and give the stomach an opportunity to recuperate and regain its lost strength.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only perfect substitute to take up and carry on the work of tired, worn out stomachs. They are natural and easy in their work and cause no disturbance in the digestive organs. They contain all of the es*sential elements that* make up the gastric juice and other digestive fluids and will digest any food that a strong, healthy stomach will, and do it in the same time and in the same way. They work independently of surrounding conditions, and the fact that the stomach is weak or diseased does not influence them at all in their useful and effective work. They will digest food just as well in a glass jar or bottle as they will in a stomach. You can see that for yourself by putting one of them into a jar with a square meal and some water to enable it to work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets by thus relieving the stomach of its work, enable that organ to rest and recuperate and regain its health and strength. The process is perfectly natural and plain. Nature will heal the stomach just as she heals a wound or a broken limb, if she is not interfered with and is permitted to do her work in her own way. All interference is prevented by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents a box, and if you are afflicted with Dyspepsia one box will make you feel fifty times better. You will forget you have a stomach and rejoice in the forgetfulness. No druggist would be so short sighted as to try to get along without Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for they are so popular and are so well known for the good they have done and the happiness they have caused that any druggist caught without them would lose the confidence of his customers, and be regarded as below the standard. His business would suffer as a result and his patrons would go to other stores and buy their other drugs there as well as their Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

One Machine at Work.

Ottawa, Jan. 15.—The E. B. Eddy Company started one machine in their paper mills yesterday morning with local non-union labor. None of the union men have gone back to work. Mr. Eddy also gave out the statement that several paper-making establishments had written saying that they would be willing to supply him with any lines of paper in which he may be short during the strike. The machine started yesterday engaged about six men. The strikers offered no opposition whatever.

Mr. Turriff Will Run.

Ottawa, Jan. 15.—J. G. Turriff Dominion Lands Commissioner, received a telegram yesterday offering him unanimously the nomination for East Assiniboia, N.W.T., in the Dominion Parliament. The Liberals in the riding met Wednesday in convention and came to this decision. Mr. Turriff has replied accepting the nomination.

Councillors of New Liskeard.

New Liskeard, Jan. 15.—The municipal elections resulted as follows: Mayor, John Armstrong (re-elected.) Councillors: Angus McKelvie, Robert Heron, N. Morgan, M. Galoski, Wm. Armstrong and Nathaniel Wickett. The mayorality was hotly contested, Mayor Armstrong only defeating his opponent, George Taylor, by 6 votes.

THE PEACE SIDE UP

Despatches From the Far East Are More Optimistic.

NEGOTIATIONS WILL GO ON

Berlin Has, However, Awakened to the Fact That the Situation Is Extremely Tense—Japan Said to Have Impressed a Number of Transports—State of Panic at Seoul—Emperor Funks.

London, Jan. 14.—A despatch from Tokio to Reuter's Telegram Company says that Japan's answer to the late Russian note was handed yesterday afternoon to Baron de Rosen, the Russian Minister, and that negotiations will be continued without any time limit being set for their termination.

The demands which Japan is said to have made, according to reports published abroad, have caused some surprise in Tokio, according to the despatch, and it is now stated that Japan never asked for the evacuation of Manchuria, but on the contrary frankly recognized Russia's special interests there and her right to protect them.

Japan only demanded the realization of Russia's voluntary pledges respecting China's territorial integ*rity in Manchuria and the freedom of* residential rights and international trade therein.

Situation Is Tense.

Berlin, Jan. 14.—Official opinion regarding the probability of war between Russia and Japan has suddenly changed. Intelligence received at the War Office Tuesday has caused the Government for the first time since the controversy began, to believe that the situation is extremely tense.

Pressed Into Service.

San Francisco, Jan. 14.—A cablegram to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company to-day announced that the Japanese Government had impressed into the transport service the three steamships of the Oriental Steamship Company plying between this city and the Far East. The vessels are the Nippon Maru, Hong Kong Maru and the American Maru. They are fast boats, built in 1898, and have been under Japanese subsidy. A few months ago they passed Government inspection.

Corean Emperor in a Panic.

London, Jan. 14.—The Seoul correspondent of The Daily Mail cables a description of a state of panic that he says exists in the royal palace. The Emperor has issued a pitiful edict stating that the country is likely to be lost owing to the weakness and vaccilation of the people, whom he counsels, to act for the best in their own interests. The Emperor has also issued an ordinance warning the army not to fire in the event of a collision between foreign troops. The correspondent adds that the entire city is extremely turbulent.

Russian Volunteers Claimed.

London, Jan. 14.—(Bulletin.)—The Times' Moscow correspondent says he hears the Government has claimed the services of the entire volunteer corps.

French Cruiser Unfit.

Paris, Jan. 14.—The Figaro affirms that the cruiser Sully, which has been ordered to the Far East, is absolutely unfit to start.

Russian Cruisers Move.

Port Said, Jan. 14.—Two Russian cruisers and seven torpedo boats have arrived here.

China-U. S. Treaty a Fact.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Ratifications of the American-Chinese commercial treaty were exchanged at the State Department yesterday. The treaty provides for the opening of the ports of Mukden and Antung, in Manchuria, to the world's commerce. The treaty is now an accomplished fact; it remains only to proclaim it and appoint the necessary consuls. It is regarded as very desirable that such rights as the United States have acquired in Manchuria as to China shall be fully established and asserted in advance of any possible war that might affect that vast territory to the extent of a change of sovereignty.

TURKEY COMES DOWN.

Macedonian Reform Scheme Acceptable and Repatriation Guaranteed.

Constantinople, Jan. 14. — The Porte has notified the Austro-Hungarian and Russian ambassadors of its full acceptance of the Macedonian reform scheme and of its consent to the repatriation of the Mace*donian refuges, promising* amnesty to all political prisoners, with the exception of dynamiters.

Mutinied For Their Back Pay.

A serious mutiny broke out recently among the garrison of Van, Turkish Armenia, owing to their pay being in arrears. About 500 armed soldiers plundered shops and attacked Armenians. The mutineers finally made an attack on the palace, from which the commander of the garrison fled over the roofs.

Ill-Used Wife Betrayed Him.

Forest, Jan. 14.—Harry McClellan, who deserted from the London Military School about two years ago, was arrested here, and sent yesterday to serve four years in that school. He had married in the meantime, but a short time ago forced his wife to leave their home. She in turn had him arrested for desertion from the Military School.

Committed For Extradition.

Welland, Jan. 14.—Judge Wells yesterday afternoon gave his decision on the application for extradition of J. M. Abeel, who is wanted in New York on a charge of forgery. Abeel was committed for extradition.

Scrawyn People.

People grow thin, scrawny, pale and weak when the blood is thin and watery. What is needed to round off the angles and fill out the form, is not fat but healthy muscular tissue. By enriching the blood and increasing its nourishing qualities Dr. Chase's Nerve Food adds new flesh and tissue to the body as well as new vigor and energy. You can prove this by noting your increase in weight while using this great food cure.

A Passion for Forgiveness.

The statement is not too strong that "the passion for forgiveness is universal to religion." Not only are prayer and hymn in the higher types of religion instinct with the desire for forgiveness, it is also pathetically expressed in primitive religions by sacrifice and offering. It is found everywhere in the literature of religion. What is meant by the desire for forgiveness? It means that we desire to stand on the same terms with God as if we had never done wrong. To consciously receive the forgiveness of sins is to receive and retain the impressions upon our inmost souls that God loves us and gives us his smile and peace, though we have been transgressors—that he is on our side, though we have done wrong, and have wandered into forbidden paths. There is forgiveness, the Psalmist reminds us, with God; an inexhaustible store from which sinners may draw. And how blessed to know that the Lord is "good and ready to forgive!" There is forgiveness—full, free and immediate—through Jesus Christ. "Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world."

Big Noses In Favor.

In Japan the nose is the only feature which attracts attention. The nose determines the beauty or ugliness of the face, according as it is big or small. This is probably due to the fact that difference in noses constitutes about the only distinction between one Japanese face and another. The eyes are invariably black, the cheek bones high and the chin receding. In Japan a lady who has a huge proboscis is always a great beauty and a reigning belle. There are a few large noses among the natives, and lucky is he or she upon whom nature lavishes one. In all Japanese pictures representing the supposedly beautiful woman the artist invariably improves on nature by depicting this feature as abnormally developed.

"Spite" Tower.

Every one is familiar with various spite fences or houses, but it is safe to say that quite the most costly and elaborate enterprise of this kind in the world is the famous Wainhouse tower, in Yorkshire, England. Its builder, John Edward Wainhouse, was the owner of a dyeworks in that valley. Next to his estate lay that of an English lord. The two quarreled, and Wainhouse built the tower so that he could always overlook his neighbor's grounds, although they lay much higher than his own. The tower is nearly 300 feet high and cost $50,000 to build.

PETERBOROUGH BRIDE AND LINDSAY GROOM.

Pretty Home Wedding Yesterday Evening at 199 Simcoe Street.

The wedding of Miss Elizaleth Irwine, eldest daughter of Mrs. R. Irwine of Lindsay, to Mr Herbert Falis of Bethany, was celebrated by Rev. W. J. Jolliffe yestrday evening at 7.30 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. Corneil, 199 Simcoe street, in the presence of only the immediate relatives and friends of the bridal couple. The bride was assisted by Miss Lillie Fallis, while Mr. Irvine, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

The bride was dressed in a pretty gown of crepe de chine trimmed with Persian trimmings. The bridesmaid was similarly attired and both carried a bouquet of carnations, while Miss Ruby Irvine, niece of Mrs Corneil, acted as maid of honour, and was prettily dressed in white silk.

After the wedding a very dainty dejauner was served.

The happy young couple who were the recipients of many beautiful presents, left on the 9.10 G.T.R. train for Toronto, and on their return will reside in Bethany.

It is earnestly requested that a full attendance of the members be on hand.

Park St. Baptist Church.

This evening is the last week night meeting of the series and those intending being present should come early. Last night's meeting will be memorable in the teachings of the address, "The Power upon the people and the Results which Followed." The workers did effective work in the after meeting. Subject, to-night, "A Representative Man."

THE CHOIR HELD ANNUAL MEETING.

George Street Choir Spend a Pleasant Evening and Heard Reports Read.

Prizes to Members for Regular Attendance—Choir Entertained by Mrs. Mowat and Mr. and Mrs. Mulligan.

The annual business meeting of the George street Methodist church choir was held last evening after a short rehearsal. The secretary's report for the year was presented and proved to be highly satisfactory, the average attendance at church services for the year being 27. The finances of the choir were also shown to be in a most flourishing condition, the treasurer's statement indicating a balance in the treasury of some $78 Six members of the choir were found from the secretary's report to be entitled to the prizes awarded for attendance at rehearsal and church services, and accordingly Misses E. Chasty, E. Hill and M. Detcher, and Messrs. Maguire, Thornton and B. Turner were each made the recipient of a five dollar gold piece amid the hearty applause of their fellow-members. The election of officers for the present year resulted as follows:

Secretary—Miss Detcher.

Asst. Secretary—Miss E. Hill.

Executive Committee — The officers and Miss Butcher, and Messrs. A. L. Davis and C. Thornton.

The choir members then became the guests of Mrs. Mowat and Mr. and Mrs. Mulligan for the remainder of the evening. A musical guessing contest proved most entertaining, and Mr. J. Bowes and W. Cunningham were declared winners of the prizes which were duly presented.

Refreshments were then served, and after a short social time the members dispersed with the singing of Auld Lang Syne. A hearty vote of thanks on behalf of the choir, to Mrs. Mowat and Mr. and Mrs. Mulligan, for the pleasant evening provided, was moved by Mr. Hill and seconded by Mr. Thornton, and enthusiastically supported by the entire company.

From S. R. Armstrong, secretary of the Charity Board, enclosing the following resolution: "That on account of Ashburnham now being included in this town, and under the jurisdiction of this Board, and other increased demands, the Town Council be asked to give this Board an increase in its grant of $500.—Finance Committee.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were presented and referred to the Finance Committee: Walter Stocker, $16; B. Morrow, registrar, $2; Wm. Hetherington, $4.50; A. H. Stratton & Co., $28.48.

THE MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

The Mayor said that he regretted his inability to be present at the first meeting of the Council and would like to congratulate the aldermen upon their election. He was pleased to see a number of the old council again on the Board, but regretted that some of those associated with him last year were not this year on the Board, but felt sure that the new members were fully capable. He said that there were a number of important matters to come before the council this year. One of these would be the union of Peterborough and Ashburnham. There were many questions in connection with the union which must be thought out, and he hoped that from this time the fact would be recognized that we were no longer a divided community, and he felt sure that the needs of the new ward would be recognized. The matter of the street railway and street lighting too would engage the attention of the council, and he felt that the wishes of the electors as expressed by the vote recently taken should be respected. The preservation of the streets should be seriously considered. The report of the engineer showed that over three miles of wooden sidewalk would have to be renewed at once. Speaking of the fire protection, the Mayor said that this was a matter which should be very seriously considered. The present system is obsolete, and the alarm system is not recognized by the fire underwriters. Some action should be taken immediately. He referred to the fact that the Bell Telephone Company's franchise had expired, and the Council would have to deal with this matter. He was pleased to see the representatives of the fifth ward, and felt sure that the council would work harmoniously together. The Mayor's remarks were heartily applauded.

THE STANDING COMMITTEES

Ald. Best presented the following report:—

Your Special Committee appointed to name the Standing Committees beg leave to report and recommend as follows:—

1 That the Standing Committees be re-arranged and composed as follows:—

Board of Works—Ald. Best, (chairman,) McWilliams, Clinkscale, Edgcumbe and Scott.

Manufacturer's — Ald. Morrison, (chairman,) Rush, Hicks, Adams and Best.

Finance—Ald. Adams (chairman,) Best, Clinkscale, Mason and Johnston.

Legal and Court of Revision — Ald. McWilliams, (chairman,) Mason, Batten, Edgcumbe and Adams.

Property — Ald. Batten, (chairman,) Rush, Scott, Hicks and Clink-

Fire, Water and Light—Ald. Edgcumbe (chairman,) Batten, Morrison, Hicks and Johnston.

Supervision—Ald. Rush (chairman,) McWilliams, Scott, Morrison and Mason.

2 That F. J. Jameson and Peter Hamilton be appointed High School Trustees.

3 That F. P. McNulty, M.D., and Dr. Burnham be appointed members of the local Board of Health.

4 That the usual grant of $350 be given to the Mayor to defray the contingent expense of his office.

Ald. McWilliams remarked that all the Aldermen except one were placed on three committees. He would like to see Ald. Johnston placed on the Board of Works. Ald. Batten thought that Ald. Johnston should go on the Court of Revision and suggested that the latter replace him on that committee, while he, Ald. Batten, go on the Board of Works. This was embodied in a motion and carried.

A BY-LAW.

Ald. Best moved the first reading of a bylaw, amending the rules of order of the council, providing for the reduction of the number of Standing Committees as recommended in the report of the Special Committee, and also that no resolution involving the expenditure of money shall, except by leave of a majority of the whole council be introduced or read in council unless written notice thereof specifying the amount and purpose of the proposed expenditures shall have been given at the last preceeding meeting of the council. The bylaw was given its several readings, and signed by the Mayor.

Ald. Best moved, seconded by Ald. McWilliams, that the Treasurer be instructed to pay for stone at the rate of $3.00 per cord, as ordered by the Town Engineer.

Ald. Morrison moved, and Ald. Johnston seconded, that the invitation of the Rector of St. John's to attend service on Sunday next be accepted.

STREET LIGHTING OFFER RENEWED

A communication was read from the Otonabee Power Company renewing the offer to supply street lighting at the same price and under the same conditions as the bylaw giving the contract to the Peterborough Light and Power Company, with the exception that the price charged will be $1400 per year less. The communication reviewed the street lighting and street railway matter from the time that the offer of the Company was first made. The Company in its communication stated that no further legal action would be taken by the Company. — The communication was received.

Ald. McWilliams asked if it was the intention of the council that the matter of the appeal to be made against the Judge's decision on the Street Lighting Bylaw, be dealt with by the new Legal Committee. On motion it was decided that all business referred to the old Committee be dealt with by the new Committee.

Ald. Batten moved that the chairman of the Property Committee be authorized to make temporary arrangements for the cleaning and care of the town buildings. The motion was carried.

Ald. Johnston asked as to the duties of the Market Clerk. He referred to the fact that complaints had been made that purchasers, particularly of wood, on the market, had been deceived, and had not received full measure. He asked whose duty it was to see that the buyers were protected. He was assured by the Property Committee that this would be attended to.

THE PRESS AND COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

The question of allowing the newspaper representatives into meetings of committees was discussed, a motion being made by Ald. McWilliams, who brought the matter up, that in future newspaper representatives be admitted to all committee meetings, with the understanding that each committee had the right to exclude the press from certain committee meetings if it was thought advisable. Ald. Johnston seconded the motion.

In making the motion Ald. McWilliams said that as the members of the council were representing the people the latter should have a right to know what was being done by the committee, before the question was brought before the council in the form of a recommendation from the committee. He believed that the people should have an opportunity of expressing their views to the Aldermen in question, so that the latter might be guided in voting on them when they were presented to the council. He recognized the fact that there were some matters, the premature publication of which would be unwise, still he thought that the reporters could be trusted not to use their privilege indiscreetly.

Ald. Best said that the reason the press had not been admitted to committee meetings was that it had been felt that there were many questions which it was not in the public interest to publish until they had come before the council, and while he, personally, was willing to have the reporters present, he saw a difficulty.

Other members of the Board, including Ald. Morrison and Ald. Adams, expressed themselves similarly, instancing cases where it would have been ill-advised to have published reports of committee meetings, and while they felt assured that the press would use the privilege discreetly, if granted it, yet they believed that the public interest would not be served by the publication of committee meeting reports.

The Mayor said that the greatest objection that he saw was that the members of the committees would talk for publication in committee meetings, and time would be consumed, and business retarded. As it was now the committees met to do business, and did it. He believed that no good purpose would be served by making committee meetings public. This appeared to be the opinion of the majority of the members of the council, as the motion was lost.

The Council then adjourned to meet in Committee of the Whole.

THE REPORTS SHOWED GRATIFYING PROGRESS.

Annual Meeting of Murray Street Baptist Church Last Night.

Began Year with Deficit, But Ended with a Credit Balance—A Successful Meeting.

The annual business meeting of the Murray street Baptist Church was held last night, in the Sunday school room. There was a fair attendance of the church members and the reports of the different departments of the church were presented. One of the gratifying features revealed by the reports was that, though the church year began with a deficit, it closed with good credit balance.

After devotional exercises had been conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. Bastow, who occupied the chair, the reports of the different departments of the church were read showing all branches to be in a highly satisfactory condition.

The following resolution was unanimously carried:

"That the thanks of Murray street Baptist church be extended to Miss Florence Hall for her very efficient services as choir leader. We realize that by her efforts the musical portion of the church services were kept up to a high standard of excellence, for which we have reason to be thankful. That the Clerk forward a copy of this resolution to Miss Hall."

It is understood that Miss Hall is being retained as soprano soloist.

WOMEN'S MISSION CIRCLE REPORT.

Miss M. A. Nicholls, Secretary read the report of the Women's Mission Circle, as follows:—

Our Circle has now been in existence for a quarter of a century. On January 29th, 1879, a few devoted women met in the vestry of the church on Aylmer street and organized a Foreign Mission Circle, with Mrs. Gilmour as president. At the close of the first year the treasurer reported $61.66.

In 1887, seven years later, home missions were included in our work, also a mission band was organized.

In tracing the progress of our society from its inception we are truly thankful that with the growth of our town and church, so our sphere has widened, and we feel and acknowledge that the Lord's hand has been with us all the way.

During the year the Associational Meeting was held here, which brought us in close touch with missionaries and missions. The work on all our mission fields has been presented from time to time at our meetings. We owe much to our denominational papers for reliable news of work on the various mission fields.

At our Thankoffering Service, in October, Miss Jean Robinson, a former member of our church gave an address, just before her departure for India to engage in mission work.

The December meeting was a very interesting one, as an excellent report of the annual meeting, held at Aylmer, was given by our representative, Mrs. G. S. Matthews.

The study of Via Christi has been continued throughout the year. We have traced the history of the church down through the centuries to the time of Luther, the great rgformer.

The year closes with a membership of eighty. The monthly meetings have been held regularly with an average attendance of thirty-one, including visitors.

REPORT OF SUNDAY SCHOOL

In the absence of Mr. W. Cochrane, the Sunday School secretary, Mrs. Bastow, read the following report:

In presenting my second annual report of the work of the Murray street Baptist Sunday school for the year 1903 I have endeavoured to cover more of the points of interest than I did a year ago.

The most important part of the work has been the religious, and in this there has been a marked increase during the year just closed. Prayer meetings have been held monthly after the regular session, and boys' meetings, addressed by the pastor, have been held frequently in Mr. Lee's class room. As a result of these efforts, as well as the work of the teachers in the classes some 27 scholars have united with the church, and at the present time out of 220 on the roll 91 are church members.

In the matter of attendance there has been also a marked increase. Last year our average attendance was 136, while this year we are able to report an average attendance of 151, an increase of 16. This increase, we believe is, to a great extent, to the adoption last January of a system of star classes. This system has proved very successful and has been the best method we have yet tried for keeping the scholars interested in the attendance.

Before entering into the financial side of the work I wish to report the organization of a home department in connection with the school.

The statement of receipts and disbursements during the year is as follows:

MISSION BAND

Miss Ada Bradshaw, on behalf of the Mission Band, read the following report:

In taking a view of the work done during the past year, as a Mission Band, we feel very thankful to our Heavenly Father for His Goodness and Mercy to us.

In looking over the list of the Bands in the Province, we find that in last year's report, we came third in number, two other bands having sent more money to missions than our own. And it became our aim at the beginning of this year's work to do still better than we have done before in our work for the Master. And as the year closes we are pleased to report that Murray Street Mission Band stands at the head of all other Mission Bands in the Province of Ontario, we having raised more money for missions this year than any other band in the Province.

We have one hundred and five names on the roll, thirty-three new names being added and seven erased, leaving an increased membership of twenty-six.

We have held our meetings on the second Sunday afternoon at the close of the Sunday school and have taken up the study of the missionaries on their different fields, and have had good meetings and large attendance, and in the twelve months we held eleven meetings, there being no meeting in the month of August. The average attendance at our meetings has been forty-eight. Besides this work we have made some very pretty scrap books, three of which we sent to the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto, and twelve we sent to Miss McLaurin, our Missionary in India.

Our Baby Band has twenty names on the roll, less than last year, but some have gone away, and others have graduated to the Mission Band.

The Financial Report reads as follows:

Sent to Home Missions	$35 30
Sent to Foreign Missions	54 48
Total amount raised for the year	389 78
Total amount raised last year	46 90
Increase over last year	$342 88

$25.00 of this goes to support our Bible Woman.

ADA BRADSHAW,
Secretary.

B.Y.P.U. REPORT

Miss M. Garbutt presented the following report of the Baptist Young People's Union:

The year 1903 has drawn to a close and we, the members of the B. Y. P. U., though we have had many failures and have come far short of our possible success, lay our imperfect work at our Master's feet that he may work out His perfect results. We are grateful for blessings received during the year and pray that we may all be more worthy of the least of His blessings. By removal from town we have lost seven of our active members, but we are thankful that death has not visited our ranks. During the year we have had sixty active members and we commence the new year with fifty-two active and eight associate members. The attendance has been excellent, even in the holidays. I think the average attendance has been forty. Our meetings, which have been mostly devotional, have been led by the different members and also we are indebted to some of our church members; also to Miss Leigh, Mr. Ayers and Mr. Williamson for the valuable assistance given us. We have had two temperance meetings, one of which was led by Mr. Johnston, of St. Paul's, who was secured by our temperance committee, the other meeting being led by Mr. Raddon.

Our pastor's faithful attendance and kind words of praise have been to us all a source of help and encouragement.

We take courage and press on, hoping that we may all realize that all our work in connection with our B. Y. P. U., even the least service is Christ's work, and may at the close of the year 1904 find us all to have made much progress in the Christian life and may much be accomplished.

Secretary.

PRESENT MIRACLES.

EVERY WEEK MAKES SOME NEW ELECTRICAL ACHIEVEMENT.

Recent Newspaper Sensation in London by Its Aid—Uniting the Telephone and Phonograph—A Pathetic Dream—The Loss in Transmission—Some of the Late Achievements—Help to Bank Robbers.

Although the central figure in the world of electricity is not as prominently before the public as he was a year ago, new discoveries in the realm in which he is king are announced every other day. Had not Marconi exhausted our powers of amazement by his feat of telegraphing across the Atlantic Ocean without wires, they might well be exercised by a score of less important demonstrations which have since been made by other scientists. Scarcely a week goes by without marking some new electrical achievement. Our store of knowledge of the magic fluid increases by leaps and bounds. Yet we seem to be no nearer to a full understanding of this marvelous force. The lay mind no longer tries to grasp it. Daily miracles are performed under his eyes—the trolley car, the telephone, the incandescent light—but he is unmoved. He has almost ceased to wonder at them. We have short memories. It is rather the necromancy than the miracle of electricity which fascinates and astonishes.

A Newspaper Sensation.

Some weeks ago the English public was astounded when a London newspaper had Chamberlain's Newcastle speech on sale on the streets of the metropolis a few minutes after it had been delivered. They almost doubted that such an achievement were possible, even with the printed proof in their hands. And yet the explanation is very simple. Beside the speaker a number of telephones had been placed, the wires leading into the office of the newspaper. At the London end with the receivers at their ears sat a corps of shorthand reporters. Each man worked for two minutes taking down the speech. He would then be relieved while his notes were transcribed into longhand, and sent to the compositors. So rapidly was the work carried on that the type was only about five minutes behind the shorthand character. As a result, Mr. Chamberlain had hardly driven away from the hall when the London newsboys were on the street with their "extra specials."

Telephone and Phonograph.

This same paper—The Daily Mail—announced on Monday that it had conducted reasonably successful experiments with the electrograph, an invention of E. G. Caven, an English engineer, who once worked with Edison at Memo Park, New Jersey. The electrograph is nothing more or less than a recording telephone—a combination of phonograph and telephone. Messages spoken over the telephone are recorded at the other end, and can be read at any time by the person to whom they are addressed. Thus a permanent record of conversations may be obtained. No annoyance need be caused if the person telephoned happens to be away or engaged. When he returns he will find the message awaiting him. The Daily Mail's experiment was made between London and Twickenham, a distance of 12 miles. The inventor hopes to be able to increase the distance almost indefinitely. His hopes may be realized, but its mere expression is almost pathetic. It is what so many electricians have dreamed of—the transmission of energy without loss.

The Loss in Transmission.

As a matter of fact, electric power cannot be transmitted an inch without losing force. To the mind of the layman it seems a mere matter of increasing the strength of batteries, and to a certain extent, this is so. With our present knowledge the trouble is that there is a limit to the power of batteries. Logically, there may be no reason why, if a 20 horse-power battery can be built, a 20,000,000 horse-power battery should not be built also. In reality there are many reasons, just as there are reasons why a piece of plate glass 100 yards square cannot be manufactured. It is on the problem of reducing the amount of electrical power lost in transit that some of the leading electricians of the day are now engaged. This is the great obstacle which electricity must overcome before it can altogether displace steam as a motive power. For moving distributed loads it is supreme, but when the load becomes concentrated, as on a heavy through freight or passenger train, it cannot equal steam.

Some Late Achievements.

But while this great problem seems to set a limit on electrical progress in a certain direction, it cannot forever defy the experimenters who are engaged upon it. In the meantime much is being done by the way, as it were. There is, for instance, the automatic switch in use in Toronto upon the street railway system. The switch point guides one car in one direction, swings back, and guides another in an opposite direction, without delay, without mistake, and without human advice or interference. The modern hotel offers another example of electrical progress. Every room is furnished with a telephone. A guest may sit comfortably in his chair and talk with a friend in Riviere du Loup, six hundred miles away. Should he journey on one of the great railway lines he may see the cars lighted by electrical energy supplied by the revolutions of the wheels. If he travels across the ocean he might buy a daily paper which received its news by wireless telegraphy. In London he could see the new Hewitt light, which needs neither wires nor carbons, but which glows in a vacuum with a steady blue flame, and which should therefore be an ideal light for reading.

Help to Bank Robbers.

As to the uses to which chemists and manufacturers have put the current—their name is legion. In our own streets we have seen huge steel rails welded together. We may read in police records of enterprising bank robbers who have cut through solid steel doors as though they were so much cheese, thanks to electricity. The same agency will magnetically lift hot steel plates, which formerly could not be handled for hours. These are but a few instances selected from among hundreds equally remarkable. When this much has been done in our ignorance, who shall say what may not be accomplished when our knowledge shall be rounded and complete?

You can make dirty picture frames, or any other such articles, look like new if you clean them the Sunlight way. Chop very finely a piece of Sunlight Soap and put it into a bottle with a teacupful of hot water, shaking it well and adding a wine glass full of spirits of ammonia. Paint the frames with this liquid, let it stay on a few minutes, then wash off with a soft brush and cold clean water, and polish with clean chamois leather. Sunlight Soap is the only soap that can be used successfully in every cleansing operation in the household.

THE THIBET EXPEDITION.

Details of the Road Upon Which It Is Advancing Inland.

Some details as to the road by which the Thibet expedition is advancing may be of interest at the present moment. Kamba Jong, where the mission is now encamped, is 85 miles, as the crow flies, due north of the Indian hill-station of Darjeeling, but, of course, the mountain road by Tongu is much longer. The present height of the camp above sea level is 13,800 feet, the surrounding country consisting of high mountains, intersected by deep valleys. From Kamba Jong two roads lead to Lhassa, one due north through Shigatse, on the bank of the Tsang-Po, the great river which eventually becomes the Brahmaputra. The distance by this route, says The London Daily Chronicle, is ninety miles to Shigatse, and 130 miles further to Lhassa. The southern route by Gyantse, which it is proposed to follow is thirty miles longer. Gyantse being 105 miles from Lhassa. But both routes cross the watershed of the Eastern Himalayas, which is a very arduous undertaking. The statement that Colonel Macdonald has ordered Canadian fur coats for his troops shows that he thoroughly appreciates the rigor of the climate which he has to encounter. At the beginning of November 20 degrees of frost were registered at Kamba Jong, and the winter was then only just setting in. In the expedition of 1888 the Thibetan field force found snow lying deep on the slopes in the month of March, and the small garrison of Gnatong had afterwards very trying experiences in the dreary winter weather. The tableland of Thibet is covered with snow for several months, and life under canvas is almost impossible during that period. The great danger is from pneumonia, which is more formidable than the muskets of the Thibetan army, these being only muzzle-loaders, and the army itself an untrained and unwarlike rabble. But the native soldiers of the Indian plains, of which Colonel Macdonald's forces will mainly consist, are little accustomed to extreme cold.

Living in a Bath.

Day and night a little girl-patient at the London Hospital lives, sleeps and eats in a bath of warm water, for this is her only chance of surviving a terrible attack of typhoid fever, says The London Daily Mail of Dec. 4th. She is never left for an instant, and two nurses are watching her, at the present moment, scarcely taking their eyes away from the sufferer till relieved by another pair of watchers. Five days ago the girl, who is only eleven years old, was placed in a large bath, seven feet long and four wide, "practically dead," as the doctor said yesterday. Her temperature was then 105 degrees Fahr., and everything had been tried and had failed to reduce it. The patient is lying on water pillows, and her body is entirely under water, which is kept at a constant temperature of 101 degrees by an arrangement of hot and cold water entering a mixing cistern, from which it flows into the bath and thence out by a pipe. In five days the girl's temperature fell to 103 degrees, but the crisis has yet to come, and at least three weeks must be spent in the bath before the disease can be shaken off. It is most unusual to find a typhoid case necessitating this treatment. Only once before has it been resorted to at the London Hospital, when some years ago a man was kept immersed for six weeks and recovered. In the present case the girl has moments of consciousness, during which she asks for her mother. Strict watch is kept, in case she turns her head in the restlessness of delirium and so puts her mouth under water.

A Philosopher.

The old man was sitting on the roof gazing placidly across the rushing waters.

"Washed all your fowls away?" asked the man in the boat.

"Yes, but the ducks swam," smiled the old man.

"Tore up your plum trees?"

"Don't mind it much. They said the crop would be a failure."

"But the flood! It is up to your windows!"

"Well, them windows needed washing anyway, my friend."

Tough Cases Cost More.

"Salvation seems to be mighty costly to some, while it's free to others," growled the man who was asked to contribute to the church.

"Of course," replied the deacon. "It's a bigger job to save some people than it is to save others."

OLD TIME STICK PLAY.

Pat With His Shillalah and John Bull With His Cudgel—In Old Days Both Were Experts.

The shillalah is the most essential part of the equipment of an Irishman as seen on the stage or in the comic papers. Pat, to be recognized as a genuine Hibernian, must wear knee breeches, have his pipe thrust through the band of his "caubeen" and must flourish a stout stick, while it is always understood that he is forever spoiling for a fight, and so his constant invitation is, "Who'll tread on the tail of my coat?" The picture is of course grossly overcolored. One might travel many miles and many days in Ireland without meeting an Irishman with his pipe in the band of his hat; but, on the other hand, if the shillalah is not forever in his hand, he is certainly familiar with the article.

The shillalah was much more in evidence in the riotous days of old—the days pictured in the novels of Lever and Le Fanu and in the amusing if not too faithful pictures of Irish life drawn by Trench and other writers of the middle of the last century. Those were the days when faction fights flourished and the maxim "Whenever you see a head hit it!" was faithfully observed. Fighting was just "divarsion."

In days gone by Englishmen were just as ready and as expert at stick play as an Irishman is still supposed to be. The play with the cudgels was one of the oldest of English rural sports, the word "cudgel" itself being one of the oldest words in the language. At village sports, fairs and other occasions and places of merry-making the cudgels once played a prominent part, and at times broken crowns were as common an accompaniment of village rejoicing as in any Irish hamlet. The play with the quarterstaff was a sport of the same class, though of course the quarterstaff was much longer than the cudgel and needed a peculiar kind of skill for its expert use. In 1717 Lady Mary Wortley Montagu wrote of something being as natural "as cudgel playing or football to our British swains." And much later Sir Walter Scott in his younger days was an expert cudgel player. Football survives and flourishes more than ever, but combats with the quarterstaff and the old forms of cudgel play are about as extinct as the dodo. Any rough and tumble fighting with sticks which may now take place on village greens bears little resemblance to the old sport, which required great quickness of eye and the utmost dexterity of wrist.

The Irishman's favorite stick was and is a blackthorn: in England oak or ash was the wood most in esteem. A provincial Englishman was as anxious to be expert with the cudgel as with his fist. In towns the "oaken towel," as it was facetiously called, was a favorite weapon with the bully and hired bravo with which to "wipe down" his victim.—London Globe.

Is Porridge a Fad or a Food?

The condemnation of porridge as an article of diet by a London physician, has raised a storm of protest among Scotsmen. Scores of hale old Highlanders are writing to The Daily Mail to say they use nothing else, and know nothing better. Strangely enough, it was a Scottish doctor who first raised the trouble. He tells the anecdote of Dr. Johnson, who defined oats as "In England food for horses; in Scotland food for men," whereupon a witty Scotchman retorted, "Aye, an' whaur will ye find sic horses or sic men?" "I charge the oatmeal craze," said the Doctor, "with being responsible for the innumerable cases of rickets among children in Glasgow. Oatmeal is reputed to be a fine bone-forming food. If this is really true, how can you account for these cases? Rickets is caused by an insufficiency of bone-forming food. As oatmeal is the staple food of the Glasgow children, you may draw your own conclusions."

Adelaide.

Adelaide enjoys the distinction of being the oldest municipality in Australia. It was named after the Queen of William IV., in whose reign it was founded, and its principal thoroughfare bears the name of King William street. Its oldest newspaper, the South Australian Register, was first published in London as the organ of the South Australia Association, the body under whose auspices the pioneer settlers and founders of Adelaide were dispatched from England. The pioneer colonist were in sore straits when valuable copper mines were luckily discovered near Adelaide. The late Sir George Grey, who was appointed its governor at the early age of twenty-nine, materially helped to pull the place out of the slough of despond and rescued the infant settlement from imminent bankruptcy.

ENGLISH AS SPOKEN.

It Is In Scotland, Says a Critic, That It Is Heard at Its Best.

The query "Where is the prettiest English spoken?" is answered by a writer in the London News, and, strange to say, it is not in England, if the writer be accepted as an authoritative critic.

It was the opinion of Sir Morell Mackenzie that those who should speak English most musically were the inhabitants of Badenoch, Inverness-shire, Scotland. They had the reputation for centuries of being perfect speakers of English; but, the writer says, he must now go to the glens branching northward from the Caledonian canal to find the language spoken in its purity.

"In the beautiful glen of Moriston in particular one has noted the most exquisite speech it seems possible to imagine. There is an almost total absence of dialect and vocal disfigurements, though a quaint, delicately marked rise and fall of the voice are very faintly noticeable. The language used is extraordinarily pure and free from alien words, which is attributable to the fact that the people acquire their English direct from books and that so far dialect contaminations have not penetrated the glen."

The writer has a good word to say of Celtic pronunciation of English generally: "The charm of Irish English is undeniable. It has a softness that appeals irresistibly to the ear, but unfortunately it is linked with a certain element of dialect which just places it below perfection."

Pocket Furnaces.

Curious hand furnaces are used in China during the winter months, chiefly in the north, when the fire, in place of being in the house, as we have it, is carried about the person beneath the thickly padded cotton garments or in the hand. At times it is placed beneath the chair on which one is seated. This contrivance, resembling the charcoal pans formerly used before the days of the pit coal by the Hertfordshire straw plaiters, was first introduced to our notice when resting at a village in the Fukien province, which, before we had investigated the cause, we noted as a place remarkable for the deformity of its inhabitants, old men and women with strange swellings projecting in the most unaccountable places. Our speculations were, however, speedily set at rest and the matter satisfactorily explained by an old gentleman, who removed his greatcoat and disclosed a small copper furnace secured round his waist with a band and neatly covered with basket work. This artificial mode of heating the body is only resorted to in time of extreme cold, as on ordinary occasions the people deem their thick clothing a sufficient protection during winter.—Golden Penny.

A Quaint People.

The heart of Brittany never changes, but its face is rapidly losing many of its prominent characteristics with the leveling influence of the French republic. It is only far out of the beaten track, now, or on special occasions, like fetes, that you see universally the costumes and customs of the old Armorican peninsula. Only an hour's journey from Quimper, the modernized chief town of Finistere, and you are among the Bigoudines, a people whose dress suggests the Eskimos and Chinese, whose faces are strongly Mongolian in type and who in language, customs and beliefs seem to have no relation with the rest of France. More and more the picturesque problem they present is coming to attract attention. Artists, students and tourists alike are fascinated by it.—Andre Saglio in Century.

Are You Inviting Pneumonia?

You Need Only to Neglect Coughs and Colds —The Great Safeguard is.

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

Like other people, you dread the thought of pneumonia, consumption, or any form of lung trouble.

Did you ever wait to think that if colds were not neglected there would be no consumption or pneumonia?

These ailments start with colds, and any cough or cold can be cured by the timely use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

"Oh, it will wear away," you say, and in the meantime the cold is fastening itself on your system, and gradually creeping down the bronchial tubes towards the lungs.

This word of warning may be of priceless value to you if you heed it.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has won the good will of many thousands because of its wonderful promptness in curing serious colds and lung troubles.

Mr. John Clark, coachman, Port Hope, Ont., states:—

"Last winter I was so bad with a cold that I could not speak above a whisper, and had great pains in the chest. At last I feared it would develop into consumption. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and one bottle cured my cold, which I believe would have proved very serious if I had not used this medicine."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is sold by all dealers at the advertised price, 25 cents a bottle, (family size three times as much,) 60 cents. Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every bottle. 12

A Stupendous Theory.

Discoveries are now coming thick and fast. The scientific world seems almost dumfounded at Prof. William Ramsay's discovery that the elements are, after all, transmutable. It is felt that what has been regarded as one of the foundations of science has been destroyed.

Prof. Oliver Lodge now launches the following stupendous theory; "There are those who have surmised that matter is, after all, only the weapon and vehicle of mind. The way it interprets itself to our consciousness through the sense of the organs gives no clue to its nature. A motion and alteration of the configuration of the molecules of our brain are believed to accompany every act of thought. It will be, at any rate, a suggestive analogy if a material progress of an essentially similar sort is found to be occurring throughout what we know as the inorganic world—the world of dead matter—and we should begin to ask, does all this motion correspond to some universal thought or mental activity likewise?"

Britain's Telegraph System.

To keep the 30,000 odd miles of telegraph line in order in Great Britain and provide for the proper despatch and delivery of the millions of messages that pass over them every month entails an expenditure of about $11,250,000 a year, and of this total more than $7,500,000 goes in paying the salaries and wages of the immense staff of engineers, skilled operators, and messengers, and of those who direct their operations and keep the accounts straight.

FOR THE SAKE OF APPEARANCE

By Hubert McBean Johnson

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

"May I not have this one?" said I. "For the sake of appearance, you know," I added, noting her hesitation.

"Well," replied Phyllis in an uncertain way, "for the sake of appearance, then."

The room was hot and stuffy, and dancing is warm work anyhow.

"The veranda is a lot cooler," I suggested.

"For the sake of appearance also?" questioned Phyllis, elevating her eyebrows.

"Certainly," I answered, glancing in the direction of Mrs. Gillespie. "It might look strange if we didn't, you know."

"It has one advantage," said Phyllis—"one does not need to talk out there."

Phyllis laughed. It sounded kind of good to hear it. Phyllis has a pretty laugh and particularly so when one has not heard it for a whole month.

"Did you hear the latest?" I asked by way of changing the subject.

"Which is"— questioned Phyllis apathetically.

"Of my engagement?" I finished.

Phyllis was interested. She leaned forward in her chair and rested her chin on her palms.

"This time to"— she pursued.

But I was not going to commit myself.

"What do you think of Gracie Rawshaw?" said I.

"I thought you preferred taller girls and blonds," commented Phyllis.

"Beauty is only skin deep," I quoted sententiously.

Phyllis herself is exceptionally pretty.

"I suppose so," she said dreamily, taking no notice of my remark. "But it's awfully funny," she concluded, with a little laugh.

"I fail to see the humor of the situation," I replied stiffly. "This is not exactly a jesting matter with me."

"I should not imagine so," said Phyllis dryly. "But I'll apologise. I used the wrong word. I ought to have said, what a coincidence."

"Coincidence? How?" I queried in consternation.

I anticipated something, but I don't think Phyllis knew it. I flatter myself that my cigarette never trembled. I have always prided myself on my nerve.

"I might make a little announcement myself," said Phyllis quietly, with just the faintest suspicion of a laugh in her voice.

I flicked off a sixteenth of an inch of ash. Ashes are so liable to fall on one's clothes, you know.

"And the man?' It's remarkable how tobacco steadies one.

"I believe you will find people congratulating Mr. Dawson Graham this evening," replied Phyllis demurely.

"Lucky devil!" I ejaculated impolitely. I said other things to myself. I never had much use for that fellow anyway.

Phyllis bowed in mock courtesy.

"People are good enough to say so," she assented. "I really can't say that I see it myself, but"—

I laughed. The thing was appealing to my sense of humor. It's a most excellent thing, you know, to possess a sense of humor.

"We wouldn't have believed all this a month ago," said I. "I would have laughed had any one suggested such a thing."

"How fortunate!" said Phyllis, with apparent irreverence.

"Which?" I asked. "That I wouldn't have believed it or that I would have laughed?"

"That we found out in time." Phyllis seemed quite serious. "Afterward it would have been apt to create such a scandal."

"True," said I. "We did quarrel occasionally."

"Occasionally!" sniffed Phyllis. "You might better say eternally. Why, I remember one time"—

"When you were staying at Boreas Beach," I interrupted.

"No, not that one," corrected Phyllis —"when I was"—

"And I used to sail up the river to look at you. You wore a yellow dress that summer, you know, and I could see you on the veranda. How I used to wish I could get up the courage to land and go up and talk to you! I don't suppose you ever even saw me."

"Why didn't you?" said Phyllis unreasonably.

I knew why. My imagination gave me a vivid picture of Phyllis turning her back and walking inside. Phyllis knew too. But I had sense enough not to answer.

"Then there was that time"—

"Are you going over them all?" asked Phyllis wearily.

"I suppose there won't be time," said I. "But you have no idea how much I thought of you that summer, little girl."

"And now?" questioned Phyllis softly.

"Isn't it rather late to dream of such things with both of us engaged to other people?" said I.

"Yes," answered Phyllis, "I suppose it is."

"You suppose," said I bitterly. "I'd like to punch Dawcy Graham's head. That's what I'd like to do."

"Perhaps"— began Phyllis gently.

"Oh, here you are!" interrupted Mrs. St. Clair, coming out of the house. "I've been looking everywhere for you two. Phyllis, I want to introduce you to Captain MacDougall. Come; I'm sure Jack will excuse you for this dance."

"If I may have the next," said I, seizing Phyllis' card and jotting down my initials on it before she could remonstrate.

Turning into the hallway I came face to face with Dawcy Graham.

"Hello!" cried I, restraining my desire to get a half Nelson on him. "They tell me I'm to congratulate you. You're certainly a royal flush if ever there was one."

"Thanks, old man; thanks," said Dawcy, linking his arm affectionately into mine and drawing me outside with him. "You're the very fellow I've been looking for. You see, it's this way: We've been engaged now for about six months, and this announcement is merely a prelude to an early wedding. I want you to support me in it. Will you? What do you say?"

Six months, thought I! it took my breath away. The little vixen! And me to support him! If that wasn't rubbing it in!

"What's your governor think about it?" I queried to gain time. "I suppose he's known about it all along?"

"Not much!" cried Dawcy. "Not much! He just found it out tonight when it was announced. But he likes it all right. Why, say, do you know, when he heard it he actually made a pun. He said, 'Well, my boy, you're no longer the graceless young scamp you always have been!'"

"I don't see it," said I lamely enough. "Where's the pun?"

"Why, graceless," explained Dawcy. "Don't you see—graceless—Grace Rawshaw, you know."

"Oh, yes," said I weakly. "Ha, ha, I see now. How stupid of me! I wasn't thinking."

I certainly did see. I saw several things that Dawcy did not.

"And you're going to stand up with me?" asked Dawcy anxiously. "Wedding's in the early part of September."

"Am I?" said I emphatically. "Glad to, my dear fellow. Nothing could give me greater pleasure."

And that wasn't just politeness either. I like Graham. He is really an awfully decent sort, you know.

"Thanks!" he cried enthusiastically. "I knew you would. I must go and tell Grace. Well, see you later."

I walked across the floor to where Phyllis was standing with Captain MacDougall.

"Isn't this ours?" I asked.

"Why, yes," said Phyllis, ostensibly consulting her card. "I believe it is."

"Phyllis," said I a moment later, "Dawcy Graham has just asked me to act as his best man."

There must have been something in my tone that warned her, for Phyllis looked up and caught my eye.

"Jack," she said, "candidly, you're a goose. I told Grace this afternoon that I would act for her."

"Suppose," I suggested, "that we go outside on the veranda and sit it out?"

"For the sake of appearance?" asked Phyllis, looking up at me and smiling roguishly.

"Not entirely," said I.

"For about two years I suffered from a very obstinate case of dyspepsia," writes R. E. Secord, Esq., of 13 Eastern Ave., Toronto, Ontario. "I tried a great number of remedies without success. I finally lost faith in them all. I was so far gone that I could not for a long time bear any solid food in my stomach; felt melancholy and depressed. Some four months ago a friend recommended your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' After a week's treatment I had derived so much benefit that I continued the medicine. I have taken three bottles and am convinced it has in my case accomplished a permanent cure. I can conscientiously recommend it to the thousands of dyspeptics throughout the land."

A man can succeed and be strong if he heeds Nature's warnings. THE [illegible] ELEMENT.

A Suggestion to Canadians in the Preservation of Historical Data.

Lord Rosebery, in his address to the Scottish History Society the other day, urged strongly a matter which Canadians might do well to consider in regard to the preservation of what he calls the "human element in historical records." He laid stress upon the necessity of a society which would not only keep record of ancient charters and official documents, but which would take the greatest pains to educate people generally to believe that old dairies, account books and private letters were the best possible records of the society of the period, in which they were written. Now, I do not know how it appears to other Canadians, but I do know that from a personal standpoint, writes Lally Bernard, The Globe's London correspondent, I have found it almost impossible to preserve what reason tells me will be valuable documents from the point of view of the social historian. Our modern Canadian houses are very deficient in attic store rooms, and one cannot with any satisfaction keep letters or papers in a cellar. Again and again we destroy as "rubbish" what is in truth valuable material for the scribe of the future, and this tendency is growing rather than diminishing in Canada. The younger generation find but little to interest them in the correspondence of their forefathers, whom they know little about—for ten to one their parents have migrated from the old land to the new, and in the rapid march of events about them closely written epistles in faded ink represent but little to the modern iconoclast.

There are, of course, still in existence families who are endowed with that form of egotism which enables them to see the accumulation of a family correspondence in the light of historical record, but they are few and far between. We write and receive many scrappy letters, which we deem of no possible importance, and doubtless waste paper baskets were unheard of things in the days when postage was enormous and lucifer matches a rare luxury, so the paper on which the letters were written was preserved to be used for "spillikins" to light candles with, or else the letters went the round of the family circle before they were tucked away in one of those roomy, old-fashioned desks which were the treasure chests of many a writer in the beginning of the century.

Everyone is very anxious to know what has become of Lord Rowton's collection of "Dizzy's" letters. These are, of course, priceless from an historical point of view. But they will doubtless tell the world, which delights in characteristic touches, much less than the carefully-preserved letters of some Eton boy of that period to his relatives and friends. Canadians may remember the letters of an English interpreter student from Pekin at the time of the Boxer troubles. One or two were published in The Times, and the parents of young Townshend, the boy in question, after the sad death of their son from typhoid, published for private circulation the whole series of letters written to them from the time the lad went to China, via Vancouver, until that last sad letter, received after the trouble was over and he was on his way to Japan, where he died. It was my privilege to have access to that little volume. I sincerely hope that it may one day be given as a record of boyish heroisms and pluck to the "boy world" at large. If Lord Rosebery could see that book I fancy he would deem it of extraordinary value as a bit for preservation in the archives of historical literature. Even to-day, when the period since the writing of the letters has been one of months, rather than years, one feels their graphic, lucid power, in contrast to official reports. The Canadian Historical Society has an educational work of great magnitude to perform in inculcating among all classes of Canadians some method of keeping letters of all sorts and kinds, and in having that supreme courage to leave it to posterity to say which are worthy of preservation.

Operations of "The Shiners."

The lumber industry along the Upper Ottawa was developed very rapidly during the thirties and early forties, and there was much competition among the operators to secure the finest pines and those most accessible to the streams and lakes. In those days the only patent to a timber limit necessary was a gang of fighting men, and the operator who had the most formidable men got the timber. It was in 1836 that the "Shiners" became the terror of all lumbermen and lodging-house keepers, who were not on friendly terms with their employer. Walter Beckett. Beckett was then the chief lumberman along the Muskrat, and had evidently determined to retain the status. At By-town he employed a man named Gillespie, a redoubtable bully, to hire his men, and before a man was engaged he was obliged to fight Gillespie, who was thus enabled to judge the pugilistic qualities of his applicant. Only once was Gillespie known to have been thrashed, when he met his Waterloo at the hands of James Reilly, a strapping young Irishman, whom he at once engaged, and who afterwards became the boss bully of the Beckett gang. The operations of the "Shiners" did not long continue; civilization and the strong arm of the law were close at their heels, and they were soon forced to abandon their tactics. Many of them afterwards settled and became good citizens.

Powerful Argument.

Kate—You know Nellie has always said that she would never marry Tom, and yet when he brought around that solitaire diamond ring that she is wearing now she accepted him right away.

Mildred—Yes; she told me the next day that his argument that night had a very convincing ring.

Fifteenth Century Guns.

In 1427, when the English in Normandy made their last assault on Mont St. Michel under Lord Scales, they attacked it with "several powerful engines and certain machines of war." Says an old writer, "They trained a battery so furiously against the walls that they made a breach." Among these formidable weapons were two enormous wrought iron guns, which they were compelled to leave behind on being obliged to raise the siege. They are still on exhibition with some of their projectiles in a railed inclosure just inside the main entrance to the town. The guns are of the kind formerly called "bombards" and are of different sizes. The larger one has a caliber of nineteen inches, thirty and a quarter inches being the greatest external diameter and twelve feet the total length, of which about three feet four inches belong to the smaller powder chamber in the rear. It weighs very nearly six tons. The other gun weighs about a couple of tons less, is of fifteen inches caliber and eleven feet nine inches long. These weapons are not cast, but "built up" guns, being formed of longitudinal bars about three inches wide, arranged like the staves of a cask and bound round closely with wrought iron hoops. The "Michelets," as they are called, are most likely of Flemish workmanship. Their projectiles are made of hewn granite, and those for the larger gun have been estimated to weigh 300 pounds apiece. The powder chamber is capable of holding about forty pounds of explosive.

Birds and Insects.

There is hardly a single group of insects which does not suffer from the appetite of one or more species of bird. The eggs and larvæ are dug and pried out of their burrows in the wood by woodpeckers and creepers; those underground are scratched and clawed up to view by quail, partridges and many sparrows; warblers and vireos scan every leaf and twig. Flycatchers, like the cat family of mammals, lie in wait and surprise the insects on the wing, more particularly those flying near the ground, while swifts, swallows and martins glean a harvest from the host of high flying insects. When we think humming birds are taking dainty sips of honey from the flowers they are in reality more often snatching minute spiders and flies from the deep cups of the calyxes. When night falls, the insects, which have chosen that time as the safer to carry on the business of active life, are pounced on by crepuscular feathered beings; the cavernous mouths of whippoorwills engulf them as they rise from their biding places, and the bristle of night hawks brushes them into no less rapacious maws if, perchance, they have succeeded in reaching the upper air.—New York Post.

Tankard Matches Played Here Yesterday—How the Bellevilleites Accept Their Defeat.

PETERBOROUGH WINS DISTRICT 5 OF O. C. A.

Tankard Matches Played Here Yesterday Afternoon.

Yesterday after a very hard fight the laurels fell to the Peterborough Thistles as champions of District 5 of the Ontario Curling Association. The Tankard matches began in the morning and the finals were played in the evening, Peterborough winning by 7 up and Bobcaygeon the runners up. The event created great interest and at times the matches were very exciting.

In the morning Lindsay, Peterborough, Whitby and Cobourg played two rinks aside resulting in Lindsay beating Peterborough Granites and Cobourg defeating Whitby, each by seven up.
